A Man Like None Other Chapter 2871- You Are Something Else

Perceiving Quinley's hesitation, Jared snorted coldly and threatened, "I'm no gentleman. If you don't hand the ice soul fragment over, I don't mind outright snatching it from you. At that time, that isn't the only thing you'll lose. You might even suffer the loss of your innocence."

At his words, Quinley's face went as black as thunder. In the end, she begrudgingly handed the ice soul fragment to him.

Unexpectedly, after taking it from her, Jared forcefully broke it. The ice soul fragment that was small to begin with became even tinier then. "Considering the fact that you were the first to discover this ice soul fragment, I'll give you some of it."

He gave her half of the ice soul fragment. Shock inundated Quinley, for she had never expected such a kind person to exist in the Ethereal Realm.

The ice soul fragment is already in his hands, yet he's sharing it with me? Even if he hadn't done so, there'd be nothing I could do about it since my capabilities are inferior to his. With me beneath him, I could've only resigned myself to my fate. On top of that, I owe him my life.

"You're really something else." Taking that half of the ice soul fragment, she crushed it without warning. In a flash, an intense burst of spiritual energy surrounded her.

She activated her technique and absorbed the spiritual energy right away. On the heels of that, a ray of light shot out from her body. Like a cannonball, it detonated in mid-air, setting off a beautiful burst of fireworks.

"Whoa!"

At the sight of that, Jared inexorably wore an astonished expression. "Finally, I've broken through!" Quinley crowed with excitement written all over her face.

"Is the ice soul fragment so powerful that a tiny piece could help you break through? Besides, your breakthrough phenomenon is rather peculiar!" Jared exclaimed in surprise.

“The spiritual energy within the ice soul fragment is different from that in the Ethereal Realm. Instead of spiritual energy, it’s far more apt to term it as celestial energy. The reason this land became such a freezing cold place is that a piece of ice soul fell from the celestial realm many years ago. In the end, the ice soul exploded. The fragments were scattered across this land, thereby forming such a wintry place. The energy within this ice soul fragment is likely celestial energy from the celestial realm. But no one knows what celestial energy is like, so this is just a conjecture.”

Quinley explained the ice soul fragment’s origin to the man. It would seem that she trusted him to a certain extent since she was telling him all that. Following her elaboration, realization promptly dawned upon Jared.

Ah, this is like Jack and the Beanstalk, whereby the beans tossed out the window sprung up into a beanstalk that reached the sky! It’s just uncertain how the ice soul dropped down.

“How many pieces of such a rare treasure have you found?” Besides the Archaic Body cultivators’ treasure, he had never imagined that there was still something so precious as the ice soul fragment in that wintry land. It looks like this trip is well worth it!

“Do you think these ice soul fragments are so easy to find? This land encompasses a vast area, while each ice soul fragment is minute and doesn’t emanate any aura. One can only hunt for it with the naked eye. As such, it’s beyond difficult to even find a single piece. This ice soul fragment today is the first one I’ve found. In the past, I could only stay home, for my brother didn’t allow me to go out,” Quinley retorted.

“Who’s Jerison to you?” Jared asked upon recalling Jerison, whom he beat up in the arena. “He’s my younger brother. How do you know him?” Quinley questioned in curiosity.

“Oh, I met him in Jipsdale,” Jared replied.

“Ah, they went to Jipsdale? No wonder I didn’t see him and Kaison at home recently. They secretly went there to have fun, huh? I’ll definitely settle the score with them when I get home! Anyway, you should hurry up and absorb this ice soul fragment. It’ll be a ticking time bomb if you keep it, and it might even get snatched away,” Quinley urged.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2872- Do Not Give Her A Hard Time

With a nod, Jared lightly crushed the ice soul fragment. A burst of energy promptly entered his body, and it was unexpectedly far superior to spiritual energy.

In just a few minutes, he refined the energy in its entirety. "I'm going to attain Second Level of Top Level soon. Could this really be celestial energy?"

