

Chapter 11 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Zero's POV

I wanted to rip that gamma's head off when I saw him slam right down on my sweetheart's back. I'm glad she is now sitting up here in my lap. Until it's her next turn. "You know sweetheart you don't need to fight or compete. We wouldn't let anything happen to you." She laid her head back on my chest and smiled up at me.

"I think it is necessary for me to fight. I want to be strong with you guys, not just lay back while you are out there protecting the pack. Strong alphas need strong lunas as well for a pack to be whole. Besides I need to keep in shape for when I need to protect myself or others in the future." Lucifer starts purring in my head. "She has really thought long and hard in the past day about being our mate." He said. "Yeah, makes me want her even more now. She is thinking about the pack even though she has never ever been to the pack before.

I hear Odette clear her voice and speak to Jess. "Jess hun you are up next. You are facing Chris from Silver Moon." Jess starts to stretch while still on my lap and I hear some of her joints crack. I growl in her ear and she shivers. "Don't forget sweetheart. After your next match, you're coming right back up here." She smirked and raised her eyebrow at me. "Oh and if I decided to stay down at my original post" she teased. I growled and nipped her neck lightly.

She jumped a bit but laid back into my chest. "You don't want to make me have to get rough with you already do you?" I whispered in her ear in a husky voice. "Maybe I like it rough." She said with a smirk then the next thing I know she jumps off my lap and jumps over the railing. Odette gasps "JESSABELLE SIMONS! WHAT THE HELL HAVE I TOLD YOU ABOUT JUMPING OFF THE HIGH BALCONIES?!" A lot of people start laughing. I guess this was a normal thing she did and it pissed Odette right off.

"I think we are going to have to ground her to the first floor." Hero says and Raphael laughed and said "Good luck with that. Jess jumped off the roof of the pack house in front of Odette when we first came home from Silver Moon. Odette fainted before she landed on the ground 10 feet away from her." Odette glared at her mate. "How the hell would you feel if the first thing you saw when you came to your new home was some crazy she wolf jumping off the fucking roof?!"

We all chuckled and then turned towards Jess stepping into the ring with the next fighter, Chris, from Silver Moon. The moment the match begins Chris goes for the first hit and Jess just stands there. I was so mesmerized by how fast she took control of what was happening in the ring. As soon as Chris was close enough she quickly dropped to the ground and swung her leg catching Chris completely off guard.

Jess dropped to the ground and kicked his legs right from under him and quickly rotated her body so she was standing again. She raised her right leg straight in the air and brought it straight down on his shoulder blade. So not only was gravity forcing him to the ground but so was his previous momentum and the force she applied to her kick. He met the ground hard. When the dust cleared the poor bastard was out cold. "Holy shit." Hero said. "That only lasted like 30 seconds." I commented and Leo shook his head. "Actually bro it was exactly 3 minutes for her to cream that poor dude." "I think she will be one hell of a warrior type luna that we need. She can whip some of our warriors into much better shape." I said to my brothers as we watched our mate, check on her opponent. She helped him up and out of the ring. 'Sassy, sweet, caring, and strong... Could the Moon Goddess have matched us up with any better mate?' Lucifer asked through our link. 'I don't think she could have.' I told him. Jess surely was one of a kind. She was sweet enough to care for her opponent and help him after the fight was over.

Jess then climbed up the stand again like she did the first time. Odette huffed because she still didn't like it but there was no stopping her. Jess smiled sweetly and then went and sat on Leo's lap. "Hey." I whined. "She smiled and said "I sat on your lap last time. Leo and Hero get a turn too baby." I purred when I heard her calling me baby and nodded. She was my brothers' mate as much as mine so I had to share, even if part of me still wants some one on one time with her later when we got her back home to Raven Moon. I snatched up her legs though and put them on my lap. She giggled as I started rubbing her legs. She had very toned legs. It must be why she is so good at kicking and jumping. I couldn't wait for the chance to have these sexy legs wrapped around my waist. I traced my fingers up and down her legs. She wiggled a bit in Leo's lap. My big brother smirked and whispered something in her ear.

Jess turned bright red and let out a little whimper as Leo's arms were around her waist and my hands were on her legs. 'What did you say to her?' I mind linked my brother. He tossed a quick glance my way. 'Just told her to imagine how it will feel with her between all three of us when we get her back home.' He replied. I let out a soft growl as I imagined it myself. Our sexy little luna would have six hands roaming her body, three mouths kissing and licking her everywhere, and three big dicks to fuck her until she can't remember her own name or until she loses her voice calling out our names. Which ever one comes first. I was dying to know what our sassy little mate tasted like.

Sibling Squabble

Chapter 12 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Alex's POV

I can't believe that Jess can fight like that. I know when dad and I would train with her before we all started to ignore her, she was going toe to toe with me. I hope I don't have to face her in the next match. I prayed, but I guess the Moon Goddess didn't hear my prayer. Cause the next match is me facing Jess. 'Damn' was the first thought in my head. "I think you are in for a world of pain dude." Roy said through our mind link.

"You think jackass! You saw how fast she took down that last guy. I thought she snapped his damn neck." I was freaking out. I look over at her and she is sitting on one of the triplet's laps stretching and cracking her neck and shoulder joints. Then she turns and kisses the cheek of the one she was sitting on and then she jumps off the stand again. I heard Luna Odette huff once again because Jess was still climbing and jumping off the stands where we sat, and we were sitting just under the tournament ring. So it was a good 45 foot drop to the ground.

Alpha Raphael could not do anything but laugh at his Luna's reactions. I went down to the ring the old fashion way. Using the stars. As we both got into the ring I was wondering if I could talk to her while we fought or get a few words in while blocking or dodging her attacks.

She looked at me in the eyes, she wagged her finger at me and said "If you think we can have a friendly chat while we fight that is a big no-no, Alex. You never let your guard down in a fight and I don't want you to hold back just because you feel bad. If you do then I am not to blame for putting you in the hospital later with a few broken bones."

I gulped as I knew she was serious. Damn, I had to be on my guard or I would get beaten all to hell. The match starts and I go to make the first move. I start swinging punches at her. She was just as fast at blocking each punch as she was throwing a few of her own my way. It was almost a miracle that I was dodging them by a hair. I had to think fast before she found a way to take the defense and turn it into an offense. She tried to kick my legs out from under me like she had done in her last match.

I quickly jumped into the air, I twisted my body in midair and tried to bring my leg down on the top of her head. She quickly recovered and blocked my leg. She then grabbed my leg and swung me down to the ground. She wrapped her legs around my body to put me in a leg lock. Her grip was strong and I had to think fast or she was going to break my fucking leg.

Jess's POV

I pulled hard to lock Alex's leg in place. I hoped he tapped out before I felt his bone snap. I didn't want to seem like I was beating him to get revenge. I wanted to prove to my ex-mate, my twin brother, and the other pack members there to know that I was not the same overweight girl that they bullied and beat all those years ago. I was a new person. I was stronger than before and would put any of them into the ground if they even thought they could try the same shit they did in the past.

In my mind I was the top warrior of the Thunder Mountain pack and the future Luna of the Raven Moon pack. Alex twisted his body and pushed himself in a handstand. I was lifted ground and the next thing I knew I was slammed into the ground with such force it knocked the wind right out of me. My grip slacked around his leg and he pulled away. I was too caught up in my thoughts that he took me by surprise.

