

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2241

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2241-Jared and Skyler stepped forward, protecting Verner and the others behind them. Meanwhile, the Grand Elder of Flying Star Sect, Doyle, wore a cold expression and asked, "Who are you people?"

"Doyle, this woman is from Luminous Sect," another elder replied.

"Luminous Sect?" Doyle frowned slightly. "Mind your own business and get lost."

"Don't you think the lot of you are supposed to get lost instead?" Jared retorted.

His eyes flashed with murderous intent. He walked up and slapped the Grand Elder, sending him flying.

"Flying Star Sect's eldest heir is already dead, and yet you mere elders have the cheek to act arrogantly in front of me," Jared mocked.

"What? You killed our eldest heir?"

The other elders of the Flying Star Sect were stumped.

Jared didn't deign to reply and launched an attack at them.

The elders were notoriously ruthless, having slaughtered many martial artists. Hence, Jared wouldn't spare their lives.

Verner and the others were at a loss for words to see Jared fighting against the elders all alone.

Their strengths used to be about the same. However, it was now clear that Jared was already leaps and bounds ahead of them.

"Mr. Chance, please spare their lives..."

Noticing that Jared intended to kill the five elders of Flying Star Sect, Skyler stepped forward to advise him.

“Mr. Chance, if you kill all five elders of Flying Star Sect, they will never let you off the hook. There’s no need to provoke them. Besides, they will also think that you’re the one who killed Avery. Then, Flying Star Sect will wage an endless war against you. It won’t do you any good,” Skyler reasoned.

Then, she turned to look at the other elders and said, “Your eldest heir, Avery Lindt, is dead. However, Scorching Heaven Sect killed him, and it had nothing to do with us!”

“Mr. Lindt is dead, so you can say whatever you want. Besides, Scorching Heaven Sect has been gone for years, and you’re saying that they killed him? Do you think we will believe what you said?” Doyle snickered.

“I don’t care if you believe me or not. Even if I don’t kill you today, I won’t let you off the hook that easily!” Jared said.

Then, beams of golden light radiated from atop his palms, striking toward the five elders.

The rays of golden lights were like swords, instantly penetrating through the five elders’ bodies.

Even though they did not die from the strike, all five elders suffered severe injuries, and their limbs were broken.

Having witnessed Jared’s prowess, the five elders no longer dared to say another word. Hence, they could only shoot daggered looks at Jared before they scurried for their lives.

“Mr. Chance, thank you for saving our lives.” Verner and the others approached Jared to thank him.

“Verner, this is just a small favor. You should leave this place now and never come back. It’s not a place that you guys can stay for long!” Jared commented.

He asked them to quickly leave as the place was full of sects from the hidden realm. If a conflict were to break out, the huge disparity in their strengths would only lead to the tragic deaths of outsider martial artists like Verner.

Since Verner and the others had witnessed firsthand how brutal the attacks could be, they wouldn’t dare to step foot here again.

After they left, Jared and Skyler rushed back to Luminous Sect. He had to save Flaxseed and Godrick as soon as possible.

When they were back at Luminous Sect, Jared immediately retrieved the Spirit Connecting Fruits and fed Godrick and Flaxseed one each.

After ingesting the fruits, Flaxseed and Godrick's body shone with golden lights. Their bones and meridians were restored in just a moment.

"Jared, what did you feed us? How is it so magical? I could feel an invigorating force within my body," Flaxseed asked, jumping out of bed.

"Jared, I feel a power stirring within my body. It's as if my body's about to explode," Godrick said painfully.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2242

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2242-"This is the Spirit Connecting Fruit. The Spring of Regeneration's water nourished the Spirit Connecting Tree, and the fruits it bears have the magical power to reconstruct damaged physical bodies. The two of you should hurry up and refine the force you feel inside your bodies. You might even get to level up, especially you, Godrick. You should hurry up and refine the force you're feeling inside your body since you have a lower level. Otherwise, you're going to explode to death!" Jared urged.

