

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/ Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2761

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2761-Right as Jared and the trio came to the door of the front cabin, the Stellaris Sect members who were chatting stopped them.

“What are you doing? Head back to your seats!” one of them said sternly.

“We’d like to have a tour of the front cabin. Is that all right?” Jared asked, smiling.

“No. Passengers aren’t allowed in the front cabin, so go back to your seats,” the Stellaris Sect member said with a shake of his head.

“Well, let’s head back, then...” Jared mumbled as he cast a discreet look at the Three Bandits.

The moment the trio saw that, they swiftly made their moves and knocked out the few Stellaris Sect members.

As they made no sound, they did not alert the other passengers to what they had done, except for the two elderly individuals, of course.

“Do we stop them?” the elderly woman asked.

“Not yet. Let’s see what these people are up to. Our sect’s airship has never been robbed since the sect’s establishment centuries ago. It looks like we’ve hit the jackpot today. If we resolve this flawlessly, we’ll surely be rewarded well upon our return,” the elderly man said.

As it turned out, these two people were the elders of Stellaris Sect, and both were cultivators at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm.

They were disguised as normal passengers to keep an eye on the movement within the airship.

Meanwhile, after the members of Stellaris Sect were incapacitated, Jared went forward and placed his hand gently on the door, then opened it with a slight push.

Once they were inside, Jared spotted the bodies of the dead Stellaris Sect members and furrowed his brows.

He had never thought that the Three Bandits would kill the members of Stellaris Sect. He simply wanted to release the wyverns; he did not want to take lives and make Stellaris Sect bear a grudge against him.

Nevertheless, it was too late to regret it. There was nothing Jared could say about it either, for he was the one who had sent the Three Bandits to the front cabin.

Now that he was inside, he could see how the wyverns were pulling the airship with much effort.

The wounds on them were apparent.

Then, he saw the thick iron chains tying the wyverns and the airship together.

When the scene registered in his head, Jared leaped up and walked down one of the chains to a wyvern.

When the wyvern sensed Jared's presence, it shuddered and started roaring.

Jared quickly unleashed his Power of Dragons and consoled the wyvern, "Don't be scared. I'm here to save you."

Sensing Jared's Power of Dragons and hearing his consolation made the wyvern calm down instantaneously.

Jared began studying the glimmering chain as he stood on the wyvern's broad back. He was in a bit of a bind.

If he wanted to break the chains, he would have to use a sharp weapon like Dragonslayer Sword. However, he might accidentally hurt the wyverns with his Dragonslayer Sword.

But if he did not use the sword, he would have to resort to breaking the arcane array slowly. That would be too time-consuming.

Just as Jared was at a loss for ideas, Faiyar, who was in his mind, said, Mr. Chance, you can use demonic fire to melt the chains.

His words were a revelation that dawned upon Jared. He had the demonic fire in his body, but it was simply something he could never recall using.

In the next instance, Jared crouched down before summoning a ball of flame in his right palm.

The steel chain glowed red in no time as Jared gripped the chain, and the ripples on the surface had grown more intense.

Soon, the ripples were gone, and the thick chain was melting.

The second the chain broke, the wyvern was free. It soared away but was quick to return. Clearly, it was excited.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2762

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2762-The gratitude was evident in its eyes. Jared made swift moves to rescue the other two wyverns in the same manner.

Upon regaining their freedom, the wyverns flapped their wings, surrounding Jared. They howled as though they were thanking him.

“Hurry up and get out of here,” Jared urged, waving his hand.

Understanding what Jared was telling them, the wyverns nodded and soared into the clouds.

A smile appeared on Jared’s face.

He did not know that his actions of that day would allow him to gain the assistance of the wyvern monarch in the future.

Still, that was a story for later. After rescuing the wyverns, Jared returned to the front cabin.

The airship had begun descending when the wyverns escaped, and it was shaking terribly too.

“What’s going on?”

“What happened?”

“What’s the matter?”

Many passengers were startled by the vigorous shaking.

Even the two elders from Stellaris Sect were dumbfounded. They could not tell what Jared’s group had done after they entered the front cabin.

They quickly jumped to their feet and rushed toward the cabin.

Upon entering the room, they were stunned.

The disciples of Stellaris Sect in the front cabin had been slaughtered, and the three wyverns that should have been pulling the airship were gone.

Without the wyverns, the airship was falling steadily.

“How dare you release the wyverns?” the elderly men bellowed.

They had never expected Jared’s group to enter the front cabin to release the wyverns instead of hijacking the airship.

