A Man Like None Other Chapter 2531-“Dr. Weiss, is it really as simple as accompanying you to pick a single herb?” Ali asked incredulously.

Why would he ask such a trivial request of us?

“Of course. Do you think I’ll deceive you?” Brutus’ face darkened.

“No, not at all. I just think this task seems too simple. We agree to your condition. Tomorrow, we will accompany you to get the herb,” Ali said without hesitation.

“Very well. You guys may stay in Quakersville tonight. We shall depart at dawn,” Brutus said.

Ali nodded, then left Vibrant Health Clinic with the others. As soon as they were out the door, Emily leaped with joy. “Grandma can finally see again!”

“Who would have thought that Dr. Weiss would propose such a simple condition?” Percy simply found it hard to believe.

“Perhaps he was moved by Emily’s filial devotion. Now, she can finally rest easy. She doesn’t have to worry about her grandma’s eyes anymore.” Ali chuckled.

Jared, however, was not as optimistic as the rest of them. He did not believe that Brutus was offering help out of kindness. This trip to gather the medicinal herb would surely be fraught with peril.

Yet, he did not voice his concern, not wanting to dampen the spirits of Emily and the others. With his current strength, he reckoned that none in the nearby villages could match him.

After finding a small inn, they began to rest, silently awaiting the next day.

Meanwhile, deep within the mountains, in the territory of the Demon Wolf pack, the leading wolf lay at the feet of a man covered in fur. The man resembled a wild creature.

The Demon Wolf emitted low, throaty sounds. The man would furrow his brows and relax them as he listened. It was evident that he could understand the Demon Wolf.

The man was half a man having transformed from a Demon Wolf. His cultivation level had led to his partial transformation.

“A human with the aura of a celestial beast? Could he be one of our kind?”
The man was lost in thought.

The next day, Jared and the others arrived early at Vibrant Health Clinic, only to discover that Brutus had arranged for others to accompany them in gathering the herb.

Outside Vibrant Health Clinic, over a dozen people had gathered, and Jared’s group took their place among the crowd.

Soon, Brutus showed up, accompanied by his senior, Francois Wurstel.

“Francois, how do you find the people I’ve gathered here today?” Brutus asked carefully.

Francois merely cast a cold glance at the crowd. Suddenly, his gaze landed on Jared, and their eyes met.

Francois looked away, but Jared kept watching him. Although his strength hadn’t fully recovered and he couldn’t discern how strong Francois actually was, he knew the latter was a force to be reckoned with.

Francois’ unexpected appearance in this remote town made Jared feel threatened.

“Let’s go,” Francois said to Brutus after sweeping his gaze over the crowd.

Brutus nodded and said aloud, “As long as the lot of you obey my command and get the herb, I will fulfill all promises made. Off we go.”

With Brutus’ command, they headed toward the mountain.

“What’s happening? Why do we need so many people to pick an herb?” Emily asked uneasily, finally sensing that something was amiss.

“It seems that this trip is not as simple as we thought. We must all be careful,” Ali said.

The complexity of the situation had also dawned upon him.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2532-“Ali, there’s nothing to fear with Jared around!”

Percy wasn’t afraid at all, for he was now blindly worshipping Jared.

“It still pays to be cautious. The journey ahead of us remains a perilous one,” Jared reminded.

For some strange reason, Jared’s first impression of Francois was that he was extremely ruthless.

It wasn’t until they had traveled for a few hours that the group entered the mountain range where the sunlight was blocked out by the dense forest.

Even though they were now inside the mountains, everyone remained unfazed. As they were only moving along its borders, any demon beast that appeared wouldn’t be particularly strong. The danger didn’t concern them at all.

Along the way, Brutus constantly tried to talk to Francois, but the latter didn’t seem interested in having a conversation.

“Who in the world is that guy? Dr. Weiss seems to be afraid of him. He’s not showing the doctor any respect despite the latter being someone renowned in Quakersville,” Percy said when he saw how obsequiously Brutus was behaving toward Francois.

