

EasySync System: Amazing Wealth Chapter 3

First Mission

[Alright, let's get started then!]

Felix confirmed his sitting position enthusiastically. A happy smile filled his face.

[Mission quest begins!]

[Completed!]

[Displaying the mission!]

[Prevent the transfer of shares and change of leadership by the Zay Group company. As well as revealing the true intentions of Bay Pratama who deceived Mr. Zay with his fake identity.]

Felix's brows spontaneously furrowed in incomprehension. "What do I have to do for that?

don't know them, either... how can I carry out the mission? The EasySync System, isn't it too heavy?"

[No, Sir. This mission is a D-level mission, which is the second lowest level.]

"What? Second lowest? If something like this is called the second lowest, then what about the highest level?" Felix unconsciously raised his voice. He suddenly felt regret for accepting this strange system and mission. At first, he thought the mission would be limited to ordinary work, but as it turned out, it was far beyond his expectations. "I don't think I can do it."

[Sir, don't worry. This mission is very easy to do. I will provide complete data on the Zay Group and the people involved. All you need to do right now is, get out of here and go to the company. As for everything else, I will explain it later.]"

However, Felix still looked doubtful.

[Is Master going to ignore it? The reward for completing this mission is very good. And since this is your first mission, you'll get a mansion. Sir, are you sure you will remain silent?"]

Felix's eyes lit up again. He swallowed and asked, "a mansion?"

[Yes, Sir. The more missions you do, the more rewards you get.]

"I'll do it!" Full of enthusiasm, Felix pulled out the IV needle in his left hand and jumped down.

He put on his shoes in a hurry and ran outside.

The driver who bumped into Felix happened to be about to enter the room and the two collided. But Felix paid no attention to him and continued to run away.

The driver came to his senses and immediately ran after Felix. "Hey, where are you going? You can't come out before the CT scan!"

He stopped and turned around to look into the room, then looked back in the direction Felix had gone. "You haven't even finished the IV yet! Hey, come back! I won't be responsible if anything happens to you after this! Hey!"

Unfortunately, Felix wasn't listening.

In his ears, there was only a soft whispering voice explaining about the company and the people he would meet after this.

After leaving the hospital, Felix ran to the side of the road and stopped a passing taxi. "On your way, Sir!"

That was his home address.

Before the taxi car reached the front of his house, Felix stopped it a short distance away.

Then he said, "One moment, please."

Before the taxi driver could even answer, he opened the door and ran out.

"Already home? Where's your wife?" one of Felix's neighbors asked, glancing behind him.

But Felix ignored him. He walked quickly into his house and came back out a short time later carrying a large duffel bag.

"Hey, Felix, where are you going with that big bag?" Felix's neighbor deliberately raised her voice, making several people come out of their respective houses.

She ran up to Felix and asked with great curiosity. "Are you going with Arista? Ah, or maybe you're too embarrassed to stay here since your wife ran away?"

"Felix if you can't get your wife back, let her be. Arista deserves to be happy too and you shouldn't get in her way anymore. You should just work to make a lot of money. Who knows, you might get another wife." Felix's other neighbor spoke up too, with words as if she cared.

Felix stopped his steps and looked at them sharply. "Instead of taking care of other people's lives, you should focus on your own. After all, your life is not necessarily the right one to criticize and advise others."

Afterward, he turned around and walked quickly to the waiting taxi car.

"Going to the Zay Group company, Sir. You know, right?" Felix asked once he was comfortably seated in the car.

‘The driver turned his head slightly and smiled faintly. "Sure."

wok

Felix stood in front of the tall building with his eyes straight ahead. Although his face looked ordinary, his gaze was filled with a twinkle of admiration.

‘Without wasting any more time, he strode steadily into the building that bore the name, Zay Group.

However, as soon as he reached the front door, Felix was stopped by two burly officers.

"Excuse me, Sir, this is not just any place you can go. Do you have an appointment with the person inside?" one of the officers asked.

Felix was slightly surprised and subconsciously looked inside. Well-dressed people were seen walking back and forth with some of them holding a paper. They looked very busy.

"Sir," called another officer. "If you have no business, please leave!"

Instantly Felix came to his senses and looked at the two in turn. "I don't have an appointment, but I need to see someone urgently."

"Then you can call him so that he can come down here to meet you," the officer suggested kindly.

"But I don't have a cell phone." Felix maintained his calm face as much as possible. "Can I come in? I'll wait for him in the lobby."

Seeing Felix's far-from-fancy clothes, as well as the bandage on his head, the two officers finally looked at each other and gave a small nod. They thought that the person Felix wanted to see was an ordinary employee. So they quickly stepped aside to make way.

"Thank you," Felix said kindly.

Once inside, Felix looked confused. He stared at his surroundings while asking the EasySync System in a small voice. "System, what else should I do? For someone who is the founder of this building, it must not be easy to find. They must also be in another room that is heavily guarded and requires a pass."
[Please check your bag, Sir!]

"Huh?" Felix withdrew his gaze and fell silent in confusion. But then he did it anyway.

Felix's eyes widened when he saw an ID card on top of his pile of clothes. He quickly picked it up and looked at it carefully. "EasySync, amazing! You're amazing!"

‘Wasting no more time, Felix immediately stepped inside.

Everything went smoothly until he was in the elevator.

It wasn't crowded in there. There was only Felix and a sexy woman who was busy playing ‘with her cell phone.
