

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ A Man Like None Other Chapter 3888

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3888-Resting At Home Throughout Pregnancy Over an hour later, Jared, drenched in sweat, opened the door. To her surprise, he found Tyler standing at the door, grinning from ear to ear as he waited.

“You must be tired, Mr. Chance. Please, feel free to let me know if there’s anything you need.” After finishing his words, Tyler couldn’t help but cast a glance into the room.

Upon discovering that Jennifer was lying in bed and seemed as if she couldn’t get up at all, his heart brimmed with even more joy.

“Mr. Summers, I do indeed have a request for you.”

Jared recounted the events that occurred at Lunarius Palace to Tyler.

Upon hearing Jared’s words, Tyler responded without hesitation, “No problem; I’ll immediately lead the Summers family members to Southedge City. Although the Summers family’s overall strength is relatively weak, we can contribute by drawing more arcane array charms, which should be of help.” “Much thanks to you then, Mr. Summers,” Jared said, expressing his gratitude wholeheartedly.

“I should be the one thanking you, Mr. Chance,” said Tyler with a smile.

Jared understood what Tyler meant, so all he could do was offer an awkward smile.

“Father, I’ll go too…” At that moment, Jennifer, who was lying in bed, spoke up.

“You’re not going anywhere. Stay home and rest throughout your pregnancy,” Tyler replied immediately.

After hearing this, Jared was momentarily speechless. What is going on?

What’s all this about pregnancy?

“Dad, how can you be so sure that I’ll definitely get pregnant this time?” Jennifer inquired.

At that moment, Tyler was stunned. He wasn’t sure if this attempt would be successful.

Seeing Tyler remaining silent, Jennifer seized the opportunity and pressed on, “If I go with you this time, I’ll get to spend more time with Jared. That would increase my chances.” “That sounds reasonable. In that case, you should go with him,” Tyler replied with a nod.

As Jared listened to the conversation between the father and daughter, he was completely baffled. All he could do was hastily excuse himself.

He feared being left behind, treated as nothing more than a stud.

After leaving the Summers residence, Jared went straight back to the Blood Spirit Valley. Upon seeing Jared’s return, everyone, from Montane Daemon to Igor and the others, were all extremely thrilled.

Catina and Feenix threw themselves directly into Jared’s arms, completely disregarding the presence of others around.

It was apparent that they truly missed Jared.

Igor looked at Jared and expressed his astonishment by saying, “Mr. Chance, it seems your journey in search of Demonica Stone was quite fruitful this time.

You’ve managed to reach Fourth Level Tribulator, and your aura has also become much stronger.” “There was some gain, but not much.” Every time Jared thought about the liquified celestial energy within Infinitus Celestial Sect, waves of heartache washed over him.

“Mr. Chance, did you not find Demonica Stone?” Montane Daemon asked.

These were essential for Whalreth to reconstruct his physical form. Without Demonica Stone, it would be quite a challenge for Whalreth to rebuild his body.

“I’ve found it. I informed Mr. Whalreth on the way. I estimate he’ll arrive in a day or two,” Jared said.

Montane Daemon was extremely thrilled. “That’s fantastic! Once fider Whatreth undergoes physical body restoration, the entire situation in Ethereal Realm will shift!”

Jared didn’t feel the need to be overly polite with Montane Daemon and the others. After all, they were already well-acquainted.

“Don’t get too excited just yet. Mr.

Whalreth has obtained Demonica Stone, but when he’ll be able to m successfully réconstruct his physical form is still uncertain. Right now, I need you all to get ready to accompany me to Southedge City at any moment,” Jared said.

Jared recounted his experiences at Lunarius Palace, and also revealed the Mueller family's plan to attack the palace.

Upon hearing they were going to battle alongside Jared, everyone was brimming with excitement.

"Southedge City?" Igor was taken aback when he heard that. "That's the southernmost point of the entire southern region! May I ask what brings you to Southedge City?"

"When do we depart, Mr. Chance? Just give me the word, and I'll gather my disciples immediately!" Igor exclaimed.

