

Married At First Sight Chapter 2814-Kevin entered the small tearoom.

Hayden said, "Kevin, I would like a cup of warm water."

She was a little thirsty.

Kevin responded, "Okay."

Soon, he poured her a glass of warm water and handed it to her. He looked at her with a smile.

Hayden said amusedly, "What are you looking at me like this for? You keep looking at me like this, and you don't recognize me anymore."

Kevin said, "Hayden, I think you are so handsome. Really, so handsome."

Hayden stared at him speechlessly, sat down, and drank her water gracefully. After moisturizing her throat, she put down the water glass, turned on the computer, and said, "It's my business whether I'm a boy or a girl; I don't think so. It's time to explain to them that as long as I answer one of their questions, countless more will follow."

"That is. But you said that after one year, they would have the answer. After one year, is that what I think?" Kevin asked her with a smile.

What Kevin was thinking about was that, a year later, they were already a legal couple. As long as he worked hard, she would be able to carry little Kevin in her belly. At that time, it was self-evident whether she was a boy or a girl.

Hayden did not answer him but simply said calmly, "Whatever you think is what it is."

Kevin said, "Hey, it must be what I thought. That way, it goes without saying. I'll make you coffee."

Kevin turned away and made coffee for Hayden.

Hayden muttered, "You're full of crooked thoughts."

After thinking about it, Hayden felt that he had hinted at her first, so she couldn't blame him.

He usually only took advantage of her verbally, but in action, he still respected her and would not take advantage of her. Unless she is willing to take advantage of her, then he will be rude. If he doesn't take advantage of her enough, he will refuse to spare her.

"knock, knock, knock."

There was a knock on the door.

The people outside the door didn't wait for Hayden to answer. They opened the door and walked in. It was Hugh.

Hugh strode towards Hayden.

As he walked, he said, "Brother, you are too unreasonable. You didn't tell me in advance that you wanted to wear women's clothes. As a result, I was harassed all night. I also received countless calls on my mobile phone today."

He couldn't just turn off his phone all the time, right?

Not to mention the clients he cooperated with; even his group of confidantes had never been as enthusiastic as last night and this morning, calling him one after another.

He was almost overwhelmed by their "enthusiasm".

"Why should I tell you?" Hayden replied coolly to Hugh.

Hugh choked. After a long while, he said, "I am your biological brother, the biological brother of the same mother. Seeing that I am being harassed by everyone, my phone is about to explode, and you have no sympathy for me."

Soon, he switched to gossip and asked Hayden, "Should I call you brother or sister now? You wear women's clothes to attend the banquet and tell everyone that you are a woman. Are you planning to marry Kevin?"

Sister, don't agree with him too quickly. Let him chase you for another two or three years. The more he doesn't get it, the more he will cherish it. At least you have to please me, my only brother-in-law. I have never seen anyone so arrogant. The pursuer has no idea how to please my brother-in-law.

Sister, if you regain your identity as a woman, make friends with a few more young and promising men, and give Kevin a sense of crisis, haha, I will make him mad and anxious to death.”

Hayden blinked at Hugh.

Kevin came out with coffee and was walking towards Hugh.

Hugh still continued, saying, “Sister, there are still many outstanding men in our Jensburg. There is really no need for you to marry someone far away. You’re my only sister. You are married so far away. It will be difficult for my parents and me to see you in the future. You can’t even go back to your parents’ home. It’s difficult, even for us, to go there.

To put it bluntly, when my parents pass away a hundred years in the future, they want to see you before they die, but before you can get there, your parents are gone. What a shock. Give our young talents in Jensburg a chance. Although they may not have the same family background as Kevin, they are close.”