Midnight growled at me in my mind. “Get your shit together girl. We have waited years to prove that we are stronger than they made us out to be. So let’s show them, Show them all what we are truly made of.” It was like her words snapped me out of the daze Alex put me in and gave me back my breath. I will be honest and say that Alex has not been slacking in his own training. It takes great strength and concentration to lift an opponent like that without doing any more damage to his leg than I have already done.

I opened my eyes and rolled backward and back on my feet just as Alex's fist made contact with the ground where I was laying. I shot forward and started throwing punches as fast as my body would go. I got Alex in the ribs and gut a few times. He was having trouble blocking all my hits. I then found an opening and grabbed him by the scruff of his neck and threw him into the ground and gave him a good right hook to the face. Finally... ending the match by knocking him out cold. I heard the cheers of the spectators and the whistle that signaled the lunch break of the tournament.

I would have an hour before the next match to spend with my alphas and the kids. Ryan and Jorge came over and picked Alex up to take him to the medical tent. I turned and walked away. I climbed up the stand again and was met with a pissed off Luna and three worrying alphas. I raised my hands in a surrender type position. Odette was always the most worried about me even if she had only known me for the shortest amount of time.

Lunch Break 1

Chapter 13 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Odette did a circular motion with her finger and I followed her lead. She checked my back out and cleaned my cuts again. After that Hero gave me my big sweatshirt that I guess Ryan or Jorge brought up to them while I was fighting. I put it on and before I could head to the picnic area to see the kids.

Hero picked me up and carried me, bridal style. “Hero? I can walk on my own, you know.” I said with a giggle. He smirked back at me and said. “I know you can Honey, but we are not going to waste any chance we get to treat you like the queen you are. Plus Loki has been waiting for his turn to be close to you and your beautiful wolf.” I giggled again. “Well, my beautiful wolf’s name is Midnight.” I heard the three of them purr at my wolf’s name.

“Fang can’t wait to go for a run with Midnight.” Leo said “Lucifer has other ideas in mind.” commented Zero I blushed at some of the many things these three could do to me. Leo and Hero laughed at my innocence and Zero playfully growled. I was going to be in so much trouble once we got back to Raven Moon. I doubt I was going to be a virgin for much longer. 'I'm ok with that. Just don't forget to let me have some fun time with our mates once in a while.' Midnight said. 'Oh, I don't think that will be an issue. These three and their wolves seem to love showing off their affection for us, so I am pretty sure their wolves would not keep quiet until they got their alone time with you.' I told her. That was only going off from them purring at the sound of her name.

Hero carried me all the way to the picnic area where Rose and the others have already set everything up for lunch. Raphael was carrying a big pot of beef stew I made early this morning for the twins, while poor Jorge was sitting down and having to deal with a very upset Maria and Wilson.

“What is going on here Jorge?” I asked as Hero set me gently down on the ground. Wilson and Maria turned and ran right to me each clinging to one of my legs. “Aunty Jess, are you ok?!” they screamed in unison. I bent down and hugged them close. “Of course I am ok sweethearts. Why wouldn’t I be?” I was trying to calm them but then Wilson pulled away with angry tears in his eyes. “Uncle Jorge hurt you and could have left scars on you when you were fighting.” He and Maria then glared again at Jorge.

Ryan, Rose, Stella, Odette, and Raphael were laughing to themselves while Jorge was looking at the ground embarrassed while the twins glared at him. I chuckled and looked down at the twins. “Wilson, Maria. Uncle Jorge and I were play fighting. He wasn’t going to hurt me for real. We just had to make it look real. See?”

I let the twins go and walked over to Jorge and gave him a big hug to show the Twins that we were not mad at each other. Jorge hugged me back and whispered “Thanks Jess you saved me from their glares. I rather take an alpha's wrath than the kids.” He joked. We chuckled and turned to the twins. “See kids? We are still friends. Our play fight just means I am stronger than Uncle Jorge.” I said with a big smile and raised one arm in showing the twins my muscles with a little flex.

Wilson and Maria relaxed and smiled with me, but they still wanted to hear Jorge say that he was sorry. "Ok, ok." Jorge yelped and I laughed. "Jess I am so sorry for throwing you around in the ring like that. I know I could have hurt you, so will you please forgive me?" Jorge asked with pleading eyes. Just for fun, I decided to mess with him a bit and put my finger to my chin and 'think' really hard about my answer. "Hmmm. I don't know. Do you promise to not be such a meanie to me again?" I asked. I heard everyone trying to hold back their laughter as the twins were staring deadly serious at Jorge and me. "I promise I will never be mean to you again. I will save that role for Odette." He whispered the last part, so Wilson and Maria couldn't hear it. I smiled at him. "Then I accept your apology, Jorge." I said and we hugged again in front of the twins. They smiled and ran off to join the others around the picnic table.

All of a sudden I felt myself get yanked backwards. I looked behind me at Leo and he tightened his arms around my waist and buried his face in the crook of my neck and inhaled my scent. “Leo? Are you alright?” Leo said nothing at first and then nodded his head. “I just don't like other male scents on you that don't belong to me or my brothers.” I couldn't see his face but I could tell that he was pouting a bit. 'Aww, our big, strong, alpha wolf is a big, cuddly, soft teddy bear.' Midnight purred. I smiled. 'I know. Leo, Zero, and Hero are so adorable. They look like big old ruthless alphas, but are so soft and sweet when it comes to us.' I replied back to her.

I couldn't help it as I giggled I heard Midnight in my head. "Kiss him and make him feel better." I rolled my eyes internally at her but I couldn't help but want to make Leo feel better too, so I took him by surprise. I spun around in his arms, wrapped my arms around his neck to bring his face down, stood on my tippy toes, and crashed my lips right onto his. They were soft and full, but he seemed frozen. I guess this was the wrong time for a kiss. A bit sad I start to pull away from him.

Lunch 2

Chapter 14 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Leo's POV

I know she was trying to make the kids not mad at their uncle, but I still didn't like it when she had other males scents on her. I was holding her close to calm myself and my wolf, Fang, down. The next thing I know she spun around in my arms and crashed her lips onto mine. I was stunted for a sec then when I felt like she was trying to pull back, I grabbed her waist tighter and kissed her back deeply.

Fang was clawing in the back of my mind that he wanted to mark her right here and now. I heard a soft moan escape from her and it made me growl in response. I gently bit her bottom lip hoping she would open for me and she did. I pushed my tongue in her mouth and she tasted as sweet as she smelled. I heard someone clear their throat and pulled back from Jess. She was as red as a tomato and I smirked.

I looked over at my cousin who was covering the kids eyes. "Leo Jackman there are children around here. Don't you go all wolf and defile my best friend in front of them. Now lets eat before the lunch break is over." I still had a smirk on my face as I snaked my arm around Jess and walked her over to the table.

Zero and Hero were pouting. "Don't worry you two. I will give you guys a kiss too after lunch." Jess said as she left my arms to sit between my brothers. Hero perked up and then Zero leaned down to whisper in her ear. "Well since Leo got your first kiss you got to give a first to Hero and I once we are all alone in a soundproof room." Jess blushed even deeper if that was possible. Hero and I chuckled.