Upon hearing Jared's words, Flaxseed and Godrick immediately began to cultivate and refine the power within their bodies.

Jared stayed at Luminous Sect as he planned to wait for both of them to complete their cultivation before leaving for Jadeborough.

"Skyler, did you guys really enter the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace?" Archer asked.

Sensing the aura on Skyler and Jared, Archer grew green with envy.

After all, Skyler's strength was no match for Archer when she left, but after their trip to the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace, her strength had surpassed his.

It was especially true for Jared. Archer could clearly sense the terrifying aura emanating from Jared. He feared he wouldn't even be able to take a single blow from Jared if they were to fight.

"Of course. We saw the Spirit Connecting Tree as well..." Skyler happily recounted her experience at the ancient ruins of Narcissus

Palace.

When Archer heard that Jared had defeated the Ninth Level Martial Arts God from Scorching Heaven Sect, Elgado, he was taken aback.

If that were the case, Archer knew that so much as a single breath from Jared was enough to suffocate him now.

Jared stayed at Luminous Sect for another three days, and Matthew had only rushed back from a meeting then.

Matthew didn't seem surprised at the sight of Jared and Skyler.

"Master, we have returned from the ancient ruins of Narcissus Palace, and—"

Upon seeing Matthew, Skyler eagerly tried to share her experience. However, the former waved his hand and interjected, "I already know!" He wore a grim expression and said, "You guys had a conflict with people from Flying Star Sect and Stormwind Sect. Not only that, but you also killed them all. Did Emiliano and Avery also die in your hands?"

Skyler was stumped and didn't understand how Matthew knew it all.

Jared calmly replied, "We did have a conflict, but we didn't kill Avery and Emiliano. They were killed by the guardian of Scorching Heaven Sect, Elgado. He absorbed their powers and ultimately killed them."

"Scorching Heaven Sect?" Matthew frowned. "They have appeared?"

"Master, Scorching Heaven Sect has always been in Kazillion Mountains. Besides, Alchemical Sect has also been working with them this whole time. Some of the resources that we have sent to Alchemical Sect all over the years were given to Scorching Heaven Sect," Skyler explained.

Matthew's expression darkened further. For so many years, they had been treated like a fool by Alchemical Sect!

“How despicable of them! No wonder Isaac can’t cure my disease. So, he did it deliberately.” Matthew gritted his teeth.

“Master, how did you find out about what happened in the ancient ruins?” Skyler asked curiously.

“Now the whole hidden realm knows. Besides, Flying Star Sect and Stormwind Sect have already taken action. I’m afraid they’ll soon start hunting down Jared! You’d better leave the hidden realm and go into hiding,” Matthew said.

“Mr. Campbell, but what will happen to you and Luminous Sect if I leave?” Jared asked.

“They won’t do anything to Luminous Sect, and we’re no pushover either,” Matthew said.

Jared nodded. He knew that with his current strength, he couldn’t compete with the two major sects.

Now that Flaxseed and Godrick were done refining the forces within their bodies, it was time to leave.

After bidding goodbye to Matthew, Jared brought Flaxseed and Godrick back to Jadeborough.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2243

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2243-Inside Flying Star Sect’s grand hall, five grievously injured elders were in their seats. In front of them was an eighty-year-old man with a scowl on his face.

He was none other than the leader of Flying Star Sect, Wrey Lindt, and Avery was his only son.

As Wrey had his son in his later years, he ended up spoiling Avery, causing the latter to grow up with an androgynous character. Even then, he would never reprimand his son one bit.

Consequently, he was devastated to learn of Avery’s death.

“Master, Luminous Sect is responsible for your son’s death and beating us up,” Doyle related to Wrey.

“I know. The man responsible is called Jared Chance. He isn’t part of Luminous Sect and is an outsider. However, why didn’t you protect Avery?” Wrey questioned the five elders with an icy look in his eyes.

