

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3811-Jared was desperate to escape the lava, but it was as if he was stuck in a quagmire. No matter how much he struggled, he couldn't break free.

Jared attempted to harness his fire nascence, drawing in the surrounding heat waves and flames.

However, it was simply impossible to absorb them. It was as if the flames within the lava and his demonic fire were not of the same entity.

At the same time, Golem Body began to be eaten away underneath the intense heat wave. Jared knew that without Golem Body, his flesh wouldn't stand a chance against the raging flames of the lava.

Just when he was steeped in despair, a sudden wave of coolness enveloped him from all sides. The demonic fire soul essence he had acquired started to emit a shimmering red light.

The demonic fire soul essence flickered with a red glow as the heat wave and intense flames from the lava were rapidly absorbed into it.

With that, Jared suddenly felt at ease!

"Kid, this is a golden opportunity. If you can refine the fire of the Earth's core, you'll have a new type of demonic fire. This is way more powerful than the fire nascence you currently have," said Vermilion Demon Lord.

Jared was solely focused on the relief he felt. However, upon hearing the words of Vermilion Demon Lord, his eyes instantly lit up.

Now that demonic fire had the ability to absorb the fire of the Earth's core, he could seize the opportunity to refine some of it.

Had it not been for his demonic fire soul essence, Jared would have been burnt to a crisp by the fire of the Earth's core, let alone have the opportunity to refine it.

Jared's eyes were slightly closed as he sensed the intense flames surrounding him.

The fire of the Earth's core was absorbed by the demonic fire soul essence, so it was utterly incapable of causing harm to Jared.

Jared started to peel off strands of flame from the fire of the Earth's core that was absorbed by demonic fire soul essence. Using the power of his fire nascence star, he gradually absorbed the flames into his body.

Jared dared not be too greedy. After all, with his current strength, he wasn't even sure if he could tame a single strand of the fire of the Earth's core.

If he couldn't manage to tame and refine it, it would cause havoc inside his body, which would lead to a serious problem.

Jared was exceedingly cautious, gradually harnessing the fire of the Earth's core. At that moment, Lauden had already burst forth from the crevice, returning to the surface.

Upon seeing Lauden, Keelan and the other disciples were extremely delighted.

Keelan stepped forward and asked, "Mr. Delacroix, are you alright?" "I'm fine, it's just... it's just that my friend Mr. Chance, he..." Lauden gazed into the bottomless crevice, his expression turning solemn. Upon seeing the expression on Lauden's face, everyone instantly knew what had transpired and fell silent.

They knew, without Jared, none of them would have survived.

But now, in order to save Lauden, Jared was actually trapped in the crevice forever.

"We, the Five Great Sects, will forever be indebted to Mr. Chance..." Lauden said sorrowfully.

"Mr. Delacroix, at this point, there's nothing we can do." "What should we do about the elder of the Lethal Spirit Sect?" Keelan asked, as Cole was still in their hands.

Moreover, Jared wouldn't have been trapped in the crevice, his fate unknown.

Upon hearing this, Cole was scared witless.

After all the hardships he faced to achieve his current cultivation level, he certainly did not want to die.

Lauden was not about to listen to any of this. He was determined to vent all his anger on Cole.

Just as he was about to throw Cole into the massive crevice, the ground suddenly shook as if there was an earthquake

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3812-Immediately after, an inferno erupted from the large crevice, shooting straight up into the sky. The surging heat wave caused Lauden and his companions to retreat one after another.

The residual snow on the ground vanished in an instant, revealing the brown mountain rocks beneath.

Atop the flames, a figure was seated cross- legged.

As the flames descended, the silhouette too, fell alongside them.

“Mr. Chance....” Lauden murmured when he recognized Jared as the figure on top. In the palm of Jared’s hand, a vibrant red flame flickered, akin to a tiny dancer performing a lively dance.

However, in no time, the crimson flame seeped into Jared’s body.

At last, Jared had successfully refined the fire of the Earth’s core, thereby possessing the second type of demonic fire.

Even if it was just a tiny flame, the heat wave it unleashed still swept across dozens of miles.