Odette handed me a bowl of beef stew that smelled heavenly. I grabbed one of the sub sandwiches to eat with the stew and the fresh vegetables had a nice crisp taste. Hero took a bite of the stew first and his eyes went wide. "Oh my moon goddess. This stew is amazing. Can we get this recipe before we leave Odette?" He sounded so excited like a kid at christmas. I took a bite myself before Odette could talk. It really was good. "Well Hero you are taking the cook back with you when you leave so I don't think you need the recipe. Hahaha" Odette giggled as she looked back at Jess.

“You made this Honey?” Hero asked while turning to face her. “Yea I was always having to cook for myself when I was at Red Moon so I just got better at cooking. Raphael’s favorite dish is my steak kabobs with my special secret sauce. Ryan and Jorge both love my chicken enchiladas. The girls like the fresh veggies I grow for their salads and sandwiches, but beef stew is Wilson and Maria’s favorite dish. Once I put all my ingredients together I asked an omega to watch it simmer so it didn’t burn.”

She rattled all of that information like it was just an everyday thing. “Well you’re going to have to write us those recipes before you leave her little miss. I know I won’t survive without your food once in a while.” Ryan groaned. Everyone laughed. It was such a warm feeling to see Jess laughing and smiling, but I am worried that she will still try to hide stuff from us just because she thinks she can handle it or that she doesn’t want us to worry about her. I plan on making it my mission to change that for her.

“Oh Jess I have a question for you.” Odette said while looking at Jess. “What’s up?” Jess tilted her head in confusion. “When Leo pulled you away from Jorge earlier. How did you know it was Leo? I honestly thought it was Zero at first before you called him by name.”

“That is true. No one has ever been able to tell us apart. Not even our parents.” Zero said while stroking Jess’s arm. She thought to herself for a few minutes before she spoke up. “It is not something I can really describe honestly. I know when each one touches me is like I get a different signal coursing through my body depending on which one touched me. Then there is their scent to me and Midnight. Leo smells like mint and winter pine. Zero smells like chocolate hazelnut and coffee, and Hero smells like springtime oranges.” Odette looked at her like she was crazy. “Is that what you smell when you’re by them? I think something is wrong with your sniffer girl. All three smell like mixed fruit to me.”

“Well Odette what scent do you smell when you are next to Raphael?” I asked her. She blushed and looked over at her mate and said with a big smile. “He smells like fresh rain and lavender to me.” Jess choked on her drink when she heard that and spit it out behind her and started coughing.

Hero started slapping her back as she coughed. “Are you ok princess?” Zero asked being just as worried as Hero and I. Once she could actually breathe and talk she just looked at Odette like she had grown another head. “And you said something is wrong with my nose! Raphael smells like harsh apple whiskey that has aged for a long time.”

Rose and Stella nodded to what Jess was saying. “I think the really sweet smells are specifically for the mates of the wolves, but I don’t mind smelling like apple whiskey to be honest hahaha.” Raphael said with a thunderous laugh. We all enjoyed the rest of the picnic then it was time to head back to the tournament arena. Along with Jess and Ryan there were four other fighters. 2 from Raven Moon and 2 from Silver Moon. Alex, the beta of Red Moon, was the last fighter still in the tournament for Red Moon before Jess kicked his ass.

The two fighters from Raven Moon were both our top male fighters. Nathan Stone and Brandon Black. I didn’t want them in the position to fight with Jess, because I didn’t want her to actually get hurt. Those two didn't know the meaning of the words holding back. If Jess had to fight them for real I fear that since she is still of the Thunder Mountain pack they will go full force and injure her. "Jess can we please talk to Brandon and Nathan about you being our Luna and mate?" I was about to beg, but she cut us off.

"No I want to win today because I am stronger, if I win or lose then I know it is because of my own merits and strength. Not because someone doesn't want me to be hurt or anything. What are you guys going to do if you all have to leave the pack's lands and I am the only one defending it. I need to be just as strong as you or any other male in the pack." Our mate spoke with such determination and force that there was no room to argue with her.

All my brothers and I could do was pray she didn't have to face either of our warriors. Raphael's voice boomed throughout the arena as he announced the next match. "Jessabelle Simons from Thunder Mountain vs Nathan Stone from Raven Moon." Well Shit!

Pride

Chapter 15 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess's POV

I felt the triplets tense up after Raphael announced who I was facing in the next match. "Princess please let us talk to him before your fight?" Zero started to beg. "Why?" I asked while raising an eyebrow at my three mates. "Nathan is tied with Brandon as our top fighters. Neither of them knows the meaning of holding back in a fight." Leo said in a manner of fact tone. Hero chimed in as well. "Honey we don't want them to hurt you. They won't care that they are facing a man or woman, when they fight it is to win." I didn't want them to worry so much but I asked my wolf Midnight what her thoughts were.

"Hey girl, what do you think?" I heard her huffing and groaning. She didn't want our mates to worry either but we still need to prove to ourselves and the packs that we were stronger than before. "I want to go into at least this fight without them knowing that we are their future Luna. If they knew then it would not be much of a fight. I know our mates will be upset with us but we can make it up to them later." I nodded my head and turned to our sexy mates. "Midnight and I want to at least fight this match without them knowing. So no matter what the outcome is afterwards you can tell Nathan and Brandon that we are their Luna, but I want to see their strength. Boys, Promise me that Nathan will not be punished after the fight." They all looked down for a few minutes, then they nodded. I jumped up and gave Hero and Zero their kisses like I promised. Even though Zero tried to trap me in his arms I wiggled out of it giggling. I could only imagine what I was in store for when these big bad wolves get me alone and behind closed doors.

Hero's POV

When I felt Jess kiss me I really didn't want her fighting, but I promised. Even so that didn't mean I had to like it. My brothers and I returned to our seats in the stands and watched as our beautiful Luna took off the huge sweatshirt and got in the ring. If it wasn't for our wolf hearing then we wouldn't be able to hear Nathan's trash talk to Jess. Nathan and Brandon always have to run off at the mouth. I wish they could just lose their voices sometimes. "Sorry sugar, but just because you are getting all cozied up to my alphas does not mean I will be going easy on you. When I fight I fight to win. I hope you understand. I'll try not to ruin that pretty face of yours." He got into his stance and Raphael began the fight. Jess took off like a fucking bullet. Throwing a bunch of jabs to get Nathan into the defensive and threw in a few sidekicks to his rib area. Nathan was already getting pissed and this match just started. The next kick Jess set towards him, he let it hit but then as fast as a python he grabbed her leg. Nathan then began to swing Jess around before throwing her to the ground face first. Zero jumped to his feet, but Leo stopped him from jumping off the edge.

I was gripping my seat tight. Loki started growling and going crazy in my mind. "Why the hell did you agree to let her fight Nathan. We all know Nathan and Brandon hate to lose in anything." he snarled. "I know dude, but think of it from her point of view. She has been all on her own since she was 13. She needs to feel like she can depend on us herself. If we force it too much we could end up pushing her away." Loki whined but he knew deep down that I was right. I mind linked Zero and Leo to give them the same speech I gave Loki hopefully it would make it a little easier for Zero. He sat back down without a fight but replied. "I won't force her to stop fighting, but we are going to spoil and pamper her to our hearts content." Leo and I nodded in agreement and turned back to the fight.

