

Read I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2801-2804

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2801-Upon hearing his granddaughter's voice, Cy quickly looked ahead.

He saw something floating on the water.

This was the only thing they saw along the way.

Did this thing cause the mass death of fish in Lake Pescado?

"Quick, Peach, paddle forward!" Cy said quickly.

Peach had already sped up her movements before he could say it.

They then quickly approached the thing floating on the water in front of them.

One minute later, Cy and Peach were stunned by the sight in front of them when the boat came to the middle of the lake.

The little girl even screamed when she saw it.

"Ah!"

Then she covered her eyes, not daring to look at it because they saw a naked young man in front of them.

Although Peach was young, she understood men and women should not have intimate contact.

Normally, a girl her age was almost ready to get married and have children.

However, because of the love and care of Cy, the village chief, the little girl was still very sheltered and did not have this problem.

This naked man was naturally David, who was in a deep sleep.

“G-Grandpa! Didn’t you say it’s a meteor? Why is it a man? He’s not even wearing clothes! This is so embarrassing!” Peach stammered.

“I don’t know what’s going on as well,” Cy replied with a bitter smile.

With his knowledge, he also could not explain why this happened.

The little girl peered out from the space between her fingers, covering her eyes.

Looking at the man’s face on the lake, she sighed in her heart, ‘What a handsome man!’

This man looked like everything she wanted in a man.

“Grandpa, h-he’s not dead, is he?” Peach asked softly.

“Peach, let’s get closer, and I’ll check him out!” Cy ordered.

“No! He’s not even wearing any clothes! It would be so embarrassing if anyone found out!”

Even though Peach wanted to open her eyes and do what her grandfather told her, she still refused because she was too reserved.

“Gosh, why do you still care about that? Also, there’s only the two of us here. Do you think I will tell others about this? This man has been in the lake since last night, so I think he’s already dead. Since he’s already dead, we should get him out to bury him.

Gosh, he looks so handsome. What a waste that he died like this.”

What her grandfather said made her put down her hands. She grabbed the oars and rowed closer.

At the same time, her eyes were on David the entire time.

When her eyes traveled south, she turned her red face away. Eventually, she decided to stop looking.

This was so embarrassing!

At the end of the day, she was still an inexperienced little girl.

When the boat approached David, Cy placed his finger under David's nose immediately to see if he was still breathing. Despite already having an answer and assuming David was already dead, he still had to make sure.

Suddenly, he realized that this was not right, and his outstretched hand stopped in mid-air.

Upon closer inspection, this person's skin was as clear as crystal.

As the only person in Village Pescado with some knowledge of pharmacology, Cy knew that this was not what a dead person should have.

Moreover, he had been floating on the water for a day and a night.

No normal person would have such good skin.

With doubts in his heart, Cy continued to reach out.

The results surprised him.

He thought to himself, 'He's still breathing! Does it mean he's not dead yet?'

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2802-'How is this possible?'

'He fell from such a high altitude and floated in the water for a day and a night, but he's still alive?

'Is he human?'

Someone living at the bottom like Cy would never understand how strong David was.

Falling from a high altitude and being soaked in water were all nothing.

One must remember that David had been floating in the void for three full years.

2

During this period, he encountered the harshest environment in the void several times and was swallowed up by space cracks several times.

Still, nothing could harm him.

His partial Heavenly Overlord body was enough for him to go anywhere in the universe.

Even the most terrifying catastrophe could not harm him in the slightest.

The only things that could hurt David were Overlords or powerful treasures.

Seeing that David was still breathing, Cy did not waste any time. So, he quickly ordered, "Peach, come and help pull him up. He is not dead yet!"

"Huh? Not dead yet? Really?"

Peach first showed an expression of surprise, and then she became a little confused. "But Grandpa, he's not even wearing any clothes. How can I help?"

Cy thought for a moment. Then, he took off his coat, covered David's lower body, and said, "Okay! I've covered him with my clothes, so you can't see him now."

