

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2671

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2671-Ignoring Faiyar, Jared maintained a frosty stare at them. Given that Viola had put a great distance between them, Jared was certain that she had gone to get Ghaylen. The latter's arrival would definitely relieve them of their current predicament.

In the meantime, Faiyar knew that dragging the battle was detrimental to him. Viola's escape had allowed her to potentially return with a horde of cultivators to hunt them down. "Kid, regardless of the black magic you use, there's no escape for you today."

The flames on Faiyar's body soared into the air. "Who says I'm trying to escape?" The instant Jared finished, he raised Dragonslayer Sword and thundered, "Vortex Slash!"

Jared's shout heralded a blistering flash rising into the air from Dragonslayer Sword. The light that resulted seemed to tear the sky apart before falling down upon Faiyar.

At the same time, the Power of Three within Jared surged out like a tidal wave. This time, Jared didn't hold back as he channeled all his power into his sword to fire it up for maximum devastation.

The sword screamed through the air, causing the sky to tremble under its overwhelming power. The terrifying light from the sword looked as if it was going to pierce through the sky itself. Faiyar couldn't help but frown as he stared at Jared's impending attack.

"Is a Manifestor really capable of wielding power of such magnitude?" As a Third Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator, Faiyar's heart began to throb anxiously due to the impressive power Jared had demonstrated.

After being briefly distracted, Faiyar instantaneously ignited his body into a ball of inferno. He then backed off rapidly instead of facing Jared head-on.

Amidst his retreat, he noticed that the sword which was bearing down upon him a moment ago had changed directions toward his subordinates. Startled by the sudden turn of events, Faiyar realized that they were the target all along, instead of him.

“Take cover!” he roared. Unfortunately, it was already too late. All his subordinates could see was a blinding flash by the time they realized the danger.

“Argh!” The lot of them let out a thunderous battle cry as their bodies ignited in flames. Countless infernos subsequently combined themselves into a shield, allowing them to brace themselves against Jared’s attack.

Soon, the blistering light chopped down on the Faiyar’s subordinates. Underneath its terrifying force, the shield formed from infernos easily shattered as if it was just as fragile as glass.

Boom! Along with an earth-shattering rumble, a massive crater with a diameter of a hundred meters appeared. The entire mountain tremored while countless trees disintegrated into dust. Smoke subsequently filled the air, blocking off the sun and obscuring the view of the surroundings.

The scene before Faiyar unsettled him, for he knew that it was unlikely for his subordinates to have survived such a devastating attack.

Once the dust began to settle, Faiyar hurried over to the crater to check. The moment he arrived, he was blown away by what he saw.

All that was left of his subordinates were a pile of mush and a few dancing infernos. He couldn’t even tell one apart from another. Staring at the residual infernos, Jared pulled them into his hand with a casual wave.

He was aware that they were left behind by the dead subordinates and were probably similar to: the golden elixirs of cultivators and beast cores of demon beasts.

“Give me back their life cores!” Faiyar bellowed when he saw Jared take the infernos away. As long as the life cores continue burning, he was still able to resurrect his subordinates.

“These are my battle trophies. Why should I give them to you?” Jared sneered before chucking the infernos into his Storage Ring. “Since you refuse, you’ll have to die!”

Faiyar’s eyes widened with rage burning within them.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2672

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2672-Viola's stern expression softened slightly as she felt the warmth of Jared's hand, and she soon found herself staring dreamily at him. Shortly after, they reached a forest where Faiyar came to a halt, ceasing his attempt to escape.

Jared promptly followed suit upon noticing Faiyar's pause. Why would Faiyar stop running all of a sudden? There must be a trap or something nearby!

With a calm demeanor, Faiyar turned to Jared and delivered his ominous message. "Mark my words, punk! I will avenge my subordinates!"

The flames on his body cascaded down like flowing water, shaping a scorching symbol on the ground surrounding him. After a brief pause, Jared exclaimed, "A Teleportation Array? You're not escaping that easily!"

With Dragonslayer Sword in hand, Jared leaped into the air and sent a light attack flying straight at Faiyar. Right when the light was about to hit Faiyar, he vanished in a burst of radiant white light..

"F*ck! He got away! I can't believe he set up a Teleportation Array here in advance! He sure is a cautious one!" Jared muttered in frustration as he witnessed Faiyar's successful escape.

"Let's hurry up and head back, Mr. Chance. The huge commotion might attract a lot of unwanted attention. We'd be in huge trouble if someone shows up and discovers Ms. Viola," said Ghaylen.