Make or Break

Chapter 16 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess's POV

'OK, now I see why the triplets wanted me to not fight this guy.' I thought to myself as I pushed off the ground and rolled back onto my feet. "Midnight what should we do? There is no doubt that this man is physically stronger than us. Once more blow like that and we would be done." Midnight growled "We are faster than hit and I think our stamina could outlast him if we play this right." I was avoiding his punches as I worked out a plan with my wolf. I could see he was putting all his force into each hit, but if the hit never makes contact with its target then it was just wasted energy.

I smirked finally seeing how I could win if I played my cards just right. He was fighting like a typical boxer, so he would have the same weakness any boxer would. I used my speed to evade his attacks and when I had an opening I landed a hard kick right in his left leg. He grunted and staggered back a bit. I didn't let up. I then kicked his left leg with the same force.

He went to throw another punch in my face, but I dodged and put some distance between us. I was right. He is losing his accuracy when I attack his legs. Boxers normally focus on their upper body strength so their legs are the weakest in boxing. Ryan taught me Moi Tai kickboxing and Jorge taught me judo and karate. Where leg strength was a very critical aspect of martial arts. The legs are the foundation of the body.

I close the distance again and throw a few jabs at him while he blocks them. I send more damaging kicks right into each of his legs. It felt like this fight was going on for hours. I was starting to lose steam and so was he. Someone was going to give and soon. I continued to use my speed to my advantage and sent a few jabs into his ribs. He countered with a swift kick to my side. I didn't get sent flying like he thought I would because I planted my feet and lowered my center of gravity to take the impact. He was finally close enough. I hit him with an open palm strike to the bottom of his chin. He smirked when he didn't move as much. I knew I couldn't move his thick neck with just one hand. That is why I used two.

I used my right hand to strike my left elbow to hit him in the chin with the force of both. While his head snapped up, I kicked the back of his ankle to throw him completely off balance. Nathan fell to the ground hard with his legs in such a state I hoped he would be down for the count. He breathed heavily and tried to catch his breath. "I concede." he said while gasping. The crowd erupts with cheers as the match ends. I was out of energy myself so knowing that I won. I fell flat on my own ass trying to catch my own breath.

"Dam. I never lost to anyone but the alphas. You got some mad skills Miss." Nathan said, now sitting up. I looked over at him and laughed. "Dude the only thing that saved my ass was the mixed martial arts I learned from my friends here in Thunder Mountain and the speed my wolf and I have." We both started laughing then I heard thundering footsteps coming towards us.

I looked over and it was my three handsome alpha mates. "Sweetheart, are you ok? Is anything broken?" Zero was the first to reach me and pulled me into his arms. If I didn't know any better, the looks on the triplets' faces were of pure fear and anger. "I am fine, Love. Nathan didn't do any permanent damage. I will just go to the medical tent and make sure I am still able to fight. Otherwise Nathan and I are both out. Hahaha." I turned over and looked at Nathan and he was in complete shock. "Alphas," Nathan said with a bow. "Come on Nathan. Leo, Zero, Hero, and I will explain in the medical tent." I said trying to get out of Zero's arms but he tightened them around my body. "There is no way you are walking Sweetheart. We will take you while they continue the next match." I knew Zero wasn't going to negotiate so I nodded my head and we left the ring for the medical tent.

Medical Nightmare

Chapter 17 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Once we get there I see my worst nightmare, Doctor Richards. He looks up and sees me being carried in and starts with the same old speech he gives me every time I get brought in to the clinic. “Still playing ruff with the other children I see Jessabelle. I am a good doctor but I am getting a bit tired of having to keep putting you back together.” He gave a dry chuckle before coming over and starting looking me up and down.

“Lets see what kind of damage you manage to rack up this time.” My mates and Nathan were floored when the doctor didn’t even seem to notice them. “It's not that bad, Doc.” I said while lifting my arm for him to check my ribs. I hissed the moment he touched my side.

“Not that bad huh?” his voice dripping with sarcasm. “I can tell that you have at least two to three cracked ribs and a sprained wrist.” He then gently grabs my head and turns my head side to side and I hiss again at the pain in my neck I didn’t even know I had. “And a case of whiplash. What the hell happened this time did Jorge throw you across the training field again?” All the boys snapped at that “AGAIN?!” they all shouted at once. Even Nathan.

“It was months ago. Jorge and I were sparing and running off at the mouth. I wasn’t paying attention and he used a very cool judo move and threw me.” I was trying to calm my alphas so they didn’t kill Nathan, Jorge, or even the doctor. Everytime I hissed in pain Leo was balling up his fists trying to contain his anger. “Now I normally am not rude to visiting alphas but what are you all doing here with Jessabelle?”

Dr. Richards asks while finally looking over and noticing the triplets and Nathan. “Nathan was my opponent in the last match and the triplet alphas here are my mates.” I answered his question. Dr. Richards looked impressed while Nathan looked like someone just shot him in the foot. He dropped to one knee and spoke very fast and very scared. “Luna, I am so sorry for what I did in the match. I had no idea that you were mated with the alphas. Please forgive me.” I took a deep breath.

“Nathan there is nothing to forgive. You fought with honor in the match. You did nothing wrong.” I said with a big smile as he looked up at me. Hero added “Plus it was your Luna’s request that we not say anything until the match was over. She also made us promise that no matter what the outcome was. We as your alphas were not to punish you for hurting her in the match.” Leo and Zero nodded to what Hero had told Nathan. Nathan breathed in deeply.

“Thank you Luna, I am eternally grateful and it was an honor to fight you in the last match. I vow to protect you with my life from here on, until my final breath.” He smiled and bowed his head to me again. “Well that is nice and all, but I think you both are out of the tournament.” Dr. Richards interjects. “Can you learn to read the room, old man? Nathan was about to have a heart attack finding out I am his Luna and now you're trying to say I can’t fight in the tournament anymore?” Dr. Richards looks up from his notes and then smacks me on top of my head with his clipboard. “Oww!”

“I am not “trying” to tell you that you can’t fight anymore, you little brat. I am point blank telling you that you can’t fight in the tournament anymore. You have a sprained wrist and ankle, 2 cracked ribs, 1 broken rib, and a severe case of whiplash. You are in no condition to fight anymore for the next week at the very least.” He said while tapping his foot like an angry parent chewing out their kid for sneaking out after bedtime.

“But I feel fine. I cou-” “You are not fighting anymore today.” I was cut off by Raphael and Odette’s voices. I groaned as I gave Dr. Richards a death glare while he was examining Nathan’s injuries. “You ratted me out before you told me didn’t you old man?” He smirked and said “That is what I always do. Not my fault you don’t have enough brain cells to remember every time you get brought here you little brat.” I groan again and lay down. “I feel sorry for you triplets. You and your pack doctor are going to have your hands full with this little brat here. She ends up in my office at least 4 times a month.”

“Hey that’s not true. This doesn’t count since we are not in your office right now and I have only had to deal with you twice this month.” I heard Raphael laugh and then get smacked by Odette. “Babe please don’t encourage her. You and the boys are just as bad. I am amazed Jess has survived being with you rough boys for the last 5 years.” Dr. Richards finished wrapping Nathan up and started wrapping my wrist and ankle.

"Now you little brat you are to be on complete bed rest for the next three days minium. No training, no fighting, no climbing, and NO JUMPING!! Until your wolf heals your ankle you will need to keep your weight off that leg." "Don't worry doc. My brothers and I will personally make sure this little one follows the doctors orders." Leo said in an alpha tone. I gulped. Raphael started laughing again and I sent him a glare. He knew it was one thing to defy the doc but to defy my overprotective and possessive mates, there was no way in hell I could get away it. Especially since I had THREE mates.

