A Man Like None Other Chapter 2481-Feeling invigorated, Jared opened the door to leave the room, only to jump in fright when he came face-to-face with Flaxseed. "What are you doing here? Were you eavesdropping the entire night?" he asked, a puzzled look on his face.

"Do you think I'm that free? Besides, it'd only make my blood boil if I listened to you go the whole night without stopping. You sure as hell have got the strength and stamina, huh?" Flaxseed replied as he shot an envious glance at Jared. "Godrick's looking for you, so he sent me to get you. He didn't want to disturb your passionate romp."

With that, Jared promptly followed Flaxseed to the front hall while Beatrice led a few housekeepers into the room. Alas, when she saw the ladies sprawled limply across the bed, she couldn't help but gasp in surprise. Oh, my goodness. I never thought Jared would have that much prowess!

The next second, she hastily ordered the housekeepers to look after Cecilia and the others. After all, who knew which one of the women had already conceived Jared's child?

Meanwhile, Jared had just stepped into the front hall with Flaxseed when he suddenly froze. Huh? Is that Quindon? Why does it look like he's waiting for me? Upon seeing Jared, Godrick hurriedly walked toward him. "Jared, this Quindon guy is looking for you again..."

Quindon, too, stood up and greeted Jared with a slight nod. "It's been a while, Jared. How's everything?" "Ha! If it isn't Mr. Yuchamore from Gate of Heaven's secret realm," Jared scoffed. "Why has a purple-robed emissary from Evil Heart Sect come to visit me in the mundane world? Hmm... From the looks of it, you must be struggling to resist the laws of nature, huh?"

Judging by his ashen face and disordered aura, I have no doubt he's overwhelmed by the crushing force of the laws of nature! Quindon let out a bitter chuckle before glancing at Godrick and Flaxseed. "Jared, can we talk in private?"

After meeting Quindon's gaze, Jared turned to the other two men. "You guys can leave the room first..."

“Jared, he’s from the secret realm and a member of Evil Heart Sect. It’s dangerous for you to be alone with him,” Flaxseed reminded. Jared, however, laughed coldly in response. “He’s in the mundane world and restrained by the laws of nature. There’s no way he can hurt me...”

With my current power, I can easily defeat Quindon in the secret realm, so what’s there to fear when he’s in the mundane world and being suppressed by the laws of nature? He’s of no threat to me! Seeing how confident Jared was, Quindon sighed in resignation. “He’s right. Even if I want to attack him here, my hands are tied...”

Once Flaxseed and Godrick had taken their leave, Jared closed all the doors and windows with just a casual flick of his hand. “Are you here today because your secret realms have become empty?” he asked.

Quindon widened his eyes in surprise. “Oh, you know about it? Indeed, our members have all gone to Evil Heart Sect’s secret realm, and that’s the reason I’m here today. I want to join forces with you and take Evil Heart Sect down...”

“Join forces?” Jared exclaimed as he stared at Quindon in disbelief. Wow! Never in my wildest dreams did I imagine that Quindon would one day want to work with me. For goodness’ sake, he’s one of Evil Heart Sect’s core members and purple-robed emissaries!

“That’s right. Including myself, there are only six remaining purple-robed emissaries. We’d all like to work with you.” By then, Jared’s interest had been piqued. “Why me, though? Could you tell me more?”

Come to think of it... If I were to join forces with Quindon and the others, dealing with Evil Heart Sect would undoubtedly be much easier. After all, my power may have increased significantly, but that still won’t be enough to destroy an entire sect! Tackling all six purple-robed emissaries simultaneously is already no easy feat, so I can only imagine how much worse it’d be if Tanner joined the fray! Yes... It’d be brilliant if I could team up with the emissaries to take on Tanner.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2482-Quindon held nothing back as he explained the entire situation to Jared, including the part where Skylar was sacrificing their disciples in the secret realm to increase his own cultivation.

Even though Jared had braced himself for the worst, he still reeled in shock when he heard about Skylar treating secret realm disciples as resources and absorbing dozens of them daily.

“Well, as Evil Heart Sect’s purple-robed emissaries, it’s only natural that you carry out your responsibilities and serve the sect. Isn’t that something you should’ve prepared yourself for?” Jared commented.

“What we have with Evil Heart Sect is purely a working relationship. Lord Tanner promised to give us the mundane world once the spiritual energy was restored, Quindon explained. “We’ve been trapped in the secret realm for many years, and the speed of our cultivation is declining steadily. If we continued to stay in there, I doubt we’d ever make it into the Ethereal Realm. As you know, it’s every cultivator’s wish to become immortal. That’s why we agreed to join Evil Heart Sect!

