

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ A Man Like None Other Chapter 3775

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3775-With a swift swing of his sword, Jared unleashed a terrifying blade light, coupled with demonic fire, instantly decapitating a demon beast.

The head tumbled to the ground, and the polar stone it had been holding in its mouth fell out.

Jared waved his hand, and the polar stone found its way into his grasp.

The polar stone was chilling to the touch, carrying a faint electric current, which should be the effect of the magnetic field.

Upon witnessing the death of their companion, the rest of the demon beasts went into a frenzy and charged toward Jared relentlessly.

However, it was all in vain. The demon beasts that rushed toward Jared all met their end under his sword.

The polar stones from their mouths all started to fall, which Jared promptly picked up.

Several demon beasts had been present, but in the end, only one remained. It stared at Jared in terror, too frightened to launch another attack.

The demon beast slowly lowered its body, showing signs of submission. It even spat out the precious polar stone it had been holding in its mouth willingly.

Seeing that, Jared stepped forward and picked up the polar stone. Casually, he patted the demon beast.

The demon beast remained completely still, showing an exceptional level of docility.

In the presence of the powerful, only absolute obedience and submission could ensure survival.

It seems that this demon beast is quite intelligent.

Jared gazed at the docile demon beast, then turned his attention to the ones that had perished. He couldn't help but feel a sense of profound melancholy.

In truth, he held no grudge against these demon beasts. His only motive was to acquire the polar stones.

Such was the way of the Ethereal Realm, where individuals, driven by resources and benefits, could easily disregard familial ties, not to mention the relationship between humans and demon beasts.

There were no everlasting friendships, only everlasting interests.

Jared didn't kill the last demon beast. He turned to leave, but after only a couple of steps, he suddenly stopped in his tracks.

Since these demon beasts could locate the polar stones and use them for their cultivation, Jared could use them to find the polar stones.

Moreover, he could even ride on this demon beast, making things a lot easier.

Flying in this area was quite challenging, so finding a mount could be an option.

Jared turned around, advancing once more toward the demon beast. Fear was clearly etched in the demon beast's eyes.

"You needn't fear. I won't kill you. Lead me to the polar stones now. Once I've gathered enough, I'll set you free. I'll even give you some for your own cultivation." The demon beast understood Jared's words and nodded emphatically.

Jared made himself comfortable atop the demon beast. Its entire body was covered in soft, fluffy fur, giving off a warm sensation when he sat on it.

After traveling a distance with the demon beast, Jared noticed a reaction from the metal rod in his hand once again.

Following that, the demon beast used its massive claws to scrape away the accumulated snow, revealing several fist-sized polar stones beneath.

Jared immediately tossed the polar stones into his Storage Ring.

And so, with the help of this demon beast, Jared found more and more polar stones, accumulating over a hundred of them. Moreover, sitting on the demon beast was incredibly comfortable.

Visit En.novelxo.com to read full content.

And it seemed that the demon beast didn't actually know where to find a large amount of polar stones.

The day went by just like that.

Jared regrouped with Bianca and the others.

Upon seeing Jared riding a demon beast, the numerous holy maidens found it utterly fascinating.

Intrigued, Bianca asked, "Mr. Chance, what kind of demon beast are you riding?" "I'm not sure myself. I was just too tired from walking, so I grabbed one to ride," Jared casually remarked.

At that moment, Yuliya began to speak.

Nonetheless, she was aware that she couldn't blame Jared for this. After all, Jared had only tried to save her.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3776-When Jared heard Yuliya's explanation, he indeed realized that these snow bear beasts hadn't attacked him at the time. They had merely tried to scare him off to make him leave.

It was Jared's proactive approach for the sake of the polar stones that sparked the conflict.

As a result, all those snow bear beasts were killed.

A touch of guilt surprisingly stirred within Jared's heart.

"How did it go for you guys? Did you find any polar stones?" he asked.

"We only found a few. We encountered a demon beast and two holy maidens got injured," Bianca replied.

Upon hearing that two holy maidens were injured, Jared asked, "Is the injury severe? Let me take a look..." "It's not serious, just a superficial wound," Bianca said.

"Let you take a look? Who can handle you undressing and touching them?" Yuliya muttered.

She was still dwelling on it.

Upon hearing this, Jared gave an awkward laugh, choosing not to say anything further.

"Mr. Chance, how's your harvest?" Bianca quickly changed the subject.

"There should be hundreds of them, but it's not substantial. We need to locate the polar stone mine. At this rate, I'm afraid we won't find enough to meet the requirements of Lunarius Palace even in a year," Jared said with a slight frown.

"I remember Ms. Nieva mentioning that the closer one gets to the border of the chaos dimension, the more abundant the polar stones are. However, it's incredibly dangerous. If one were to accidentally get caught in the chaos dimension, it would undoubtedly be a death sentence," Bianca said.

