

An Understated Dominance

Chapter 2421

“Me?” Dustin was slightly startled. He didn’t expect Fenley to bring the topic to himself, but he still nodded. “Mr. Hudson, you’re right. Briggs’s talent and strength indeed qualify him to influence the top ten of the legendary list.

He was still very positive about Briggs.

“You two can give such a high evaluation. It seems that Mr. Ethier is worthy of special attention.” Noemi nodded thoughtfully.

It was a pity that Briggs was born in the Yam Palace. If it had been a small sect, Noemi could have vigorously wooed him and absorbed him into the Celestial Alliance.

“Handsome and good at fighting, such young talents are rare.” Cassidy said it with a bright look.

Although Cassidy didn’t fall in love with Briggs at first sight, the other party’s appearance was indeed outstanding, which made people want to take a few more glances.

“Hahaha! Win, win! Sister! Did you see it? Mr. Ethier won!”

In the audience on the other side, when Halle heard that Briggs had won, she jumped up with joy and seemed particularly excited.

This contrast between winning big with a small bet and defeating the strong with a weak one was really exciting.

“Sister Halle! Your vision is really sharp. Mr. Ethier really won!” Sullivan, who was sitting next to Halle, was also overjoyed.

Fortunately, he listened to Rivka’s words and bet on Briggs to win; otherwise, he would have suffered heavy losses again.

The only regret was that he did not bet all in. Upon reflection, he felt a slight sense of regret.

“Mr. Ethier not only won but also won very easily. He is more powerful than I thought.” Rivka narrowed her eyes with a complicated expression.

She had known that Briggs was powerful, but because she did not see him take serious action, she only estimated it. However, after the battle just now, she found that Briggs had already broken through to the Grandmaster level.

One could only describe his strength as unfathomable.

At this moment, Rivka felt frustrated again.

Before, it was Dustin, and now it is Briggs. They are both halfway friends, yet their strengths surpass each other's.

She always thought that she was a child of destiny. She had reached the half-step grandmaster level at a young age. She had an extremely outstanding existence, no matter where she was.

However, compared with Dustin and Briggs, her ability was not worth mentioning at all.

“Yeah! My husband won! My husband is so awesome!”

“My husband is awesome! I want to give birth to a baby for you, my husband!”

“My husband is so handsome! My husband, look at me!”

“...”
