Married At First Sight Chapter 2861-Kiera said, "If I get together with Julian, I can move out after marriage and stay away from my parents-in-law."

After Mrs. Caron was silent, she said, "If his mother doesn't accept you, even if you don't live together, it would be very easy for her to find fault with you and destroy your relationship as a couple. Can't he sever ties with his biological mother because of you?"

Kiera stopped talking. After a while, she sighed and said, "Mom, do you mean to tell me not to accept Julian? I thought it through originally, but now I'm confused again. I don't know what to do. I think it's better to live alone. A little bit, you don't have to deal with those complicated interpersonal relationships.

My temperament is not suitable for dealing with people who are too narrow-minded. It is said that mothers-in-law in wealthy families are difficult to get along with. There are few people who are as sensible as Serenity and Jasmine's mother-in-law. I heard Serenity say, When she first got together with Zachary, her mother-in-law couldn't accept her from the bottom of her heart."

"But her mother-in-law has never done anything to hurt her or damage the husband and wife. When others gossip about her, her mother-in-law will publicly defend her and scold those who gossip about her, saying that her mother-in-law has always been elegant, generous, and well-educated, but she cursed people to protect her.

It's the same. She actually doesn't spend much time with her mother-in-law, but she respects her parents-in-law very much. I think there are relatively few mothers-in-law like this."

Mrs. Caron said to her, "You haven't met Julian's parents yet; how do you know his parents don't like you? You have to meet them first."

Kiera said, "But I'm afraid that if I fall in love with him and have a relationship, his parents won't like me and want to separate us. Wouldn't it be extremely painful? In this case, it's better not to develop in the first place and just maintain the status quo, like now. In this way, we can be brothers and friends."

Mrs. Caron: "..."

“Auntie, auntie, are you at home?”

When Mrs. Caron was speechless, the mother and daughter heard someone calling Mrs. Caron downstairs. The voice sounded like it belonged to Julian.

Kiera was originally calm, but because of her mother’s words, her mood was confused again. When she heard Julian’s cry, she didn’t know how to face Julian for a moment, so she said to her mother, “Mom, it seems that Julian is back. You go and have a look; don’t tell him that I’m upstairs and I don’t know how to face him yet.”

Mrs. Caron: “Don’t think so much; just let nature take its course. Maybe Julian’s parents will like you very much.”

Mrs. Caron comforted Kiera, then got up, walked out of the room, and went downstairs. Julian was still shouting downstairs. He entered the kitchen and saw the dishes washed and the hot pot soup base prepared, but Mrs. Caron was missing.

“Julian, I went upstairs to collect the clothes. You came back so early today. You used to come back at seven or eight o’clock.”

Mrs. Caron responded to Julian as she went downstairs, still saying, “It’s snowing now, and it’s getting late. Why haven’t Kiera and her brothers come back? Julian, don’t you need to socialize?”

“I’ll just finish my work during the day and leave the social work to others. Brother Cheng and the others will be back soon. Auntie, isn’t Kiera back?”

Julian wanted to find Kiera, but Kendrick advised him not to look for it and told Kiera to calm down.

He resisted chasing after Kiera and returned to Caron’s house to help Mrs. Caron prepare dinner. After seeing the situation in the kitchen, she didn’t need his help.

Where did Kiera go?

When it snows, where will she go?

Kiera didn't have any good best friends, and she had very few female friends. The only ones she could chat with were her senior brothers and a few senior sisters.

Julian's heart was tied to Kiera.

"I don't know if she's back. Don't you usually go to the martial arts gym first after getting off work? Didn't you see her in any martial arts gym?"

Mrs. Caron lied until her face turned red and she was out of breath. The answer she gave Julian was not absolute. Anyway, she had just gone upstairs to collect her clothes. She didn't know what was strange about her daughter's not coming back?

Married At First Sight Chapter 2862-Julian smiled guiltily and said, "I went to the martial arts gym, and she said she had something to do. I thought she had gone home. Auntie, is there anything you need my help with?"

Mrs. Caron walked to the sofa and sat down, took out the TV remote control, turned on the TV, and said, "We're going to have hot pot tonight. The ingredients are all ready. There's nothing more to do. Julian, come over and chat with me."

"okay."