“I’ve never seen him in Quakersville either. He looks unfamiliar to me,” Ali said as he stared at Francois.

While Ali spoke, a middle-aged man with a beard approached them and said, “He’s Dr. Weiss’ senior. That’s why he’s so afraid of him.”

Ali responded by giving the man a suspicious glance. One could never be too careful when dealing with strangers in Ethereal Realm.

Noticing the wary look in Ali's eyes, the middle-aged man introduced himself, "I'm Hefe Granger from Bliss Village."

"You're from Bliss Village?" Percy came forward. "How did you get here? Wasn't everyone in Bliss Village massacred by those from Cyan Village a long time ago?"

Upon hearing Percy's question, Hefe said in a sorrowful tone, "They were, but I managed to escape. That's why I came back seeking vengeance."

Seeing that Hefe didn't seem to be lying, Ali felt a sense of sympathy welling up in him. "How are you going to take revenge alone? You probably can't even break into Cyan Village."

"I'll definitely have my revenge even if it costs me my life. Dr. Weiss promised to make me a power burst pill if I were to help him secure his herb."

The mere mention of the power burst pill piqued everyone's interest, including Jared's.

The power burst pill was capable of dramatically enhancing one's power but could only do so for ten minutes. Thereafter, its user would explode like a bomb and be blown up into smithereens.

Hefe was prepared to sacrifice his own life for revenge.

"Did you just say that man is Dr. Weiss' senior? Tell me more," Jared asked Hefe.

"That's right. I've never heard of Dr. Weiss having any seniors, let alone him belonging to a sect."

Ali had interacted with Brutus a few times, and he had come to Quakersville on more than one occasion. Yet he had never heard anyone mention such a thing.

After scanning his surroundings, Hefe said softly, "His name is Francois Wurstel, a member of Emerald Cauldron Sect. Dr. Weiss, too, is a member of the same sect. Francois was the one who ordered Dr. Weiss to search for the mystical herb."

Jared stared at Hefe with a grim look on his face. “How do you know so much? Why are you telling us this?”

Such matters were secret and shouldn't be easily shared. Moreover, it was hard to predict one's intentions in Ethereal Realm. Given everyone's competing interests, no one would do something for free.

Everyone's gaze was fixed on Hefe, and they all had him surrounded.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2533-They couldn't help but be wary when Hefe tried to get close to them by revealing such information.

Sensing the growing hostility among Jared and his companions, Hefe frantically explained, “I couldn't afford to buy medicine. I overheard everything when I was trying to steal them from Vibrant Health Clinic. I'm sharing this because I'm looking to form an alliance with you guys. The mystical herb grows deep in the mountains and is likely protected by spirit beasts. Without a doubt, obtaining it is going to be extremely risky. I'm alone in the group. I don't have anyone to help me if I'm in danger.”

Although Hefe's explanation made sense, Jared remained unconvinced and probed further, “Why did you choose to ally with us? We're not the strongest ones here.”

Within the traveling party, Jared and his companions were the least conspicuous. Two men and a woman alongside a child didn't exactly inspire confidence. If one were looking to form an alliance, one would naturally do so with the strongest in the party.

Hefe let out a wry chuckle. “That's because you're the safest choice. I know that you come from Rock Village and hold a grudge against Cyan Village. I don't deny wanting to form an alliance with the strongest group, but would they even accept me? In fact, they might even sell me out to Cyan Village. Unlike them, you won't betray me even if you don't take me in.”

His words caused the hostile aura Jared exuded to gradually dissipate. The latter no longer harbored any doubt that Hefe was telling the truth.

It was obvious that the circumstances had left Hefe no choice. The information he shared about Brutus was evidently not a lie.

Jared's concerns about Hefe might have eased, but his worries for what lay ahead of them began to swell.

He had no idea what sort of mystical herb Francois and the others were looking for. Nevertheless, it was a certainty that a spirit beast was guarding something as precious as that.

