

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1721

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1721—Kazuo took the opportunity to lecture Ono, “There are no orders. I dropped by to check this place and see if all of you were being complacent. You must always be on your guard as outlanders in Chanaea!”

“Yes, Mr. Kawaguchi. You’re absolutely right!” Ono replied faithfully. Kazuo added, “I’m bringing a woman here in a couple of days. Keep a close eye on her.”

“A woman?” Stunned, Ono said, “Mr. Kawaguchi, women are forbidden from this cave, as are Chanaeans. It’s an iron-clad rule.” “I know that, but this woman is vital to our research. I can’t take her back to Jetroina, so we can only keep her here,” explained Kazuo.

Ono’s curiosity was piqued. He asked, “Who is this woman? Why are you so interested in her, Mr. Kawaguchi?”

“You id*ot...” Kazuo trailed off with a frown. “You don’t deserve to know that.” Ever the obedient follower, Ono nodded eagerly and replied, “Understood!”

Kazuo only spent a day at the secret base before leaving. However, he left alone. Meanwhile, over ten men stood in the middle of a square at Deragon Sect, Jadeborough.

They were all skilled fighters brimming with vigor. Nearby, Godrick said to Jared, “I’ve selected these men based on your requirements, Jared.”

Jared nodded and replied, “In this case, quality is better than quantity. I trust you have briefed them on what to do?”

“Yes!” “Good. We’ll leave now. When we return, I hope you would have become a Top Level Martial Arts Marquis.” Jared clapped Godrick on the shoulder encouragingly.

Godrick asked curiously, “Where are we going. Jared? How can it boost one’s cultivation progress so rapidly?” Jared shot him a faint smile in response. “You’ll find out when we get there!”

Then, he led Godrick and the other selected men to Encanta Island. The blood demon statue, which still stood on the island, was a bottomless pool of spiritual energy. Absorbing it would undoubtedly raise his peers' cultivation speed immensely.

Jared had decided to help these gifted men to set foot in the heavenly realm. Unlike them, Jared's cultivation progress was not suppressed by the lack of spiritual energy in the mundane world. Thus, he planned to use his blood to help them enter the heavenly realm and avoid the repressive nature of the mundane world.

In the near future, celestials would reappear once their spiritual energies reawakened. The martial arts world would then enter a slump. Jared wanted to act now and get a head start.

That was why Jared had asked Godrick to select his most gifted men. Jared could not bring everyone from Deragon Sect to the heavenly realm. That was simply impossible.

When Jared and the others finally arrived at Encanta Island, everyone was enchanted by the surroundings. Godrick exclaimed, "Jared, is this the famed Encanta Island? It looks just like what I imagine the heavens to be."

Meanwhile, Norm had been on standby to greet Jared since learning of his visit. He welcomed Jared into the palace and straight onto the throne. Jared asked, "Have you observed anything unusual about the statue while I was gone, Norm?"

"The statue hasn't moved at all, Mr. Chance. The only thing is the statue is covered in dew right after midnight, and we have no idea why!" answered Norm.

Jared furrowed his brows thoughtfully. "Dew collecting on the statue at night? Is it related to the wet weather?"

Norm shook his head and replied, "No. The weather hasn't changed, but dew has never gathered on the statue like this before!" "That's odd. Bring me to the status later in the night!"

Jared wanted to see the situation for himself. After getting an update from Norm, he turned to Godrick's group and declared, "Get some rest. You can spend the next few days familiarizing yourself with the island. I will teach you some new techniques after that.”

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1722

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1722—Godrick led the rest of Deragon Sect away. Instead of resting, Jared used his blood to create pills that would free one from the shackles of the mundane world once one consumed it.

Nearing midnight, Norm sought Jared and led him behind the palace. The land behind the palace was still a pile of rubble like before. Jared stared at the mess as memories of his old battles resurfaced in his mind.

The blood demon statue lay on the ground, devoid of its former might. Soon enough, the clock struck midnight. The statue began emitting a faint glow, and drops of dew seeped onto its surface.

Jared stepped forward and touched the statue. A dew drop was instantly absorbed into his body, followed by a refreshing sensation, which he found immensely comforting.