If they had known that, they would have stopped them.

“Who are you?” Jared questioned the two elderly people.

“Hmph! We’re the elders of Stellaris Sect, assigned to this airship to guard it. I can’t believe you fearless fools would dare to release our wyverns!”

The elderly man’s face was purple from rage. He had thought himself wise earlier when he stopped the elderly woman from intercepting Jared’s group.

If news of this incident were to travel back to Stellaris Sect, not only would he lose his title as an elder, but he might even lose his life.

Jared finally realized why those two had been discreetly watching the Three Bandits earlier.

Still, it was too late. Jared knew that he could not hide this forever, so he chose to come clean. “How could you abuse the wyverns for your personal gains? You must be seeking death!”

“You’re the one courting death!” The elderly man prepared to strike Jared down.

Right then, there was a rumbling sound.

Another wave of tremors shook the airship. The airship had crashed against a mountain, and the entire aircraft was about to be dismantled.

“Run!” Jared shouted as a ball of light burst out of his body and shot upward, piercing the ceiling of the airship.

The Three Bandits quickly fled to the outside of the airship through that hole as well.

The two elderly individuals no longer dared to fight against Jared as escape became their priority.

In the blink of an eye, chaos ensued as people frantically escaped the airship.

Just as everyone fled the airship, it crashed into the valley and exploded.

Fortunately, the passengers were all high-level cultivators, so they escaped mostly unscathed. Nevertheless, some had just experienced the fright of their lives.

Once Viola escaped with the others and found Jared, she quickly asked, “Jared, are you all right?”

“I’m fine,” Jared said.

“What’s going on? Where are the Stellaris Sect members?”

“What in the world are the people of Stellaris Sect doing? How did this airship fall from the sky?”

“I have something urgent to attend to! If I’m held up by this, there’s no way I’m going to spare Stellaris Sect!”

Everyone was cursing at Stellaris Sect, unaware that Jared was the source of the crash.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2763

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2763-“Ladies and gentlemen, I’m Tyrone Stone, an elder of Stellaris Sect. I’m responsible for ensuring the safety of the airship in secret for the duration of the flight this time. The airship only plummeted and crashed because someone furtively freed the three wyverns. On behalf of Stellaris Sect, I deeply apologize for the inconvenience caused.”

Tyrone Stone tried his best to minimize the aftermath of the incident this time.

After all, this happened because of him. He would be doomed if someone from among the crowd were to take it up with Stellaris Sect.

“Someone furtively freed the wyverns? Who was the ballsy culprit?”

“Exactly! Is the culprit looking down on us to free the wyverns during the flight?”

“Who exactly was it, Mr. Stone? Point him out!”

As soon as the crowd heard that, they clamored for the man to single the culprit out.

Pointing at Jared, Tyrone declared, “He was the one who sneaked into the front cabin and freed the three wyverns. But rest assured that I’ll give you all an explanation for this.”

He stalked toward Jared with a dark look on his face.

In his eyes, the latter’s cultivation level was merely that of Second Level Body Fusion Realm and could never be his match.

The same went for those around Jared, with the exception of Ghaylen, who had attained Third Level Body Fusion Realm. Even if they were to join hands against him, they would be no match for him.

Unbeknownst to him, it would be a piece of cake if Jared wanted to kill him despite his cultivation level.

After all, Jared was already capable of killing a cultivator at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm back when he was at the first level. Tyrone, who had reached Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm, was merely courting death to go over to take the man’s life when he had already broken through to the second level then.

“We’ve got to be careful, Mr. Chance,” Yuven whispered into Jared’s ear.

“There’s nothing to fear about a cultivator at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm.”

Jared was not afraid of Tyrone.

“That’s not what I meant, Mr. Chance. I checked earlier, and we’re currently in Bloodthirsty Thunderhawks’ territory. There’s a possibility that all of us might not be able to get out of here alive,” Yuven clarified in a low voice.

Jared knitted his brows. It had never crossed his mind that the time he had chosen to save the wyverns would coincide with them crash-landing in Bloodthirsty Thunderhawks’ territory.

However, it seemed that everyone else was still unaware of the danger.

When Tyrone noticed the furrow of Jared’s brows, he thought that the latter was afraid of him. He snorted coldly and stated, “It won’t do you any good even if you regret it now, kid. Since you dared to free Stellaris Sect’s wyverns, be prepared to head to your death!”

He shot his hand out at Jared. The blow carried an infinite shockwave, blasting forward like a tsunami.

His attack was swift and precise. On top of that, his aura carried a faint fragrance.