Even if there were none, the powerful demon beasts that roamed the mountains were enough to turn their journey into a one-way trip.

"I knew it. There's more to the matter than meets the eye. I didn't expect Dr. Weiss to be searching for a mystical herb. We're in for a whole lot of trouble," Ali said, his brows tightly furrowed.

"Ali, why don't we slip away instead of following them?"

Talk of hunting for the mystical herb deep in the mountains filled Percy with fear. The mountain range was a forbidden area for his people after all.

"There's no escaping. We're no match for Dr. Weiss. If we were to attempt it, we would be killed before getting far."

Hefe got Percy to drop the idea immediately.

Percy's face turned pale. "What should we do? Once we go deeper into the forest, we'll end up being eaten by the demon beasts!"

Silence was the only response Ali could offer.

Emily was overwhelmed with guilt. "Ali, Jared, I'm really sorry. Your lives wouldn't be at risk if not for me."

"Emily, this isn't your fault. We may be searching for the mystical herb, but it's not necessarily dangerous at all. You should be more optimistic. I'm sure we'll all be fine," Jared comforted her with a smile.

Contrary to his relaxed demeanor, Jared wasn't as upbeat inside. Deep down, he knew that Francois was really powerful and Brutus was stronger than all of them. He couldn't figure out why those two wanted weaker warriors like them to tag along.

The villagers who live nearby are clearly no match against high-level demon beasts due to their low cultivation levels. Yet Francois still took them with him. It is clear that his real goal goes beyond just needing them as security escorts.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2534-In order not to alarm the others, Jared kept his thoughts to himself.

“Can I join you? If I can’t, I hope that you will keep my identity a secret still.”

Hefe gave Jared a look of anticipation because it was obvious to him that Jared was the leader among the four.

“All right, I’ll let you join us. In the event of danger, I hope that we’ll be able to help each other out,” Jared said to Hefe.

Jared’s agreement made Hefe smile. His eyes began to fill with determination and trust for the group.

Everyone else seemed oblivious to the newly formed alliance as they continued deeper into the mountains.

As the aura exuded by demon beasts grew in intensity, everyone drew their weapons and gave their surroundings a vigilant look.

Some of those who were lacking in courage already had cold sweat breaking out on their foreheads.

Nonetheless, Francois and Brutus remained unfazed despite venturing deeper into the mountains.

From their relaxed expressions, Jared could tell how formidable both of them were.

“Awoo!”

All of a sudden, the cry of a demon beast caused everyone to stop in their tracks. A Demon Wolf with a body that looked like a yak threw itself at them.

It was obvious from its appearance that the Demon Wolf was menacingly strong. Otherwise, it wouldn’t have dared to attack the group all by itself.

Seeing that, Ali and the rest brandished their weapons anxiously.

However, just as the Demon Wolf reached them, Francois fired a flash of white light with a wave of his right hand.

The Demon Wolf howled in agony before rolling on the ground and breathing its last.

The sight of Francois killing a Demon Wolf with a single wave of his hand shocked everyone.

When Jared looked in the direction of the Demon Wolf's corpse, he noticed a shining dart stuck on the Demon Wolf's head.

The ability to kill such a massive Demon Wolf with a single dart told Jared that Francois was at least as powerful as a Spirit Divider.

"All right, there's nothing more to see. Let's continue walking," Brutus shouted.

The group followed behind Francois and Brutus, but many of them couldn't help turning around to look at the Demon Wolf's corpse which was worth a lot of money. Unfortunately, none of them had the means of bringing it along with them.

"Jared, such a huge Demon Wolf corpse can be sold for a high price. Why don't you put it in your Storage Ring?" Percy suggested.

He felt that leaving the corpse behind was a huge waste.

Shaking his head, Jared whispered, "Percy, keep the Storage Ring a secret. Otherwise, we might attract unwanted attention. Just think about it. If the others were to learn about my Storage Ring, wouldn't they covet it for its value?"