He explained to Norm, “These dew drops are bursting with spiritual energy so don’t waste them. Send some men to collect them!”

Though Jared did not know the reason behind this phenomenon, he knew without a doubt that the dew drops were rich in spiritual energy.

Over the next few days, Godrick showed his men around Encanta Island, which went a long way in helping them to relax. Jared busied himself creating pills and eventually produced a batch of blood-red pills containing his own blood. Then, he gathered Godrick and the others, instructing them to consume the pills.

The crimson color and bloody stench of the pills were repulsive, to say the least. Still, no one dared to disobey Jared’s instructions, and they dutifully swallowed the pills.

Warmth coursed through their bodies almost instantly. They could feel some changes in their meridians and even their blood.

Then, Jared's spiritual sense took over the men's consciences, and he began imparting new techniques into their minds.

He declared to the crowd, "From now on, you must forget the cultivation techniques of your past and focus on practicing these new techniques. Feel free to ask me for help if you have any difficulties."

"Yes, Mr. Chance!"

Their excitement was palpable as they headed off to cultivate under Jared's instructions.

While they were cultivating, Jared spent most of his time absorbing the spiritual energy from the blood demon statue.

The statue seemed to release spiritual energy every night which condensed into dew drops. Jared had Norm collect all the dew drops for Godrick and his men.

And so they repeated this schedule during their stay on Encanta Island. Though Jared was away from Jadeborough, the martial arts world remained peaceful. No one tried to stir up trouble with Deragon Sect.

Lizbeth and the other young women had a smashing time at Crimson Palace.

They got along well and passed each day with joy and laughter. Their favorite moment of the day was listening to Evangeline's bizarre stories of the past.

Little did they know that Evangeline was recounting her personal experience instead of passing on rumors she had heard. One day, the women gathered as usual for lunch.

Renee's gaze swept over the group. When she noticed that Evangeline was missing, she asked, "Where's Evangeline? I'm still waiting for her story on immortals..."

"Perhaps she's busy. Let's not wait for her. She's quite mysterious sometimes, don't you think?" replied Lizbeth. Everyone shrugged off Evangeline's absence and dug into lunch.

They were blissfully unaware that Evangeline was in a car speeding away from Jadeborough. Her eyes were shut, and she looked pallid. The driver of the car was none other than Kazuo.

He drove for hours and only came to a stop around midnight. Then, he pulled Evangeline out of the car and dragged her into a dense forest.

Evangeline had woken up by then. She did not panic after seeing Kazuo. Meanwhile, Kazuo heaved a sigh of relief once he led Evangeline all the way to the secret samurai base.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1723

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1723—Ono spotted Kazuo's return and asked hastily, "Mr. Kawaguchi, where should we house this woman?" Kazuo replied, "Da*n it. This woman is incredibly powerful. Lock her in the Category A prison cell!"

Ono nodded and summoned some men to bring Evangeline to the prison cells. In the meantime, Kazuo whipped off his shirt, revealing a ghastly wound across his shoulder. He stared at the wound, his gaze brimming with ferocity.

After cleaning up the wound, Kazuo headed to the prison cells. When he arrived, he waved Ono and the others away, announcing, "Everyone, get out. I have something to say to her!"

Kazuo came to a stop before Evangeline's jail cell, which was shrouded in an arcane array designed to suppress the abilities of its prisoner. Still, Evangeline did not display the slightest hint of panic as she came face-to-face with Kazuo.

"Who are you? Why do you know secret witchcraft from thousands of years ago? Did you reincarnate in a new body? Or are you possessed by an ancient spirit?" demanded Kazuo.

Disdain flitted across Evangeline's features as she returned, "I won't tell you who I am. You can investigate my background if you want to know more!"

Kazuo narrowed his eyes dangerously just as a cloud of spiritual sense enveloped Evangeline.

Just as the spiritual sense darted into Evangeline's body, it was immediately shattered by some force within her body. Stunned, Kazuo jumped backward and stammered, "W-Why isn't your ability suppressed?"

Evangeline smirked and drawled, "These little tricks can hardly affect me."

Her body housed the soul of the holy maiden from Lunarius Palace thousands of years ago. Kazuo's attempt to infiltrate Evangeline's body with his spiritual sense was practically a joke.