"I guess I'm grounded huh?" I asked with a pout. "Yup!" Hero replied with a cheerful smile, while popping the "P" in his answer. I was weak against that smile of his. "Fine... I'll be a good girl." I pout even more and fold my arms across my chest. Leo then came over and picked me up. I was curled up against his muscular chest. "Leo I can still walk you know. Even if I have to use a crutch."

He raised his eyebrow at me, with a smirk on his lips and said "Now why would we make our delicate flower walk when she has 3 strong alphas to take turns carrying her wherever her little heart desires." I blushed a deep shade of red. I didn't know what to say. I was at a loss for words for once since I came to Thunder Mountain

Odette brought me back to reality “Ooooooh. Looks like the easiest way to get you to comply is to involve your men. I will have to keep that in mind.” She is looking at me with a smirk of her own. Midnight and I loved teasing Odette so I smiled back at her so innocently and said “Yeah, but that is not going to stop me from jumping off the roof when I feel like it.” Odette gasps when I stuck my tongue out at her and Raphael doubled over laughing.

“Leo, Zero, Hero. You three better keep tabs on this one. She will end up six feet under before she has a pup.” “Not if we put a pup in her first. Then she would have to slow down.” Zero growled and lightly bit me on my ear. I stiffened and held back a moan. “Hey, there are people here mister.” I scolded him and playfully pushed him away from my ear. Leo and Hero chuckled. “If you think he is this bad baby then you are in for a wild ride when we get you all alone and to ourselves.” Leo added while nuzzling his face in my neck.

“Well you three will have to wait a week before you can mark and mate the little brat. Like I said before she is to be on sticked bed rest for a week, and a week is a full 7 days Jessabelle... not 2.” I groaned. “But I get so restless and bored just sitting and not doing anything and now that I have mates I can’t even do that for a whole week you are killing Midnight and I, old man.” “Well maybe you should learn not to end up in my office so much. After 4 days I think you can shift into Midnight and go for a run. It will help your ribs heal a little faster, but that doesn't mean you can mate then either.” Dr. Richards said sternly. All I could do was nod.

Final Round

Chapter 18 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

After getting done with the Doc. Leo carried back to the stands so I could still watch the tournament. Raphael's voice boomed over the arena. “Due to the extreme injuries to both Jessabelle Simons and Nathan Stone, they are both taken out of the tournament for their well being. I would also like to give the floor to that of the triplet alphas that want to share some news with everyone in attendance today.” Then he stepped aside.

Leo sat me on the edge so everyone could see me. “Thank you Alpha Raphael. I am Alpha Leo Jackman of the Raven Moon pack, along with me are my two younger brothers Zero Jackman and Hero Jackman. We wanted to share some great news. We have found our mate and Luna. With great honor and pleasure, as well as Alpha Raphael’s and Luna Odette's blessings. I would like to introduce Jessabelle Simons from the Thunder Mountain pack as the new Luna of the Raven Moon pack.”

Leo’s alpha voice carried throughout the whole place. It was silent, and then everyone went crazy and cheered. I could hear lots of people congratulating me over the pack link. “So where does this put me in the pack, Raphael?” He smiled brightly. “Just because you are going to be the Luna of Raven Moon does not mean that you are kicked out of the Thunder Mountain family. In fact how about we have a little family drinking party in your room tonight. As your big brothers Ryan, Jorge, and I have to grill the triplets before they take our sweet little sister away from us and deflower her. HAHAHA.” his laugh roared and Ryan and Jorge joined him. I was worried about what was coming later tonight with these dorks and I still had to have dinner with Alex and Roy before anything else happens between me and the triplets.

Roy POV

That last fight really hurt Jess that bad that Raphael had to pull both her and her opponent from the tournament. I felt sad that they announced that she was going to be the luna of Raven Moon, but Max and I were also happy for her. I still should not have rejected her and hurt her the way I did all those years ago, but I hope she and I could maybe have a fresh start as friends. I know Alex misses her. Alex pulls me from my thoughts when he tries to mind link me from the medical tent.

(Mind link conversation)

R: "Well good morning sleeping beauty. Did you have a nice nap?"

A: "Fuck off dude. I feel like I got hit by a truck. I don't know what was worst her punches or her fucking kicks. How long was I out for? Did I miss anything?"

R: "You were out for a good few hours and missed quite a bit. Jess just faced off one of Raven Moon's top male fighters, Nathan Stone. The match was so intense and brutal that Alpha Raphael had to pull both of them from the rest of the tournament."

A: "Damn! So who actually won?"

R: "Jess did, but I can understand why she was pulled. That Nathan guy threw her around like a fucking rag doll. I was about to jump down and kill the SOB. Same with one of the triplets, but I guess Jess persuaded them to let her handle that match on her own."

A: "Wow, and I guess this doctor sees Jess a lot. He just smacked me on the head saying 'You are just like that good for nothing little brat that just left. What is it with your family that you all end up in my office?' I thought he was off his nut until I saw some of Jess's papers on his desk. Anyway, I am heading back to you now. Where is Jess?"

R: "She is up here in one of her mate's arms. She actually looks happy. I haven't seen her smile or heard her laugh in 10 years. I still miss her, but even if I can't have her as a mate I hope we can be friends again like we used to. All of us."

A: "Wow dude, you are taking this a lot better than I thought. You wanted to find her so bad and now you are giving her up so she can be happy. That takes a big wolf to do that."

R: "You know seeing her with her new mates makes me wonder if the Moon Goddess only paired me with her to open my eyes to what we were all doing was wrong. I mean after she left it was like everyone in the pack woke up from a horrible nightmare. Even my father felt terrible for how he treated her. I hope Jess sees it that way too, but I guess we will find out at dinner. Hurry up the last match is starting. It is Brandon Black from Raven Moon vs Beta Ryan Davis from Thunder Mountain. This match will decide which pack ranks first in this tournament, since Red Moon is 4th and Silver Moon is 3rd right now."

A: "On my way. I don't want to miss this."

Then he cut the link and I looked over to Jess. I know I thought she was hot when we were children, but seeing her as a warrior woman now makes me feel like she is where she needs to be. Now lets see how this tournament ends.

Third Person POV

“Ugh I can’t believe it. The one time I don’t go with them to another pack they finally find her. Can you believe bro?” The woman yelled as she drove like a bat out of hell, passing people she felt were going to slow for her. “Now, now calm down Sasha and please focus on the road. I would like to live and meet our luna.” Sasha turned her head towards her brother and raised an eyebrow. “Rico I can practically drive blind and we would still get to our luna safely.” Rico shrugged. He knew better than anyone how good of a driver his young twin sister was. She could put those stunt doubles in the fast and the furious movies to shame with her skills behind the wheel.

