

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1885

Chapter 1885

The Void Sect's disciples spoke one after another.

They urged their Grand Priestess to kill James and the other martial artists.

None of the Earth's martial artists dared to speak out, as even Tyrus was defeated in one move. Whoever stepped out now would be attacked.

Juniper held her long sword and looked at the martial artists before her.

"Since you've killed the Void Sect's disciples, I'll take your lives."

Juniper spoke slowly.

Her tone was calm but carried unquestionable resolution. She had to kill these people to avenge her sect's disciples.

Swoosh!

At that moment, a figure flickered.

A person appeared on Mount Bane's peak.

The person looked young, seemingly around his twenties or thirties. He was dressed in a white robe and had black and white hair.

"Lord Omniscient."

"It's the Omniscient Deity."

Seeing the person that showed up, the Earth's martial artists were relieved.

If anyone were capable of fighting the Void Sect's Grand Priestess, it would be the Prince of Orchid Mountain or the Omniscient Deity.

With the Omniscient Deity's appearance, they knew their savior had arrived.

After the Omniscient Deity appeared, Juniper's brows slightly furrowed together. She knew the man before her was strong.

With his hands behind him, the Omniscient Deity looked at Juniper and said, "Resolving conflict is better than letting it fester. Let's put this behind us."

“Put this behind us?”

Kaj stepped forward and said coldly, “Would you put it behind you if I killed your family?”

Juniper said softly. “The Void Sect did not attack earthlings after arriving on Earth. However, you took advantage of your numbers and killed our disciples. How will I face my sect if I don’t avenge them?”

The Omniscient Deity knew he would have to engage in a fight against the Grand Priestess if he wanted to put an end to this matter.

With one hand still behind his back, he made a gesture to challenge Juniper with his other hand, saying, “If that’s the case, go ahead and attack. I’m looking forward to your profound skills.”

“Hmph!” Juniper snorted.

Swoosh!

She attacked with her long sword.

Her silent sword caused a piercing voice through the air.

She moved with great speed. Even James was unable to see the sword’s trajectory clearly.

At that moment, James realized a Supernatural’s strength.

Although he was a ninth-ranked grandmaster, he had no chance of winning against a Supernatural.

Juniper appeared in front of the Omniscient Deity instantly.

The Omniscient Deity stood firmly in place, and a powerful energy erupted from his body, sending Juniper flying.

Juniper was forced backward, and she looked at the Omniscient Deity with fear.

“You’re…”

Her face was filled with disbelief.

She could not believe there would be such a strong person on Earth.

The Omniscient Deity put his hands behind him again and said calmly, "We'll end this matter here. Feel free to occupy Mount Bane if you wish. We promise not to step into Mount Bane before the seal opens." Juniper had a hesitant expression.

She could not estimate the Omniscient Deity's exact strength but was sure he was undoubtedly a Supernatural with a much stronger cultivation base than her.

Otherwise, she would not have been blasted away by his energy.

In the distance, those watching the scene trembled.

No one expected the Omniscient Deity to defeat Juniper with just one move.

After a brief contemplation, Juniper said, "If that's the case, you all should leave the mountain. From today onward, anyone who trespasses Mount Bane will be killed without mercy."

"Your Holiness! What're you saying?"

"They've killed so many of our disciples. How can we just let it go?"

The Void Sect's disciples expressed their dissatisfaction.

Juniper glared at them.

Immediately, the disciples zipped their mouths and stopped talking.

The Omniscient Deity turned around and looked at the Earth's martial artists. Then, he ordered, "Alright. Let's head down the mountain. From today onward, never step foot onto Mount Bane again."

After speaking, he turned and left.

Everyone followed suit.

James supported Tyrus up and left.

Another person also helped the wounded Sky up.

After James and the others left, Kaj asked, “Your Holiness, why didn’t you kill them and get rid of a future. threat?”

Juniper said solemnly, “He’s a formidable opponent. If we fought, I might not be his opponent. Even if I could kill him with my Supernatural Power, I would sustain severe injuries. There’s no need to rush it We’ll let them go for now. You must return again and inform our sect of the strength of the Earth’s martial artists. Ask them to come up with a way to send more powerhouses. Otherwise, I won’t be capable of suppressing them by myself.”

Juniper was afraid of the Omniscient Deity.

She had always been confident in her strength, but she could not afford to die in a battle against a martial artist from Earth at such a crucial moment.