The holy maiden's ability was halved under the repression of the energy of heaven and earth. That was the only reason Kazuo succeeded in catching Evangeline.

Still, she was not frightened. Even if Kazuo caught her, he would certainly have a tough time trying to kill her. Kazuo glared at Evangeline for a moment longer before turning away in resignation.

He reminded Ono, "Keep a close eye on her. Do not let her escape. And no one is allowed near her. If anyone's stupid enough to disobey my orders, they'll have it coming."

Kazuo planned to return to Jetroina and seek out a Soul Searching Master. His interaction with Evangeline gave him clues about the presence of a powerful spirit within her body.

The spirit had likely been around for thousands of years. He was no match for such a powerful" entity and would need all the help he could get.

Soon, Kazuo left Chanaea with some backup and returned to Jetroina. Meanwhile, Lizbeth, Cecilia, and the others began fretting over Evangeline's disappearance.

They had not seen the hide or hair of Evangeline for days. Everyone in Deragon Sect joined the search efforts, along with the Gunderson family.

Alas, no one knew Evangeline's true identity, which hampered their investigation. Only Fernando knew about the holy maiden in Evangeline's body, yet he dared not tell Chester about it.

I can only hope for Jared to solve this! At that moment, Jared was fervently absorbing the spiritual energy from the blood demon statue on Encanta Island.

The initial resistance of the statue had inexplicably disappeared, and its seemingly unending pool of spiritual energy had become a valuable resource for Jared and Deragon Sect's members.

Almost a fortnight later, Jared had ascended to a Third Level Greater Martial Arts Marquis. However, no matter how much time he devoted to cultivation afterward, he no longer felt an improvement in his abilities.

He opened his eyes slowly and muttered, "It seems the spiritual energy in this statue can no longer support my cultivation."

He froze in shock as his gaze landed on the blood demon statue. It was covered in a dense network of cracks, and it looked as if it would crumble at any moment.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1724

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1724—"This stone statue doesn't look like it'll last long. There's no saying whether it'll manage to hold out until the others break through to become Martial Arts Marquises."

Jared rose to his feet and left the forbidden ground. When Norm saw Jared walking out, he hurried forward respectfully and called out, "Mr. Chance."

"How are the others getting along in their cultivation? Do dew drops still form on the statue every night?" Jared asked Norm.

"The others are cultivating at a steady pace. As for the dew on the statue, it has significantly increased over the past few days," Norm replied.

Jared nodded in response. Then, he went to check on Godrick and the others. Upon observing their cultivation progress, he felt rather pleased.

However, he was just about to walk out of the palace and take a stroll when a sense of foreboding washed over him. Oh shit....

Cursing silently, he turned to Norm and excused himself before rushing back to Jadeborough.

There was a connection between Evangeline and Jared. While at the Gunderson family estate, Chester had asked Jared to plant a spiritual sense within Evangeline's body to make her follow Jared all the time.

Although Evangeline had the holy maiden's soul inside her body and no longer needed to stay by Jared's side, there was still a connection between the spiritual sense and him.

Now that she was imprisoned, he could sense it as soon as he walked out. Upon his return to Jadeborough, Lizbeth and the others surrounded him immediately when they saw him. The gaggle of ladies started chattering away to him.

"That's enough. You don't have to say anything more. I already know about it," he said while waving his hand. After saying that, he left Crimson Palace and headed for the Gunderson residence.

I need to speak to Fernando and get a clear explanation of what happened. There are some things that Lizbeth and the other ladies can't explain clearly.

Meanwhile, Fernando was on pins and needles. I'm well aware of Evangeline's identity. Should misfortune happen to befall her, I won't be able to explain things!

As he was fretting over the matter, Astrid opened the door and said, "Dad, Jared is here." As soon as Fernando heard that, he dashed out the door to welcome Jared.

"Mr. Chance, you're back. Evan-" Without waiting for him to finish speaking, Jared cut him off with a wave of his hand and said, "I know. Let's talk inside."

Fernando nodded. Then, he said to Astrid, "Get" someone to stand guard by the door. No one is allowed to enter."