Due to his young age, Percy was still naive to the ways of the world.

"Percy, Jared is right. One shouldn't reveal one's strength or trump card easily. If the others learned of Jared's Storage Ring, they might very well attack our group. On top of that, Brutus and Francois might want it too and attack us for it. Do you think the few of us stand a chance against them?"

Ali used the opportunity to teach Percy some life lessons.

Upon listening to Ali's words, Percy nodded. "I understand."

Right after the group was gone, a man that was covered in fur sauntered up to the corpse of the Demon Wolf that had just been killed.

He kneeled down beside it and pulled the dart out of its head.

"Awoo!"

Hundreds of Demon Wolves gathered around him from every direction.

He then led the huge pack in pursuit of Jared and his companions.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2535-"We're now in the Demon Wolf pack's territory. Be careful, everyone," Francois reminded loudly.

The entire party dared not breathe too loudly as they followed behind Brutus and Francois. Even the two appeared nervous at that moment.

As the sky gradually darkened, Brutus ordered the men to set up camp. He chose a few men to take turns keeping watch, and Jared was among one of them.

Once Francois had determined the compound for their camp, he took out a bag made of fabric and littered the ground with the white powder it contained.

"Jared, I'll keep watch on your behalf at night. You should get more rest," Percy offered.

He was certain Jared was exhausted after a long day's journey.

Jared responded with a slight smile and tousled Percy's hair. "It's fine. You should go ahead and rest."

Ali and Emily volunteered to help as well but their offers were also declined by Jared.

Jared wanted to use the opportunity to study the surrounding area.

Even though he hadn't recovered his powers and his spiritual sense wasn't as strong as before, it was enough for him to sense the aura of demon beasts following them.

As the Power of Dragons and Phoenixes within Jared's body came from celestial beasts, it was particularly sensitive to the aura of other beasts.

Deep in the night, everyone was sleeping soundly, exhausted from the long journey during the day. Jared stood quietly by the side and peered into the darkness.

A Demon Wolf gradually approached. Despite sensing its presence, Jared didn't make a sound nor attempt to stop it.

When the Demon Wolf finally reached the campsite, it stopped in its tracks abruptly. As if it had discovered something frightening, it turned around and fled in a panic.

Staring at the white powder on the ground, Jared was certain that the substance was responsible for repelling the Demon Wolf. It was now clear to him that Francois was also highly skilled in alchemy.

A short while after the Demon Wolf's departure, a figure emerged behind a huge tree, a sight that caused Jared to furrow his brows.

Without a moment's hesitation, Jared ran after it, causing the figure to flee.

However, the figure finally came to a halt after a short pursuit. From some distance away, Jared asked him, "Who are you? Why do you exude the aura of a demon beast?"

When the figure slowly turned around to reveal his fur-covered body, Jared instantly knew that it was a demon beast who had transformed into a man.

The ability to do so indicated that he was a formidable opponent, one that was beyond Jared's capabilities to handle. Yet Jared remained unfazed.

The Power of Dragons and Phoenixes was his trump card against demon beasts. Even if he couldn't defeat his opponent, it would be difficult for the enemy to deal him any harm.

“And who are you? Why do you possess the aura of a celestial beast and a man at the same time?”

When the figure threw the question back at him, Jared didn't answer.

He wasn't going to reveal his identity until he could discern the intentions of the mysterious figure.

Both parties simply stared each other down without saying another word, their eyes brimming with distrust.

All of a sudden, a loud sound rang out as the figure disappeared into the darkness of the night.

However, right before he left, the figure spoke to Jared through a mysterious echo. “I'm Leifr, and I'll be seeing you again.”

Just as Jared was about to probe further, Brutus' voice rang out from behind him. “What are you doing here? Aren't you supposed to be guarding the camp? Are you planning to escape?”