"Let's not rush. After all, only we and the Mueller family know about the polar stones. Everyone else is still searching for the immortal's tomb. Moreover, the polar stones don't serve much purpose in the hands of other cultivators. Let's rest for a few hours before we continue our search..." After Jared finished speaking, he took out some pills from his Storage Ring and handed them to Bianca. "Have everyone take these. While they won't enhance their abilities, they will quickly restore their energy." Bianca had everyone take the pill and start to rest, while Jared sat cross-legged, engrossed in studying Immortal's Pointer.

Back then, the elder of the Seizon family had stated that only those who had comprehended time nascence could master Immortal's Pointer.

While Jared was engrossed in studying the skill, he suddenly sensed a stir within his Storage Ring.

He hurriedly probed with his spiritual sense. What he found was so shocking that it nearly gave him a heart attack.

The Celestial Devourer had awakened at some point and was devouring the polar stones.

By the time Jared discovered it, hundreds of polar stones had already been devoured completely.

“Darn it! Do you realize how much effort I put into finding them, and you’ve eaten them all? Spit it out! Spit it out for me!” However, it seemed the Celestial Devourer hadn’t heard a thing. It simply fell into a deep sleep after filling its belly.

Jared looked at the Celestial Devourer, unable to do anything.

Looks like I can’t keep the polar stones in the Storage Ring anymore!

“Kid, why are you so stingy? My mount is still young. What’s the big deal if it eats a bit? Once my memory returns and I regain my strength, I’ll repay you. It’s no big deal. Do you understand that what you’re doing now is an investment?”

Once we reach the celestial realm, I’ll take care of you. The celestial gems and spiritual plants there are far superior to these stones.” Seeing that Jared was upset, Vermilion Demon Lord quickly tried to console him.

Jared let out a sigh, feeling quite helpless.

Oh well, the Celestial Devourer once saved my life. It can have them all!

Several hours swiftly passed by.

However, guided by the metal rod, Jared and his companions gradually approached the border of the chaos dimension.

As it was nightfall, Jared and his companions failed to notice this.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3777-At the break of dawn, Jared suddenly realized that something was amiss.

Before them, a terrifying crevice appeared, as if someone had cleaved the very fabric of the universe with a single sword stroke.

On one side of the massive crevice, the howling cold wind whipped around, navigating through every nook and cranny. Countless fragments of space twisted and turned, as though they were ready to reap everything in their path.

The space before everyone's eyes was distorted, resembling a chaotic void, making it impossible to see anything clearly within it.

A sense of danger permeated the surroundings. Everyone felt their hair stand on end, their hearts filled with tension.

The oppressive feeling that the chaos dimension brought them was simply too intense.

It seemed that when the Ethereal Realm was created by the powerful, they had intentionally made the borders terrifying to prevent anyone from accidentally crossing them.

"Mr. Chance, look over there, quick!" At that moment, Bianca suddenly pointed across the vast crevice.

In the snowy landscape across from them, there was a dense cluster of polar stones piled together.

It appeared to be, at the very least, a thousand of them.

Jared looked at the not-so-wide crevice. "There are so many polar stones. All we need to do is cross over to get them." Although they couldn't fly over to the other side, they could still easily traverse through the crevice.

However, the most perilous thing was the distorted, chaos dimension.

If one wasn't careful and got sucked in, it would be the end of everything.

As Jared hesitated, Vermilion Demon Lord piped up, "Don't cross over. You won't be able to. I made this crevice with my sword. I recall some memories of fighting here. Perhaps even my remains could be buried somewhere around here." Vermilion Demon Lord was slain here, indicating there must have been a battle.

It would be reasonable to say that this crevice was created by a single strike from Vermilion Demon Lord. After all, he was a demon lord and this level of power was well within his reach.

“Do you remember anything else? Do you know who tried to kill you? Do you know if there’s any polar stone mine here?” Jared asked excitedly.

Vermilion Demon Lord shook his head. “I can’t recall who killed me, let alone know anything about some polar stones mine. Polar stones, to me, are no different from trash. Why would I pay attention to it?” Vermilion Demon Lord’s words indeed held some truth.

Polar stones were merely beneficial for those who practiced frost techniques. To the immortals and demon lords, they were as worthless as trash.

“Why can’t I get through when the crevice isn’t even wide?” Jared turned to ask Vermilion Demon Lord.

“Try throwing a stone and you’ll see,” Vermilion Demon Lord replied.

Jared picked up a stone and then hurled it with all his might toward the opposite direction.

No sooner had the stone been thrown than an intense aura emerged from the enormous crevice, instantly shattering the stone.

“What... What’s going on?” Jared was quite taken aback.

Jared was utterly speechless.

