

Married At First Sight Chapter 3323

Married At First Sight Chapter 3323-Audrey's expression changed drastically. "Old sir, is there no way to let my loyal uncle live a few more years?"

The old miracle doctor said, "My master and apprentice have grown good medicine, which we have used on him many times." We have tried our best. The reason he can last so long is because of our recuperation of his body and the obsession in his heart.

Despite the absence of your mother's significant retaliation, your prosperous lifestyle and the presence of influential individuals in your care comfort your devoted uncle, who believes he can entrust the task of retribution to you, the head of the family.

The obsession is gone. As I mentioned earlier, the spirit's relief won't last long. In addition, he is nearly a hundred years old. Even if that day comes, you must accept it calmly."

Live a hundred years. Live a hundred years. How many people can really live a hundred years?

Audrey looked into the room, concerned.

The old miracle doctor, aware of her concern that Uncle Jimenez might fall asleep in this manner, reassured her, saying, "He can still hold on even before he gives you the evidence." He has hidden the evidence himself. "We have never asked or looked at it."

Uncle Jimenez never had 100% trust in them, according to the final analysis.

They didn't blame Uncle Jimenez either.

It was also because they didn't want to meddle in other people's business.

Titus was also burdened with a blood feud. They had never thought of helping Titus get revenge. They simply educated Titus about the possibility of seeking revenge in the future. That was Titus's business.

Titus was still his disciple, so he had no interest in revenge, let alone Uncle Jimenez's desire to avenge the previous head of the family.

The old miracle doctor said, "We won't stay here for too long. Once we return with him and get the evidence and hand it over to you, let him live in your house for a while."

Audrey said, "That's right. Uncle Jimenez is the person close to my mother and also my elder. At his age, he should stop flying around. He should stay, and I will take care of Uncle Jimenez in his old age. Well, if you miss your old friendship and have this heart, we can rest assured.”

The old miracle doctor: “He once said that after he leaves, he hopes to bury him next to your mother’s grave. He said that he would take good care of your mother. “If there is a next life, he will never let your mother experience any mishaps again.”

Audrey agreed.

Uncle Jimenez was the person her mother trusted most and was also the most loyal to her. He would protect her mother after his death, and with this loyalty, she would definitely fulfill his wishes.

Audrey said, “Old gentleman, you should go and have a rest quickly. I’m sorry for bothering a few old gentlemen and accompanying my uncle Jimenez here in the cold weather.”

“It’s not cold in Wiltspoon.” “We are accustomed to the cold, having lived in ice and snow every day. The coldness in Wiltspoon is nothing to mention.” The old miracle doctor said so and went to rest in his guest room.

They were much younger than Uncle Jimenez, but they were also at the age of old people.

Maybe it’s because they lived a relaxed and comfortable life after retiring and didn’t run around like they did when they were young. These old bones really felt like they were falling apart after a trip to Wiltspoon.

In front of the juniors, everyone was holding on.

Mainly, there were still legends about a few buddies circulating around the world.

In the eyes of the younger generation, they were all said to be experts from this world, and they were almost said to have become immortals.

After waiting for the elderly to rest, Audrey went downstairs.

Her children looked at her worriedly.

Audrey said warmly, “I’m fine; you don’t have to worry. What kind of storms have I not experienced? Your grandpa Jimenez is not in good health and is too old. He has already gone to bed. Please try not to go upstairs and disturb these elderly people.”

Audrey looked at Serenity and said warmly, “Seren, you are pregnant and get tired easily. Go home with Zachary to rest first. If you have energy in the evening, come over and have dinner with your loyal grandpa. They won’t stay long before they leave.”

It was fate to meet several seniors at once—a fate that many people couldn’t even imagine.

The Stones’s guest room was arranged for several elderly people to rest.