Throwing Brutus a glance, Jared flatly replied, “I just came out to relieve myself.”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2536-Jared walked toward the camp after saying that. Brutus chided, “Listen to me, this is the Demon Wolf pack's territory. Don't you dare think of escaping. Once you're out of the camp, the Demon Wolves will surely come after you and eat you alive. You were lucky not to have encountered them this time.”

Jared ignored Brutus. When he was back at the camp, he kept thinking about Leifr. He wondered why Leifr was looking for him.

Is it because of the celestial beast aura I have?

Brutus looked at Jared, who was ignoring him. A murderous look appeared in his eyes. Villagers like Jared could never be rude to people like Brutus.

The night went by. Francois glanced at the white powder he had scattered before turning to the others. “Who was on shift last night?”

Those who had been chosen for the night shift came forward, and one of them was Jared.

“Did a demon beast come last night?” Francois asked.

The others shook their heads, but Jared nodded his. “Indeed. A demon beast came to the camp last night.”

“What kind of demon beast was it?”

There was a visibly nervous look on Francois’ face.

“A Demon Wolf. It approached the camp but was startled and fled,” Jared replied truthfully.

Upon hearing that it was a Demon Wolf, Francois became less tense. He was clearly relieved by the answer. However, his reaction confused Jared. Aren’t we in the Demon Wolf pack’s territory? Are there other demon beasts around?

“All right, pack up your things. We’re leaving.”

Francois headed straight ahead.

“Let’s go!”

Brutus waved his hands, gesturing for the others to move. He led the people further into the area.

Once in a while, there would be howls of Demon Wolves, and that made everyone’s hearts leap into their throats.

Yet, not long after they started their journey, Francois abruptly furrowed his brows and signaled for the rest to stop.

As an aura came from a short distance away, multiple silhouettes appeared.

The people shared looks of surprise with each other. They had never thought that they would encounter other humans in the area. The villagers who went hunting usually would not venture to this place, after all.

Francois’ and Brutus’ expressions turned grim when they realized who the newcomers were.

A man with a short beard said to Francois with a small smile, “Francois, you’re late.”

“I think you just got here too, Chev. You weren’t that much faster than me,” Francois said, his face gloomy.

Chev Nesser merely laughed before raking his gaze across the people behind Francois. In a sarcastic tone, he said, “You’ll never get the Grus Divina with these people you’ve brought with you.”

“You don’t need to worry about whether or not I get the herb. I’m sure you’re here for the Grus Divina too. Well then, let’s see who gets that mystical herb!” Francois declared, narrowing his eyes that were filled with hostility.

“You want to compete against me?” Chev laughed. “Listen, both you and I will never get the Grus Divina because I’ve found out that the spirit beast protecting that mystical herb is a bloodthirsty beast. We’ll never be able to defeat it.”

Chev’s words shocked the people in Francois’ group. They knew their goal was to gather herbs, but they knew nothing about what herbs they were gathering and what dangers they would be in.

Now that they had found out that they were on a trip to gather a mystical herb that was protected by a bloodthirsty beast, they realized they were risking their lives.

Everyone shook in fear, but they had no other choices. They had already come all the way here, and they could not go back. Even if they wanted to retreat, they could never make it out of the mountains.

Francois could sense the terror radiating off the people behind him. He knew that Chev was saying such things to scare them.

“You say that because you can’t deal with them, but whether or not I can deal with them is another matter that you’ll find out soon enough.”

Francois’ eyes were full of confidence. He had put on that look partially to give the people who had come with him a confidence boost.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2537

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2537-However, his confidence was not unfounded. Francois indeed had a way to deal with that bloodthirsty beast, but there was no way he was going to tell Chev about it.

“Do you perhaps have a way to deal with that bloodthirsty beast?” Chev asked in surprise.

“This is none of your business. If you don’t have what it takes, then head back. Don’t make this place your grave.”

With that, Francois led the people onward.

Chev was livid as he watched Francois and his group leave.

“Mr. Chev, what do we do now?” asked one of Chev’s servants.

“We’re following them. I want to find out what card this man has up his sleeve that he can use to defeat that bloodthirsty beast!”