“Mr. Lindt told us to stay behind and stand guard outside, so... so...” Doyle explained in a trembling voice.

“I ordered you to protect my son, but you return with him dead. I think I should bury all of you with him.”

Before the elders could react, Wrey unleashed an overwhelming force of martial energy with a wave of his hand.

All of them were turned into mush before they had the chance to even scream.

As Wrey stared at the pool of bloodied remains on the ground, his eyes brimmed with murderous intent. “Jared Chance, I’m going to make you pay with your life.”

Back at Stormwind Sect, Emiliano’s mother was crying her eyes out in Tucker’s arms.

“Tucker, our son is dead. Dead! Why did you allow him to go to the ancient ruins? Why didn’t you stop him?”

In the midst of her cries, a grim expression descended upon Tucker’s face.

Right then, the room door was opened and in came Hugh.

Only then did Tucker frantically push Emiliano’s mother away.

“Hugh...” Tucker greeted.

As for Emiliano’s mother, the sight of her husband caused her to panic and throw herself into his arms.

“Hugh, our son has been murdered. You have to exact revenge on his behalf, or I won’t be able to carry on living!” Emiliano’s mother cried out in tears.

“Don’t worry. I’ll definitely make his killer pay.”

Hugh was a sea of calm, devoid of the expression one would usually have after losing one’s son.

“Tucker, I don’t care how you do it, but capture Jared and bring him here. I’m going to torture him to death,” Hugh instructed Tucker.

“Don’t worry, Hugh. I’ll definitely drag him here with my own hands and tear him limb from limb,” Tucker declared through his gritted teeth with his eyes burning with rage.

“Good!” Hugh nodded before pushing his wife aside. “Tucker, take care of my wife while I go check on Garthor.”

The moment Hugh stepped out of the door, a vicious glint flashed across his eyes.

“Dad, did Jared kill Emiliano? I’m going to take his life for this,” asked Garthor angrily upon returning from Reflection Cliff.

“Your brother is dead. I have instructed Tucker to capture Jared and bring him here. As for you, continue your training at home, and don’t get involved,” Hugh ordered Garthor.

“Dad, even though we’re brothers from a different mother, it’s my responsibility as the elder one to exact revenge on his behalf.”

With rage swelling within him, Garthor felt the urge to kill Jared.

“Enough. Listen to me, continue your training and don’t interfere.”

Hugh walked away the moment he finished. He had wanted to tell Garthor that Emiliano wasn’t his brother at all.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2244

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2244-Meanwhile, at Scorching Heaven Sect, Yona was secretly monitoring the meeting between the nine sects of the hidden realm.

He was delighted by the knowledge that the nine sects were currently on edge and open conflict could ignite at any moment.

The chaos that ensued would provide Scorching Heaven Sect the opportunity to reemerge in the world with no one to stop them.

In fact, they might be able to dominate the entire hidden realm subsequently.

Amidst Yona's delight, the injured Elgado returned. The latter's aura was no longer one of a Ninth Level Top Level Martial Arts God.

The fact that his strength relied on absorbing the powers of others made it unstable. After being injured, the chaos in his aura resulted in a drop in his cultivation level, leaving him at the early stage of Ninth Level.

"What happened, Elgado?" Yona asked with a frown when he saw Elgado.

"Lord Green, I have found the ruins of Narcissus Palace and the Spirit Connecting Fruit. It's just that a young man had gotten to all the fruits before I could," Elgado reported in a regretful tone.

"What?" Yona was stunned. "You're a Ninth Level Martial Arts God who sucks the power of others with your Demonic Cultivation. Yet you're no match for this man? Within the entire hidden realm, who else can give you trouble other than the old fogeys in the meeting?"

It blew Yona's mind that someone other than the leaders of the nine sects could beat Elgado into such a miserable state.

"He's a kid named Jared Chance who's an outsider. A girl from Luminous Sect was with him back then," Elgado explained to Yona.