With that, he followed Jared into the room and closed the door. Still worried that it was unsafe, Fernando waved his hand and instantly enveloped them with teleportation magecraft.

Jared turned to Fernando and asked, "Mr. Gunderson, what happened to Evangeline? How could a full-grown person like her suddenly go missing? Also, she's rather skilled. Theoretically, it'd be impossible for someone to attack her. However, I can sense that she's in danger."

“I don’t have a clue either, Mr. Chance. I only learned of her disappearance after Ms. Grange informed me about it. I’ve no idea how I’ll explain this to Great Elder,” Fernando replied with a look of dismay.

“Calm down, Mr. Gunderson. Evangeline isn’t in mortal danger for now. I can sense she’s being restrained, but I can’t figure out her exact location. Would the Gunderson family have any way of finding out where she is? That’d make it easier for us to rescue her.”

The reason Jared had come looking for Fernando was to discover Evangeline’s whereabouts. Even though his spiritual sense was still in Evangeline’s body, he could not pinpoint her location.

“Uh... I’m not sure about that. Even if there were a way, only Great Elder would know,” Fernando answered. “In that case, take me to the secret realm so we can find him and ask him. There’s no time to lose.”

Jared was worried Evangeline’s life would be in danger the longer they delayed it. If anything happens to Evangeline, not only will we lose her, but the holy maiden’s soul in her will also disappear.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1725

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1725–The holy maiden’s soul is already very weak. Without the protection of a human body, it wouldn’t have a chance of surviving under the energy of heaven and earth’s suppression.

“Of course,” Fernando responded. He activated his teleportation magecraft immediately and disappeared with Jared in a flash.

When the pair arrived at the Gunderson family estate, they found Chester engaged in deep conversation with an elderly man.

After learning that Jared had come, Chester hurried out at once to greet him. The elderly man was dumbfounded by his actions.

He’s the Gunderson family’s Great Elder. I can’t believe he’d go out to greet his guests. Even I have never experienced such a welcome!

Puzzled, the elderly man followed Chester outside. “Mr. Chance,” Chester said, hurrying forward and greeting Jared deferentially.

“I’m sorry for the intrusion, Great Elder. I needed to speak to you,” Jared responded. “We can talk inside, Mr. Chance.” Chester quickly ushered Jared into the house.

A look of surprise crossed the elderly man’s face when he saw that the person Chester went to welcome personally turned out to be a young man.

He looked at Chester and asked, “Who is this person? Why do you treat him with so much respect?” “He’s Jared Chance,” Chester replied. Turning to Jared, he said, “Mr. Chance, this is Wayne Gingerich, head of The Adamantine.”

Jared nodded at Wayne politely. “Nice to meet you, Mr. Gingerich.”

Meanwhile, Wayne stared at Jared in utter shock. He exclaimed excitedly, “You’re the person who founded Deragon Sect, went up against Warriors Alliance, and wiped out the Watanabe family from Jetroina?”

Stunned, Jared looked confused. He could not understand how Wayne, who had been in the secret realm, would know so much about him.

Just then, Fernando stepped forward and explained to him, “The Gingerich family is The Adamantine’s representative in the mundane world, so Verner is part of The Adamantine.”

Realization dawned on Jared after he heard that. So, it was Verner who told him everything. From the looks of it, it also appears that the Gunderson family and The Adamantine are on good terms with each other. No wonder Verner didn’t treat me with animosity like the others when he first met me!

“Mr. Gingerich, all those things you said aren’t even worth mentioning,” Jared replied with a smile. “You’re truly young and capable,” Wayne responded with admiration written all over his face.

“You’re too kind. I’m so sorry, but I have something to discuss with Great Elder,” Jared said apologetically. “Of course! Please go ahead.”

Having said that, Wayne walked to one side tactfully. With a gentle wave of Chester’s hand, an enclosed space appeared. Then, he asked Jared, “What brings you here with such urgency?”

Jared told Chester about Evangeline's disappearance. He even revealed that the holy maiden had possessed Evangeline's body. After all, he did not feel right to keep it a secret from Chester.

Chester was gripped with worry upon learning that his daughter had gone missing but did not seem bothered by the fact that the holy maiden's soul had possessed her body. When Evangeline's soul returns, the holy maiden's soul inside her will just have to leave.