All the accumulated snow had completely evaporated, and the bitterly cold air had instantly become dry and scorching.

However, as the flame entered Jared’s body, a cold gust swept through once again. The dry air collided with the icy breeze, and snow began to fall heavily.

“Mr. Chance, you’re alright, aren’t you?” Lauden asked with a face full of excitement.

“I’m fine!” Jared nodded.

Seeing that Jared was unharmed, Lauden breathed a sigh of relief.

“Mr. Chance, you’ve saved me and the Five Great Sects. Your immense kindness and virtue will never be forgotten.” Lauden was genuinely grateful to Jared.

“Mr. Delacroix, you’re too kind. It was really no trouble at all. Besides, the Five Great Sects are renowned for their righteousness, doing good, and punishing evil. It’s only right that I lend a hand.” Jared approved of Lauden’s character very much.

After all, even when Lauden knew that the Demon Seal Alliance used the hundred-year offering as reward to hunt him down, Lauden didn’t turn against him for personal gain.

“Mr. Chance, save me. I realize my mistake now. I swear I won’t lay a hand on you again.” Clyde followed Jared, pleading for mercy.

He knew that the members of the Five Great Sects despised him greatly. If he were to fall into their hands, he feared that they would torture him to death.

Now, all he could do was plead with Jared.

Jared turned his gaze toward Cole and asked, “If I let you go, what’s in it for me?” “You’ll definitely be well rewarded. I will report everything to the sect leader. Rest assured, I won’t lay a hand on you then. Truthfully, we never wanted to be the puppets of the Demon Seal Alliance. However, if we didn’t follow their orders, we would have been wiped out by them. We simply had no other choice. If you let me go, I assure you, I’ll persuade our clan leader to find a way to break away from the Demon Seal Alliance. We won’t be their lapdogs anymore.” Cole said in desperation.

“Alright, I’ll take your word for it for now. All of you are part of Hadad Descent, yet you committed such wicked deeds. When Hadad regains its true form, none of you will escape punishment.” After Jared finished speaking, he instructed the disciples from the Five Great Sects to release Cole.

Cole thanked him profusely, then turned and ran off.

After all, it was Jared who had captured the latter. Whether to release him or not was entirely Jared’s decision.

“Mr. Chance, we must take our leave now. After enduring such a great calamity, our five sects need some time to recover.” Lauden then bid farewell to Jared.

Jared knew that once Trystan saw the Soulbinding Bead, he would undoubtedly realize that it was him who had sent Keelan.

Physical body restoration was indeed something the Soul Demon Sect could conduct.

After Lauden and his party left, Jared went to find Bianca and the others.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3813-When Jared arrived at the spot where Bianca and the others were originally waiting, he found it was already deserted.

Jared’s brows furrowed instantly. He had told Bianca and the others to wait here.

But now, there was no one.

This gave rise to a sense of foreboding in Jared’s heart. Jared activated his spiritual sense, hoping to locate the whereabouts of Bianca and the others.

Despite having searched dozens of miles, he still couldn’t find Bianca and the others. Just as he was at a loss for what to do, he suddenly noticed traces of blood on the snowy ground.

He followed the trail of blood and saw the lifeless bodies of several holy maidens on the ground..

A jolt of surprise struck Jared’s heart, and he quickly rushed over to inspect. He found that these holy maidens had already passed away, and there were signs that they had been violated.

Most importantly, the black tortoiseshells on these holy maidens had already shattered, indicating that they had encountered a formidable opponent.

He gazed at the disheveled holy maidens, and a wave of murderous intent filled his heart.

He had no idea who had attacked Bianca and the others, but he was determined not to let these people off the hook, even if it were the king himself.

Jared unleashed a ball of demonic fire onto the bodies of these few holy maidens. Their bodies immediately started to burn fiercely.

He couldn't allow these holy maidens to become prey to the beasts in the wilderness. After taking care of the holy maidens' remains, Jared instantly vanished from the spot.

Meanwhile, in the chaos dimension at the border that was hundreds of miles away from Jared, Bianca and Yuliya were struggling to navigate the terrain, accompanied by a few holy maidens.

Nearly all of these people were nursing injuries. Their energy levels were noticeably low. They were clearly struggling to hang on.