"All right; what about Mr. Soulton from Soulless Hall?" Jared asked.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3889-Highway Robbery "Hanes took Soulless Hall to Bloodroot Peak. Bloodroot Peak is now deserted, making it an ideal place for the development of Soulless Hall." "I'll send someone to notify Hayes immediately," Igor said.

Jared nodded in agreement. "Okay. I've said everything that I needed to say. We haven't talked for quite some time now, so come keep me company for a chat." As if she was unable to wait any longer, Catina stepped forward, taking hold of Jared's hand, eager to enter the room.

Feenix also stepped forward, grabbing Jared's other arm as she said, "It's been quite a while since I've seen you, Master. If you can cheer us up, I could even summon Lion Archon of the beast race for you." Upon seeing the situation, all Jared could do was to let out a helpless chuckle.

"Well, aren't you a clever one, Feenix, learning to haggle with your master. I'll make sure you behave yourself soon enough," Jared replied as he followed Feenix and Catina into the room.

Just like that, they spent an entire day and night in the room.

Fearing that Jared would turn into a dried husk, Cloud was frantic with worry outside.

It wasn't until the arrival of Whalreth that Jared was summoned from his room.

Jared appeared invigorated, seemingly devoid of any trace of fatigue.

Strangely enough, Feenix and Catina seemed as though they hadn't rested well.

Demonia Stone was handed over to Whalreth, who, without much delay, took off once again. He probably went off to find a place where he could seclude himself and recuperate his physical body.

Hanes had also arrived, and he even brought along numerous disciples from Soulless Hall.

Jared had immediately instructed Feenix to get in touch with Lion Archon and others.

When Feenix made her appearance, the three kings and four archons of the beast race didn't dare to delay even for a second and rushed over.

Upon seeing that everyone had gathered, Jared instructed Cloud to bring out the airship. With so many people traveling together, using the airship was indeed the most appropriate choice.

Even though the airship was an enormous target, given their large numbers, they figured they wouldn't have any issues.

The most crucial thing was that Jared needed to make haste. If the Mueller family launched an attack on Lunarius Palace before he could get back, it would spell trouble.

Everyone hurriedly climbed aboard the airship. Aside from the essential personnel who had to stay behind, everyone else was on the airship.

Although they were all aware that danger was inevitable on this journey, not a single person was afraid.

The airship gradually lifted off, subsequently heading toward Southedge City.

Many of the passengers were experiencing their first airship ride, and the excitement was palpable. They chatted away merrily, gazing out of the portholes at the unfolding scenery below.

Humans, demons, and those from the beast race, were at that moment, harmoniously coexisting within the airship.

This was the outcome that Jared desired.

He wanted them to live in harmony without being differentiated based on race.

They could even exchange ideas and learn from each other.

While the airship was flying over the Demonica Mountain, it abruptly jolted. Buzz!

Without warning, a buzzing sound resonated, followed by the emergence of a white barrier made of light. It enveloped the entire airship, flipping it upside down and halting its forward progress.

The airship began to steadily decrease its altitude, gently descending, while the light barrier was also continuously shrinking.

“What’s going on here?” Cloud was somewhat at a loss. He had never encountered such a situation before while piloting the airship.

Everyone else also tensed up, each preparing themselves for battle.

Just like that, the airship was forced to land.

Whoosh!

Suddenly, four figures emerged, surrounding the airship from all sides. Four individuals were seen, each donned in distinct attire, their appearances varying greatly. It was three men and a woman.

“This path was paved by us, and these trees were planted by us. If you wish to pass through here, you must pay a toll,” said the woman among them.

Her fingers were notably long, and her eyes were a fiery red.

Listening to the woman’s voice, Jared was momentarily at a loss for words.

An elderly man with snow-white hair, clutching a cane, said with great enthusiasm, “Haha! It’s been years since anyone dared to cross our territory! I didn’t expect to catch some today!”

Even the people inside the airship were dumbfounded, not understanding how Demonica Mountain still had bandits.