"Jared Chance?" Yona fell in deep thought before recalling the young man who was working on alchemy together with Isaac.

"Can it be him? But he isn't a Martial Arts God yet. It would be impossible for him to be your match."

Yona was filled with disbelief.

"That kid elevated himself to Third Level Martial Arts God by swallowing a few Spirit Connecting Fruits. There's no way I can defeat him now. If I hadn't used teleportation magecraft, I'm afraid I would have already been dead!"

Just the thought of his battle with Jared was enough to send a chill down Elgado's spine.

"I didn't expect that kid to be so proficient in battle on top of possessing outstanding alchemy skills."

Yona narrowed his eyes slightly. "All right now. You should recuperate from your wounds. I'll deal with the rest."

After nodding in acknowledgment, Elgado was about to leave when he stopped abruptly. He subsequently revealed, "Lord Green, I've killed Avery of Flying Star Sect and Emiliano of Stormwind Sect. I was forced to do so to increase my strength."

Shocked by the news, Yona glared at Elgado. "You fool, are you trying to ruin Scorching Heaven Sect?"

Even though their sect had gained much power, it was still not strong enough to withstand the combined attack of all the other sects.

"Lord Green, other than Jared and the girl from Luminous Sect, no one else knows that I killed them. During my retreat, I heard that Flying Star Sect and Stormwind Sect have sent men to hunt Jared down," Elgado continued.

"All right. I got it. You should get some rest now."

Yona waved his hand to dismiss Elgado.

Upon the latter's departure, Yona gathered his men immediately.

This was the first time he had heard about an outsider who was a Third Level Martial Arts God that was capable of defeating a Ninth Level Martial Arts God.

As a result, Yona had wanted to personally capture Jared and find out what it was that made the latter so special.

"If this kid turns out to be more than a mere mortal, it would be time for me to change out of this old shell of mine."

As Yona scrutinized his old body, an insidious smile emerged across his face.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2245

No data found.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2246

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2246-After the group got a night's rest in the forest, Godrick managed to recover most of his strength.

Hence, Jared planned to continue his escape with Flaxseed and Godrick at the first break of dawn.

Just as they were about to leave, the arcane arrays set up by Flaxseed were suddenly triggered. The continuous firing of infernos was quickly followed by screams of men.

"Jared, someone's here. We have to move," Flaxseed suggested frantically, to which Jared nodded in acknowledgment.

Just as they were about to leave with Godrick, they heard someone swearing. "Who the f*ck has set up arcane arrays in the middle of the forest?"

The voice caused Jared to stop in his tracks and sped toward the direction of the arcane array.

Flaxseed and Godrick, too, followed behind him.

By the time Jared arrived, he saw Archer and Skyler burnt by Flaxseed's arcane array.

Despite their strength, both of them were not experienced in dealing with arcane arrays.

Without a moment's hesitation, Jared dispelled the arrays with a wave of his hand.

At the same time, Archer and Skyler hurried up to Jared once they spotted him.

"Why are both of you here?" Jared asked in surprise.

"Mr. Chance, Master has tasked us with leading you away by the sea. Now that the entire surroundings are saturated with your pursuers, it would be impossible for you to escape," Skyler explained.

“By sea?” Jared was stunned.

“Yes. Once we go over this mountain, we’ll be able to see a vast ocean from where you can leave,” Skyler elaborated.

“Why have I not heard any of you mention this before?”

Jared was surprised to learn for the very first time that one could leave the hidden realm by sea.

“Very few use that route because demon beasts roam the seas. Anyway, there’s no time to talk now. I’ll tell you more once we leave,” Archer reminded.

Upon nodding in agreement, Jared and his companions left together with Archer.

As Archer and Skyler grew up in the area, they were extremely familiar with the lay of the land. Thus, the group arrived at the seaside before they knew it.