Upon saying that, Chev went after Francois’ group.

When Francois realized that Chev and his people were following them, he furrowed his brows.

“Francois, Chev’s a persistent pest! He keeps tailing us. What do we do now?” Brutus asked.

“Let him come with us. I’ll let him know I’m no easy target soon.”

Francois discreetly changed the direction he was heading in.

“Hefe, do you know those people?” Jared asked.

“I do. The one who was speaking is the son of the Nesser family. Here, the Nesser family is a powerful family, but they seem to be on bad terms with Emerald Cauldron Sect,” Hefe whispered.

“We’ll have to be on our guards. It looks like a battle will break out soon.”

Jared had noticed that Francois had changed his route. He guessed that the other man had to be doing this to deal with Chev’s group.

After they walked for a few hours, howls of Demon Wolves started echoing around them, and they were getting louder and louder.

At the same time, Demon Wolves' auras rushed toward them like waves in the sea.

When the people sensed the aura of the Demon Wolves, they turned pale. Even Brutus looked anxious as he asked, "Francois, are we surrounded by Demon Wolves?"

Francois inclined his head. "Yes. I deliberately led us all in here."

Brutus turned to look at Francois in disbelief.

Francois quickly produced a bag and explained, "I have anti-wolf powder here to make them stay away from us. They won't attack us. I'm going to get the wolves to kill Chev!" He handed Brutus the anti-wolf powder. "Pass this around and have them apply the anti-wolf powder on their clothes."

Brutus nodded and passed the anti-wolf powder to their people, giving them the same instructions Francois had given to him.

"Jared, what is this? Why do they want us to put this powder on our clothes?" Percy asked in confusion.

Jared gave him a small smile and said, "If I'm right, this must be anti-wolf powder. When Demon Wolves smell this powder, they'll be startled, and they'll run away. That way, they won't attack us."

Hearing that, Percy exclaimed, "So this is something good! I'll have to put more on me!"

In no time, Percy was almost completely covered in powder.

"Mr. Chev, I think we've been surrounded by the wolves. What now?" one of Chev's servants said nervously.

Chev narrowed his eyes. "D*mn it. This guy deliberately led us toward the wolves."

"Mr. Chev, Francois is the seniormost disciple of Emerald Cauldron Sect. He'll surely have a way to keep the wolves away from his people. Look at the white powder coating them. Maybe that's what they're using to keep the wolves away, but what about us?" the servant continued asking.

"If the wolves attack, we'll rush into their group. His people are villagers. They aren't professional fighters. If we stay close to them, the powder on them might work for us too," Chev whispered.

He knew that the white powder had to be used to drive the wolves away, so if they rush into the crowd when the wolves attacked, they would be able to take advantage of Francois' group's plan to keep the wolves away from them as well.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2538-While Chev's people were tense and on their guard, Francois was staring at Chev.

Right then, over a hundred Demon Wolves emerged from the woods, surrounding them.

The colors drained out of the people's faces when they saw the wolves.

Even though they had the anti-wolf powder coated on them, Francois was equally nervous when he saw the appearance of over a hundred Demon Wolves.

"Francois, w-we..." Brutus stammered.

"Stay calm. We have the anti-wolf powder. If the wolves attack, we'll just run away from them. With the anti-wolf powder, we'll be fine," Francois said to Brutus and the others.

Jared and the rest were still useful in their quest for the Grus Divina, so Francois was not going to let them die any time soon.

The truth was, Francois had instructed Brutus to recruit so many people on the herb-gathering trip not because he wanted them to protect each other, but because he wanted to use them to deal with the bloodthirsty beast.

Francois had long known that the spirit beast guarding the Grus Divina was a bloodthirsty beast, and he had a way to deal with it.

When Chev saw the Demon Wolves eyeing them, he began to quiver uncontrollably.

“Charge!”

Before the Demon Wolves began to attack, Chev led his people running toward Jared’s group.