"Great Elder, do you know of any way to determine Evangeline's location so I can rescue her?" Jared enquired, revealing his reason for coming to find Chester.

Chester furrowed his brows. "Locating her is something that's too difficult for us. However, it wouldn't be a problem if we had charms masters. They'd only need to draw a tracking talisman to detect her aura. That way, we'd be able to find her. However, charm spells have long since become a lost art, and very few know how to cast them. I don't know where we'd be able to find a charms master."

Jared's eyes lit up when he heard that. "Now that you mention it, I know someone who can draw tracking talismans."

He had immediately thought of Flaxseed. Back when Zion was hunting down Jared, Zion had gotten tracking talismans from Flaxseed. That was why no matter how hard Jared tried to get away, he could not escape Zion's pursuit.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1726

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1726—When Jared's train of thought ended there, he appeared somewhat excited and eager to leave. I need to find Mr. Flaxseed!

Seeing how Jared was in a hurry to depart, Wayne offered, "Are you facing some issues, Jared? If you are, I can ask my family to help you out. We're friends, after all. You're welcome to ask for aid."

He showed a strong interest in Jared as though he wanted to rope the latter in. Gratefully, Jared replied, "I appreciate your offer, Mr. Gingerich. However, this is a private matter. If I need help, I'll be sure to visit the Gingerich family."

“Okay. I’ll ask someone to contact my family and tell them to obey your request.” Wayne smiled.

After Jared bade Wayne and Chester goodbye, he followed Fernando back to Jadeborough before rushing toward Whitesea without stopping. He expected Flaxseed to still be entranced by women.

His guess was correct because when he arrived at the Simmons residence, he saw two beautiful women keeping Flaxseed company. Additionally, Flaxseed wasn’t looking too great.

At a glance, Jared could tell it was because Flaxseed had overindulged in his desire “Why are you here, Jared?” Flaxseed was shocked and gestured for the women to leave when he saw Jared.

“If I didn’t, you probably would’ve died in the arms of women! Look at you now! You don’t have any life force energy left in your body!” Resignedly, Jared stared at Flaxseed.

Flaxseed chuckled and stood up before stretching his body. “You don’t understand. I’m also cultivating here. In any case, why are you here? Is there something you need from me?”

“I want you to prepare a few tracking talismans for me.”

“D*mn, who are you planning to track? Using tracking talismans drains a lot of spiritual power.” “I want to track Evangeline. She’s missing.”

“What? Did she go missing? Did she get lost? Then again, many things have changed over the course of several thousand years.” Flaxseed was aware of the soul, which was thousands of years old, living inside Evangeline’s body.

With a serious expression, Jared informed, “No. I can tell she has been captured and that she’s in danger. However, I can’t pinpoint her exact location!”

Seeing how serious Jared looked, Flaxseed withdrew his smile and frowned slightly. “She’s pretty strong, so whoever apprehended her must be quite powerful. Do you have anything that has her aura on it?”

In order for Flaxseed to use the tracking talisman, he needed something that possessed the target's aura. "I do." As Jared spoke, he handed Flaxseed Evangeline's undergarments.

Flaxseed was stunned and gulped the moment he saw that. "Do you want me to get distracted while I draw the talismans? Is that why you intentionally brought these here?"

"I... just think her aura will be the thickest in these pieces of clothing." Back then, Jared didn't think too much about what he should bring with him.

He just went to Crimson Palace and grabbed Evangeline's undergarments.

"All right, just give it to me." Flaxseed put the undergarments on the table before pulling out a piece of talisman and started murmuring.

Without warning, the talisman burst into flame. Soon, Evangeline's undergarments were also set ablaze, generating clouds of green smoke.

As the talisman burned into ash, Flaxseed furrowed his eyebrows tightly. "Why is she so far away?"

"So? Do you know where Evangeline is?" Jared inquired. Nodding, Flaxseed answered, "Yes. Follow me."

When he ended his sentence, he dashed toward Evangeline's location. Jared followed behind. Both utilized their magecraft to travel to their destination at high speed.