Earth’s martial artists were weak.

Once the seal opened, they would become slaves.

Staying on Mount Bane, finding the four keys, and opening the seal were more important.

James and the others quickly descended Mount Bane,

“Are we really going to give up so easily?”

“Mount Bane is part of Earth, but it’s now occupied by a group of Outsiders. I can’t accept this.”

“Lord Omniscient, what should we do now?”

Many of them were still reluctant to leave.

The Omniscient Deity said, “Calm down, don’t do useless things. Instead, use the time to train.”

The injured Tyrus added on. “Yeah. We shouldn’t fight to our deaths with the Void Sect right now. Otherwise, we’re all going to get ourselves killed. We need to improve our strength as much as possible now. There are only ten more years before the seal opens. When that time comes, it’ll be a real doomsday apocalypse.”

The Omniscient Deity nodded lightly. “Mhm, he’s right. It’s just the beginning. Although Mount Bane would gain the most benefits, other mountains aren’t much inferior either. Train hard, or else Earth’s humans will really be annihilated in the future.”

After the Omniscient Deity finished speaking, he turned to leave.

Everyone also left reluctantly.

James left with Tyrus and headed to the nearby city's military region. Then, they boarded their private plane and headed back to the Southern Plains.

On the plane back to Dragonville, James racked his brains.

“Uncle, are the people from the Sealed Realm all so powerful?”

Tyrus nodded and said solemnly. “The Sealed Realm isn't just one place. It's the collective name of countless dimensions, each of which is bigger than Earth.”

From Tyrus' understanding, the Sealed Realm was a collective name for countless dimensions. These places were all sealed off but would merge with Earth after the seal opened.

“Some of these dimensions are occupied by humans.

“In some dimensions, there are no humans but ferocious beasts.

“There are also other forms of life living in some of these dimensions.

“Ultimately, it doesn't change our fate. Once the seal is open, it will be an apocalypse for humans on Earth,” Tyrus spoke solemnly.

James sighed.

He thought himself to be strong and good enough to deal with any crisis. However, he realized how weak he actually was.

“Supernatural...”

He clenched his fists.

James concluded he needed to break free from the three shackles as soon as possible and become a Supernatural. If possible, he wanted to become a Herculean, which Tyrus had mentioned.

Only by becoming a Herculean would he be capable of leading humanity through the crisis of extinction.

How difficult was it to become a Supernatural martial artist?

Tyrus had lived for thousands of years but only broke free from the body's second shackles, so it could be concluded that becoming a Supernatural was no easy feat.

Tyrus told James that cultivating in the past was challenging.

However, he said they were about to usher in the best age to cultivate. Once the seal opened, the earth's Empyrean Spiritual Energy would recover, and it would be an excellent cultivation era.

Those who were lucky might obtain high-quality spiritual elixirs or fruits, allowing their strength to increase by leaps and bounds. A difficult breakthrough a thousand years ago would be possible with just some luck.

On the plane, James chatted with Tyrus for a long time.

While chatting, they eventually landed in the Southern Plains Military Region.

Tyrus left

James also went to Dragonville's central area.

A palace would be built in the central area.

The palace would be the country's base of operations for humankind.

The palace was already under construction.

Many construction workers were already getting to work.

The Black Dragon Palace was nearby.

Henry immediately came to report when James returned to the Black Dragon Palace.

"James, everything has been prepared. The palace's construction is already underway. Dragonville's citizens have been relocated into their arranged accommodations in various cities within Sol. Also, we've transferred sufficient workers from Sol, and the Black Dragon Palace will be demolished very soon,

"The military region will also be demolished and rebuilt. Everything will be built to a standard able to withstand doomsday.

"Development will start from the Southern Plains City and then the previous Dragonville city.

“Quincy has already settled here with large amounts of funds. The funds allocated for the first phase is five trillion dollars.”

Henry reported the latest updates to James.

“Alright.” James nodded gently.

Everything was on the right track.

Ten years would be enough time.

The only thing James feared was that the Earth would change within ten years.

There was a good reason for his concerns.

Changes have already occurred on Mount Bane, and unknown mountains have appeared. Moreover, a mysterious statue had also been discovered.

“What’s next, James?” asked Henry.

James replied, “Rectify the Black Dragon Army. Many unknown threats will appear in the future. Although the Black Dragon Army soldiers are brave, they’re still ordinary people. In a doomsday apocalypse, ordinary humans won’t be able to do much. I’ve decided to train them as martial artists.”

