

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3861-The Five Elements Beast Jared, on the other hand, was skillfully employing Blazing Stride, continuously dodging with such agility that he seemed to vanish and reappear out of nowhere.

Every single attack from Selma was skillfully dodged by Jared.

As Jared pushed Blazing Strides to the limit, numerous images of him emerged.

These were all afterimages left behind due to Jared's extreme speed.

Selma furrowed her brows slightly. She understood that Jared wasn't retaliating, but was merely dodging with all his might, aiming to wear her down.

With this in mind, once the time came for Selma's aura to explode, her defeat would be inevitable.

"You're dreaming if you think you can wear me down!" Selma saw through Jared's strategy, and subsequently, her fingers moved subtly. The dazzling, multicolored frost energy began to spread.

At the same time, a glimmer of light began to flicker at the center of Selma's brows. This shimmer then took flight, darting straight into the midst of the frost energy.

Upon observing the situation, Jared couldn't help but frown. He could sense that Selma seemed to be breathing life into the vast expanse of frost energy before him.

With this in mind, the repercussions that Selma faced were not as simple as becoming incapacitated. There was a high probability that she could die as a result.

"Is she planning to take me down with her?" Jared mumbled through gritted teeth while activating Golem Body.

The Power of Dragons stirred within his chest, all his strength gathering in that single moment.

Faced with Selma's formidable Ultimate Realm strength, Jared dared not to take it lightly.

"Rise again!" With a thunderous roar, Selma merged the radiant light with the dazzling and multicolored frost energy into one.

Immediately following, waves of frost energy exploded forth, after which an array of differently colored frost energy solidified once more.

However, this time, the frost energy solidified into ferocious beasts.

Each one had a unique shape. Such demon beasts didn't exist in the Ethereal Realm.

As the demon beasts materialized, everyone was taken aback with shock. After all, the shock from encountering such never-before-seen demon beasts was truly the greatest.

Jared was also utterly bewildered as he had never seen these bizarre and strangely shaped demon beasts before.

There were five demon beasts in total, each exuding an aura of wild fury. At that moment, Vermilion Demon Lord said, "The five elements beast? I can't believe the ancestors of the Mueller family were actually from the celestial realm!" As the Demon Lord of the celestial realm, he was well-acquainted with these five demon beasts.

"Five elements beast?" Jared wore a face of confusion.

Moreover, if the ancestors of the Mueller family were from the celestial realm, how did they end up populating the Ethereal Realm?

Moreover, it seemed that the Mueller family did not practice any celestial techniques. They couldn't even recognize, let alone absorb, the celestial energy.

Judging from this, it seemed impossible that the ancestors of the Mueller family could have been from the celestial realm.

Seeing the confusion on Jared's face, Vermilion Demon Lord explained, "It's quite simple. Not everyone perished in the Celestial Battle all those years ago. Undoubtedly, there were immortals and Demonic Cultivators from the celestial realm who survived. These individuals must have been injured and unable to return to the celestial realm, so they chose to stay.

However, in Ethereal Realm, there was only spiritual energy and not celestial energy. If they wanted to thrive, they had to modify their cultivation methods, allowing their descendants to cultivate using spiritual energy. It's quite normal that, thousands of years later, descendants only understand the concept of spiritual energy but are unfamiliar with the essence of celestial energy. Moreover, this person's power surged unexpectedly.

The aura she exuded at that moment contained traces of celestial energy.

Now, she has even conjured the five elements beast. It's certain that the ancestors of the Mueller family must have been from the celestial realm."

After hearing Vermilion Demon Lord's explanation, Jared had also come to understand some things.

But how am I supposed to deal with this five elements beast?

"Mr. Vermilion, how do we deal with this five elements beast?" Jared asked. "The five elements beast has the ability to separate and merge. Each one possesses its own unique power, corresponding to one of the five elements. However, when they come together, that's when they become truly terrifying. You must overcome them, taking them down one by one," Vermilion Demon Lord replied.

"Take them down one by one?" Jared's head was spinning.