"Ladies, hold on. Even if we venture into the chaos dimension, caught in the whirlwind of time and space, we must never fall into the hands of the Muellers.

Those beasts didn't even spare the bodies of our deceased friends." Bianca gritted her teeth, her eyes brimming with sorrow as she spoke.

Yuliya also nodded. "Right, even if we were to die, we couldn't let those beasts benefit from it." The remaining holy maidens all nodded in agreement. As the holy maidens of Lunarius Palace, they valued their purity above all else, even life itself.

However, those brutes from the Mueller family, knowing what the holy maidens of Lunarius Palace valued most, even dared to desecrate their bodies.

Even if Bianca and the others were to die, they wouldn't perish at the hands of the Muellers.

With determination in their eyes, Bianca and her companions headed toward the chaos dimension at the border.

Not far behind Bianca and the others, Leighton and his family were in pursuit.

There was a middle-aged woman following beside him.

She was none other than Keiran's aunt, Selma Mueller, the esteemed young lady of the Mueller family.

If Leighton had only led the Muellers, the casualties suffered by Bianca and the others wouldn't have been so devastating.

Selma had ambushed them directly, resulting in heavy casualties. They had barely managed to escape here.

"They didn't venture into the chaos dimension voluntarily. We pushed them into it," Selma said with a sneer.

Leighton was taken aback, his face full of confusion. "Ms. Selma, why did you drive them into the chaos dimension?" Selma didn't say anything else. She simply pointed toward the southwest direction not too far away.

Leighton was utterly bewildered. During his days in the polar region, he had never encountered this light curtain, let alone this towering mountain.

The polar region was nestled within the heart of Demonica Mountain. Thus, this majestic peak was essentially a mountain encapsulated within another mountain.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3814- A Closed Loop "That's Polar Mountain, where the true polar stone mine is situated. It's just that Polar Mountain is usually obscured by a barrier, making it impossible to see.

Only when space-time is distorted in the chaos dimension at the border will Polar Mountain reveal itself. Only then will there be a chance to enter Polar Mountain to gather the polar stones. This is something I just found out, which is why I came to the polar region looking for you," Selma explained.

Leighton realized then why Selma had suddenly arrived in the polar region.

They had only found scattered pieces of polar stones these past few days and didn't locate any polar stone mine. It turned out it was hidden by a barrier.

Moreover, Polar Mountain was located in the chaos dimension at the border, a place no one dared to approach. That was why no one had discovered it.

“Ms. Selma, you drove the holy maidens of Lunarius Palace into the chaos dimension to distort space-time within, thus creating the conditions to enter Polar Mountain, right?” Leighton understood at once.

“Not bad. You’re pretty smart.” Selma gave a faint smile.

At that time, Bianca and the others had reached the edge of the chaos dimension. If they were to move forward, they would be sucked into the turbulent flow of the chaos dimension.

Death would be certain, and not even a corpse would be left behind.

“Ladies, let’s hold hands. There’s nothing to fear. Upon entering the chaos dimension, you will be torn apart by the turbulent currents. There won’t be any pain.” Bianca held everyone’s hands. Then with a resolute look in her eyes, she headed toward the chaos dimension.

“Don’t do anything foolish!” At that moment, Jared’s voice echoed, and his figure slowly came into view.

“Mr. Chance...” Bianca was overjoyed. She hadn’t expected Jared to find them.

With Jared here, they could be saved.

They had personally witnessed Jared’s capabilities.

Just as they halted, anticipating Jared’s arrival, a sudden, immense force began pulling them toward the chaos dimension.

Two holy maidens were swept up high into the air.

Fortunately, they were holding hands, which prevented them from being drawn in.

“Hold on tight...” Bianca gritted her teeth, holding on with all her might.

Everyone gave their all, yet the immense suction continued to drag them toward the chaos dimension.

Bianca and the others wouldn’t be able to hold out much longer.

At that moment, Jared appeared. A massive surge of energy sent Bianca and the others flying, freeing them from the immense suction force.

However, Jared himself was instantly drawn into the chaos dimension.

“Mr. Chance!” All the holy maidens were taken aback, yet not one of them could lend a hand.

