

My Bossy CEO Husband Chapter 323 - 330

Chapter: 323

Karina was speechless.

What a mean man!

“Listen, Karina. He said he’s here to collect his debt. If you don’t have the money to repay him, I’ll cover it for you,” Rosalynn whispered, pulling Karina aside.

“No. The sponsor already gave me some money. I have enough to pay him back.”

Karina retrieved her phone and transferred twenty thousand dollars to Barlow’s account, settling her debt with him. “There, I’ve paid you back!”

Barlow chuckled and accepted the payment. “You’re running a talent agency?” he asked curiously.

“Yes,” Karina replied, Lifting her chin slightly with an air of pride.

Barlow noticed her expression and smiled.

“Rosalynn, why did you come with him?” Karina inquired.

“Wee”

“Because we spent nearly the entire day together.” Barlow smiled at Rosalynn.

Karina’s eyes widened. She tugged on Rosalynn’s clothing and whispered, “Rosalynn, are you two dating?”

Rosalynn shook her head. “Don’t be ridiculous. My grandfather saved his aunt, and I just happened to run into him.”

It turned out to be Like that.

Karina glanced at Barlow and said, “You’ve got your money. Why are you still here?”

“Are you going to drive me away?” asked Barlow, raising his eyebrows. hat else? Do you expect me to invite you for dinner?”

Well, I just acquired a film and television company a couple of days ago, and I’m searching for a partner. But if you insist, I’LL Leave.”

Barlow pretended to walk away.

Karina was surprised. She hurriedly stopped him. “Please don’t go. The event is starting soon. You can leave after enjoying the performance.”

With his help, she could increase her earnings.

She couldn’t afford to upset him!

“So, you don’t want to go anymore?” Barlow asked with a playful smile.

Chapter: 324

Karina smiled awkwardly, “I was just joking. After watching the show, you’ll see that even though our agency is new, it’s quite capable. If you’re looking for a partner, you should consider us.”

Barlow pretended to be lost in thought. “Really? I’ll think about it.”

“Okay.”

Karina nodded enthusiastically. “I’ll treat you to dinner another day.”

Rosalynn frowned and stepped in front of Karina.

“Are you doing something illegal in the name of the film company?” she asked Barlow

When he heard this, Barlow chuckled. “Rosalynn, is that what you think of me?” un Group has a tainted reputation.”

“That’s in the past. Even criminals deserve a chance to change, right?”

His argument made sense.

But she was still a little worried.

Rosalynn looked at Barlow suspiciously.

Barlow narrowed his eyes and asked, “What’s the matter? Don’t you trust me?”

Rosalynn remained silent.

Just then, the performance was about to begin.

The crowd rushed to the stage.

When someone pushed through the crowd, Barlow instinctively wrapped his arm around Rosalynn’s shoulder.

“Stay close.”

At the mall, Brian patrolled alongside several department managers.

He spotted Barlow with his arm around Rosalynn.

He was filled with anger in an instant. His mood soured.

No wonder she refused to be his girlfriend.

It turned out that she had chosen Barlow.

Chapter: 325

Rosalynn felt someone’s gaze on her.

When she tried to identify who it was, she overheard a group of women chatting.

“Who is that man? He’s so handsome.”

“Absolutely. He’s more charming and elegant than any male celebrity I’ve seen.”

“Look at him. Is he Looking at me?”

“No, he’s Looking at me.”

Rosalynn followed the women’s gazes and spotted Brian, dressed in a suit and wearing a cold expression.

He stared at her intensely, his cold demeanor making it difficult for her to breathe.

Was he furious?

Rosalynn instinctively glanced at Barlow.

Realizing she was in Barlow’s embrace, she was taken aback and quickly moved away to maintain some distance.

Barlow also saw Brian.

Noticing her action, he chuckled and whispered in her ear. you look like a wife being caught cheating on her husband.”