Staring out at the sea, Archer casually waved his hand. Countless trees were suddenly broken and fell into the ocean.

As the group leaped into the sky, they easily landed on top of the floating logs.

Warriors of their skill could travel across the sea without the need for boats.

“Let’s pray this goes smoothly.”

Archer looked ahead with a concerned expression.

“Mr. Loulland, considering your skills, there’s no need for you to fear demon beasts. In the event you encounter them, you can just kill them and obtain their beast core,” Jared commented.

“You know, the demon beasts aren’t that scary. What I’m afraid of is that old monster. I hope we won’t run into him, or we’ll be in big trouble!” Archer lamented.

“Old monster?” Jared was stunned to hear Archer mention such a thing.

“That’s right. Legend has it that an old monster lives on one of the islands here. All the demon beasts in the seas are supposedly raised by him. No one knows when that old monster started to inhabit the island. Whoever passes it would never return. There have also been rumors of them being eaten by him,” Archer explained fearfully.

Finding it hard to believe, Flaxseed sneered, “A man-eating monster? I’m sure it’s just a legend. It’s impossible for someone like this to exist. There’s no way he can tame demon beasts in the ocean as if it’s his backyard!”

“It’s up to you whether you want to believe it or not. I just hope we don’t run into him.”

Without another word, Archer stared ahead with a grim look on his face.

He had no idea where the island was, as he had never been there before. As a result, all he could do was pray that they didn’t pass through the island and weren’t noticed by the old monster.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2247

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2247-Jared and the others sailed across the endless sea rapidly. There were not any small islands in sight, and everything was calm and serene.

Finally, Archer could heave a sigh of relief.

Suddenly, the tranquil sea became stormy. Rogue waves repeatedly hit Jared’s vessel, which was made out of a tree trunk, forcing them to change direction.

“Why are there waves when there’s no wind at all?” Skyler asked curiously.

Jared, on the other hand, announced solemnly, “Be careful for the demon beasts are here.”

Instantly, his words made everyone nervous.

At the same time, they also saw a dozen huge figures squirming in the sea. Those waves were apparently created by the demon beasts!

The beasts constantly leaped above the sea and then slammed hard on its surface, stirring up huge waves that put Jared and the rest into a chaotic predicament.

“Demon beasts that have reached the cultivation level are too terrifying...”
Flaxseed stared at them, dumbfounded.

He had never seen such powerful demon beasts before. Moreover, there were more than a dozen of them!

Suddenly, Godrick lost his balance and fell into the water while being pursued by a group of demon beasts.

Even though he was a Martial Arts Saint, he was no match for the demon beasts who were Martial Arts God, especially when they were all battling in the sea!

As soon as Jared saw Godrick falling, the former tiptoed and swiftly made a leap into the sky. Like an eagle spreading its wings, Jared got hold of Godrick and immediately pulled him up.

“You leave first, Mr. Flaxseed. I want to kill these beasts,” said Jared.

“Be careful, Jared! There are lots of demon beasts here, and we’re on the sea now,” reminded Flaxseed.

“Don’t worry. Since the demon beasts have invited themselves here, I’ll take this opportunity and obtain their beast cores.”

Those words had barely left Jared’s mouth when he plunged into the sea. Meanwhile, Flaxseed, Archer, and the others quickly moved forward.

After entering the sea, Jared purposely released his aura to attract the demon beasts’ attention and made them go after him.

Soon, one by one, the demon beasts with a piercing cold aura started besieging Jared from all directions.

Clearly, the beasts worked in a pack. Each of them assumed its own position, leaving no gap for Jared to escape.

Roar!

Just then, a demon beast about the size of a killer whale widened its bloody maw, ready to devour Jared.

Upon seeing so, Jared's body exuded beams of golden light. The draconic essence in him subsequently unleashed the Power of Dragons and formed a series of bubbles around him, enabling him to move about freely.

Jared then landed a ferocious punch on the demon beast who was about to attack him with an opened mouth.