Every once in a while, Flaxseed would burn a tracking talisman to ensure they were heading in the correct direction. Soon, the duo found themselves in the middle of a jungle.

"Did you get the place wrong, Mr. Flaxseed? Why would she be here?" Jared was in disbelief as he scanned the uninhabited forest.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1727

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1727—"Relax. This is definitely the place. Do you doubt my abilities?" Flaxseed glanced at Jared. "N-Not at all." An awkward smile was set on Jared's countenance before they entered the forest together.

They traversed through the jungle for another half an hour before Jared stopped himself and Flaxseed. Turning his head around, Flaxseed asked, "What's the matter?" Jared gestured for him to keep quiet and unleashed his spiritual sense.

Soon, he realized there were two people ahead of him, and they had blended into the jungle. If not for my spiritual sense, it would've been difficult for me to spot them!

"Ninjas?" He frowned slightly. I didn't expect to meet two ninjas from Jetroina here. Not only that, both of them are exceptionally skilled. If I hadn't detected their presence beforehand, I would've been fooled by their camouflage.

Upon shooting a look at Flaxseed, Jared advanced forward with his companion while pretending as though they didn't notice anything. The ninjas were surprised to see the duo because they rarely had visitors.

After exchanging a glance with each other, the ninjas leaped out of their hiding spots, went behind Jared and Flaxseed, and placed their blades next to the duo's necks.

"Who are you two? Why are you here?" one of the ninjas interrogated. The duo was prepared for the ambush. Hence, Jared immediately grabbed the blade and snapped it.

Shocked, the ninja threw a handful of white powder toward Jared. It was a technique used when ninjas needed to escape from enemies more powerful than them.

However, the ninja's white bewitching powder had no effect on Jared. Sneering, Jared stepped forward and grabbed the ninja.

When the other ninja saw that, he tried to cut off Flaxseed's head. "You really think I'm that weak, huh?" Flaxseed's expression turned cold as he rapidly flung three charms in the ninja's direction.

The charms burned before transforming into fireballs. The ninja failed to dodge the attack in time and was set on fire.

In response to the immense pain, the ninja kept rolling around on the ground to extinguish the fire. Unfortunately for him, Flaxseed's true fire couldn't be easily stamped out.

Just like that, the ninja was burned alive. Moments later, he was turned into a charred corpse. The other ninja shook uncontrollably when he witnessed that horrible scene.

As he struggled for his life, he realized he couldn't muster any strength at all, as though the martial energy in his body was sealed.

"Who are you people? Why are you here? Did you capture a girl?" Jared interrogated. Shaking his head, the ninja exclaimed, "I don't know! We merely got lost here!"

Jared slapped him. "Do you think we're stupid?" The slap shut the ninja up.

"I think I should use my Bone Devouring Charm to torture him. Maybe he'll be willing to talk when I'm done." As Flaxseed spoke, he pulled out a yellow talisman and swiftly drew something on it.

When the ninja saw that, he promptly gritted his teeth. Seconds later, his eyes widened, and a mouthful of black blood sputtered out of his mouth.

The ninja killed himself with poison! Jared frowned. It seems like this group of people isn't as simple as I thought and is very disciplined. He would rather commit suicide than say anything.

After callously tossing the ninja's body away, he turned to Flaxseed. "We need to be careful as we advance forward, Mr. Flaxseed."

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1728

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1728—Flaxseed nodded in response before they continued their journey with caution. Meanwhile, Jared expanded his spiritual sense and started scouting out his surroundings. That way, if there were any ninjas near them, he would be able to spot them immediately.

Concurrently, inside a cave, Ono was staring at Evangeline, his lust roused by her beauty. However, because of Kazuo's command, he didn't dare to do anything to her. Just as he stood up, he detected something with his spiritual sense.

"Intruders!" Ono's expression changed as he ordered loudly, "Quick! Someone's here! Send a group to intercept them while the others shut the hideout's entrance!"

Moments later, more than a dozen warriors clad in black clothing bolted out of the cave. At the same time, creaking sounds were heard around the cave's entryway. Soon, the entrance was sealed shut and blended perfectly into the mountain.

"More than a dozen people are heading our way, Mr. Flaxseed," Jared warned.