“Rosalynn,

Her heart raced as a hint of embarrassment flashed in her eyes.

“Barlow, keep your distance from me.”

It sounded as if she were involved with both men at the same time.

But in reality, she had no romantic ties to either of them.

At that moment, they were close, and in Brian’s eyes, it seemed they were sharing secrets.

His displeasure only grew.

Several department managers nearby sensed the brewing tension and grew increasingly anxious.

“Mr. Hughes, is there an issue with the brand opening ceremony? If so, I’ll immediately request the owner to rectify it,” one of the managers asked.

Chapter: 326

Brian’s expression darkened as he replied, “No.”

There was no issue with the brand owner; his dissatisfaction stemmed from the attendees.

Not far away, Barlow noticed Brian’s arrival and grinned, pulling Rosalynn closer.

Rosalynn frowned. “Barlow, what are you doing?”

“Rosalynn, shouldn’t you greet an acquaintance?”

Before she could respond, Barlow guided Rosalynn to stand in front of Brian.

“Brian, what a coincidence to see you here! Are you here to inspect the shopping mall?”

Brian showed no interest as he gave them a cold glance. He saw Rosalynn trying to free herself from

Barlow’s hold and asked in a cold tone, “Are you two on a date?”

Barlow smiled happily. “Sort of. Rosalynn and I have spent nearly the entire day together. We even cooked Lunch together. Rosalynn is really good at cooking.”

He was blatantly bragging.

Brian pursed his lips and looked at Rosalynn coldly.

Without uttering another word, he turned and walked away.

Rosalynn balled her fingers and looked at his tall back. She didn’t know why she felt a Little uncomfortable.

Although she wanted to establish boundaries, she didn’t want to be misunderstood.

“Rosalynn, my brother seems upset. Is he mad at me for dating you?”

Barlow whispered playfully into Rosalynn’s ear.

“Barlow! If you dare spout nonsense again, I’ll cut off your tongue!”

Rosalynn warned with a cold face.

With an innocent look, Barlow replied, “Rosalynn, you’re so fierce.”

Rosalynn shot him a cold glance before turning to Karina, who was staring at them with wide eyes.

“Karina, I’m tired, so I’ll go back first.”

Blinking her eyes, Karina said, “Alright. Have a safe drive.”

Chapter: 327

Her best friend seemed to be in a foul mood.

Could it be because of Brian?

“Okay. Rosalynn nodded, preparing to leave.

A man was steadily moving closer to her in the corner.

He was dressed in black and reached into his pocket.

Brian remained quiet, signaling to the attendants to resume their work.

His chest felt weighed down, causing discomfort.

He couldn’t resist glancing back, wanting another look at Rosalynn and Barlow.

He wanted to see what they were up to now.

But as he looked back, he noticed something odd.

The man in black had a sharp blade in his hand.

He approached Rosalynn step by step. His face was covered by the mask, but his eyes were full of malice.

He intended to harm Rosalynn.

Brian's eyes narrowed as he sprinted to her.

“Rosalynn, watch out!”

Rosalynn sensed the danger.

As the man in black lunged at her with the blade, she evaded instinctively.

She narrowly avoided the assailant's strike.

The man missed his first attempt to stab her, but he persisted and made another vicious thrust toward her.

Rosalynn remained in shock.

People behind her were screaming and running, leaving her with no space to retreat.

Brian rushed over, pulling Rosalynn into his arms and delivering a powerful kick to the man in black. re you okay?” Brian asked, short of breath.

Chapter: 328

I'm fine.” Rosalynn nodded her head.

The man in black, now on the floor, quickly got up and lunged toward Brian and Rosalynn.

“Watch out!” Rosalynn warned.

Brian swiftly moved her behind him and fought back the man in black with a steely resolve.

The man in black stabbed Brian unscrupulously with the knife in his hand.

He moved with a remarkable agility, indicating that he was not an ordinary thug.