“I am curious though. What kind of woman did the Moon Goddess give our 3 thickheaded, stubborn alphas?” Rico said while looking out the window. “That is why I wanna meet her so bad bro. If the Moon Goddess gave us a luna that is ture mated to those three she had to be special in one way or another.” Sasha said and then she groaned at herself. “Dam it, I forgot to grab one of my good dresses. I can’t meet our luna in my normal look.” Rico laughed. “I don’t think you will have to worry. When Hero texted me this morning he mentioned something about the luna participating in a tournament. So maybe she is just as much of a tomboy as you are. I pity the poor male that becomes your mate. Hahaha”

Sasha rolled her eyes and Mind linked her wolf, Ruby. “Ruby what do you think? I can google a close dress shop if you want to be formal with our luna.” Ruby humed a bit before replying. “Well if she is a tomboy like you are and fought in the tournament then I think we are good to go. Besides the worst case scenario you can always ask Sophie. That girl I know has plenty of dresses for you to pick from.” Ruby snickered while Sasha rolled her eyes. “What did Ruby say?” Rico asked with a smirk, like he already knew. “She said if I was truly worried about it I would just have to ask Sophie.”

Then came a groggy voice from the back seat. “Ask me what doll?” Sasha looked in the rear view mirror and saw that her little sister, Sophie, was finally waking up from her nap. “I was worried about how to act in front of the luna since I don’t know what kind of person she will be. I hope she is a tomboy like me. I really don’t want to wear a dress.” Sophie sat up and stretched. Popping some of her shoulders and neck joints. “Well you are truly over thinking it sis. If she is going to be the luna of our pack then we should show her how we are on a daily basis. You hardly wear anything formal even to special events. It would be a miracle if Rico and I can get you in a wedding dress when you finally meet your mate and settle down.”

Rico laughed and Sasha rolled her eyes at both her twin and younger sister that were teasing her. “I am sure our luna would want nothing more than to see us for how we are. At least that is how Blue and I feel. What are yours and Sebastian’s thoughts on this Rico?” Sophie asked, turning to her older brother. “The same as you Soph. Besides It has been a few years since the two of you came back from abroad. I am sure being your selves is just what you need.” He smiled brightly at both of his sisters. Sasha chuckled and Sophie nodded. “Hope they got some good were-liquor. I feel like getting a buzz tonight that’s for sure.” Sasha said.

Rico shook his head. “Just don’t be pissed if you find your mate tonight and are too drunk to say complete sentences. You know Nathan and Brandon are going to be there.” Rico wiggled his eyebrows at his sister. “What!? There is no way that either of them is my mate. We all grew up together and I never once felt the pull towards them before I left.” Sophie chimed in “Could be because you are a whole 3 months older than them and we were sent to Spain by mom and dad before they became of age. It has been three years since you saw them so you might feel it tonight.” Sophie smirked, Rico laughed, and Sasha just rolled her eyes and shook her head.

“You know what, I am going to make this a bit fun, my dear sweet sister. I bet $50 that Nathan Stone will be your mate.” Sophie said with a big smirk plastered on her face. Rico jumped in. “I think I will go with $50 saying that it is Brandon.” Sasha was stunned that her siblings were turning her love life into a bet. “Ok smart asses. What if it is neither of them?” she asked. “Then you get $50 from me and $50 from Rico. Which in total is $100 if neither of them is your mate. Sound fair to you bro?” “Yup.” Rico replied while popping the ‘P’. “Ok, you two are on.” Sasha commented as they neared Thunder Mountain territory.

~Back at the final round of the tournament~

Ryan and Brandon took their positions in the ring waiting for Raphael to start the match. Leo had Jessabelle in his lap while sitting in the middle of his brothers. “Hey guys, where is your pack beta? All the other packs brought their betas with them.” She asked while leaning back on Leo’s chest. “They said that they were too tired to come with us.” Hero said. Jessabelle raised an eyebrow. “They?” Zero nodded and replied “Yea. We have twin betas and their younger sister is our gamma. Sasha and Ricardo (Rico) Delgado are our betas and their younger sister Sophie Delgado is our gamma.” Jessabelle nodded. “Did they get back from a long traveling job or something?” “No, their parents sent them to a college in Spain. Sophie may be younger than them but she is smart, so she skipped a few grades and went to college with her older siblings.” Hero said. “Yea. Rico got sent to keep his sisters out of trouble with the males and they were hoping Sasha would become a proper lady.” Zero said.

Jessabelle tilted her head to the side. “Proper lady?” Odette chimed in “Sasha is just like you girl. A big tomboy. You and her will be two peas in a pod if that school hasn’t whopped her into a good girl.” Odette sticks her tongue out at Jessabelle. Jessabelle rolls her eyes and asks “Then if she is so like me why do you still flip out when I jump down and climb up tall structures? Shouldn’t you be used to that by now?” Jessabelle smirks back at Odette waiting for an answer.

“Because Sasha never jumps off the goddamn roof or anything huge like that.” Odette fired back. Before Jessabelle could say anything they heard a loud thud and turned towards the ring. Brandon had just been thrown to the ground by Ryan. Brandon then rolled to try and recover as fast as he could, but it looks like Ryan was slightly faster. As soon as Brandon was on his feet, Ryan had thrown so many punches his way that Brandon fell back down on his backside. Then Ryan did a roundhouse kick and nailed Brandon right in the side of the head. The official started counting to see if Brandon was done or just catching a second wind. Brandon got up a little wobbly, but still wanted to try and win. “Wow then men in your pack are stubborn and sore losers huh. I even have trouble getting back up if I get nailed with one of Ryan’s kicks.” Jessabelle said to her triplet alphas.

She heard a low growl, and looked over at Zero clenching his seat. “Oh don’t be that way Zero. You know I fight and spar a lot, so getting hit and kicked comes with the territory of being a warrior, gamma, beta, and even an alpha. I know I don't want you guys hurt, and you don't want me to get hurt. But we all need to be strong to protect our pack." The triplets perked up quickly. "Say that again princess." Leo whispered in her ear. "What." Jessabelle looked at him confused. "You said 'our pack'" Hero said while tracing a finger up and down Jessabelle's legs and smiling at her. Jessabelle realized that she did say that and started to blush. "Please sweetheart. Please say it again for us." Zero said in a real low husky voice right in Jessabelle's ear. It sent a shiver down her spine and she gave them what they wanted. "Our pack. A pack I share the responsibility to help grow and protect with my three amazing, caring, strong, sexy alpha mates."

The triplets purred. Leo nuzzled his face in Jessabelle's neck, Zero gently nibbled on her ear, and Hero began to rub her inner thighs closing in on her core. Jessabelle bit her lip trying to hold in a moan, while she felt her core become wetter with every touch the triplets touched her. "Boys?!" the four of them heard Odette say. They turned to her with innocent looks on their faces. "Yes our dear cousin?" the triplets said in unison. "I believe the doctor said complete bed rest for the week, with the exception of a shifted run in 3 or 4 days. If you three can not behave yourselves I will have Raphael take Jess away from you and hold her."

Leo's grip tightened on Jessabelle but Jessabelle winced at the tight grip near her cracked ribs. Leo automatically released his tight grip. "I'm so sorry about that Princess. I didn't mean to hurt you." He said while placing light kisses on her cheek and neck. "It's ok Leo, but Odette is right. We all have to behave until I am back to 100%" She said while lighting rubbing her sides. "Ok honey, we will be good alphas until you're better." Zero said while nuzzling her neck on the other side. Jessabelle nodded and looked towards the ring.

Ryan had beaten Brandon while they were all talking to each other up there. Raphael, Odette, and Jessabelle laughed as the triplets were groaning that Thunder Mountain won first place and Raven Moon came in second. Everyone was happy, but what they didn't know was someone was watching them intently, and more specifically watching Jessabelle.