Flaxseed spat with disdain, "I sense them. They're just a group of Martial Arts Grandmasters. There isn't even one Martial Arts Marquis among them. What a bunch of garbage."

"Can you handle them?"

"What? Are you looking down on me?" Upon ending his sentence, Flaxseed muttered a spell and transformed his appearance to resemble the ninja he killed.

Grinning at Jared, he explained, "I'll pretend to be one of them and catch them off guard." Jared almost forgot he taught Flaxseed how to use a Transforming Clone Charm.

"In that case, I shall watch your performance." Smiling faintly, he leaped onto a tree and completely concealed his presence.

As Flaxseed pretended to be hurt, he trudged forward and bumped into the samurais ahead of him. "What's the situation?" the leader of the samurai group asked.

"Someone barged in here and killed our people," Flaxseed replied weakly with a pale countenance.

"How dare someone trespassed into our camp! How insolent! Follow behind the group. I'll go and kill that intruder right now!" the group leader roared and marched forward with his Flaxseed followed behind and patted the shoulder of the samurai furthest from the group.

"What's the matter?" the samurai asked as he turned around. Just as he did, he saw the flash of a dagger before his neck was sliced open.

The samurai didn't even have time to make a sound before he met his maker. Carefully, Flaxseed laid the samurai's corpse on the ground so as not to alert the group.

His action was so clean and quiet that no one in the samurai group noticed a thing. Additionally, no one would suspect him because he looked like one of them at the moment.

Flaxseed murdered multiple samurais consecutively with the same technique. Jared, who was still hiding in the trees, almost laughed out loud when he saw that.

In the end, only the group leader was left. He was still stepping forward cautiously, preparing to strike at any moment with the katana in his hand.

After a while, the leader frowned slightly because he saw no trespassers. "We should split up and search for the interloper. You all—"

Just as he turned his head back and was about to relay his order, he realized there was no one but Flaxseed left behind him. The leader was shocked. "Where are the others?" Flaxseed shook his head. "I don't know..."

At that moment, the look in the leader's eyes shifted as he gazed at Flaxseed. Then he retreated and questioned, "Who are you?"

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1729

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1729—Laughing, Flaxseed restored his original appearance after his cover was blown. Jared jumped down from the tree and spoke to Flaxseed. "This Transforming Clone Charm is pretty good, Mr. Flaxseed. It's a shame you can't alter your aura. If you can, no one will be able to tell the difference!"

Smugly, Flaxseed replied, "You haven't even seen my charm spells that are more powerful yet."

The samurai was infuriated when Jared and Flaxseed talked to each other as though he wasn't there. Upon removing his katana from the sheath, he growled and swung it in the duo's direction.

Casually, Jared grabbed the katana and snapped it in half. The group leader was bewildered by the difference between his enemy's strength and his own.

Without delay, he tried to flee, but Jared smashed him into meat paste. “You should’ve left the last guy for me to kill. I wanted to get all of them,” Flaxseed lamented.

“There’s no time to waste. Let’s go.” Jared proceeded to dart toward the samurai’s hideout as Flaxseed followed behind him.

They expeditiously arrived at the foot of the mountain. The edges of Jared’s mouth curved upward when he noticed the untouched peak. Do they think I can’t find their hideout just because they camouflaged the entrance? I’ve already locked onto their location when I used my spiritual sense earlier!

Staring at the mountain, he raised his fist, which started glowing with a golden light, and punched forward.

Boom! The entire mountain shook as the entrance to the cave was blasted open.

“What’s going on?” Ono was flabbergasted as he watched the entire cave shake. “Someone has invaded our camp, Captain Jiro!” a subordinate reported.

“Quick, activate the arcane array!” Ono commanded loudly. Concurrently, the moment Jared cracked open the entrance, he sensed Evangeline’s familiar aura. “She’s inside!”

He and Flaxseed promptly dashed into the cave. However, soon after they entered the samurais’ hideout, dozens of white lights were shot in their direction.

Those white lights speedily formed a large net and trapped the duo. Meanwhile, Ono approached them with a group of men and surrounded them. “Who are you people? How did you find this place?” Ono questioned.