Rosalynn narrowed her eyes as she saw Brian’s arm wounded by the knife, and she felt the urge to assist him.

“Rosalynn, come here.” Karina was frightened. She pulled Rosalynn to a corner.

“Rosalynn, find a place to hide with Karina.” Suddenly, Barlow spoke up and rushed into the fight.

Together, they managed to disarm the knife-wielding attacker in a flash.

Injured and facing an unfavorable situation, the man in black quickly retreated, Leaving his weapon behind.

“Stop!”

Barlow attempted to pursue him, but stopped as the man disappeared into the crowd.

“Edwin, send someone to search for the man immediately,” Brian ordered Edwin in a cold voice.

“Yes, sir.”

With a stern expression, Edwin instructed security to evacuate the crowd and called his team to track down the assailant.

Still in shock, Rosalynn approached Brian, eyes fixed on his bleeding arm. “Are you okay?”

Brian looked down at her and saw her pale face.

Was she concerned for him?

“Brian, you need to get to a hospital,” Barlow urged.

Brian glanced at him and replied firmly, “No.”

“Why not? Let me take you to the hospital.” Rosalynn frowned. She held Brian subconsciously.

Chapter: 329

Brian responded, “I won’t go to the hospital. Stay with me.”

Rosalynn felt helpless as she looked at the man’s attractive face and remembered the incident that just occurred, her heart softened.

He had saved her once more. She should grant his request.

“Okay.” She nodded.

Brian offered a small smile, glancing at Barlow before turning away.

Raising his eyebrows, Barlow watched the two leave with a faint smile on his face.

Karina remained shaken

She breathed a sigh of relief and patted her chest as she watched Brian and Rosalynn walk away.

“That was so close. If it weren’t for Brian, Rosalynn could have been hurt. I wonder who that man was.

He had the audacity to attack her in broad daylight.”

Who could he be?

Barlow’s eyes narrowed, deep in thought.

“What’s the matter?” Barlow responded.

Karina took a moment to gather her thoughts. “Even though I support your pursuit of Rosalynn, I don’t believe you two can end up together.”

Intrigued, Barlow raised an eyebrow. “Why do you think that?”

“Because Rosalynn isn’t interested in you,” Karina replied.

She resented Brian for his foolishness and failing to realize what a good girl Rosalynn was. However, she could see that Rosalynn cared for Brian.

Love couldn’t be forced.

Both Rosalynn and Karina were stubborn.

Barlow's pursuit was destined to fail.

"She doesn't Like me? Am I not good enough?" Barlow asked with a grin.

"With all the negative rumors surrounding you, do you truly believe you're a good catch?" Karina retorted, glancing at him.

Barlow chuckled and said, "I almost slept with you. That's bad too, right?"

Chapter: 330

Karina found herself at a loss for words.

Was he going to hold this over her for the rest of her life?

"Never bring that up again!" Karina exclaimed, furiously stomping on Barlow's foot.

Barlow felt the pain and said, "I think I should find some famous agency. Well, I'm Leaving now."

Karina was shocked.

How could she have upset someone who could potentially help her earn money?

"I apologize. I didn't mean it. How about I help clean your shoe?"

Karina was about to crouch down.

Barlow stopped her and asked, “Are you good at acting? Why do you change so fast?”

“Making a living isn’t easy.”

Barlow didn’t know how to respond.

Meanwhile, Rosalynn and Brian got into the car.

The driver drove them both to Beauty Apartments.

During the ride, they remained silent. Rosalynn found a towel and temporarily bandaged Brian’s injury.

She recalled that Brian’s other arm had been wounded as well.

It was also her fault.

Now both of his arms were hurt.

“Are you sure you don’t need to go to the hospital?” Rosalynn asked, glancing up at the man.

Brian replied indifferently, “Aren’t you skilled in first aid?”

Rosalynn pursed her Lips and said, “Thank you for saving me just now.”

Brian’s anger hadn’t subsided.