The polar stones were seemingly within reach, yet they were utterly impossible to obtain.

It was clear that Vermilion Demon Lord’s sword had missed its mark, resulting in a crevice.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3778-“What am I supposed to do, then? Is there really no way to reach the other side?” Jared asked.

“Of course there is. Just go around it. My sword didn’t strike that far. Did you really think I could split the Ethereal Realm into two?” Upon hearing this, Jared realized that the only option was to go around it. He hoped that the distance wasn’t too far just as Vermilion Demon Lord had mentioned.

“Mr. Chance, I’ll scout ahead. There are so many polar stones on the other side.

It would truly be a shame if we didn't seize them," Bianca stated.

"Don't! It's too dangerous. You can't cross this crevice directly. If you want to, you need to go around it." "Go around it?" Bianca was stunned.

The other holy maidens were somewhat puzzled. Although the crevice appeared wide, it still seemed quite easy to cross over.

"Didn't you see the stone I just threw was instantly torn apart by the force within the crevice?" "It's just a stone. What can it possibly represent? The strength of our bodies can't be compared to a mere stone," Yuliya said.

"Exactly. As long as we cloak ourselves with our aura, we'll be fine. If we were to go around it, who knows how long it would take." Bianca also objected to going around the crevice. After all, the crevice was so deep that they couldn't see the end at first glance.

Piles of polar stones are right before our eyes, yet we have to go around it.

What if someone else discovers them?

"Go around it. That's an order," Jared commanded with a stern expression.

He couldn't possibly use people as guinea pigs, and Vermilion Demon Lord surely wouldn't lie.

Hearing that, Bianca fell silent. After all, before they left, Nieva had instructed them to follow Jared's command.

And they had witnessed Jared's true strength, so they indeed submitted to him.

Yuliya, on the other hand, had a different opinion, but she didn't say anything.

Jared took the lead, guiding the way a dozen miles ahead. The numerous holy maidens followed behind. In case of danger, they would be able to retreat promptly.

As they moved forward, Yuliya asked Bianca, "Bianca, why are you guys following Jared's orders? The polar stones are right in front of us, yet we're not allowed to take them. Instead, we have to take a detour. When on earth will we get there if we keep this up?" "Yuliya, this is Ms. Nieva's wish. We should follow Mr. Chance's plans," Bianca said.

“We will follow Jared. You just need to secretly send two holy maidens over to retrieve the polar stones. Jared won’t find out. Once the polar stones are retrieved, we’ll see what he has to say then. It’s just a crevice. How terrifying can it possibly be?” Although Yuliya was older, she was only in charge of managing the disciples from the outer circle. When it came to the holy maidens, she had no authority to give orders. Her only option was to seek Bianca.

“Yuliya, this isn’t right. If Mr. Chance finds out, he’ll be angry.” Bianca found herself in a bit of a predicament.

“Don’t worry. We’re only after the polar stones too. Once we have them, he won’t have anything to say.” Bianca hesitated for a moment, then finally nodded and said, “All right, I’ll make the arrangements.”

The two holy maidens nodded and began to make preparations.

The two of them suddenly took off into the air, heading straight for the other side of the crevice.

Just as the two of them had reached the area above the crevice, suddenly an overwhelming aura, sharp as knife blades, gushed out from within the crevice.

Before the two holy maidens could react, they were instantly shattered by this overwhelming force, plummeting into the abyss of the crevice.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3779-This abrupt scene left everyone utterly dumbfounded.

Bianca’s face was filled with self-reproach. Yuliya’s eyes were wide open. She could not believe everything that had happened before her.

Jared also sensed that something was amiss and, in an instant, he used Blazing Stride to swiftly return.

However, it was too late. He could not save the two holy maidens. All he could do was watch, wide-eyed, as the holy maidens were strangled and fell into the crevice.

A blaze of anger ignited in his eyes.

“Bianca, what on earth is going on? I demand an explanation.” Jared gritted his teeth, his voice terrifyingly icy.

Bianca’s body trembled slightly as a mix of fear and sorrow coursed through her.

Two holy maidens lost their lives all due to her careless command. They were all aware that the polar region was fraught with danger, and they could lose their lives at any moment.

Bianca felt immense guilt for having lost two lives due to her own foolish command.

“I... I wanted them to retrieve the polar stones from across, so we wouldn’t have to detour. I didn’t know...” Bianca found herself unable to continue speaking and shed tears of regret.

“Did you turn a deaf ear to what I just said? Didn’t I tell you not to cross the crevice?” Jared roared.

Bianca cried incessantly, brimming with self- reproach.

Yuliya stepped forward. “Why are you shouting? We just wanted to get the polar stones as soon as possible. Who knew something like this would happen? We didn’t want it either. I made Bianca do it. It’s all my fault. You can yell at me.” Jared looked at Yuliya, his eyes filled with rage.

