

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3938

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3938-Such A Fool The immense force sent Adan flying in an instant. Under the immense wave of enthusiasm, disciples from Harlan's faction were shocked.

Many disciples were directly scorched, while some even fainted.

Boom!

Following the resounding roar of the fire source, the entire examination site began to tremble instantly.

The vast white expanse before everyone's eyes gradually dissipated, causing the atmosphere within the entire examination area to become increasingly volatile.

Upon seeing the situation, Adan let out a loud roar. "Something's gone wrong.

The fire source blew up!" At that very moment, Thiago, who was presiding outside, was also taken aback.

He also sensed that something had gone wrong at the assessment site. In a state of panic, he began manipulating the formation, trying to unlock the assessment area.

If anything went wrong during the assessment, and numerous disciples died within, he, as the chief examiner, would undoubtedly be held responsible.

Though he had the means to ensure that the disciples from Gael's faction failed the test, he couldn't risk letting those people die in the assessment site as that would lead to a major catastrophe.

At worst, it could spark infighting within the Violet Flame Sect, even potentially leading to its downfall.

Thiago activated the formation, and the assessment area instantly brightened up, causing the vast white region to vanish into thin air.

At that moment, Adan's face was charred from the fire. Among the disciples he brought, many were injured, with some even fainting from the ordeal.

“Jared, Carla.” Judd also rushed over in a panic, shouting at Jared and Carla.

Under such circumstances, he was also afraid that someone might get hurt.

Jared, along with Carla and others, made their appearance. “Judd.” They all had an air of ease about them. Not a single one of them was injured.

Only Adan’s group was in a state of utter disarray, with many of their disciples sustaining injuries.

Seeing that Jared’s group was unharmed, Judd finally let out a sigh of relief. He then turned his attention to Thiago and asked, “How on earth could the fire source have suddenly exploded like that?” He thought Thiago was up to his tricks again.

“Judd, don’t ask me. I have no idea, either. You don’t think I had something to do with it, do you? I’m telling you, no one would dare to create such a huge commotion. It’s seriously life-threatening.” Thiago spoke with a grave expression on his face.

What he said was the truth. He didn’t even dare to do such a thing.

Judd also believed that Thiago didn’t have the guts.

“What’s going on?” Thiago turned to Adan and asked.

“I... I really don’t know. All I wanted was to use the fire source within the bronze mirror to find the same fire in the assessment ground, but then...” Adan recounted his experiences in detail to Thiago.

Upon hearing that, Thiago glowered and harshly slapped Adan across the face.

“You fcking dumbss. Who told you to do it like this? All I asked was for you to utilize the fire source within the bronze mirror to intensify the fire aura, making the test unbearable to them. How dare you release the fire source without permission! It’s obvious that when two fire sources collide, they’ll explode! The testing grounds are strictly regulated to prevent any harm to the disciples under assessment. Even the intensity of the fire source was meticulously calculated. I can’t believe you merged two fire sources together. The formation of this assessment area can’t withstand that!” Thiago was livid, unleashing a flurry of punches and kicks at Adan.

He couldn’t help but wish he could knock some sense into that idiot.

Adan was aggrieved. He had no idea what had happened. The fire source within the bronze mirror had vanished in an instant, and then after that, an explosion occurred. Upon seeing the situation, Jared chuckled secretly. He had stolen the Violet Flame Sect’s fire source, yet the fact remained undiscovered. He was even letting Adan take the fall for it.

At that moment, a stern-faced elder hurriedly approached. "What happened?" Everyone's expression shifted when they saw the old man.

"Mr. Cunningham, there was a slight issue when the fire source exploded at the assessment site. Thankfully, no disciples were in mortal danger." Thiago hurriedly approached, addressing the elderly man.

Chapter 3938 Such A Fool The immense force sent Adan flying in an instant. Under the immense wave of enthusiasm, disciples from Harlan's faction were shocked.

Many disciples were directly scorched, while some even fainted.

Boom!

Following the resounding roar of the fire source, the entire examination site began to tremble instantly.

The vast white expanse before everyone's eyes gradually dissipated, causing the atmosphere within the entire examination area to become increasingly volatile.

Upon seeing the situation, Adan let out a loud roar. "Something's gone wrong.

The fire source blew up!" At that very moment, Thiago, who was presiding outside, was also taken aback.

He also sensed that something had gone wrong at the assessment site. In a state of panic, he began manipulating the formation, trying to unlock the assessment area.

If anything went wrong during the assessment, and numerous disciples died within, he, as the chief examiner, would undoubtedly be held responsible.

Though he had the means to ensure that the disciples from Gael's faction failed the test, he couldn't risk letting those people die in the assessment site as that would lead to a major catastrophe.

At worst, it could spark infighting within the Violet Flame Sect, even potentially leading to its downfall.

Thiago activated the formation, and the assessment area instantly brightened up, causing the vast white region to vanish into thin air.

At that moment, Adan's face was charred from the fire. Among the disciples he brought, many were injured, with some even fainting from the ordeal.

"Jared, Carla." Judd also rushed over in a panic, shouting at Jared and Carla.

Under such circumstances, he was also afraid that someone might get hurt.

Jared, along with Carla and others, made their appearance. "Judd." They all had an air of ease about them. Not a single one of them was injured.

Only Adan's group was in a state of utter disarray, with many of their disciples sustaining injuries.

Seeing that Jared's group was unharmed, Judd finally let out a sigh of relief. He then turned his attention to Thiago and asked, "How on earth could the fire source have suddenly exploded like that?" He thought Thiago was up to his tricks again.

"Judd, don't ask me. I have no idea, either. You don't think I had something to do with it, do you? I'm telling you no one would dare to create such a huge commotion. It's seriously life-threatening." Thiago spoke with a grave expression on his face.

What he said was the truth. He didn't even dare to do such a thing.

Judd also believed that Thiago didn't have the guts.

"What's going on?" Thiago turned to Adan and asked.

"I... I really don't know. All I wanted was to use the fire source within the bronze mirror to find the same fire in the assessment ground, but then..." Adan recounted his experiences in detail to Thiago.

Upon hearing that, Thiago glowered and harshly slapped Adan across the face.

"You fcking dumbss. Who told you to do it like this? All I asked was for you to utilize the fire source within.

the bronze mirror to intensify the fire aura, making the test unbearable to them. Hay dare you release the fire source without permission! It's obvious that when two fire sources collide, they'll explode! The testing grounds are strictly regulated to prevent any harm to the disciples under assessment. Even the intensity of the fire source was meticulously calculated. I can't believe you merged two fire sources together. The formation of this assessment area can't withstand that!"

Thiago was livid, unleashing a flurry of punches and kicks at Adan.

He couldn't help but wish he could knock some sense into that idiot.

Adan was aggrieved. He had no idea what had happened. The fire source within the bronze mirror had vanished in an instant and then after that an explosion occurred. Upon seeing the situation, Jared chuckled secretly. He had stolen the Violet Flame

Sect's fire source, yet the fact remained undiscovered. He was even letting Adan take the fall for it.

At that moment, a stern-faced elder hurriedly approached. "What happened?" Everyone's expression shifted when they saw the old man.

"Mr. Cunningham, there was a slight issue when the fire source exploded at the assessment site. Thankfully, no disciples were in mortal danger." Thiago hurriedly approached, addressing the elderly man.