"Very well, let's head back," Jared responded with a nod, and the trio made their way back to the hidden cave. After assisting Viola in donning a disguise, the trio departed from the cave and made their way back to Ghaylen's base.

As Viola's eyes welled up with tears, she witnessed Ghaylen's once majestic and thriving base reduced to ruins. Only a few disciples from Ghaylen's generation remained, solemnly guarding the remnants of their once glorious home.

However, she had to keep her emotions hidden. so that no one would grow suspicious of her identity. Viola's current identity was that of a new disciple that Ghaylen had taken in.

"Ms. Viola, Bilius has laid waste to most of the houses, leaving us with limited accommodation at the moment. Regrettably, you'll have to stay with Mr.

Chance for now. To avoid raising suspicions, we've disguised you as a male, and it would be best not to arrange a separate unit for you," Ghaylen explained.

Viola understood that Ghaylen was deliberately trying to give her and Jared a chance to spend more time together.

"Sure thing," she replied with a nod. Then, turning toward Jared, she asked, "Are you okay with us sleeping together?" Jared nodded as well. "I'll be spending the night cultivating, so it's no problem at all!"

"Very well, then. I'll go prepare some herbs to help Mr. Chance recover his strength," Ghaylen said before heading out.

Jared settled into a cross-legged position on the floor, and with practiced precision, he began performing intricate hand seals to aid his recovery. The medicinal pool would soon be activated, so he would have to be at peak energy levels as soon as possible.

As Viola stared silently at Jared, she found her heart racing again. She couldn't help but reminisce about the intense pursuit of Faiyar, with Jared firmly holding her hand.

"What kind of person are you?" Viola muttered under her breath. "Are you done staring at me? If so, please get some rest," Jared remarked suddenly, catching Viola off guard and prompting her to step back in surprise.

She had assumed that Jared wouldn't notice her staring if he was focused on his cultivation, but he still caught her anyway. Viola burned bright red as she climbed into bed and pulled the cover over her head.

Jared opened his eyes, shot Viola a glance, and broke into a faint smile before going back into his cultivation state.

Time continued to tick away as Jared remained in his cultivation state. In order to maintain her cover, Viola remained indoors and kept Jared company.

Three days later, it was finally time for the medicinal pool to be activated. Hosen returned to the sect after thinking long and hard for three days.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2673

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2673-This was the day the medicinal pool would be activated, so every disciple of Emerald Cauldron Sect was present and dressed in their finest attire.

In the mountains southwest of the Emerald Cauldron Sect, waves of vibrant spiritual energy surged toward the sky, creating a captivating spectacle. The air surrounding the sect became saturated with concentrated spiritual energy, permeating the atmosphere with a sense of profound vitality.

Hosen was dressed in a full set of formal attire as he stood atop a high tower with two elders next to him. With eager eyes, the disciples of the Emerald Cauldron Sect gazed upon the activated medicinal pool, for it was an exceedingly rare and coveted opportunity for them to step foot into it.

Ebenez's gaze swept across the crowd, and as he spotted Jared among the disciples, a slight furrow appeared on his brow, but he was quick to ease up on his frown. When his gaze fell upon Viola, however, Ebenez couldn't help but stare intensely at her.

Although Viola had concealed her identity with a disguise that changed her appearance completely, it was still difficult to conceal her aura and some of her unique physical characteristics. Having noticed someone staring at her, Viola moved her body slightly and hid herself behind Jared

"You've been quite busy with recruiting disciples lately, Ghaylen! One of them seems strangely familiar to me," Ebenez addressed Ghaylen.

Ghaylen knew who he was referring to, but he chose to ignore Ebenez and remained silent. Seeing as the man refused to answer his question, Ebenez had no choice but to drop the topic.

"Have you both selected your candidates? We need a total of thirteen individuals to enter the medicinal pool. With Bilius' demise, Ebenez is entitled to choose four candidates, and Ghaylen is allowed three candidates. Are both of you in agreement with this arrangement?" Hosen asked.

"I'm fine with it!" Ebenez replied with a nod. Ghaylen nodded as well. "Same here." I wouldn't be able to change anything even if I wasn't fine with it, so it makes no difference anyway!

"In that case, please have your candidates step forward. They will be allowed into the medicinal pool once they pass the test," Hosen continued. The chosen disciples then stepped forward. Ghaylen had elected Jared, Viola, and Zebediah.

Most of the people there were confused when they saw Ghaylen grant two of the three opportunities to his new disciples. As Hosen's gaze scanned Jared and the other two disciples, it instinctively lingered on Viola.

Ghaylen's heart tightened with anxiety as he noticed Hosen's gaze briefly resting upon Viola. Things are going to get really problematic if Viola's identity gets exposed!