Julian was happy to chat with his future mother-in-law. If he behaves well, her mother-in-law will like him more and more.

He went to pour a glass of warm water for Mrs. Caron and then sat down opposite her. With a warm smile on his face, he asked with a warm smile, "Auntie, what do you want to talk about?"

"Let's talk casually; talk about home life; talk about children; that's all a housewife like me can talk about." Mrs. Caron put down the TV remote control, looked at Julian, and suddenly asked, "Julian, you have not been in love or married in your thirties. Are your parents very demanding? They don't like the girls you like, so you are angry and don't want to fall in love and get married?"

Julian's black eyes flickered. Mrs. Caron rarely asked him this question, but suddenly... Kiera was back, and the mother and daughter were talking. Kiera might have told her mother about his sudden confession.

Is it Kiera or Mrs. Caron who is worried that the front door of his Bucham family is difficult to enter?

"Auntie, to tell you the truth, my parents are very anxious. The only requirement they have for me is that the person I want to marry must be a woman. As long as I am willing to get married, they will be happy. Their requirements for their daughter-in-law are really not high. "

Mrs. Caron: "To put it this way, when you really meet a girl you like, but she is not the type your parents like, their attitude will change. People are like this. They want it when they don't have it, and they want it again after they have it. The better ones will be picky in all kinds of ways."

The human heart is never satisfied and always wants more and better.

Julian was silent. He raised his head and looked upstairs. He seemed to see someone shrinking back. He knew that Kiera was eavesdropping upstairs.

"Auntie, other people's parents may be like that, but my parents are not like that. There is something that I have been hiding from everyone. I am embarrassed to say it. In fact, I am sick. It is because of my illness that I am 30 years old. Many of them are still single."

Hearing this, Mrs. Caron's eyes widened, and she looked Julian up and down in disbelief.

Kiera, who was hiding upstairs and eavesdropping, was also stunned.

Is Julian sick?

Because he was ill, he did not get married in his thirties.

Is it inhumane?

Or is it a terminal illness with a short life expectancy?

But Julian didn't look like someone suffering from a terminal illness.

That meant he was inhumane.

Mrs. Caron came to her senses and asked, "What's wrong with you? You look very healthy. You don't look like a patient, no matter what."

Julian: "Auntie, Kiera is upstairs, right? I want to confess everything to her."

Mrs. Caron nodded instinctively.

Married At First Sight Chapter 2863-Julian stood up and said to Mrs. Caron, "Auntie, let me go upstairs and talk to Kiera. I will tell Kiera without reservation about my illness."

Mrs. Caron: "Oh, okay, you guys have a nice chat, and I'll ask you to come downstairs for dinner later."

Julian walked upstairs.

Mrs. Caron looked at his back and murmured in a low voice, "I can't tell that he is sick. What is wrong with him? Is it because he is sick that he is unmarried at such an old age?"

Is there something wrong with older young people not getting married? Well, what if...My daughter still doesn't know when she will find a boyfriend. We really like Julian."

Mrs. Caron regarded Julian as her son-in-law.

Kiera heard Julian say that he was sick and heard him say that he wanted to go upstairs. She turned around and went back to her room, pretending not to know that Julian was chatting with her mother downstairs.

Soon, Julian arrived at the door of Kiera's room. He raised his hand and knocked on the door.

"The door is unlocked. Come in." Kiera responded.

Julian twisted the doorknob and actually opened the door. He pushed the door open and entered without closing the door again.

“Kiera.”

Kiera sat on the sofa and watched him push the door open. She wanted to act surprised, but she couldn't act because she didn't know how to act. In the end, she just watched him walk over in silence.

Julian sat down next to her. He said, “Kiera, I want to talk to you.”

“Drink water?” Kiera asked him.

After thinking for a while, Julian replied, “Give me a glass of warm water.”

He's afraid that if he talks too much later, his mouth will become dry.

Kiera stood up and poured him a glass of warm water, then sat down again, looked at him, pursed her lips, and asked proactively, “Julian, I heard what you said to my mom downstairs. Yes, you said you were sick. What is it? Is it serious? Tell us what problem you have, and we will introduce you to an expert doctor in that area.”