Chev knew that there was no way they were going to survive an attack from those Demon Wolves.

Francois had never thought that Chev would lead his people toward his group, so he quickly leaped over to stand before Chev.

If Jared’s group weren’t still useful, Francois would not have bothered saving them.

“You deliberately led us into a pack of wolves. I hope you didn’t think you could avoid the Demon Wolves’ attack just because you can make a kind of powder that keeps them away. I’m going to stick closely to you and find out if those Demon Wolves are still going to attack us!”

Chev raised his sword and slashed forward, killing a villager in the blink of an eye.

He was ruthless and unhesitant.

Francois quickly fished out a pair of scissors with a golden glint to confront Chev.

Almost at the same time, Brutus jumped into the fight and began engaging Chev’s men.

In an instant, chaos erupted at the scene. Jared quickly retreated with Percy and Emily.

He did not want to get himself involved in a meaningless fight like that.

When Ali and Hefe noticed that Jared was not doing anything, they, too, quickly retreated.

The Demon Wolves surrounding them looked at Jared and his group, but none attacked them.

In a flash, a few of the villagers who had come with Francois were dead, and that devastated Francois.

However, Francois was still stuck in a fight against Chev. It did not seem like a victor was going to emerge from their fight anytime soon.

“Chev, if we keep fighting, we’ll end up getting killed by the Demon Wolves. Let’s stop,” Francois said to Chev.

Hearing that, Chev swiftly removed himself from the fight, and Francois did not make a follow-up attack.

Chev did not want to fight against Francois at a time like this either. It was highly unlikely that the victor of their fight would leave the place unscathed anyway.

“Stop!” both Francois and Chev cried out to their people in unison.

“Chev, that Grus Divina is under the bloodthirsty beast’s protection. If you don’t have a way to deal with that bloodthirsty beast, you’ll never get the Grus Divina. I can give you the anti-wolf powder to let you leave this place, so hurry up and head back,” Francois said to Chev.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2539-Chev laughed out loud. “Francois, do you take me for a fool? Are you seriously asking me to head back after my arduous trip here? Yes, I can’t deal with that bloodthirsty beast, but you might not be able to deal with it yourself either. I think we can put aside our differences and work together for now. Once we get the Grus Divina, we’ll discuss how to split it between our groups.”

Francois snorted. “No way. I’m sure I’ll be able to get the Grus Divina, so why would I want to work with you?”

“If you’re not going to work with me, Francois, then let’s fight to our deaths and let the Demon Wolves send us our merry way to the afterlife!”

Chev readied himself for another fight.

Francois’ face was contorted. He said in exasperation, “Chev, the Grus Divina is important to Emerald Cauldron Sect. On the other hand, your family doesn’t even know how to use it. We can work together, but we can't split the Grus Divina between us. I can give you the bloodthirsty beast's corpse. You should know how expensive the beast cores of spirit beasts can be."

Francois felt helpless. He had no choice but to choose to work with Chev, who had surprised him with his willingness to fight to the death.

Chev was tempted by his offer. "Do you really have a way to deal with that bloodthirsty beast?"

"Of course I do. If I don't, why would I come all the way here?" Francois responded confidently.

After a moment of contemplation, Chev nodded. "All right, I'll agree to that. I won't ask you to split the Grus Divina between us, but that bloodthirsty beast's body will be mine!"

"That won't be a problem." Francois was delighted to hear Chev's agreement, and he stretched out his hand toward the other man.

The two shook hands, and the disagreement was settled.

"Now, how do we deal with these Demon Wolves?" Chev asked, glancing at the Demon Wolves surrounding them.

"We'll have to run out of this place. I doubt they'll attack us with a layer of anti-wolf powder on us."

As Francois spoke, he scattered some of the anti-wolf powder on Chev and his people as well.

Now, both sides were allies, but the dead would never come back to life.

The villagers who had lost their companions could only hide the misery and anger they felt. There was nothing they could do about it. In the face of absolute power, they were insignificant.

