Married At First Sight Chapter 2906-Matthias changed his position, patted his side, and motioned for Callum to sit next to him.

Callum sat down, looked at the big brocade box in front of Rosella, and asked Matthias softly, “Dad, what did my mother buy for my wife?”

Matthias said, “There is a set of jewelry in her trousseau. It is a piece of retro-style jewelry. Your mother wore it when she was young and then kept it. I took it out tonight when I thought about it. That set of jewelry is very suitable for your wife. She is tall and slim. She is naturally noble and can hold up that set of jewelry.”

Callum smiled: “I have already given several sets of jewelry to Camryn in my mother’s trousseau. I am still giving them away. I have two younger brothers, and my mother will have two daughters-in-law in the future.”

Of course Callum was happy when Rosella gave something nice to Camryn, but he also wanted to leave some for his two future sisters-in-law, lest they say that his mother is partial and is not conducive to the harmonious development of the family.

Callum also felt that Camryn had no shortage of jewelry. She couldn’t finish wearing all the jewelry he gave her.

Matthias said, “Your mother and your aunts all have their own small jewelry storehouse. It’s not like you don’t know that there are many more in the jewelry storehouse. When your mother married me before, the dowry was real. There are so many red makeups filling the room.

You are the eldest son, and Camryn is the eldest daughter-in-law. The first daughter-in-law is the one your mother loves the most. She has already stated that the three daughters-in-law will inherit her jewelry in the future. It is normal for the eldest daughter-in-law to inherit more.

Your two future sisters-in-law shouldn’t mind. Your grandma always looks at character when choosing her granddaughter-in-law. If she is petty and careless, your grandma will definitely look down on her. Don’t worry.”

Callum curled his lips and said in a low voice, “Dad, don’t you think my mother has stolen my limelight? She always gives so much jewelry to my wife. My wife is also filial. She always wears what my mother gives me. Yes, that would take up my position, and all the jewelry I gave her would be buried in dust.”

Matthias smiled. “You go complain to your mother. It’s useless to complain to me. Everyone in Wiltspoon knows that I, Matthias, am a strict henpecker.”

Callum: “...”

Why did he feel so proud when his dad said he was a strict wife?

The mother-in-law and daughter-in-law opposite, who were as good as mother and daughter, did not pay attention to the conversation between dad and son.

Rosella put the brocade box in front of Camryn and said to her daughter-in-law, “Camryn, this set of jewelry doesn’t look good on me now. I’m old and can’t afford the luxury of this set of jewelry. You are still young, and your appearance and temperament are all very good. I think it will suit you very well. I’ve given it to you. I’m going to attend a banquet in two days. It’s all those noble ladies. I want to take you with me. Just in time, you will stun them with this set of jewelry. By the way, are you free in the next two days?”

Camryn said she wanted to bring her daughter-in-law to the banquet, and then she remembered to ask her daughter-in-law if she was free. But the daughter-in-law also managed a lot of business.

Camryn smiled and said, “Mom wants to take me to the banquet. I’ll be free anytime.”

She had not yet appeared with her mother-in-law. It wasn’t long before she and Callum got their marriage certificates.

When she was unmarried, she couldn’t see. Even if Rosella was willing to take her and take care of her, she didn’t want to go with her. She was afraid that being a blind woman would become the focus of other people’s jokes and affect her mother-in-law’s mood.

“Mom, I want to go too.” As soon as Callum heard that Rosella was going to bring Camryn to the banquet, he immediately said, “I’ll be free in two days.”

He was worried about Camryn. Even if he knew that Rosella could protect Camryn, he didn’t feel at ease. He had to follow her to feel at ease.

Married At First Sight Chapter 2907-Rosella looked at Callum, smiled, and said, “It’s all the ladies and daughters gathered together. You, a grown man, go with me! Just go with me if you don’t mind them making fun of you. I usually ask you to accompany me to attend banquets, but you always say you are busy. Now I want to take your wife out to meet friends, so you just say you are free. Why are you afraid that I will sell your wife?”

Rosella teased Callum, “Don’t worry, I will keep your wife intact.”

Callum’s face turned red, and he smiled: “I’m not worried. Mom won’t sell your daughter-in-law to me, even if she sells me. I’m just really free. I was really busy before, but now the younger brothers can all help, and those of us who are older brothers have been tired for so many years, and now and then we can take a vacation.”

The sixth and seventh elders could all help.

Callum added, “Mom, you’re a protector of shortcomings. You love Camryn the most. Who dares to touch Camryn’s finger? If you know, it would be weird if you don’t chop off that person’s hand. I really don’t worry at all.”

Rosella laughed, as if she didn’t know what Callum was thinking.

“Since you want to go along, then go ahead. It’s just in time to show everyone how well-matched my son and daughter-in-law are.” Rosella said, “That Mrs. Welsh often shows off in front of us how wonderful her son and daughter-in-law are. She says that her son is handsome and her daughter-in-law is pretty. I want her to see what the combination of handsome and pretty means. I will go out with my son and daughter-in-law, kill them instantly, and leave them behind for a few blocks.”

When wives usually got together, the topics they often talked about were husbands and children. If they had a daughter-in-law, the daughter-in-law would also be mentioned.

Under normal circumstances, Rosella would not talk about her son and daughter-in-law as a topic. She felt that even the daily lives of some sons and daughters-in-law involved the privacy of young people.

She didn’t like others inquiring into her family’s privacy, and she didn’t like to tell anyone about it.

No matter how others boasted about their sons or daughters-in-law, she just listened to them as if they were stories.

If someone brought up the topic of her son and daughter-in-law, she would change the topic in a few words. Everyone was a smart person, so they knew that she was not willing to use her daughter-in-law as a topic.

No sensible person would talk about her daughter-in-law again.

People in the York family had always guarded their shortcomings. In the past, Tania’s defense of serenity spread throughout the circle of wives in Wiltspoon. Even when Camryn was still blind, no one dared say a word about Camryn in front of Rosella.

After all, they didn’t want to offend the wives of the York family.

Camryn glanced at Callum and said with a smile, “Just don’t go. You’ll play two games of chess with my dad at home.”

Callum’s handsome face immediately fell, and he said aggrievedly, “Honey, you don’t love me anymore. You went to the banquet with my mother and didn’t take me with you. You don’t want me to go with you. I don't want to play chess with my dad. My dad's chess skills are just like that. We respect our elders. We were afraid that dad would lose us and lose face."

Matthias said, "How about we, dad and son, try playing a few games now?"

Callum shuts up immediately.

Camryn said with a smile: "If you go along and see that the people at the party are all women and everyone is staring at you, you will be very embarrassed, and then you will keep clinging to me, and I will be embarrassed too. Instead of doing this, why don't you stay at home and play chess with dad and compete with each other while mom and I have a party with our friends?"

Rosella echoed, "That's right, if you follow me, you will become the candy on Camryn's body. It will stick tightly, and Camryn will feel at ease."

Callum: "Well, I won't follow you. I'll stay at home. When you have enough fun, I will pick you up and take you home."