Jared's terrifying spiritual energy burst forth, stirring up waves that were several meters high! Unfortunately, his powerful blow failed to kill the beast. It merely delayed its attack.

Surprise gripped Jared. A punch from me is sufficient to beat the demon beast to a pulp, but how come I couldn't kill it?

As the demon beast approached him, Jared threw punches at it again, but to no avail. Besides, he also felt strenuous with each punch unleashed.

It did not take Jared long to have it all figured out. Fighting his enemy in the water consumed a great deal of his energy. Therefore, the power of his punches was weakened when it was offset by the seawater, leaving very minimal impact on the demon beasts.

The only exception to that would be to fight against a demon beast lower than his martial arts level. However, the one he was battling with was a Martial Arts God. It was almost impossible for Jared to defeat it with just one punch.

Since he was unable to end the fight as quickly as he could, Jared plunged into the depths of the sea at lightning speed while they continued to chase after him.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2248

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2248-Soon, another demon beast gnashed its teeth and caught up with Jared swiftly. Desperate times called for desperate measures. Jared put his fingers together, and a blinding golden light flashed past his fingertips.

He then pointed his fingers at the demon beast, and a golden beam shot out simultaneously. Instead of being dissipated in the water, it pierced through the demon beast in the blink of an eye.

At that moment, a realization dawned on Jared. Only by gathering the spiritual energy in one place can I better work against the resistance felt in the sea.

Once Jared had that wrapped around his head, he continued releasing a couple more golden beams and perforated the demon beast's body, creating multiple bloody holes in it. Soon, with a howl, the demon beast began to fall.

Jared hurried over and landed another punch on its body. He then obtained its beast core and placed it in the Storage Ring right away.

After defeating his opponent, Jared became more confident. On the heels of that, he slowly raised his hand, gathered the martial energy at his fingertips, and launched a series of attacks at the other demon beasts charging toward him.

Jared directed his fingers at each one of them as he released his martial energy to all the beasts.

Pop! Pop! Pop!

Not one part of that particular demon beast's body was spared by the intimidating martial energy. Blood gushed out of its body, dyeing the sea crimson red.

Roar!

When the other demon beasts saw that one of their own kind was killed, they growled, opened their bloody maws, and lunged at Jared fearlessly.

Despite facing a group of vicious demon beasts, Jared was not afraid but was instead excited about it.

To him, those beasts were exceptional resources for cultivation!

Right when Jared was about to strike again, he heard a deep rumbling sound in the water, similar to those produced by a drum. Ripples were also formed on the surface of the sea.

When those beasts that were initially attacking Jared heard the sound, they turned around quickly and swam in one direction, leaving Jared behind.

The latter was completely baffled. Could it be that these demon beasts are controlled by someone?

Jared went after the pack of demon beasts upon obtaining the beast core from the one he had just defeated.

He had no idea how long he had been swimming. Suddenly, a small island appeared before his eyes; on it was a lush forest of green trees filled with cheery sounds of chirping birds and the sweet scents of beautiful flowers.

Meanwhile, the demon beasts arrived at the island too and started circling it.

Jared ignored them. He wanted to explore the place and check if it was the fishing island mentioned by Archer. He wanted to see for himself if any monsters inhabited there.

Just when he was about to go ashore, he felt his body lighten and then raised up mid-air. Shortly after, his body fell onto the island!

At that moment, the panic-stricken Jared thought that someone was controlling his body because he did not utilize any spiritual energy to move about. In fact, he was not able to control his movements at all. Next, he was miraculously lifted from the sea!

Thud!

Without any warning, Jared crashed heavily onto the ground, causing a crater to form.

As he gradually propped himself up, he realized that Flaxseed and the others were there on the same island too.

“Mr. Flaxseed, why are you here?” Jared asked in confusion.

However, Flaxseed said nothing. He just kept winking at Jared to give him a signal.