No one would care about which of them lived and which of them died. They only cared about their personal gains.

Jared shook his head slightly when he saw the scene. The villagers meant nothing to the people from the powerful sects and prestigious families.

Ethereal Realm was far more ruthless than the mundane world.

“Get ready to escape!” Francois yelled when he saw that Chev’s group was ready.

Immediately, everyone lifted their weapons and kept their backs glued to their companions as they looked at the Demon Wolves warily.

Right as Francois was about to cry out his order, a howl reverberated in the area.

“Awoo!”

Like an explosion, the howl sent shockwaves in all directions.

As a matter of fact, many trees were uprooted by the shockwaves.

Francois and Chev paled drastically while the others were filled with fear.

They could smell death from the wolf howl as if the grim reaper had appeared before them.

“This is bad news! Why is there such a powerful Demon Wolf in the area?” Francois said through gritted teeth as he studied his surroundings.

Chev was silent, but the hand he had on his sword was trembling.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2540-Upon hearing the wolf howl, Jared knew at once Leifr was making the sound.

“Stay alert and stay close, everyone,” Jared reminded Ali and the others in an undertone.

Jared knew any demon beast capable of transforming into a human was very powerful. If Leifr were to lead the wolf pack toward them, everyone would be in danger.

However, just when everyone was incredibly tense and braced themselves for battle, the hundreds of Demon Wolves gradually retreated, disappearing into the jungle without a trace.

The unexpected turns of events rendered the crowd dumbfounded. After all, Demon Wolves were vicious demon beasts, so why would they retreat when they had an absolute advantage?

“Why are they pulling back?” Brutus asked confusedly.

Francois didn’t answer because he was clueless as well as to why the Demon Wolves had left.

“Could the Demon Wolves be scheming something? They’re smart creatures, and I even noticed some of them have developed spiritual intelligence,” Chev said.

“Regardless of what they are scheming, we must leave quickly.” Francois led the group forward swiftly, wanting to leave the Demon Wolves’ territory as soon as possible.

Seeing that, Chev also led his men to tread on Francois’ heels.

However, the retreating Demon Wolves didn’t reappear, nor did they give chase.

Right after their departure, Leifr slowly stepped out of the shadows, accompanied by a beautiful young girl. The girl looked about twenty and had charming dimples when she smiled.

Astonishingly, standing beside that sweet and delicate-looking girl, Leifr appeared anxious. He kept his head down and did not dare to gaze directly at her.

“Princess, did you see the man who had the celestial beast aura on him?” Leifr asked in a low voice.

“Yes, I saw him. He’s quite handsome, but I wonder why he carries the celestial beast aura. I should find an opportunity to take him to see my father and let my father examine him.”

She bolted in the direction Jared and the others were heading while Leifr followed closely behind her, nervously protecting her.

Meanwhile, Jared and the others had already left the Demon Wolves' territory after traveling in great haste for some time, which eased everyone's tension slightly.

However, they were now deep into the mountain range. Even after leaving the Demon Wolves' territory, there were still other high-level demon beasts lurking.

Those villagers were defenseless against those high-level demon beasts. They could only rely on Francois and the others' protection.

"I'm catching whiffs of the Grus Divina. It should be nearby. Let's hurry." Francois rushed in a specific direction.

Approximately ten minutes later, Jared and the others found themselves facing a charred land.

The ground was entirely black, devoid of any grass. Even the surrounding trees were extremely withered as if they had been burned by fire.

Bones and corpses of numerous demon beasts littered the charred land. The carcasses were intact, showing no visible wounds, but they were severely deflated. It was obvious their blood had been drained.

A nauseating stench filled the air, and a dense lethal intent lingered in the atmosphere.

No one knew where the bloodthirsty beast was hiding. Many were sweating from nervousness, and the more timid ones collapsed on the spot upon taking in the scene.

"How could a mystical herb grow in such a place? It's barren here!" Percy muttered as he scanned his surroundings.