However, it’s becoming clear that Evil Heart Sect is merely using us as cannon fodder. Even when Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation gets activated and restores the spiritual energy in the mundane world, I’m afraid there won’t be a place for us in any realm anymore. That’s why we’re looking to join forces with you. We hope to rescue our families, thwart the restoration of spiritual energy, and destroy Evil Heart Sect once and for all. We’d rather be stuck in the secret realm for the rest of our lives than continue losing our loved ones and disciples...”

After hearing that, Jared sighed softly. “The Ethereal Realm isn’t as perfect as you think. That place is far more cruel than the mundane world.”

“Oh? Have you been to the Ethereal Realm?” Quindon asked as he looked at the man in astonishment. Jared nodded. “I’ve just returned from there...”

For a while, Quindon was silent. Oh, gosh. We’ve worked hard all our lives to get to Ethereal Realm, yet we’ve never succeeded. On the other hand, Jared is young and doesn’t have the highest cultivation level, but he can already travel to and fro the Ethereal Realm! Comparison truly is the thief of joy...

“Jared, I’ve endured the overwhelming pressure of the laws of nature to meet with you today, so you know I’m not lying to you. As long as you rescue our families, you’ll have our wholehearted support in destroying Evil Heart Sect!” Quindon promised. After much contemplation, Jared asked, “I think I can trust you, but how do I rescue your families?”

“Our family members are locked in Evil Heart Sect’s dungeon. Since we’re under constant surveillance, we can’t go anywhere near it. I can take you into Evil Heart Sect’s secret realm, and you’ll have to find the opportunity to get to our families. Don’t worry. We’ll be on standby to assist you. As long as our families are free from the dangers, we won’t have anything else to fear.

After this incident, we’ve all thought things through. We realize we can’t abandon our loved ones, nor can we give up on our worldly emotions and desires. It doesn’t matter if we can’t become immortals. We refuse to put our families and disciples in danger!” Quindon replied, finally understanding that family was more important than achieving immortality. Jared gave a firm nod. “All right! I can help you guys!”

Naturally, Quindon was over the moon. “Oh, that’s fantastic! Please take a rest for now. Once I’ve discussed this with the others, I’ll return to take you to Evil Heart Sect’s secret realm.”

With that, he quickly left. After all, he was worried that Tanner might notice his absence if he was gone too long. If that were to happen, everything he had painstakingly planned would be in vain!

Jared, on the other hand, fell into deep contemplation. Hmm. In all honesty, I don’t know the truth of this matter. That said, I guess I’m willing to take a gamble...

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2483-Meanwhile, the six purple-robed emissaries had secretly gathered in Evil Heart Sect’s secret realm. “Everyone, I’ve already met with Jared Chance, and he has agreed to rescue our families. What we need to do now is come up with a foolproof plan,” Quindon announced.

“Mr. Yuchamore, Evil Heart Sect’s dungeon is heavily guarded from top to bottom. I’ve made some inquiries and learned that our families are locked on the most secure underground third floor. It looks like Lord Tanner is also worried about us rescuing them, so he had taken these precautions against us from the beginning,” Angus said with a heavy sigh. “Even if Jared has agreed to lend us a helping hand, saving our families will still be a long shot...”

Upon hearing that, the other purple-robed emissaries lowered their heads in dismay. “No matter how difficult it is, we have to try. We can’t continue to let our families suffer, nor can we let our disciples be treated as disposable resources. We have to fight back!” Quindon said, with a look of fierce determination.

Windmist’s eyes instantly lit up. “That’s right! We have to fight back! Otherwise, Lord Tanner, will come after us once the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated and the spiritual energy in the mundane world is restored. Who knows? He might even use us as cultivation resources!”

“I didn’t say to give up on the rescue mission...” Angus retorted. “However, given the tight security of the dungeon, we have to proceed cautiously. One wrong move is all it takes to jeopardize the entire mission, and when that happens, the dungeon will become our graveyard.”

“Well, I do have a plan...” Windmist piped up. “What is it?” the other purple-robed emissaries asked in unison.

“If we want to save our families, we’ll have to do so when Evil Heart Sect’s security is the most relaxed. That would be when the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated,” Windmist reasoned. “Lord Tanner will definitely lead his subordinates to Divine Quest Sect to get the preparations underway, so that’s the moment Evil Heart Sect will have the least security. We can use that chance to rescue our families.”

For a moment, nobody said a word until Sigwin broke the silence. “Mr. Windmist, your plan sounds good, and I agree that’s the day when Evil Heart Sect will be least secure. However, if we were to wait until then, Skylar would have absorbed almost all of our disciples. Besides, as Evil Heart Sect’s purple-robed emissaries, wouldn’t Lord Tanner want us by his side?

