

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3851-“Does this mean the legacy is incomplete?” asked Jared.

“Of course, if I had perished, you would have received the complete legacy. But as it stands, I’m still alive and you’re not a disciple of Infinitus Celestial Sect.

How could you possibly have the complete legacy?” explained the sect leader of Infinitus Celestial Sect.

“So what’s the point of this Infinitus Token? Infinitus Celestial Sect has been wiped out, leaving you as the lone leader. How am I supposed to get you to carry out three tasks?” Jared was speechless.

This Infinitus Token is totally useless! It’s not even as useful as that liquified celestial energy!

“How audacious of you to say that! Now that I’ve recovered, Infinitus Celestial Sect will definitely regain its glory. This Infinitus Token is something many people yearn for, yet you dare to say it’s useless?” exclaimed Wesley, exasperated.

Jared hurriedly apologized, “I’m sorry to offend you.” He couldn’t comprehend why all these people from the Ethereal Realm seemed to be so bad-tempered.

That Fire Spirit Lord stormed away in a huff, too, and Jared was afraid that Wesley might do the same, and he’d end up with nothing at all.

“Sir, since you said I could ask for three favors from Infinitus Celestial Sect, can I possibly make one request now?” asked Jared.

“Why?” Wesley was taken aback.

“I’m being hunted down. Please eliminate those people from the Demon Seal Alliance who are hunting me down. Wipe them all out. This Ethereal Realm was established by your sect anyway, so you could be considered its ruler. It’ll be like a walk in the park for you to do that!” said Jared.

Jared was annoyed by the Demon Seal Alliance's constant pestering. Now, he finally found a chance to eradicate them once and for all.

Wesley glared at Jared as if the latter was a fool. "Even though the Ethereal Realm was established by Infinitnus Celestial Sect, I, however, cannot interfere with its affairs. This is the Heavenly Law. I can't just alter a world I created however I wanted, let alone make it vanish. I could do it if this were just a secret realm, but this is a whole world. I'm not yet capable of defying the Heavenly Law. Although you guys are as weak and insignificant as ants before me, I am, however, unable to alter your fates." Jared couldn't fully understand Wesley's words.

Looking at Jared's expression, Wesley continued, "The master who controls the cosmos could cause countless dimensions to collapse with his sneeze alone, not to mention this tiny Ethereal Realm. However, he can't do so. All beings must adhere to the Heavenly Law. Precisely because this Ethereal Realm was established by Infinitnus Celestial Sect, we must refrain from intervening in its affairs.

Wesley's figure suddenly vanished into thin air after he finished speaking.

The main hall was utterly empty, and even the cushion had disappeared.

"Have you lost your mind or something?" Only then did the Vermilion Demon Lord dare to speak.

"What's wrong?" Jared was confused. Why'd he yell at me?

"What should I do then? I can't deal with the Demon Seal Alliance now," said Jared.