The little girl then turned around and helped Cy pull David onto the boat.

Peach was a 15 or 16-year-old young woman who had always been spoiled, while Cy was an old man on the brink of death, so they had limited strength.

After struggling for a long time, they finally pulled David onto the boat.

Both of them were somewhat out of breath.

"Go and see if he's breathing yourself," Cy replied.

So, Peach moved a little closer to David. As she looked at the almost perfect face, she suppressed her racing heart and stretched out her hand tremblingly in front of the other person's nose.

Hmm?

He was breathing.

"Grandpa, he's still alive!" The little girl squealed excitedly.

"Yeah, I know." Cy nodded.

"What should we do then?"

"Let's bring him back first. I'll examine him tomorrow, and if I can't figure out what's going on. I'll have to get a doctor to see why he's unconscious."

When they were pulling David onto the boat, Cy examined him briefly.

His bodily functions were all normal, and they were even in tip-top shape.

However, he was unconscious, and this confused Cy.

He had never encountered such a strange thing before.

“Grandpa, do you think he was responsible for the death of so many fish in Lake Pescado?” Peach asked curiously.

“I don’t know. That’s why we have to wake him up and ask him.”

“What if it’s him?”

“What can we do then? We can’t eat him like a fish, right? We are not beasts.”

Cy replied angrily.

“Grandpa, I think this person must be special since he can cause the death of so many fish and can stay in the water for a whole day and night without any problems. He is not an ordinary person. Maybe rescuing him will be an opportunity for Village Pescado.”

Cy was stunned.

He had never thought of this.

Peach made sense.

At first glance, this person was no ordinary person indeed.

“Let’s wait for him to wake up.”

Hence, the grandfather and granddaughter took David out of the center of the lake in a small boat and headed to Village Pescado.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2803-Planet Gorgon.

Village Pescado.

Cy and Peach spent a lot of effort transporting David home.

They did not ask other villagers to help as they did not want other villagers to know about David's existence yet.

After all, as long as they were not stupid, they would be able to connect the dots if they saw a naked young man suddenly appearing in Lake Pescado after a large number of fish in the lake died.

Otherwise, how could there be such a coincidence in the world?

Why didn't anyone show up in the lake before the fish died?

To avoid trouble, Cy decided to hide David temporarily.

Even if he was the village chief of Village Pescado, he could not go against the villagers' wills.

Even he, as a village chief, could not object if all of the villagers decided to do something.

So, he should only decide when this kid woke up.

Then Cy would see if he could bring some changes to Village Pescado.

If he could, it would be a blessing in disguise.

Although Village Pescado could rely on the small Lake Pescado to live and work peacefully, Cy wanted to bring the village to a new level after he went out and saw the prosperity and cruelty of the outside world.

However, he did not realize his dream in the end.

There were many reasons for that.

The most important thing was that the villagers of Village Pescado had become accustomed to a peaceful life and had lost their aggressive and adventurous spirit.

They figured it was good to settle for the status quo, and there was no need to break this calm.

Cy could not do anything for the villagers who had lost their ambitions.

He even told everyone that they could only live a better and more stable life when they became stronger. Otherwise, the peace in front of them would just be an illusion that would be broken at a touch.

However, no one listened to him.

How many generations of villagers had lived here?

There must have been dozens of generations, and yet they had lived peacefully this entire time.

Therefore, the villagers of Village Pescado did not believe what Cy said.

They all assumed he was just an alarmist and went back to their usual lives.

Even in the training classes organized by Cy, few children were willing to come.

If they had the time to attend a class, they might as well help their family with some work.

As time passed, Cy's ambition gradually faded away, and he had no choice but to accept the reality.

Now, David's arrival ignited that passion again.

He was wondering if this kid could change the current situation of Village Pescado after he woke up.

When Cy was traveling outside, he was lucky enough to meet a big shot who could do superhuman things.