Unfriendly Feelings

Chapter 19 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Jess's POV

"Well second isn't bad." I say to my alpha mates. Trying to cheer them up. "Come on guys. If anything you guys are taking home the real prize. You are taking Jess as your mate and Luna. She is our top female warrior and you three are taking her away from us." Raphael said, trying to help and it worked. All three of them perked up and nodded to what Raphael had said. "Ture, now let's get this little princess cleaned up and dressed for dinner." Leo said while standing up with me.

"Oh no you don't mister. The girls and I will get her cleaned up and dressed. You can take her to the bathroom and set her down. Once we are done then you can carry her to the dining hall."

Odette said while stepping Leo's way. Leo wanted to protest, but he felt like that would be a good idea. I did too considering what was happening between all of us just a little while ago. I don't think they would be able to control themselves if they saw me naked as the day I was born.

I felt someone staring. It sent a shiver down my spine and not in the same way my mates do. It made my skin crawl and Midnight was getting agitated. I jolted upwards and started looking around. "Whoa, careful princess. I don't want to drop you." Leo said to me but I was looking all around. "Honey? Is something wrong?" Hero said. I was still looking around not answering, then Raphael's voice boomed and made me snap out of my trance. "JESSABELLE! What is wrong." I shook my head. "I am not sure. I felt someone's eyes on me and it made my skin crawl. Midnight is on alert right now. It's one of those feelings Raphael." Raphael stood up straight and his eyes glazed over. The triplets and Odette were looking between Raphael and me confused.

Next thing I know Ryan and Jorge are right next to us. "Where was it coming from Jess?" Ryan said between pants as he tried to catch his breath. I closed my eyes and focused on the feeling. I felt it again and I did not want to alert whoever was watching me. I looked up at Ryan and Jorge "The other side of the arena in the woods." Jorge asked "Friendly or unfriendly?" I clenched onto the front of Leo's shirt. "Unfriendly, very unfriendly. It gives me the chills that whoever is over there is staring at me like this. I think its him again." Ryan and Jorge both nodded and left. As soon as they were down from the stands they shifted and ran in the direction I told them to go. "Lets all get to Jess's room and we will explain. Rose and Stella already have a hot bath ready for you Jess, and I am having an omega bring the usual to your room too." Raphael said. I nodded and leaned back onto Leo's shoulder as he carried me to my room.

Once we were all in my room Stella and Rose took me from Leo's arms and helped me hobble my way to the bathroom. Once they got me in the hot water I started scrubbing and scrubbing until I was bright red. Stella's eyes glazed over for a second and she went to the door. Raphael handed her the glass of my usual. It was some of the strongest were-liquor that we had here. Being a bit buzzed was the best way to calm Midnight down when we get feelings like this. I remember the first time something like this happened.

~Flashback~ (4 years ago)

I had just finished training with Jorge and we were running the perimeter of the territory. Midnight was faster than Jorge's wolf, Ash. All of a sudden Midnight stopped and sniffed around. I was feeling like I was dunked in an oozing slime that made my skin crawl. Even in wolf form. Ash and Jorge were trying to get mine and Midnight's attention, but it felt like they were miles away from us.

It was like Midnight and I were being swallowed up in darkness and then we heard a voice that was chilling. "Ah what a beauty in both wolf and human form I have found. You will make a good addition to my collection." Midnight growled and snarled at the voice. "Oh one with fire. Those ones are always the most fun to hunt. You have grown so well since that day." Before I could think or ask what the voice means I heard Raphael's voice boom and Alistar's alpha aura being Midnight and me back out of the darkness. Raphael had forced me to shift back and I passed out afterwards. When I woke up I was in the pack hospital with Ryan, Rose, Jorge, and Raphael all with worried looks on their faces.

“What the hell happened?” I groaned as I tried to sit up. “That is what we want to know.” Jorge came to my side to help me up. “You and Midnight just stopped out of nowhere when we were running around the perimeter in wolf form. Then Midnight started to snarl and growl even though it was only us there. Ash and I tried to use our gamma aura to bring you back to reality, but it was like you guys couldn’t hear or see us. Once Raphael got there, he and Alistar got you to shift back. But you passed out afterwards. So what happened out there Jess?!” I shook my head lightly. “I honestly don’t know myself. I remember running, then it was like I was drowning in darkness and then I heard a man’s voice. It was so cold and stale that it made Midnight very agitated and me sick to my stomach.”

Raphael asked “Did this voice say anything specific Jess?” I nodded. “It said something about me being a rare beauty and that I would make a good addition to his collection, and that he was glad I had grown since that day. Midnight was snarling and growling at the voice. Then I felt Raphael’s voice and Alistar’s aura pulled us out of the darkness and then I woke up here.” Raphael was looking back and forth between me and Jorge. I lowered my head. “I am sorry Jorge, and Midnight wants to tell Ash she is sorry too. We don’t want to do anything that could hurt any of you or this pack.” Jorge hugged me and said. “You don’t have to worry about it Jess. You and Midnight were not being that aggressive towards Ash or me. You just looked like your mind was miles away from your physical body.” That is what it felt like.

Raphael spoke up. “Jess, we are going to try and figure this out as a family. Whoever this bastard thinks he can just claim you and Midnight for some sick collection then he has to get between the whole Thunder Mountain pack. Until we know more about how he could pull yours and Midnight’s congested minds into a video like that, then we will keep you close to the pack house and find ways to keep Midnight from going feral with this stress. This time we had to use the alpha command to force you two to comply, next time we will try something else like wereliquor or something. Last resort would be a shot of wolfsbane, but if I am not here when it happens Ryan and Jorge will need something to calm Midnight if this happens again.” I nodded, “I understand.”

It would happen about once a month, until I started to hear a woman’s voice in my dreams. I had no idea who this woman was, but she made the stress a lot easier and she always said we would meet face to face when the time was right. She would sing a lullaby for Midnight and me. I guess that was what kept the two of us from going feral with all the stress.

~End of Flashback~

I grabbed the cup and downed it. Hoping the effects of the alcohol would calm Midnight down or put her to sleep. Rose and Stella helped me out of the tub and get dressed in some baggy sweats I sometimes sleep in. They helped me out of the bathroom where Raphael, Odette, and my triplets were waiting on the sofas. Stella and Rose helped me over to a nearby chair and sat me down. Ryan and Jorge bursted into my room as soon as I sat down. “That bastard got away again. He is getting bolder.” Ryan said. “What do you mean?” Raphael asked. “He didn’t cover his scent like he normally does when he gives Jess a fright. It was all over the area Jess told us about.” Jorge answered him. “Ok can someone please tell me what is going on? Why does Jess look like she just saw a ghost right now?” Odette yelled. “Hold on my love we will explain in a moment. Jess did he say anything to you this time?” Raphael asked while kneeling in front of me. I shook my head. “No all I felt this time around was his stare and Midnight caught his scent in the wind. I still don’t know why he is after me. I feel scared he is going to hurt one of my alphas.” I said, starting to tear up. I was not someone to cry often, even if I was in physical pain.

“He must have heard Alpha Leo announce she has their mate and Luna. That's why he didn't cover his scent.” Jorge said. Raphael picked me up and placed me on Zero's lap. I clung to him and whimpered like a newborn pup. “What I am going to tell you only those in this room know of. I had planned on telling the triplet alphas tomorrow after breakfast, but since this bastard wastes no time then neither will I.” Raphael looked around the room. Raphael told Odette, Leo, Zero, and Hero all about how I have been hearing a male's voice talking to me and how this unknown male was stalking me. “None of us know why he even wants her.” Raphael had finished. Then the doors bursted open again.