Bianca will definitely not disobey my orders. It seems that it’s indeed Yuliya who has been stirring things up.

“So it was your idea. Why didn’t you retrieve the polar stones yourself, then?”

Because of your ignorance, two holy maidens lost their lives in vain. Just go ahead on your own. If you’re dead, you won’t have to take responsibility for anyone else. I bet you don’t have the guts. Everyone who was with you is now dead, yet you’re still alive. Did you abandon them at the most critical moment, saving your own skin? Don’t think you’re so impressive. If not for us, you’d be a corpse by now.” The words Jared spoke were harsh. He couldn’t control his emotions anymore.

Such stupidity can really get a lot of people killed.

“No, I didn’t. I didn’t abandon anyone. You can’t say that about me!” Yuliya was provoked by Jared, her whole body trembling. She abruptly ran off on her own.

“Yuliya...” Bianca wanted to chase after her but was stopped by Jared.

“Don’t bother with her. Let that fool come to her senses on her own.” Jared chose to ignore Yuliya; instead, he continued his journey with Bianca and the others. Despite that, he was still somewhat worried deep down.

In reality, Yuliya wasn’t evil, nor did she intend to harm her friends. She was just a bit dim-witted.

At times, foolish women can truly be the death of someone, especially those who think too highly of themselves.

After Jared had come to terms with his feelings, he decided to find Yuliya, but she was nowhere to be found.

At that moment, all Jared could do was hope fervently that Yuliya wouldn’t encounter any danger.

After all, she was a part of Lunarius Palace.

Jared didn’t pursue further. After all, he wasn’t there to slay the demon beasts to obtain their beast cores.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3780-After approximately an hour of continuous journey, Jared finally saw the end of the crevice. He breathed a sigh of relief and withdrew his spiritual sense slightly.

After all, it was an unfamiliar path, and there was no telling what dangers lay ahead. Jared led the way, remaining alert and focused throughout.

Behind, the atmosphere among the holy maidens was notably solemn, particularly for Bianca. She constantly felt that she was the cause of the two holy maidens’ deaths.

“Once we cross this crevice, we’ll be even closer to the chaos dimension.

Everyone needs to be on high alert. If you’re not careful and get sucked into the chaos dimension, you’re a goner,” Jared said to the numerous holy maidens.

“Understood.” This time, all the holy maidens heeded Jared’s words without question.

Seeing the somewhat dispirited look on Bianca’s face, Jared advised, “Bianca, stop blaming yourself. You need to pull yourself together. The growth and prosperity of Lunarius Palace rest on your shoulders. I can’t be there to aid you forever. You must bear your own responsibilities.” “Mr. Chance, I understand.” Bianca nodded.

The group skirted around the massive crevice, with the warped space not far off.

Everyone was somewhat on edge.

Jared was still ahead. We must get our hands on the polar stones!

“Polar stones!” Suddenly, a holy maiden let out a loud cry, darting toward the polar stones.

Not far off, there were hundreds of polar stones shimmering like blooming flowers atop the thick blanket of snow.

“It’s true that the closer we get to the chaos dimension, the more polar stones there are,” Bianca said with deep emotion.

“Don’t go any closer!” Jared shouted abruptly at the holy maiden.

However, it was already too late. The holy maiden had reached the polar stones, and with palpable excitement, she began to stow them into her item pouch.

Seeing that, Jared quickly headed toward the holy maiden.

But as the chaos dimension began to stir, a massive force of attraction sucked the holy maiden right into it.

The holy maiden didn’t even have time to cry out before she vanished into the chaos. dimension, leaving no trace of movement or sound behind.

Everyone watched the scene in stunned silence.

The polar stones weren’t too far from them. The holy maiden had only moved slightly closer before being absorbed into the chaos dimension.

From the looks of it, the place they were at that moment was probably not safe either.

“I’m stating this again: no one is allowed to wander off. Even if you spot a polar stone, you’re not allowed to take it,” Jared ordered the holy maidens once again.

Before even encountering any enemies or demon beasts, they had already lost three of their people. This was a tremendous loss.

Jared continued on his journey with the holy maidens trailing behind him. They ventured into the chaos dimension, a place from which death was certain and no one could possibly rescue them.

They were about to reach the location with thousands of polar stones when a series of roars suddenly brought everyone to an abrupt halt.

There were dozens of white wolves, their white fur creating a stark blanket of white.

The snow bear beast that Jared rode on became agitated and restless. In the end, it shook Jared off and bolted away.

It seemed that the snow bear beast was extremely afraid of the white wolves.

These wolves were pack animals, so they worked together with incredible synergy.

He had also encountered white wolves when he was in the northern region.

All the holy maidens drew their frost swords, each with a tense expression as they prepared for battle.