

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3219—“Grandma, I’m not smart. I’m very stupid. You’re the best.” Evan flattered his grandma.

It was not flattering; grandma was very powerful.

In the eyes of outsiders, they were already very good people, but they still couldn’t escape grandma’s eyes.

Evan said, “Grandma, I didn’t play any tricks.”

Grandma May: “That’s your business. You can do whatever you like. I have already chosen a wife for you. It’s also your business whether you pursue her or not. One year is enough for you to think about it carefully. However, I would like to remind you that there are no men in our York family who are both independent and single-minded. You should not break the good family tradition of the York family.”

Evan accompanied him with a smile. “Grandma, I know. Grandma, I have to drive. Let’s talk when I get back.”

“Drive carefully on the road.” Grandma May warned him, and she hung up the phone.

After Grandma May hung up the phone, she handed it to Sam.

“My fish.”

She was concerned that others would eat the fish she had personally caught.

Sam smiled and said, “Old Madam York, The fish you grilled smells so good. No one will snatch the fish from you.”

These old ladies who came with their children and lived in the workers’ dormitory, although they could chat with Grandma May, also understood that no matter how approachable Grandma May was, she was the anchor of the York family. They would accompany Grandma May to chat, fish, pick flowers, etc.

They didn’t dare touch Grandma May’s things lightly.

Their children's work is all here.

All the workers at Wildridge Manor had very good welfare benefits. At the foot of the mountain, several dormitories were constructed. There were family suites. The hotel arranged family suites for those who came with their families. Those who were alone had a small kitchen, a single room, and a small bathroom.

There was also some open space in front of the dormitory building. The workers' families had divided the open space into small vegetable plots to grow vegetables for self-sufficiency.

It's okay if they don't want to plant. There were vegetables and fruits grown in so many places at the foot of the villa. They were delivered to the villa. Most of the owners were not in the villa. If there is more than enough supply, the workers can eat.

For those who didn't want to eat in the villa, they could subsidize some food expenses and let them buy food and cook by themselves.

Generally, those who brought their families chose to have their hosts subsidize their food expenses. They purchased and prepared their own food, providing all three meals for the family.

Eating in the workers' canteen could only fill their individual stomachs. For those with families, it was cost-effective to not subsidize food expenses.

Because the food expenses subsidized by the boss were not low, many people who lived alone liked to buy and cook their own food.

"Sam, go prepare some fish and shrimp and bake them for Evan to eat. He is on his way back."

Grandma May ate the small fish she grilled and found it very delicious.

She immediately couldn't bear to share it with Evan.

If Evan wants to eat barbecue, let him eat what Sam has cooked.

She was an elder, so it was good that she didn't let Evan bake it for her. Does Evan have the nerve to let her bake something for him?

Sam responded, "I'm going to have fish and shrimp." Will the fourth young master make a comeback? Just the fourth young master? Then the fish and shrimp I brought down are enough. Let's bake them later. It's too early. The fourth young master will come back. If it catches a cold, it won't taste good."

Grandma May said, "Well, just watch the time and bake it. I'll leave this to you."

Sam responded, "Don't worry, old madam York, the Fourth Young Master is back, and I guarantee there will be freshly grilled fish for him to eat. "Did the fourth young master stay at home for lunch?"

Grandma May said, "When he comes back, he must stay at home for a meal. You tell Rosella, and she will look for some extra food. That's her son."

Sam responded respectfully.