Surprise was etched across his face. The energy within the ice soul fragment was downright powerful. It was merely a tiny piece, yet it contained such cosmic energy. If I were to find all the ice soul fragments, my capabilities would shoot up several cultivation levels, no? But this ice soul fragment doesn't give out any aura, so I can't detect it with my spiritual sense. If I rely only on my naked it'd be even more difficult than finding a eye, needle in a haystack in this snowy expanse of land!

Just when he had finished absorbing the ice soul fragment, Vasily and the others arrived. The instant Viola saw him talking and laughing with a girl, she went over in a fit of jealousy.

"Who's this, Jared?" she demanded. "This is the eldest daughter of the Tall family, Quinley Tall. Earlier-"

Before Jared could explain further, Vasily and the others acted like they were facing a formidable energy upon laying eyes on Quinley. They all whipped out their weapons and surrounded her.

At that, Quinley's expression changed. She asked in puzzlement, "Who are the lot of you? And what are you all trying to do?"

"You're a member of the Tall family?" Vasily questioned.

"Yes." Quinley gave a dip of her head in affirmation.

"Since you're a member of the Tall family, you're our enemy."

Vasker's face was contorted in a mask of fury. "Who exactly are the lot of you? I don't even know you, so how are we enemies?"

Quinley had bewilderment written all over her face. She was not at all acquainted with Vasily and the others.

Not only did she usually seldom leave home, but she was also forbidden from interfering in many matters regarding the Tall family. Hence, she had no idea about the conflict between her family and the Archaic Body cultivators.

In truth, Vasily and the others did not recognize her either. They only surrounded her after hearing Jared's introduction.

"We're Archaic Body cultivators. The Tall family occupied our territory and robbed us of our resources, so you're our enemy!" Vasily snarled furiously. A frown marred Quinley's countenance.

"Archaic Body cultivators? I've heard of Archaic Body cultivators, but when did the Tall family rob you of your resources and occupy your territory? I think you're simply making false accusations. Don't think I'll be intimidated just because you outnumber me. If things were to get physical, you wouldn't be my match."

She had just broken through to Sixth Level Body Fusion Realm. Thus, even if Vasily and the others were to join hands, they were indeed not her match.

"Cut it out, Vasily. The grievances between the Archaic Body cultivators and the Tall family don't necessarily involve all members of the family. It's clear that Ms. Tall wasn't aware of her family's misdeeds. Don't give her a hard time anymore," Jared interjected.

Vasily glanced at him. Knowing that the Archaic Body cultivators were not Quinley's match without the man's help, he inclined his head a fraction and got out of the way.

"You may leave, Ms. Tall. We need to continue our journey as well," Jared said to Quinley. With one last look at him, Quinley spun on her heel and left. Meanwhile, Jared and the others continued on their journey.

"Vasily, since Archaic Body cultivators have been in the far north for the longest, do you know of the ice soul fragments?" Jared asked Vasily.

"Of course I do. The ice soul fragments are a rare treasure in the far north, but they are few and far between. In all the years I've been living here, I've never seen a single piece. Why are you asking about it, Mr. Chance?"

Vasily was curious about how the man learned of ice soul fragments.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2873- Incurrible

After all, the ice soul fragments were unique to that wintry place in the far north and could not be found anywhere else. Therefore, only those who lived there all year round would know of their existence.

“We obtained an ice soul fragment earlier, but some people wanted to snatch it midway, so I killed one of them,” Jared explained. It was only then that Vasily noticed the dead body that was burnt to a crisp a near distance away.

“What’s an ice soul fragment, Jared?” Viola asked in great curiosity.

Vasily started speaking, and his elaboration was almost exactly the same as Quinley’s. As such, it would seem that the latter had not been lying to Jared.

“I didn’t expect such a bitterly cold and barren place to have such a priceless treasure. Quick, take the ice soul fragment out and let me have a look, Jared!” Viola could not help urging.

“I’ve absorbed it, so it’s long gone,” Jared murmured in embarrassment. Hearing that, Viola pouted. Then, they all resumed their journey. Only when the sky had darkened did they find a place and settle down to rest.

In that wintry land in the far north stood a manor spanning dozens of acres. A family who could have such a manor in that place must possess incredible capabilities.