“Can you believe it? There are actually people unaware of our territory as the Four Hunters! They even dared pass through here!”

A burly man licked his lips and said, “I really wish there were a few women on this airship to spice things up for us.

I’m so tired of seeing Fire Lady day in and day out.”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3890-The Four Hunters “I don’t even want to see you, you brute!” Fire Lady retorted and spat in the direction of the burly man.

At that moment, the young man standing unavoidably in the way, held a hand fan in his hand, gently swaying it as he said, “All right; stop arguing. We don’t want our prey to end up laughing at us, the Four Hunters.” Jared and the others found the commotion outside their airship rather amusing as they listened in.

“How did we manage to cross the territory of those four?” Hanes mumbled.

“Mr. Soulton, do you know these four individuals?” Jared asked.

With a look of disgust, Hanes explained, “These four are all Demonic Cultivators, and they are absolute lunatics. They ruled over the region of Demonia Mountain and have always been known as the Four Hunters. The idea was that there wasn’t a person the four of them couldn’t handle, nor was there someone they couldn’t capture. Many people, in order to avoid unnecessary trouble, would steer clear of crossing paths within the territories of these four,” “Lunatics, huh?” Jared couldn’t help but laugh.

Clearly, Hanes was intentionally mocking these four individuals. Solely based on the arcane array they used earlier, which forced the airship to halt, it was evident that these four guys were quite formidable.

“I’m going to head down and deal with those four lunatics.” As Jared spoke, he prepared to descend from the airship.

“We’ll accompany you, Mr. Chance!” Igor and Montane Daemon said in unison.

“No need; those four can’t handle me. If I really can’t match them, you guys would still have time to come down.” After Jared finished speaking, he opened the door and left.

When they saw that it was just a Fourth Level Tribulator stepping out of the airship, the four of them became even more arrogant.

Upon seeing Jared descending, the burly man asked, “Hey kid, are you the only one on the airship?” “You’re going to scare the poor lad, you uncouth fellow!” Fire Lady gave the burly man a stern look, then turned toward Jared with a gentle smile on her face. “Don’t worry, Handsome. I’ll protect you. Now, can you tell me, who else is on the airship?” she asked.

“It’s just me in the airship,” Jared replied.

The old man berated him, “Nonsense! How could such a huge airship be just for you?” Fire Lady swiveled her body while continuously casting flirtatious glances at Jared. “I believe you. It’s fine even if it was just you in there, Handsome. Spend some quality time with me, and I’ll let you go.” Seeing the demeanor of Fire Lady from the airship, both Catina and Feenix were absolutely livid.

“What a sl*t! She’s absolutely despicable!” Feenix exclaimed angrily.

Catina, too, yelled in frustration, “I need to go down there and teach her a lesson. Just look at her, flaunting herself like that! It’s absolutely embarrassing!” “How will you protect me, miss?” “With this, of course!” Fire Lady’s eyes suddenly shot out a streak of fire, which danced at her fingertips as if it were a sprite.

“Playing with fire, huh? I think I can do that too!” Jared snapped his fingers, and a mysterious flame erupted.

Quickly, the flames took on a crimson hue, akin to red eyes, before swiftly changing to white.

It cycled through several shades, startling Fire Lady instantly.

With an incredulous look, Fire Lady turned to Jared and asked “You.n How are you able to use demonic fire?”

Jared flashed her a simple, innocent smile. “I’m not sure how I came to know it either.”

“Fire Lady, why waste words on him?”

Have him bring out all his valuables, then open yo the airship for us to inspect it!” said the burly man with a hint of impatience.

Fire Lady’s gaze was intently fixated on Jared. Suddenly, she flung a burst of flame toward him.

The flame, trailing a long streak of light, headed straight for Jared’s face.

Fire Lady knew that the changes Jared had just demonstrated with his demonig, fire werel dear indications that Jared was not as harmless as he appeared to be.

A Fourth Level Tribulator who possessed several kinds of demonic fire was truly extraordinary.