After he calmed down, he could not help but wonder. Since this kid fell from the sky and landed in Lake Pescado, was he beaten down after a battle with his enemy?'

Or perhaps he flew over Lake Pescado after he was poisoned. Then he fainted due to the poison and fell into Lake Pescado.

Both were possible, but the latter was more likely.

If he was in a battle, someone would surely come to look for his body. Moreover, he would also have injuries on his body.

So, the chance of him getting poisoned was greater.

Most of the fish in the lake were also poisoned.

Anyway, no matter what, he must be a super big shot since he had superhuman abilities.

I am a quadrillionaire chapter 2804-Cy did not sleep for the entire night because he was too excited.

The next morning, he came to David's room impatiently to examine his body.

However, after a long examination, he could not find anything.

Yet, this kid was still unconscious.

This troubled Cy.

After an entire night of contemplation, he still did not know who this kid was and if enemies were chasing him. So, he decided not to tell anyone about him and not to get a doctor.

If not, the consequences might be serious.

Since all his organs and bodily functions were fine, or even much better than normal, he should be fine.

He should be able to wake up soon.

If that were the case, Cy would wait for him to wake up himself.

Even if he got a doctor, he might not be able to treat David. Moreover, it might expose David's whereabouts. If that happened, the gains would not make up for the losses.

After thinking it through, Cy decided to hide David. He would not do anything and would only wait for David to wake up.

Knock knock knock!

Someone knocked on the door at this moment.

"Peach, is that you? Come in," Cy came back to his senses and said.

Creak!

The door was pushed open, and Peach walked in. "Hello, Grandpa."

Cy nodded his head in response.

"Grandpa, have you checked his body?" Peach asked.

"Yes."

"And?"

"He's fine, and he's not injured. As for why he's still unconscious, I think he might be poisoned."

"Huh? Has he been poisoned? Grandpa, let's go get a doctor! If not, he will die when the poison travels to his entire body," Peach said anxiously.

"Peach, listen to me. We can't get a doctor. We can only hide him and wait for him to wake up by himself."

“Why? Can he wake up himself now that he’s poisoned?” Peached asked in confusion.

So, Cy told her his guesses.

After Peach heard that, she was instantly curious. She asked, “Grandpa, are you saying he can fly?”

‘Yes, if he can’t, how did he fall in the middle of Lake Pescado? He must have fallen when the poison took effect as he was flying past, and that’s how he ended up in Lake Pescado. I think the fish in the lake were also killed by the poison from his body,” Cy explained.

“Can humans fly?” The little girl widened her eyes, her face filled with curiosity “Of course! Back when I was a kid, and I went out, I was lucky enough to see a big shot who could fly in the sky. To people like them, that’s just child play. If those people wave their hands, they can topple the mountains and overturn the seas. Too bad I only caught a small glimpse and didn’t see too clearly,” Cy recalled.

“Grandpa, what can I do to fly?” The little girl seemed to be very interested in flying.

“This is related to martial arts. When you have a certain level of strength, you will be able to fly freely in the sky,” Cy explained.

As for what level was that, he did not say.

It was because he had no idea either.

When he went out when he was young, he only took a spin in the surrounding small town.

No one would pay any attention to a hillbilly like him, so that was why he only got limited knowledge.

Moreover, meeting that big shot who could fly was the highlight of Cy’s life.

Even though he only caught a glimpse among the crowd, it was enough for him to brag for a lifetime.

“I see! Grandpa, does it mean it’s very hard to fly?”

“Of course! Do you think anyone can fly? I’ve never heard of anyone within a hundred kilometers of us that knows how to fly. The most powerful person can only kill a normal beast with their bare hands.”

When Peach heard that, her heart turned cold.

It seemed that it would be very challenging for her to fly.

So, she averted her gaze to David on the bed. Her eyes were darting all over the place. It was unknown what she was thinking.