That was the Tall residence. Hundreds of members of the Tall family lived in that manor, which was guarded by innumerable sentries and protective arcane arrays around it. Perhaps it was to prevent attacks from demon beasts or ambushes by other people.

Quinley furtively returned to the Tall residence since she sneaked out in the first place. If her eldest brother, Mason, were to learn about it, she would undoubtedly be lectured severely.

“You’re back, Ms. Tall!” the two sentries guarding the gates hastily greeted her at the sight of her.

“The two of you didn’t report me, did you?” Quinley demanded. “No, no! Definitely not!” The two sentries fervently waved their hands in denial.

“That’s great! If there’s an opportunity, I’ll bring you both back some nice things from outside.” After saying that, Quinley strode into the Tall residence with a smile on her face. Initially, she planned to slip back to her room under the cover of the night. However, she bumped into two men.

“Mr. Kaison is going to have much fun again today. The two girls he captured are stunningly beautiful.”

“Exactly! I noticed that he couldn’t take his eyes off them. I wonder whether he’ll allow us a turn when he’s done with them. It’s been a long time since I’ve bedded a woman.”

The two men chatted as they walked, utterly oblivious to Quinley’s presence at the side. When Quinley heard the contents of their conversation, she frowned. Blocking their path, she thundered, “What did you both say just now? Did Kaison go around capturing women again?”

At the sight of her, the two men were instantly stunned. They waved their hands profusely and denied, “No, we didn’t say anything!”

The duo appeared terrified of her, and they waved their hands incessantly. “Tell me the truth. If you dare lie to me, I’ll kill you both now!” Quinley threatened, shooting daggers at them.

Trembling, the two men quickly confessed, “Ms. Tall, indeed, Mr. Kaison has captured two women. They’re in the dungeon at present. Mr. Kaison is also there, so they’ve likely been defiled by now!”

“Kaison is truly incorrigible!” Following their words, Quinley’s expression changed, and she hurriedly hastened toward the dungeon.

At that moment, Feenix and Aislin were imprisoned in the dungeon. Their capabilities had been suppressed, so they were no different from ordinary people. With his eyes blazing scarlet, Kaison approached them step by step.

“Don’t come any closer! Stay away from us!”

Huddling against each other, Feenix and Aislin cowered in the corner. “Haha... Stop resisting. As long as you two serve me well, I promise not to hurt you!” Kaison declared, laughing heartily.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2874- Simply Shameless

Feenix and Aislin were like sacrificial lambs heading to the altar right then. They could only watch helplessly as Kaison stalked toward them with a sneer on his face. “Feenix, we can’t allow this monster to sully us, even if it means our death!”

While saying that, Aislin made to bite her own tongue. She planned to commit suicide by doing so, determined not to allow Kaison to get his way. Nodding, Feenix followed suit.

She did not want to continue living either. Her body belonged to Jared, and she would never allow anyone else to touch her. Unwilling to do anything to betray the man, she would rather die.

Seeing that the two women actually wanted to bite their tongues and commit suicide, Kaison instantly saw red. Gosh, why on earth are they so stubborn? Is chastity even more important than their lives?

“Even if you two end your lives by biting your tongues, I’ll still use your bodies. Even if you’re dead, I’ll never show your dead bodies any mercy!”

White-hot rage blazed in his eyes, and he was determined not to allow them off the hook, regardless of whether they were alive or dead. With a roar, he lunged at them.

At just that precise moment, the dungeon door was kicked open violently. The deafening bang made Kaison jump in fright, and he swiftly jerked his head back to see who it was.

“What are you doing, Kaison? You’re simply shameless!” Quinley bellowed at Kaison upon glimpsing Feenix and Aislin huddled in the corner.

When Kaison saw that it was her, his panic abated, and he retorted, “Don’t poke your nose into my matters, Quinley! Hurry up and leave!”

“I’m not leaving. With me here, don’t even dream of picking on them both!” Rushing to Feenix and Aislin, Quinley shielded them behind her.

“As I’ve said, Quinn, don’t interfere in my affairs. Otherwise, don’t blame me for getting physical with you!” Kaison roared, going ballistic.