“It is because of her gift.” a woman's voice said. We all looked at the door. Two very beautiful women along with a handsome man came into my room. “Who the hell are you?” Ryan roared, but I grabbed his arm. I turned towards the woman. “What did you say?” I asked while forcing myself to stand. The woman smiled. “I told ya we would meet face to face when the time was right. It is an honor to finally see your face, little one.” Before I could say anything Leo shot up and addressed the woman. “Sasha?! How do you know her already? Did your gifts tell you?” he asked. Sasha? That was one of the betas of Raven Moon. “Yes Leo. My gifts helped me find this special wolf a little over 3 years ago, but I had no idea that she would be yours and the boy's mate. Let me see her for a moment.” Sasha came closer to me and cupped my face in her hands and pressed her forehead to mine. I felt my body become calm, Midnight had become calm, and then everything went black.

True Gifts

Chapter 20 - Wild Love With My Triplet Mates

Raphael's POV

When this girl named Sasha put her forehead on Jess's forehead. Jess became very calm but then she passed out. Leo was quick to grab her before she could fall to the floor. “What the hell did you do to her?!” Ryan yelled. Rose went over to calm her mate down. “I just put her to sleep like I always did. Midnight's stress was too high even, the were-liquor wasn't helping. She will be fine in a couple hours in time for dinner. Leo could you please put her in the bed so she can rest properly?” She asked her alpha. “Alright Sasha, but you have some explaining to do.” Leo said. She nodded and then her eyes glazed over. She must be mink-linking someone. Then the other girl went around to the windows making sure they were locked and secured.

The man did the same thing with the door and then he put a wired paper thing on the door after he closed and locked it. “Sasha, do we really need one of Rico’s talismans on the door?” One of the triplets asked. “Yes Hero. I want to make sure the information I am going to give does not leave those who are in this room.” she exclaimed. Once everyone was back by the sofas and the triplets were sitting close to Jess at the foot of her bed, Sasha began to explain. “Okay first of my name is Sasha Delgado. This here is my older twin brother Ricardo Delgado, we are the beta twins of Raven Moon. We are special wolves just like Jessabelle. I am a teleph wolf, and my brother here is a barrier wolf. I can communicate and read the minds of those around me, and for special wolves I can communicate with them no matter the distance. Rico can create any kind of barrier to keep the ones inside it safe. The barrier he placed on this room keeps the room closed off from the outside world so to speak. If anyone was trying to enter without the consent of the owner would get a small electric shock.” Sasha paused as if waiting for us to absorb the information she has given us so far. “OK, so what did you mean when you told Jess you knew you would meet her face to face?” Jorge asked.

Sasha smiled and said. “When my powers first surfaced I was only 10. 10 seems to be the age when a lot of wolves with gifts tend to get their gifts. At first it is scary and I was worried I would be used for my gifts or feared because of them. Then I had a dream of the Moon Goddess. She told me that she had created Rico and I to protect a very special wolf. When the time was right the wolf would call out to me, and Ruby would help me through what was needed. Basically the Moon Goddess had created my brother and I to be Jessabelle’s personal bodyguards so to speak. When I first felt her wolf call to me it was agitated with fear and the stress was increasing. Before I could help, I lost the connection. Ruby said that she was forced to shift back to her human form.”

I looked up “That was the first time Jess heard that man’s voice in her head. What can you tell us about this man?” I asked. Sasha looked at Rico for a moment, then he spoke up. “We don’t know his name, but from what we have gathered while abroad he is a powerful hybrid. Half wolf and half vampire. He has lived for a long time prying on the Moon Goddess’s gifted children. From what we understand he has traveled from different territories looking for gifted wolves.” I cut him off with a question that has always bothered me. “How can he go in and out of different territories without being noticed. The first couple years whenever Jess gave us a direction, we would find no trace of his scent anywhere. He didn’t start leaving it until last year, and it was always around Jess’s things.”

The young lady who checked the windows finally spoke up. “He is trying to turn her feral with the stress of being hunted. Wolves that go feral are usually banished and turn rouge in the wolf world, so it is how he isolates his targets. No matter how strong the warrior a wolf is, becoming feral puts you in your weakest state of mind.” She said. I looked at her and then towards Jess, still sleeping in her bed. “I am sorry, who are you?” She smiled and bowed “I apologize. Allow me to introduce myself. I am Sophie Delgado. I am the gamma of the Raven Moon pack. I am not a special wolf like my elder siblings, but I am very knowledgeable and have done quite a bit of research and investigations on this man.”

I nodded. “So how can we help Jess?” I asked. Jorge and Ryan shot up too. I knew they wanted to help as well. Jess had become a little sister to all of us. Sasha answered. “There really is nothing you and the members of your pack can do, but give her support and love her unconditionally. Bonds like those are what has kept her and Midnight from becoming feral since this man has set his sights on her. From now on she will need to train with Rico and I to increase her mental strength and prepare her to use her true gift when the time comes.” True gift? “What do you mean true gift?” Was there something Jess has not told us about her?

“All I know is it is a gift the Moon Goddess will give her when she reaches 24 years old. The only way this bastard could have found her anyway else was if he had a sample of her blood.” Jorge paled and shot out of his seat. “That is it! That is how he found her.” We all looked at him. “What do you mean Jorge?” Ryan asked. He turned towards Ryan and me. “Remember that day when Jess told us what happened to her Luna at Red Moon when she was just 13?” “Yeah, she and the luna were attacked by rogues and then the luna died saving Jess.” Ryan stated. Jorge shook his head and said “That's not the only thing that happened that day. Jess said that one of the rogues bit her arm. That is how that bastard got her blood and found her in the first place. He must have been watching her for longer than we thought.” I was fuming. If Jess didn't leave Red Moon when she did. Midnight would have turned feral for sure. With how they treated her then.

How could someone be so sick and power hungry that they would stalk a woman from the age of 13 just to take her powers. I turned to the triplets. “Leo. Zero. Hero. I would like to enter a full long term alliance with Raven Moon. Jess is like a younger sister to me and most of the pack. I know Raven Moon would give their lives to protect her, but I want to be there as well for whatever is needed.” Leo, Zero, and Hero all looked at each other and then Leo nodded to me. “We would like that very much Raphael. Jessabelle is our Luna, our love, our reading for breathing. We would move heaven and earth to keep her safe from this man.” one of them said. I guess Jess is the only one to really tell them apart. I thought to myself. I nodded back and said “Then while Jess sleeps we can draw up a formal treaty and I'll bring it back for your three to sign. I know you don't want to leave her right now. Ryan you stay with Jess as well. Mind link me if you need anything.” Ryan nodded and stood between Jess and the window. “Sophie, please go with Alpha Raphael to help draw up the treaty. Sasha and Rico will stay here with us.” With that Odette, Sophie, Jorge, and I went to my office to draw up the treaty. Rose and Stella went to go check on the children and Ryan, Sasha, Rico and the triplets stayed with Jess. I praised to the Moon Goddess that we can catch this son of a bitch before she turns 24 and we don't have a whole lot of time. Jessabelle's 24th birthday was in 3 months.
