

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3364-After Kathryn returned, the three brothers could never accept her. They always felt that she was an intruder who had taken away everything that belonged to Shiloh.

They resented her in their hearts.

Having grown up in a bad environment and with little family affection, Kathryn didn't expect her biological parents and brothers to be kind to her, just as she didn't have much affection for them.

The relationship between parents and children and between brothers and sisters also needed to be cultivated.

She didn't grow up with her parents or brothers, so she didn't develop any emotional connections with them.

Even though she has returned to her biological parents, it has been two years already. How can two years be compared to the time Shiloh has spent growing up in the Farrell family since childhood?

Back then, Shiloh was dead. Her dad and three brothers were only warm and affectionate to her on the surface, but in fact, they hated her very much in their hearts, thinking that it was her appearance that had brought Shiloh to this point. However, her three sisters-in-law have a much better relationship with her.

Her eldest brother and his wife insisted on getting a divorce, and no one could persuade them. The whole city knew about it.

Looking at the issue from a woman's perspective, Kathryn supported her sister-in-law's divorce.

Not only did Marco cheat on Erika, but he also helped Shiloh. No one could accept this. Therefore, she strongly supported Erika's divorce. But Marco blamed Kathryn for not helping to persuade Erika.

Erika had moved back to her parents' home and was filing for divorce because the couple couldn't part ways amicably.

Marco didn't want to divorce, not because he had much affection for Erika, but because he didn't want to share their marital property, so Erika had no choice but to file for divorce. Because of the breakdown of their marital relationship, the two families were about to become enemies from relatives.

Clarissa had told Kathryn to go to Erika's parents' home to apologize on behalf of the Farrell family.

No matter how they looked at it, it was always Marco's fault.

Kathryn went to Erika's parents's house, but they wouldn't let her in.

Erika sent her a message, asking her to go back and not come and apologize.

When Clarissa found out, she said that she would prepare generous gifts and apologize to the in-laws when she returned. For the sake of the children, it would be better for the two families not to become enemies, lest the children be cut off from their grandmother's or grandfather's families.

"Vice president, are you looking for Manager Janzen?" The secretary asked.

Kathryn replied, "Nothing, just asking. I need to go out for a while, and I don't know when I will be back. Please help me change my schedule."

The secretary responded respectfully.

Kathryn left.

The secretary watched Kathryn's back as she left and felt that his boss (Kathryn) was becoming more and more like a CEO and not at all like the weak and useless person he was when he first joined the company.

Now that the president (Clarissa) is not in the company, the vice president (Kathryn) can manage the company very well. Even the old employees in the company no longer treat the vice president (Kathryn) the same way as before. Maybe they know that they will still have to beg for food under the vice president (Kathryn) in the future.

After all, their vice president (Kathryn) was the real daughter of the Farrell family.

That b*tch, Shiloh, was dead.

Even if there were still people who were supportive of that b*tch, they immediately changed their minds after she died.

The secretary felt that Kathryn was a bit like a pig in disguise. In fact, she was very powerful, but she acted weak and useless. He was not angry at all when Kathryn scolded him as a useless person.

He also realized later that Clarissa's frequent scolding of Kathryn was a bit like a show. He really felt that Kathryn was a hopeless case. How could Clarissa possibly give Kathryn more power?

How dared she hand over the management of the company to Kathryn at any time?

Everybody was cheated.