Julian replied, “I have seen a doctor, and the doctor said that medical science is helpless with me. They have no way to cure me. They can only wait and see if God wants me to live a normal life.”

Hearing this, Kiera looked worried and nervous.

Kiera said, “What problem is so serious that doctors can't do anything about it? You have to go to several hospitals. Sometimes, the test results from one hospital will be wrong.”

Julian: “I have seen many doctors, and the results are all the same. There is no mistake. In fact, I am still single because of this disease.”

Kiera: “You haven't said the reason yet.”

After Julian was silent for a moment, he stared at her and said in a low voice, “Apathy.”

Kiera was stunned. What kind of disease is this?

She had never heard of the disease.

Julian explained it to her.

Kiera stared at him blankly for a long time, then she asked him: “You mean, in your situation, only when you meet a girl who can make you attracted and responsive can you become a normal man, and have you only reacted to that girl in this life and not to other women?”

Married At First Sight Chapter 2864

Married At First Sight Chapter 2864-Julian nodded. “Yes, that’s why I haven’t gotten married because I don’t respond to those women. I can’t marry someone back and be a widow just for my own sake, right?”

My family was also very anxious and arranged countless blind dates for me. I didn’t want to go on blind dates anymore, so they showed me pictures of girls, hoping that one of them would make me react.

As long as I look at a girl a few more times or say a few words to her, my parents will think that I like them, which makes me extremely helpless. In the end, I have to stay away from women to prevent my parents from misunderstanding.

Kiera, I was prepared to be a bachelor all my life. Who knew that at the airport in Wiltspoon, I picked up a bunch of your keys? There was a small photo on the keychain. I saw you in the small photo. I want to kiss you inexplicably; my heart beats faster, and I even blush quietly.

This feeling has never happened to me in the past 30 years. I think it is a heartbeat—a normal man’s reaction.

You are the only person in this world who can save me and turn me into a normal man because you are the destined daughter that God set up for me.

Kiera was stunned for a while while listening to it with relish, as if she were listening to a story.

If she hadn’t been the heroine of his story, she would have actually thought she was listening to one.

“Kiera.” Julian took one of Kiera’s hands and said seriously, “Kiera, what I said is true. I really fell in love with you at first sight. I won’t ever again succumb to temptation from a woman in this life besides you.

You need not be concerned that I am merely attempting to be different or that my perspective is shifting. This kind of thing will never happen to me because I am a sick person, and only you can cure my illness.

You don’t have to worry that my parents don’t like you. You really don’t have to worry. In fact, they have known about your existence for a long time and have always supported me in getting close to you and cultivating feelings with you. It’s just that I was a little stupid and got along with you. For such a long time, I haven’t dared to confess to you.

I’m not afraid of you laughing at me, so I still called my cousin, Josh, to ask for advice. He told me that if I love you, I have to confess to you. I want you to know that I love you. Let you know, I don’t want to be your buddy; I just want to be your boyfriend and your future husband.”

Julian said it very sincerely.

Kiera had no doubts about his words.

She believed that Julian would not lie to her. Although she didn’t understand apathy, she believed that Julian didn’t need to lie to her.

Kiera asked, “Where are my keys?”

Because she did drop a bunch of keys when she was in Wiltspoon, and the bunch of keys did have a photo of her on it, and she carried it with her.

After she dropped it, she searched everywhere but couldn’t find it. It turned out that Julian had picked it up.

“I keep it here with me all the time. When no one is around, I will take it out, look at it, and secretly kiss you in the photo.”

Julian took out a bunch of keys. There was also a photo of Kiera on the keychain.

Kiera got the key back and confirmed that it was indeed hers.

When she heard that no one was there, he took it out to look at it and secretly kissed her in the photo. Kiera's face turned red inexplicably.

Julian was kissing her photo, and she felt like he was kissing her face.

"Did you find me through this little photo after you found my key?" Kiera asked him.

Julian nodded honestly.

"So, you've investigated me?"

If Kiera couldn't figure it out, she is a fool.

Julian had a lot of money. If he asks someone to take her photos and investigate everything about her, he will definitely get results that satisfy him. Then, he will... He said that she is his savior, and he is so close to her.

She helped him on the streets of Wiltspoon late that night. Was it by chance or a drama arranged by him?