Thankfully, Hosen's attention shifted away from Viola, and he turned to Ghaylen with a questioning expression. "Ghaylen, why did you bestow such a significant opportunity upon two new disciples? Won't this decision upset the senior disciples?" "I appreciate your concern, Hosen, but my other disciples are not upset at all," Ghaylen replied calmly.

Hosen simply shot Ghaylen a glance without saying anything further. He then waved his hand and told the disciples, "You are now allowed to enter the medicinal pool, but if you feel unwell or believe you can't handle the test, consider forfeiting immediately. Once you step into the pool, there's no turning back. You'll be held accountable for any injuries or casualties resulting from your entry without meeting the requirements."

Of course, no disciple would willingly withdraw from such a rare opportunity. To enter the medicinal pool was something every disciple of Emerald Cauldron Sect dreamed of doing, so they would rather die in there than back away.

While scanning Hosen's disciples, who were standing before him, Jared was shocked to realize that Sigurd was not among them.

Huh... Maybe Hosen got mad at Sigurd for bringing me into Emerald Cauldron Sect and disqualified him....

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2674

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2674-Both Hosen and Ebenezer's disciples were all glaring at Jared with a hostile look in their eyes. The four disciples chosen by Ebenezer displayed intense hostility as they directed their malevolent glares at Jared. Their eyes were brimming with murderous intent, giving the impression that their sole desire was to tear him apart.

However, Jared didn't seem bothered by their vicious gazes at all. He wasn't afraid of Ebenezer's disciples in the slightest. If those guys dare cause me any trouble, then I won't hold back either!

Of course, Jared knew that Ebenezer would surely have made some arrangements in advance, so this trip into the medicinal pool would definitely not be an easy one.

The thirteen disciples chosen for the medicinal pool were then sent to a mountain pass in the back, where they would continue the journey on their own. "Be careful, you three," Ghaylen reminded Jared. and the others.

"Don't worry, Mr. Samoll. These disciples aren't powerful enough to cause me any problems!" Jared replied confidently.

"That's right, Master! With me accompanying Mr. Chance, those punks won't dare cause any trouble!" Zebediah added. "Just be as careful as possible. I can't help but have a bad feeling about this."

Lately, Ghaylen had been grappling with a sense of unease, and his anxiety seemed to grow. He turned to Viola, his expression serious, and implored, "No matter what occurs, Ms. Viola, please stay close to Mr. Chance at all times." The girl nodded. "Got it, Mr. Samoll!"

As the thirteen disciples ventured into the mountain pass, an abrupt chill swept through the air, enveloping the surroundings in an intense coldness.

Jared could tell right away that it was due to the presence of a minuscule arcane array. Nevertheless, a little bit of cold was barely a challenge for someone like him.

The other disciples, too, paid no heed to the cold. After all, it was simply a mechanism meant to prevent those with low cultivation levels from getting into the medicinal pool.

Due to the ridiculously huge power within the medicinal pool, individuals with low cultivation levels would explode as soon as they entered it.

As such, there were mechanisms in place to eliminate disciples with low cultivation levels. The group soon made their way past the land of extreme cold, only to arrive at an area that was burning hot.

Jared let out a chuckle when he saw how simple the trials were so far. He then quickly entered the area with Zebediah and Viola following closely behind.

However, none of the disciples of Emerald Cauldron Sect made a move after the three of them entered the area. It wasn't until they were halfway through the zone that Zebediah noticed something was off and turned around, only to see the other disciples standing outside with sadistic smiles on their faces.

"Mr. Chance, I have a feeling that something is awry," Zebediah alerted Jared. "What is it?" Jared asked. "Look, none of those guys are entering the zone, and they're all wearing sinister grins!" Zebediah pointed out, his concern evident. "I'm afraid we might have walked into some kind of trap!"

Jared glanced at the disciples and said with a smile, "It's fine! I suspect someone is manipulating this arcane array. Soon, these flames will intensify, which must be the reason they didn't join us inside."

His composure remained unwavering as he had encountered similar situations during the inner court trials.

"What? I didn't know they could control the difficulty level of the trial!" Zebediah was shocked as he had never heard of such a thing.

Jared gave Zebediah a reassuring pat on the shoulder and said, "I experienced it myself when I went through the inner court trials. We'll be fine as long as I'm around, so let's just keep going."

The arcane arrays in this trial were child's play for Jared, so it wouldn't be a problem for him. even if someone did raise the difficulty level.

The Novel will be updated daily. Come back and continue reading tomorrow, everyone!