The latter looked in the direction that Flaxseed had indicated, only to notice an elderly man with a full head of white hair sitting on a big rock, fishing.

“I just wanted to catch some fish, but I caught a person instead,” remarked the old man in a slow manner with his back facing Jared and his gang.

It was then that Jared realized he was actually caught by the old man. There’s no wonder my body was beyond my control.

“Sir, may I know where this place is? We’re just passing by, and we didn’t mean to intrude your peace.” Jared took a few steps forward and explained himself to the elderly man.

Jared could not feel the slightest aura fluctuation originating from the old man. If he’s just an ordinary folk, how could he fish me out of the sea?

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2249

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2249-Hence, Jared was certain that the old man must be an expert, not to mention the kind whose aura even he couldn’t detect.

“You’re just passing by, yet you killed two of my demon beasts. You should know that I raised these beasts as food. Since you killed my demon beasts, I’ll have to eat you instead. You can start a fire and decide who among you should be roasted first,” the old man uttered without looking back.

Listening to that old man saying he wanted to eat them, Jared furrowed his brows. Meanwhile, colors drained from Archer’s face. He knew they must’ve encountered the legendary old freak.

“Sir, I didn’t mean to kill your demon beasts. I can compensate you. I’ll give you however much money or items you want. The few of us are friends, and we won’t leave anyone behind.” Jared wasn’t going to allow anyone from his party to be sacrificed and eaten by the old man.

“Since you’re so loyal to one another, no one should leave, then. Five people should be enough to feed me for a few days,” the old man replied slowly.

Sensing the old man’s stubbornness, Jared frowned, and murderous intent flashed across his eyes.

“Sir, I can reimburse you for killing your demon beasts. However, if you insist on keeping us, don’t blame me for being ruthless!” Jared’s tone grew cold.

“Hahaha! Although I’m of advanced age, I do enjoy a life full of challenges. You all don’t need to go easy on me!”

The old man still sat with his back facing Jared and the others as he laughed heartily.

“In that case, don’t blame me for what happens next!”

Jared unleashed his aura to its limit because he knew he had to defeat that kind of person with one strike. Otherwise, he would lose the opportunity to win.

“Sacred Light Fist!”

Jared swung his fist with all his might at the old man’s back.

Terrifying spiritual energy spread outward. Ear-splitting noise reverberated as the punch tore through the sky, causing even the formation of huge tidal waves on the sea surface.

However, the old man didn’t budge an inch even as Jared brought his fist down at him. The trees in the surroundings were broken in half, and Jared felt a tremendous countershock which sent him staggering backward and almost fell to the ground.

At that moment, he gazed at the old man in utter astonishment and disbelief. He knew his own strength better than anyone, but he didn’t expect his punch to be entirely ineffective to that old man. Not to mention, he was even sent stumbling backward by the recoil.

At that moment, even Flaxseed and the others gaped in stupefaction and were rendered speechless. If even Jared can’t harm that old man, we most likely can’t survive today.

“You’re the first person who dared to attack me in so many years. Since you killed my demon beasts, I shall let my beasts devour you as compensation!” said the old man as he flicked his fishing rod lightly.

A few demon beasts emerged from the sea and landed on the island as if they were being pulled out from the depths of the ocean by the old man’s fishing rod.

There were a total of five demon beasts, including sea turtles, octopuses, and one strange-looking fish with four legs.

All those demon beasts possessed the strength of a Martial Arts God, each one incredibly ugly and revolting to look at.

The old man recast his fishing rod into the sea and sat quietly, never bothering to turn his head around the whole time.

Roar!

The four-legged peculiar fish bellowed and charged at Jared and his gang.

The other demon beasts attacked as well, leaving Jared and the others with no choice but to fight.

As Flaxseed and Godrick were weaker, they had to face one demon beast together.

Meanwhile, Jared dealt with two demon beasts on his own.

He brandished Dragonslayer Sword. The sword's radiance lit up the sky, spreading formidable martial energy in all directions.

