

Read Married At First Sight Chapter 2821

Married At First Sight Chapter 2821-To be honest, Hayden rarely traveled because she was too busy.

She could take advantage of her honeymoon to go where she wanted to go, enjoy the scenery, and relax.

Kevin said, "I have bought you half a month of vacation. During this half-month, you should not interfere with anything in the company. Let Hugh do it. I will take you around. We haven't had a good date yet. "

Normally, Hayden was a bit taboo about others saying she was gay, so she was passive. When she occasionally went out with him, she would wait until night, without bodyguards, and go out with him secretly, just like having an affair.

They never had an honest date.

They were already talking about getting married, but they hadn't had a proper date yet, and they were still in shock.

After thinking about it, Hayden said, "My schedule this week is full of all important things. It is estimated that I will not be able to take vacation until next week. I asked the secretary to cancel all my schedules for next week and leave everything to Hugh, who will handle it. He is not useless; he is lazy, and he is used to hiding behind my back. I can't let him laze around like this anymore."

Hayden felt that the Queen Enterprise would be handed over to Hugh sooner or later.

Even if she stayed in Jensburg after marriage, she didn't want to control her mother's company anymore.

Hugh would not misunderstand Hayden. Who knows what Hayden's future sister-in-law will think?

Let it go when it's time to let it go.

Like her father, she would take a back seat and let Hugh take the lead.

“That’s right. If you don’t let him take the lead, he won’t know how capable he is. Hayden, do you need me to come to your door?” Kevin suddenly asked Hayden seriously. “My parents won’t have any objections. As long as you want us to come to your door, we can come to you at any time. We can develop wherever you want and give you the best life.”

Hayden said in a funny tone, “You should take what Hugh said to heart. My parents have a son. They don’t need a son-in-law to visit them. We can live wherever we want after marriage. No one will force us to live anywhere. Of course, I am a native of Jensburg. I am more accustomed to the customs of Jensburg. My work and friends are all in Jensburg. If possible, I think that after marriage, this will not change. I will fly to Wiltspoon every weekend. I will fulfill my responsibilities as a daughter-in-law.”

Kevin also had to fly back and forth for work. The York Corporation had hotels in major cities across the country. He would stay in Jensburg for so long because she was in Jensburg. He had stayed in Jensburg for more than half a year because of her.

Kevin said, “I won’t ask you to change your life and give up your job and friends. I can also work in Jensburg. My parents are still in good health and will not be a problem for another few decades. We don’t need to be around to fulfill our filial piety for the time being; besides, I have a younger brother.

Grandma is getting older. We are busy with work on weekdays, so we should go back and spend time with Grandma on weekends.”

“OK.”

Hayden had a special fondness for Grandma May.

The fact that the York family was so united and friendly was all due to Grandma May. The children and grandchildren she raised were excellent and generous, and all of them were good people. They could stand alone. Even if they didn’t take over the family business, they could still support it with their abilities. A piece of blue sky that belonged to them.

“We haven’t even gotten married yet, so we’re just thinking about life after marriage.” Hayden said. She suddenly felt funny.

Kevin chuckled. “You can imagine the future.

Hayden, you are busy. I won't disturb you anymore. I will go back and do some work and earn more money to give you as a betrothal gift."

Married At First Sight Chapter 2822-Kevin was in a good mood.

Next week, he could take Hayden on vacation for half a month to cultivate their relationship and make dates.

They were dating; they would no longer be criticized.

At the same time, the Queen family's old house.

The gorgeous hall was filled with relatives of the Queen family.

Donald and Mrs. Queen also sat together and asked the servants to bring everyone water and prepare fruits and snacks.

They could turn off their phones and reject outside interference, but they couldn't shut out their relatives.

Some of them were members of the Queen family, that is, Donald's cousins, who were one or two generations apart and had a relatively distant relationship, but they had not yet released the fifth server.

"Hayden, is she really a woman?" Donald's cousin didn't want to believe that Hayden was a girl. He asked, "Back then, didn't you two say that you had twins?"

Back then, Mrs. Queen was pregnant with twins. The Queen family was very happy because twins were rarely born. Mrs. Queen's natal mother had given birth to twins, and Mrs. Queen inherited her mother's gene for giving birth to twins.

After Mrs. Queen gave birth, everyone heard that she was giving birth to twins.

Donald said, "We never said that the children were twins. I don't know who spread the word that my wife gave birth to twins. They are obviously twins of a girl and a boy."

"My daughter's household registration is always written as a baby girl. But Hayden likes to dress up like her brother, so we followed her, thinking that the child would like it, and then... that's it; she thought it was more convenient to wear men's clothes, so there's nothing we can do against her.

Ever since she became sensible, she didn't like people to call her little sister. She said that her younger brother was a young master, and she wanted to be a young master too. She asked the workers in the family to call her the eldest young master. Over time, everyone got used to calling her the eldest young master. Later at home, the workers changed it again, but those workers didn't know that Hayden was a girl. When they saw Hayden's dress, they thought she was a boy, so they kept calling her Young Master."

It is not that Donald and Mrs. Queen had not corrected their daughter, but her daughter insisted on pretending to be a man, and they were not allowed to say that she was a daughter. The couple thought that their daughter was beautiful, and pretending to be a man could indeed save a lot of unnecessary things. The trouble would no longer be corrected. Then their daughter pretended to be a man, and she had been pretending to be a man for more than 20 years. It wasn't until their daughter fell in love with Kevin that she had the idea of regaining her identity as a woman.

Everyone was speechless.

They had never seen such parents.

They supported their daughter in whatever she wanted to do, and she had lied to them for more than 20 years.

Carefully recalling every bit of the past, it seemed that Mr. and Mrs. Queen never said that they had twins. It was everyone who said it. They just didn't admit or deny it.

"Does it matter whether Hayden is a boy or a girl? It doesn't have any impact on all of you, right? The Queen Enterprise belongs to me, and Hayden is also my daughter. My daughter is more promising than my son. If the Queen Enterprise is handed over to Hayden, I don't have to worry either.

Those who work in our Queen Enterprise will continue to work for us and will not be short of their salary. Whether Hayden is a boy or a girl really doesn't matter."

Donald didn't think the couple or the daughter needed to explain in a big way why they were dressing up as men.

For the sake of being related, Donald said so much. He also felt that whether Hayden was a boy or a girl, it had nothing to do with his relatives. He didn't eat their rice or spend their money, so he just liked to raise his daughter as a son. What's the matter?