“Even if you were to make a move against me, I’d never stand idly by while you hurt these two girls. If you persist, I’ll go and tell Mason about this.”

Quinley threatened him with the head of the Tall family, Mason. Upon hearing that, Kaison immediately backed down, for Mason had absolutely no idea about him forcing himself on innocent women. Otherwise, their older brother would never allow him to do so.

“What’s the big deal about me bedding a few women when I’m already a grown man, Quinley? Why must you pick trouble with me?”

He started sweet-talking her to side with him. “Since you’re already a grown man, Kaison, you can marry a woman legally. Considering the Tall family’s capabilities, would you suffer a lack of willing candidates? Why are you forcing yourself onto two innocent women? You’re simply shameless!”

Quinley glowered at her brother. At her furious look, Kaison ultimately heaved a sigh in exasperation before he whirled around and stormed off.

After he had left, Quinley turned back to Feenix and Aislin. She reassured, “Don’t be afraid anymore. You’re fine now.”

“Thank you!” Both Feenix and Aislin thanked her.

“Why are you thanking me? If it weren’t for my brother, this wouldn’t have happened to you both. Come with me and stay at my quarters for the time being. That way, Kaison won’t dare do anything out of line.”

As Quinley spoke, she led them out of the dungeon. When they reached the door, however, two sentries blocked their path.

“Ms. Tall, Mr. Kaison has given the order that these two women aren’t allowed to leave the dungeon,” one of the sentries uttered, very much conflicted.

“Get out of my way!” Quinley ordered coldly. “Please don’t make things difficult for us, Ms. Tall. Otherwise, Mr. Kaison would kill us.”

The sentry wore an aggrieved expression on his face.

“What makes you think I won’t kill you?”

While saying that, Quinley placed her sword against his neck. At that, the two sentries promptly paled in fright and no longer dared to stop her.

Thus, Quinley brought Feenix and Aislin away.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2875- The Time To Fight

“Argh... This is too much...”

Kaison was so livid that he smashed everything in sight upon learning that Quinley had taken away the two women he had painstakingly captured. At that moment, a subordinate of the Tall family informed, “Mr. Kaison, Mr. Mason has summoned you.”

“What does my brother want to see me for?” Kaison asked. “I don’t know, but he did ask you to hurry,” the subordinate replied while shaking his head.

“All right, I got it.” Kaison nodded in acknowledgment. Kaison was brash and lusted after women, but he was still obedient to his elder brother, Mason.

The Tall siblings lost their parents when they were young, and it was Mason, as the eldest, who raised them. That was the reason the siblings held him in such high regard.

After collecting himself, Kaison hurried to the conference room at the Tall residence. Upon his arrival, he was greeted by the sight of the Tall family elders and Jerison.

Mason was sitting in the center with a grim look on his face. Kaison grew anxious. He was worried that Mason had learned of him kidnapping the women.

“All right, Kaison is here. Let’s discuss the recent developments in the far north,” Mason began when he saw that Kaison had arrived. “Mr. Mason, I was informed that a huge number of people have suddenly come to the far north to seek out the Archaic Body cultivators’ treasures. Many of them have treasure maps and the keys to open the treasure. I don’t know how they managed to get their hands on them,” the grand elder of the family reported.

“Mr. Mason, now that the Archaic Body cultivators’ treasure has suddenly become common knowledge, the Demonic Cultivators of the far north have increased their activity. I suspect that they, too, are looking for the treasure.

With the influx of men into the far north, ice soul fragments have also been continuously discovered,” another elder reported after getting to his feet. The reports deepened the scowl on Mason’s face.

“All this while, the Tall family has dominated the far north. We had plenty of time to search for ice soul fragments and the Archaic Body cultivators’ treasure. In fact, we could devour the Archaic Body cultivators in our own time. Unfortunately, news of the treasure has now been leaked, while ice soul fragments are being rapidly discovered.

It’s evident that the landscape in the far north is shifting, and we need a new strategy to deal with it. Kaison, take your men and scout the far north more often.. Monitor the men who have arrived in the far north and report back once you learn anything about the ice soul fragments or treasure.