“Can’t you see? We’re your ancestors. Anyway, I managed to find this lousy place with simple magecraft. So, if you don’t want to meet a horrible end, you’d better release the girl you captured!” Jared exclaimed.

Confidently, Ono mocked, “Ah, so you two are here to rescue the girl. Unfortunately for you, your endeavor is fruitless! No one can escape this cave!”

He wasn't afraid of the intruders because they were bound by the arcane array.

"Who brought her here? There's no way you're powerful enough to kidnap her," Jared inquired. It's impossible he's the one who captured Evangeline. While her strength is suppressed, she can still unleash the power of a Greater Martial Arts Marquis. On the other hand, this guy is only a Martial Arts Marquis.

"What's the point of learning who captured her when you two are about to meet your end?"

Ono sneered. In response, Jared ridiculed, "What, you don't have the balls to tell us even when we're your captives? Did your master tell you to be a coward?"

He was intentionally pissing Ono off because he really wanted to know who captured Evangeline. Actually, I already had an idea who was the one responsible when I saw the samurais. I just need someone to confirm my guess.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 1730

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1730—"Hmph! It's not like you can do anything about it, even if I tell you. Mr. Kawaguchi was the one who captured the girl because she's carrying a secret or something." Ono spilled the beans freely. I think it's okay if I tell him. They're about to die, after all.

"As I expected. It was Kazuo. He's the only one who can capture Evangeline and bring her here." Jared narrowed his eyes slightly as a frigid look swirled within them.

Again, he questioned, "Why are you people setting up a base here?" I can't believe these Jetroinian samurais have the balls to build a secret base in Chanaea. I must figure out what they're up to!

Unlike last time, Ono didn't tell him anything. "Why are you still so curious about us even on the verge of death? Anyway, kill them!" he ordered

He wasn't going to delay the execution anymore because he felt like Jared was intentionally baiting him to reveal more information.

Numerous samurais attempted to slash Jared and Flaxseed as they raised their katanas. In response, Flaxseed panickily urged, "Your body may be insanely tough, Jared, but not mine! Break this arcane array quickly!"

He was certain Jared could destroy the arcane array.

"Break it? Is that a joke? There's no way you can destroy the arcane array personally created by the envoys of Elysium Sect!" Right as Ono finished his sentence, he saw Jared's body abruptly explode with a golden light.

A terrifying aura crashed into the samurais like a mighty wave, instantly toppling them.

The net, made from dozens of lights, also vanished in a blink of an eye. "You... You..." Ono was shocked as he paled. "You're a Greater Martial Arts Marquis!"

Upon turning his line of sight to Flaxseed, Jared asked, "I'll let you handle the small fries while I take care of this guy. What do you think, Mr. Flaxseed?"

"No problem." Flaxseed nodded in response. The moment Jared took a step toward Ono, a terrifying aura exploded from his body. Ono twirled around and retreated when he sensed Jared's aura.

"Still trying to run, are you?" Jared sneered and chased after his prey. To deter his pursuer, Ono struck in the direction behind him, causing multiple huge rocks to fly toward Jared.

With a casual swing of his fist, Jared reduced those huge rocks into powder. His fist continued to travel forward until it violently landed on Ono's chest. Several of Ono's ribs were broken as he spat out a mouthful of blood.

Fearfully, he continued to escape at high speed. Jared pursued him slowly because he was certain Ono would lead him to Evangeline.

Unfortunately, Ono wasn't stupid. He was aware of Jared's intention, so he didn't sprint toward Evangeline's confinement.

The further he fled into his escape cave, the narrower it became. There was also a sinister aura inside the cave.

Just as he was getting ahead, he suddenly slapped a spot on the wall, causing laser beams to shoot out from both sides.

Because of how cramped the cave was, Jared had no room to dodge. Thus, he was hit by the laser beams. Ono then stopped moving with a sneer. However, when the laser beams hit Jared's body, he was completely unharmed.

"What?" Ono was dumbstruck. His original plan was to lure Jared into the cave and kill him with the arcane array, but it failed because he didn't anticipate Jared's body would be that tough.

"Where do you think you're going?" Staring at Ono coldly, Jared punched him. Then, the gust of wind generated by the attack sent Ono flying away.