Soon, Jared and the others were engaged in a fierce battle with the demon beasts, while the old man remained rooted to his spot not far away, seemingly not hearing or seeing the fight as he stared serenely at the sea surface.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2250

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2250- Air Of Arrogance

Jared let out a bellow. Instantly, Dragonslayer Sword in his hand erupted with dazzling light, and the Power of Dragons circulated continuously on the blade.

“Slash!”

He swung the sword forcefully at one of the turtles' backs. The hard turtle shell emitted a flash of light. Then, Jared noticed Dragonslayer Sword merely left a faint white mark on the surface of the shell.

Roar!

When Jared slashed Dragonslayer Sword at the turtle's back, another demon beast lunged at Jared, attempting to bite him with its spine-chilling fangs.

Jared's body shone with golden light as he activated Golem Body. Instantaneously, sparkling golden scales covered his entire figure.

At that moment, Jared resembled a golden dragon. When the demon beast look in his outward form, it was dazed and didn't dare to approach him.

Seizing that period when the demon beast was stunned, he merged with Dragonslayer Sword and slashed at it.

Limitless Power of Dragons engulfed Jared, turning him into a razor-sharp blade as he slammed into that demon beast.

The incredibly sharp martial energy' instantly pierced that demon beast, leaving a hole the size of a human on its body.

Consequently, the demon beast dropped to the ground with a loud thud before it could even shriek.

With that, Jared killed a Martial Arts God-level demon beast with one hit.

The sea turtle lugged its heavy body along and opened its mouth, spewing blazing fire at Jared.

He leaped up, avoided the flame attack, and landed on the turtle's back. Then, he clenched his right fist, and a golden dragon entwined his arm.

“Sacred Light Fist!”

Jared punched that turtle's back ferociously.

The sea turtle yelped in agony after getting hit by Jared's fist. It thrashed in desperation, wanting to throw Jared off its back.

However, Jared stood steadily on its back as if he had anchored himself on the turtle's shell. Immediately afterward, he brought down his fist again.

After thrusting three consecutive punches, the hard turtle shell finally cracked open. The turtle let out a mournful cry and died as its internal organs ruptured.

Jared hastily rushed toward rhe next demon beast without even sparing time to retrieve the beast cores.

Eyes bloodshot, Jared fought like a bloodthirsty devil. In the end, all five demon beasts were slain by Jared.

He stared at the old man's back impassively while uttering to Flaxseed and the others, "Mr. Flaxseed, go and retrieve the beast cores. These are gifts given to us, so don't let them go to waste."

Flaxseed and the rest of the party began to extract beast cores from the dead demon beasts.

Finally, the old man put down the fishing rod in his hand, slowly got to his feet, and turned around to gaze at Jared.

Only then could Jared clearly see his appearance.

Although the old man had white hair, his face had no wrinkles. His skin was in optimal condition, and he looked no different from a middle-aged man in his forties.

"You're equipped with such remarkable skills at such a young age. No wonder you exude that air of arrogance. Unfortunately for you, I'm the only ruler across this stretch of sea. Anyone who sets foot here must yield."

With that, the old man gently waved his palm.

Abruptly, a massive force buffeted Jared and the others as if a hurricane had broken out.

Jared took a deep breath, exerting his aura to its limit, wanting to resist the incoming attack.

Regrettably, in the face of such overwhelming power, Jared was instantaneously sent flying backward like a piece of leaf.

Flaxseed and the others, as well as the carcasses of the demon beasts, were also blown away by the force.

Jared's body crashed heavily into a massive rock. The boulder disintegrated, and Jared's Golem Body also shattered.

He got up slowly, feeling a sharp pain in his chest. His internal organs churned, and he spat out a mouthful of black blood.

Jared looked at the old man, who was standing far away, in surprise. Before he could do anything else, the old man, who was initially a hundred meters away, suddenly appeared before him.