How could I take them down one by one?

"Mr. Vermilion, does Celestial Devourer have the upper hand when confronting the five elements beast?" Jared found himself recalling Celestial Devourer.

If Celestial Devourer were to emerge and directly devour the five elements beast, that would make things much easier!

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3862-Who Are You Insulting "Who are you insulting?" Vermilion Demon Lord was angry. "How dare you compare my Celestial Devourer with the five elements beast. The five elements beast is nothing more than an ordinary demon beast in the celestial realm. A sneeze from my Celestial Devourer could wipe the five elements beast off the face of the realm.

Though the ancestors of the Mueller family came from the celestial realm, their power there must not have been significant. They were likely the lowest-level wandering immortals. However, even the most worthless demon beast from the celestial realm is still beyond your current capabilities. Thankfully, this five elements beast is merely an illusion, not the actual entity itself. It shouldn't be too hard for you to deal with." Upon hearing the words of Vermilion Demon Lord, Jared felt his mind buzzing.

Even though it was only an ordinary demon beast in the celestial realm, it was a powerful entity in Ethereal Realm.

Even the lowliest of wandering immortals from the celestial realm, despite being injured, could descend to Ethereal Realm and establish a lineage that evolved into a grand family.

However, it was unclear whether the ancestor of the Mueller family had passed away or returned to the celestial realm.

If he were still alive, living in the Mueller family, Jared might as well kill himself there and then.

His strength was such that even dealing with Ultimate Realm opponents was difficult, so he had no hope of facing an immortal from the celestial realm.

At that moment, the five elements beast had already launched its attack.

On the ground, towering pillars of earth sprung up, catapulting Jared into mid-air in an instant.

Immediately afterward, walls of water emerged all around, surrounding Jared completely.

Simultaneously, countless vine branches in mid-air, like hundreds of reaching tendrils, coiled toward Jared.

Moreover, waves of intense flames interspersed with golden chimes engulfed Jared.

Upon witnessing that scene, Bianca couldn't help but cry out. "Mr. Chance!" All the holy maidens wore expressions of solemnity. They, too, could sense the formidable nature of the demon beast that Selma had transmogrified.

"I've never seen this demon beast before. It's highly likely that it doesn't belong to Ethereal Realm. Mr. Chance is in quite a predicament. Could these be demon beasts from the celestial realm? Each one possesses its own elemental nature.

If they were to merge, it would be terrifying. An Ultimate Realm cultivator capable of transmogrifying a celestial realm demon beast makes the outcome of this battle unquestionable." Upon witnessing that scene, Holden and the others knew that Jared was done for.

Selma watched the scene unfolding before her, her eyes filled with rage and resentment.

In order to ensure Jared's demise, Selma had given it her all.

She was well aware that after Jared's death, her own time in the world was likely limited. She had played all her cards, even going as far as to sacrifice her own life. Only then was she able to summon the five elements beast.

However, as long as she could kill Jared, she was fine with dying. The humiliation Jared had subjected her to made living itself a burden anyway.

As the eldest daughter of the Mueller family, she felt too humiliated to live on after the crowd saw her naked body.

Otherwise, she wouldn't have chosen to perish together Jared.

The five elements beast relentlessly attacked Jared, who was trapped with no means of escape.

Just when everyone was certain that Jared was doomed, suddenly, a dark figure emerged in mid-air, and swiftly, it grew larger and larger.

It was then that everyone realized it was actually a large bell.

Surprisingly, a dragon was coiling around the large bell.

Everyone was taken aback, clueless as to why a large bell had suddenly appeared out of nowhere and what function it possessed.

Under the watchful eyes of everyone present, a large bell descended from the sky, covering Jared in it.

In an instant, all the attacks from the five elements beast were directed at the large bell, yet they failed to inflict any harm on Jared.

"What's going on here?" "Could it be that Mr. Chance protected himself using the large bell?" "This bell is truly unique." Everyone kept exclaiming in surprise.

Jared was hiding inside the Dragon Bell, completely at ease.