Jared’s eyes narrowed a fraction. He knew the man was not only attacking him but had also tossed some poison out while at that.

Fortunately, he was impervious to poison. He was unafraid.

He casually swung his hand out, and it collided with Tyrone’s forcefully.

Bang!

The instant their palms collided, a ball of red powder scattered into the air following the tremendous fluctuation of aura.

On the heels of that blow, Tyrone uncontrollably reeled, stumbling several steps back before he regained his balance.

Contrarily, Jared remained motionless, his expression unchanged. It was as though he did not use the entirety of his strength earlier.

The crowd was wholly surprised since Tyrone was a cultivator at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm, and they also had a rough idea of Jared’s cultivation.

The gap in the two men's capabilities was significant, yet the blow earlier had defied everyone's beliefs. Despite being at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm, Tyrone was sent staggering back effortlessly with a single strike from Jared.

Read A Man Like None Other Chapter 2764

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2764-Tyrone gaped at Jared in shock. Incredulity was etched across his features. He had been of the opinion that it would be child's play for him to deal with someone like the latter since he was at Fifth Level Body Fusion Realm. Unexpectedly, he was sent stumbling back with a single strike from Jared.

Right then, his stupefaction was overshadowed by shame. A crowd had bore witness to him, an elder of Stellaris Sect, being repelled by an obscure junior. That was a downright humiliation to Stellaris Sect.

The expression of the old woman beside him changed as well. She shot daggers at Jared and snarled, "How dare you conceal your capabilities and play us for a fool here, kid!"

She was convinced that Jared's cultivation level was definitely not as it seemed on the surface, and he must have concealed his capabilities. Otherwise, he could never have sent Tyrone staggering back with a single blow.

The Three Bandits behind Jared were the most shocked among everyone there, for they knew Tyrone's capabilities. The average person could never defeat a cultivator like him easily.

Anyway, they were not Tyrone's match. If it were not because they had teleportation abilities and were exceedingly crafty as they made a living by stealing all year round, they would have long since died at the hands of Stellaris Sect.

Seeing Jared effortlessly repelling Tyrone then, they were inwardly relieved that they had chosen to follow the man at that time.

"I'm not concealing my capabilities. The cultivation level you see is my true capability right now. Besides, I don't need to play the lot of you as fools. Considering your capabilities, there's no need for me to do so!" Jared retorted with disdain written all over his face.

“You’re gutsy indeed that you dare go against Stellaris Sect, kid. No matter your cultivation level, we will never allow the matter of you freeing our wyverns to slide today!” After saying that, the old woman turned to Tyrone. “Let’s attack together, Tyrone. I don’t believe that we’re still not his match even if we team up.”

Tyrone nodded. Subsequently, a terrifying aura burst forth from them both and swept toward Jared to engulf him.

That had Viola’s and Ghaylen’s expressions turn chilly. They immediately made to step forward to lend Jared a hand.

Before they could do so, the Three Bandits leaped to Jared’s front.

“Do you two have no shame, Tyrone? Never mind that you pick on the weak as an elder of Stellaris Sect, but you even want to gang up on someone now? Is this the way things are done in Stellaris Sect?” Crixus bellowed at Tyrone contemptuously.

“Exactly! Is Stellaris Sect without shame? You two elders have an affair at the sect and now you’re secretly protecting the airship together. I think you’re not protecting the airship, but you’re doing it so that you two can spend more time together,” Juan chimed in loudly.

When the allegation of Tyrone and the old woman having an affair rang out, the people in question flushed bright red.

It made it obvious that the claim was true, as evidenced by their reaction.

“Listen, Tyrone. We’ve got photographic proof of you carrying on with this old biddy. Don’t think that no one knows just because you two have been keeping it on the sly. The three of us have spied on you both several times. Shall I play the video for you in front of everyone now?” Salazar added.

Tyrone’s fury blazed into an inferno.

“You trio deserve to die! Today, I’m going to do the public a service and kill the Three Bandits!”

With rage blazing in his eyes, he attacked the Three Bandits.

Jared knew that the Three Bandits were not Tyrone's match. He wanted to put a halt to it, but Crixus stopped him from doing so, asserting, "Don't worry about it, Mr. Chance. We've got our own way to deal with him. Otherwise, we would never have dared to steal in Stellaris Sect."

Right after he said that, his body started flickering before disappearing into thin air.

When he vanished, the same happened to the other two members of the Three Bandits.

Tyrone was not surprised at their disappearance. He had long since known of their methods.