How would we find the time for the rescue mission? Let’s also not forget that Jared plays a critical role in activating the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation. Lord Tanner would get him to Divine Quest Sect by any means, so who else is there to save our families?”

The other emissaries quickly agreed with Sigwin. While they couldn’t deny that Windmist had a viable plan, no one would have the time to carry it out on the day itself!

“I’ve done the calculations. On the day of the activation, Lord Tanner will threaten Jared to get him to Divine Quest Sect, and that time difference will provide us with a window of opportunity. Jared can use that interval to slip into Evil Heart Sect for the rescue mission. Since we'll be in Divine Quest Sect, we can buy Jared some time and keep an eye on Lord Tanner.

Once our families are safe and sound, we'll unleash our attack. As for the disciples, we'll have to sacrifice them... This is the best plan I can think of, and as heartbreaking as it sounds, we have to choose between our families and disciples. We can't save them all," Windmist said rather grimly.

I don't wish for this, either! I don't want to sacrifice our disciples, but what other choice do we have? The rest of the group instantly fell silent again. as they pondered Windmist's words.

"Let's do as Mr. Windmist suggested. The harsh reality of life is that we can't have it all. It'd be good enough to get our families out of that. hellhole. In any case, I shall return to Jared and discuss the plan with him. You guys have to continue acting normal. We can't let anyone catch on to what we're planning," Quindon instructed before waving everyone off.

If they stayed together for a minute longer, it'd only give Tanner a reason to suspect them.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2484-The following day, Quindon located Jared and explained the plan to him in detail. Jared was well aware that on the day of the activation of the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation, Tanner would undoubtedly use the lives of Josephine and the others as a means of coercion. This was because everyone had to be there to activate the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation.

Understanding Jared's concerns, Quindon reassured him, saying, "Don't worry. If you're not present, Tanner won't dare to harm your girlfriend. She and the others are an integral part of the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation. Moreover, we'll be there at the scene, doing everything in our power to persuade Tanner and buy you some time.

Once you've rescued our family members, we'll unite and dismantle the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation, putting an end to Evil Heart Sect once and for all. If you refuse to cooperate, considering your current strength, you won't stand a chance against Evil Heart Sect.

Once the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated, the spiritual energy in the mundane world will awaken, and our fate will be sealed. Do you think Tanner will spare you and your family? Deragon Sect, built with your blood, sweat, and tears, will be embroiled in a bloodbath and annihilated!”

Jared knew that Quindon did not make up the consequences to instill fear in him. The restoration of spiritual energy would bring about devastation not only to Deragon Sect but also to the entire martial arts world in the mundane world.

The martial artists would not stand a chance against the cultivators and would be reduced to mere slaves. The mundane world would descend into perpetual chaos, a situation Jared desperately wished to avoid.

“All right. On the day the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated, I’ll help you rescue your families, but you must find a way to get me inside Evil Heart Sect before that day arrives,” Jared uttered.

“That’s for sure. Just wait patiently for that day!” Quindon said before leaving. He could feel the intense pressure of the laws of nature weighing down on him, making every additional minute he remained there unbearable.

As time passed, the day of the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation’s activation drew nearer. During this period, Jared immersed himself in nights of revelry, making it challenging for Cecilia and the others to keep up with him.

Fortunately, the sword spirit, Zelda, was there to assist. Whenever Cecilia and the others grew tired and needed rest, Zelda would appear and wholeheartedly attend to Jared’s needs.

As a sword spirit, Zelda possessed superior abilities surpassing those of humans. Dealing with Jared alone was an effortless task for Zelda, leaving Cecilia and the other women in awe and envious of her extraordinary powers.

During these days, Jared found himself immersed in a perpetual state of bliss, indulging in the pleasures of life without a care in the world.

Jared was uncertain whether he would be able to dismantle the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation and eliminate Evil Heart Sect when the time came for its activation. There was a possibility that Jared might fall victim to Tanner, a powerful figure from Evil Heart Sect known for his formidable abilities and strength.

Despite the uncertainties, Jared chose to seize the moment and enjoy his life to the fullest. He reveled in the joyous days, and nobody was happier than Beatrice, who eagerly anticipated. having a grandchild.

On the other hand, Flaxseed felt increasingly. frustrated during these few days. Watching Jared indulge in revelry night after night with a multitude of beautiful women filled him with overwhelming envy.

Flaxseed, despite having Jessica by his side and engaging in intimate encounters with her night after night, remained unsatisfied with having just one woman in his company.

However, Jessica maintained strict control over him, leaving him with no choice but to listen to the sounds of revelry emanating from Jared's room and experience a sense of envy.

"Today is the day when the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation will be activated," Jared muttered, gazing up at the bright blue sky. Shortly after, Quindon arrived. The two men exchanged knowing glances before they set off together.