Knowing that Selma wouldn't be able to hold on for much longer, Jared used the Dragon Bell to shield himself. He planned to wait until Selma's energy had dwindled and she was left barely alive to deal with her.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3863-A Coward The five elements beast was fiercely attacking, but Jared was comfortably hidden inside the Dragon Bell, utterly unscathed.

Gradually, the five elements beast's attacks began to weaken, and its form was slowly fading away.

The five elements beast was transmogrified and did not possess a physical body. Once their energy was depleted, they would dissipate.

"No! You coward, show yourself!" Looking at the massive Dragon Bell before her, Selma roared, repeatedly striking the bell with her bare hands.

"I won't. I'm going to anger you to death!" Within the Dragon Bell, Jared spoke leisurely and contentedly.

Selma roared.

"Ms. Selma, this guy is being a coward, so let's take out all these Lunarius Palace holy maidens and see if he dares to come out," Leighton reminded Selma.

They still had Bianca and others in their grasp, which was a perfect leverage against Jared.

Upon hearing that, Selma burst into laughter. She roared at Jared, "Did you hear that? If you don't show yourself, I'll kill all these holy maidens." "Mr. Chance, please don't come out. We're not afraid to die!" Bianca yelled out loud.

Leighton stepped forward, delivering a hefty slap across Bianca's face. "Who allowed you to speak?" "If you have the guts, kill me. Even if we have to resort to suicide, we'll never let you succeed. Everyone, we must never become a burden to Mr. Chance, and we absolutely cannot let the scoundrels of the Mueller family use us as leverage against him. I'm leaving first. You all catch up..." Having said that, there was a sudden surge in Bianca's aura, as if she was on the verge of self-destruction.

Upon seeing the situation, the other holy maidens also chose to sacrifice themselves, determined not to be a burden to Jared.

The members of the Mueller family were scared out of their wits.

Selma never expected that those holy maidens would be so fearless in the face of death.

"Before me, none of you can self-destruct." With a swift wave of her hand, Selma unleashed a vigorous aura that instantly bore down on Bianca and the others.

The holy maidens' previously swelling auras were directly suppressed, unable to rise any further.

In the face of overwhelming power, even the thought of ending one's own life had become a luxury.

"Is this how the Mueller family operates? Resorting to underhanded tactics to defeat your opponents?" At that moment, the Dragon Bell suddenly vanished, revealing Jared, who slowly materialized.

"Jared, you coward. If you obediently kneel down and accept your fate now, I may spare these holy maidens. Otherwise, I will personally make sure you witness the holy maidens being humiliated to death one by one." Selma fixed her gaze on Jared, speaking in a chilling tone.

She knew her strength wouldn't last much longer, so she didn't want to continue fighting with Jared.

Upon hearing that, Leighton and the others immediately showed a glint of lewd desire in their eyes, licking their lips in anticipation.

Upon hearing that, Jared instantly furrowed his brows.

"Mr. Chance, don't worry about us, just go!" Bianca shouted out loud.

"You people from the Mueller family are truly beasts," Jared said sternly.

"Beast? I'll show you what a beast is." With a cold smirk, Leighton suddenly reached out, tearing off the clothing of a holy maiden.

"Ah!" The holy maiden's fair skin was exposed, her eyes filled with fury.

"Beast!" Bianca and the others roared out.

With a menacing grin on his face, Leighton taunted, "Jared, are you going to kneel down and accept your fate?" After he finished speaking, Leighton forcefully tore off Bianca's clothes.

As long as Jared didn't agree, it seemed that Leighton would tear off the clothes of each and every holy maiden.

Jared's eyes blazed with fury, his body trembling in anger.

"D*mn it, the Mueller family is a bunch of beasts." Holden, along with the group of cultivators, suddenly stirred forward, charging toward Leighton and his companions.

Leighton and his companions didn't anticipate that Holden would launch a sudden attack with numerous cultivators. Caught off guard, they suffered heavy casualties in an instant.

Just as Jared was caught in a dilemma, Holden suddenly erupted.

