

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3224-Evan didn't sleep well last night. He had no appetite, so he didn't eat much. He packed a bag with food before following Grandma.

"Grandma, here are roasted chicken legs." Evan handed grandma a roasted chicken leg, then turned to look at Lydia sitting in front of the stone table with her mouth full of oil and said, "Grandma, who is that little girl, is eating there with gusto."

Grandma May said, "Her name is Lydia. Her parents are both flower field managers. I like her very much."

Evan ate Grandma's grilled fish skewers and said, "Grandma, you like all girls. "You went to Johnson's house and wanted to bring back her only great-granddaughter."

Grandma May said with regret, "Our family has a similar financial background to the Johnson family, and the family tradition is equally good. If Avah grows up in our family, she will not be any worse. It's a pity that the Johnson family refuses. "Ben is also afraid that I will really take his daughter away, but he was at home every day, very idle, staring at me."

Evan said, "Grandma, that's your only great-granddaughter, so of course you can't bear to part with her. If I were Ben, I would have to guard against you stealing the baby, haha."

Evan could imagine that scene.

His grandma really wanted to have a granddaughter or great-granddaughter.

He sometimes teased parents, saying they could go for in vitro fertilization and have four more children to ensure they had a daughter.

Then, a mix of men and women beat them.

The parents said they were looking forward to having grandchildren.

Let the three brothers try to have more babies in the future so that they can have a granddaughter to hold.

"What do you want to tell grandma?" Grandma May inquired.

Evan smiled: "I miss grandma. Can't I come back and see grandma? I have to tell Grandma something before I can come back."

Grandma May chuckled. “How many of you brothers, apart from Rowan, who has spent less time with me, didn’t grow up next to your grandparents? Your grandma also taught you these skills. Grandma will know what you want to do as soon as you lift your tail.

Last night, your eldest brother and sister-in-law invited you to dinner, and there was also Abby from Hiribaty. If I remember correctly, I helped you choose Abby, the second young lady of the Du family in Hiribaty.

Neither of you is the boss, and you don’t need to take over the family business; however, you are both capable and can make money on your own. It’s a good match. “Abby also has a personality that suits you very well.”

Grandma May continued: “You are all grandsons of mine. I raised and cultivated you with great care. I’m doing it for your own good. In order to find the other half that is most suitable for you, I traveled to so many places and observed so many girls. Pick one, and find the one that suits you. Of course, you can find a girl who pleases me on your own, and I will accept it.

The problem is, if I don’t worry about it, you all want to be single. Your parents don’t care on the surface, but they are very anxious in their hearts. “They can’t control you, so I, a grandma, worry about it.”

Evan smiled. “Having a grandson with a grandma is like a treasure. Grandma has chosen a wife for us, and it saves us trouble. Because of our status, we don’t have to worry about others coming.”

Grandma May ate the roasted chicken legs elegantly, and then they walked to the flower field, where they built a pavilion and a corridor so they could sit and rest when they were tired from observing the flowers.

Although the winter in Wiltspoon was not cold, there were not as many flowers at this time as there were in spring, and the flower fields were not as colorful and in full bloom as in spring.

Grandma May walked into the pavilion, followed by Evan. Before Grandma was about to sit down, he quickly took out a tissue and wiped the stone chair for Grandma.

“Everyone sits there often, and it’s not dirty. Someone cleans it every day, so it’s very clean.”

Everyone worked and lived here, and they still cared about the environment.

Grandma May often went down the mountain to hang out with them. They felt embarrassed when everything was messy and dirty.

Knowing that Grandma May often went down the mountain to play, Sam also arranged for several cleaning staff to be responsible for the hygiene and cleaning of these places.