Surprised, Henry said, “What? This is the Black Dragon Army with millions of soldiers. How will we have enough teachers to guide millions of soldiers in cultivating?”

James replied, “We have the Mount Thunder Sect. Delainey has brought a lot of disciples to assist me.. We can divide the army into groups of a thousand people. One teacher per group should be enough.”

Now, James wanted to prepare for the worst.

Shortly afterward, he called Delainey.

Soon, Delainey arrived at the Black Dragon Palace.

Delainey was as beautiful as ever in a sky-blue dress and crystal earrings. In her hand was her sword. She was dazzling like a pure and innocent goddess that had descended to earth,

Delainey had reached the Skyward Stairway’s Ninth Stair’s peak and emanated with tremendous energy. “James.”

She walked inside and called out for James in a sweet and pleasant voice.

“Sit.” James pointed to the sofa.

Delainey sat down and asked, “You asked me to assist you, but it’s already been some time since I’ve brought my sect’s disciples to the Southern Plains. During this time, you’ve not arranged anything for us. By the way, what happened on your trip to Mount Bane?”

Delainey knew about the phenomenon that happened on Mount Bane.

However, she was unaware of the details.

The phenomenon on Mount Bane had caused panic in Sol.

With modern technology, everyone easily came to know about the dazzling light rays from Mount Bane.

The country had sent troops to stand guard outside of the mountain. Since outsiders were not allowed to enter, no one knew what exactly happened.

Only a few dozen powerful martial artists knew the truth

Faced with Delainey’s question, James did not hide the truth and told her about the incident on Mount Bane.

Delainey asked solemnly, “Is the Void Sect truly so strong? Even Tyrus was defeated in one move?”

James nodded and said, “Although I don’t know the Void Sect’s Grand Priestess’ strength, I do know my uncle’s strength He’s already broken free from two shackles and is a formidable martial artist. From the fight, I’m assuming the Grand Priestess’ cultivation base is of a Supernatural’s.

“On Earth, only two people have become Supernatural martial artists

“One is my grandfather, the Prince of Orchid Mountain, and the other is the Jade Sect’s Omniscient Deity.” James explained worriedly.

“Also, from what I learned, the Sealed Realm is a multidimensional space, and the Void Sect came from one of them. When the seal opens, these dimensions will merge with the earth, and it’ll really be a doomsday apocalypse.”

James told her about the predicted future.

Now, there were still ten years or so before it was to happen.

James shared his plan with Delainey

He wanted to train the Black Dragon Army into an invincible army.

“Mhm, no problem. Leave it to me.”

Delainey did not hesitate and nodded in agreement. She vowed, “I’ll do my absolute best to train the Black Dragon Army and strive to have millions of your soldiers reach the fifth rank within ten years.”

James was relieved with Delainey’s word of assurance.

Shortly after, Delainey left.

James leaned into the sofa and rested.

Soon, he received a call from Thea.

“Honey, what happened on Mount Bane? The whole country, no, the whole world, has been discussing it in the past few days. There’s an army guarding Mount Bane, and outsiders cannot check out the situation”

Thea was looking after their child in Cansington.

The strange phenomenon on Mount Bane had gone viral globally and, naturally, fell on her ears.

James explained the incident on Mount Bane to Thea.

Hearing this, Thea was terrified.

She was not expecting unknown mountains to have already appeared in Mount Bane.

“Honey, you have to be careful.”

Thea was worried something would happen to James.

James replied smilingly, “It’ll be alright. The world is relatively peaceful right now. We still have ten years left before the doomsday apocalypse befalls us.”

“Alright. I shouldn’t keep you any longer.”

Thea knew James would get distracted if they talked for too long.

Thus, she hung up the phone.

James continued to sit in a daze.

His main concern was to improve his strength.

He stayed in the Southern Plains for a while.

The Southern Plains City was already planning the construction layout

Currently, they had one hundred thousand people working throughout the Southern Plains City. The buildings were being demolished to be rebuilt.

James also temporarily moved out of the Southern Plains City and was staying in Dragonville,

A few days later, Tyrus came to visit.

“Father is back.”

Tyrus told him that Langston, who had traveled overseas, had returned.

Tyrus said, “Father has killed the phoenix according to the clues left by King Quavon. He has returned to the Southern Plains with the phoenix’s blood and asked you to head to Mt. Thunder Pass”