Bianca and the others were also rescued by Holden and his team.

“Mr. Chance, focus on the fight. We absolutely can’t let these Mueller family brutes get away,” Holden shouted at Jared.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3864-Gone Mad “Ah! You all conspired against my Mueller family! I will make sure you all perish!

Every single one of you will die!” Selma didn’t expect Holden would dare to oppose the Mueller family.

After all, the Mueller family was a prominent family in the northern region.

The Olsen family was nothing more than a minor family known for making puppets. Additionally, Holden, the family head, was merely a Ninth Level Tribulator cultivator.

As such, Selma was astonished that such a minor family actually dared to oppose the Mueller family. They truly don’t regard the Mueller family with any importance!

Selma was seen bellowing loudly, her fair skin beginning to seep blood, drenching her body in that crimson liquid. It was a sight that was utterly terrifying.

As the blood seeped out, a blood mist surprisingly enveloped Selma.

The crimson mist spread, carrying with it the heavy scent of blood and a chilling aura.

The space all around had become distorted under the veil of that bloody mist.

Waves of frost energy radiated from Selma, causing a sudden drop in the surrounding air temperature. The area within several hundred meters began to freeze incessantly.

The frost energy made everyone shudder, forcing them to retreat once again.

As everyone gazed at Selma, who had transformed into something akin to a monster, they were all left utterly speechless.

Even Leighton was left dumbstruck, clueless as to what technique Selma had used to end up in such a state, “Retreat!” Leighton called out to the remaining two members of the Mueller family, instructing them to retreat.

It was because he sensed that frost energy was something they couldn't resist.

Moreover, it seemed as though Selma had lost her sanity, and he feared she might even kill them.

The crimson mist of frost energy around Selma grew more intense. Meanwhile, Jared's eyebrows furrowed, his eyes radiating a lethal intent.

The draconic essence on Jared's chest sparkled as a golden dragon materialized behind him, slowly emerging with a roar that was deafening.

The dragon's roar echoed throughout the entire Infinitus Celestial Sect.

Golden Dragon was ablaze all over, indicating the elevation of Jared to Fourth Level Tribulator cultivation level had also increased Golden Dragon's strength.

Suddenly, Golden Dragon roared as it charged toward Selma. Its body seamlessly glided through the void, and in a flash, it was right in front of Selma.

Following that, its sharp dragon claws were directly swiped toward Selma.

Just as the golden dragon was closing in on Selma, the crimson mist surrounding her began to move, forming a massive vortex.

Endless frost energy gushed from the vortex, instantly freezing the golden dragon's claws. Following that, the claws shattered and dissipated.

The golden dragon let out a low roar. Thankfully, that golden dragon was merely transmogrified, not a physical entity.

If it had been a real dragon, it would have been crippled by that move.

The golden dragon, bereft of its talons, abruptly opened its massive jaws, spewing out an endless stream of fire.

The flames clashed with the icy mist, unexpectedly creating an explosive sound.

The entirety of Infinitus Celestial Sect, and even the entire chaos dimension, seemed on the verge of collapse amidst the intense explosion.

Blood continued to seep from Selma's body. Her face twisted in a gruesome grimace as she was enduring immense pain. She appeared to be on the brink of collapse.

With a roar of fury, Selma unleashed the energy that had been sealed within her. At the very moment when that surge of energy exploded, Selma's body also radiated a dazzling red light.

Mysterious markings began to appear on Selma's skin.

It would seem Selma was no longer a human. Even though she was without a shred of clothing, Selma seemed to have no reservations about it.

She had already lost her sanity.

The only thought left in her mind was the desire to kill Jared.

The terrifying crimson mist, akin to spirit snakes, carried Selma's fresh blood, heading straight for Jared.

In a state of panic, Jared swiftly conjured a series of firewalls tomm protection. However spirit snakes werelutterly fearless. They pierced right through the wall of fire, heading straight for Jared.

Jared held Dragon slayer Sword as countless lights descended from the sky.