Jared’s body swayed like a flatboat in the chaos dimension. He activated Golem Body to resist the chaotic currents of the chaos dimension.

However, his Golem Body started to crumble as he was pulled deeper into the chaos dimension by a tremendous force.

Jared unleashed all sorts of power within him, forming layers of protective shields around him.

Yet, it was all in vain as the chaotic currents of time and space shattered it in an instant.

Blood began to seep continuously from Jared’s seven orifices.

“Am I really going to die here today?” Jared gave up on resisting, plunging into the depths of despair.

The draconic essence on Jared’s chest was radiating light, and a golden dragon was continuously circling him.

However, in the chaos dimension, even the golden dragon was rapidly vanishing.

“What I’m seeing isn’t the polar region. It’s... Bera Plains?” Jared was instantly dumbstruck. Those were no ordinary white wolves, but demon beasts from Bera Plains.

In that sense, the entire Ethereal Realm was nothing more than a closed loop.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3815-You Are Not Dead Too Even though Jared knew that the icefield of the northern region was just across from him, he found himself utterly immobilized.

His body seemed to have frozen in place.

In the chaos dimension, space itself began to contort. The turbulent flow of time and space was akin to a razor-sharp blade, stabbing Jared relentlessly.

Jared's body was already marred with countless injuries.

The golden dragon encircling his body was also gradually vanishing.

Jared discovered that a towering mountain was becoming increasingly clear.

Atop that towering mountain, clusters of polar stones were radiating their lustrous glow.

"The polar stone mine?" Jared hadn't expected to find the polar stone mine in the chaos dimension.

However, the polar stone mine was not located in the chaos dimension. It was closely linked to it.

"It's over. It's really over this time..." Jared let out a sigh.

Finding the polar stone mine now is utterly pointless!

I'm about to die!

At that moment, Jared could even feel the chilling breath of death.

This was the closest he had ever come to death.

"Perhaps death is a kind of release. But I just can't bear to part with the women by my side..." Jared began to get lost in his memories.

It was like watching a movie as every moment from the time he was imprisoned to the time after he was released played in his mind.

At that moment, Vermilion Demon Lord was in a state of panic within Jared's consciousness field.

If Jared were to die here, he would surely be done for as well.

"Don't give up. Hang in there. You can't die. If you die, what will I do?" Vermilion Demon Lord bellowed.

However, Jared couldn't seem to hear at all. His will to live had diminished significantly.

Meanwhile, within a mansion nestled in the forested mountains, Arthur suddenly furrowed his brow.

"Why on earth did he venture into the chaos dimension? He's truly a magnet for trouble!" Arthur muttered, and in an instant, he was nowhere to be seen.

As Jared's life was slowly ebbing away, his thoughts too started spiraling into turmoil.

Suddenly, a beam of golden light bathed him, followed by a wave of unprecedented comfort that swept across his entire body.

Arthur, dressed in plain attire, was quietly observing him.

When Jared opened his eyes and saw Arthur, he was completely stunned.

"Mr. Sanders, is that really you? Am I already dead? Are we in hell or heaven? It must be heaven. Am I seeing you in heaven? Mr. Sanders, do you have any idea how much I've missed you?" Jared burst into tears.

In truth, Jared had always regarded Arthur as an elder of his own.

In the mundane world, Jared had received Arthur's meticulous care and attention.

Had it not been for Arthur, Jared might have been assassinated in Jadeborough by those people from the Warriors Alliance.

Upon hearing Jared's words, Arthur was momentarily lost for words.

As Arthur spoke, Jared found himself in a daze, but he quickly snapped back to reality.

"Mr. Sanders, I'm not dead. You're not dead too, right?" In his excitement, Jared embraced Arthur.

Arthur hadn't died, neither had he.

He could distinctly sense Arthur's presence at that moment. Arthur radiated a golden aura. Wherever his aura touched, serenity and tranquility prevailed.

Even the chaos of time and space couldn't get the slightest bit closer.

After he finished speaking, he glanced at Jared.

This single glance made Vermilion Demon Lord shudder in fear.

Arthur's figure also disappeared.