Do not act unilaterally. Also, you’re a senior figure in the family, so stop spending all your time on women. I’m afraid the time to fight for the Tall family’s survival has come,” Mason declared solemnly.

“Mason, aren’t you overreacting? Those men are merely on a treasure hunt. They’ll leave if they can’t find it. No one wants to stay long in a cold and desolate place like this,” Kaison refuted his brother in a nonchalant tone.

“You know nothing. News of the treasure was leaked and hordes of people have arrived with treasure maps and keys. It’s clear that someone revealed the secret on purpose. Even if all of them were to leave, there are still many Demonic Cultivators hiding in the far north. No one knows how strong they have become. You’d better obey my orders to the letter and not cause any trouble. Do you understand?” Mason reprimanded Kaison.

Kaison lowered his head. “All right...”

“Okay. Everyone, get a grip of yourself. The future of the Tall family rides on this now,” Mason said, then waved his hand to dismiss everyone

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2876- The Authenticity Of The Map

Meanwhile, Jared and the others had taken three whole days to reach the Archaic Body cultivators’ settlement. It was located in the coldest and poorest part of the far north. That was the reason why the Tall family tolerated the Archaic Body cultivators’ existence instead of annihilating them.

Inside a tent made of bear skin, Jared met the leader of the Archaic Body cultivators, Roman Ryder. Roman had a dark complexion and appeared thin and sickly.

Nonetheless, from the aura he exuded, one could tell that Roman was extremely powerful, the opposite of how he looked. “Mr. Ryder, I have brought my criminal brother back. Please punish him accordingly.”

Vasily tied Vasker up before kneeling down in front of Roman. Unexpectedly, Roman broke into a faint smile and came forward to undo the ropes on Vasker. The sight stunned Vasily. Jared, too, was equally confused.

Vasker had stolen the treasure map and sold it everywhere, spreading news of the Archaic Body cultivators’ treasure. He deserved to be severely punished even if he wasn’t sentenced to death. Yet Roman had actually let him go.

“Mr. Ryder, Vasker has stolen the treasure map and brazenly sold it. Based on the rules, he should be punished. Even though he is my brother, I won’t let my personal feelings get in the way,” Vasily said to Roman with a serious expression.

“Get back on your feet. Vasker sold the map under my instruction,” Roman said with a smile.

The revelation blew Vasily’s mind. He couldn’t understand why Roman had ordered him to capture Vasker when it was Roman himself who wanted the map sold. Jared, on the other hand, was struck by an epiphany after giving Roman a look.

“Vasily, Mr. Ryder ordered me to do it. Otherwise, there’s no way I could have stolen the map. Now, its sale has brought swarms of men to the far north, and we have made a fortune at the same time!” Vasker smiled at Vasily.

“Mr. Ryder, what in the world is going on?” Vasily asked quizzically.

“Vasily, I’m sure you’re aware that the resources of our people are decreasing by the day and our strength is stagnant. At the rate this is going, we will be wiped out and incapable of protecting the treasure. The only way we can continue to survive is to disrupt the balance of power in the far north and draw out the powers that are residing in the shadows.

That way, we can seize upon the chaos to survive. To trigger that chaos, we have to put out something valuable as bait. Otherwise, no one in their right mind would come to a freezing and desolate place like this! This so-called bait is the treasure that belongs to the Archaic Body cultivators. That's the reason I ordered Vasker to sell the tattered treasure map in Jipsdale. By doing so, many would come to the far north in search of it, and conflict would naturally ensue. When that happens, the Archaic Body cultivators would be given an opportunity..." Roman explained.

"Since this was your intention, Mr. Ryder, why did you get me to capture my brother?" Vasily asked.

"When everyone sees you capturing your own brother, they will believe in the authenticity of the map. The reason I hid the truth from you is so that you can play your role convincingly and avoid them casting suspicion on the plan," Roman elaborated with a smile.

Right then, Vasily finally understood Roman's intention. The unexpected shrewdness displayed by Roman sent a chill even down Jared's spine, for he had also fallen for it. Not only did he spend a lot of money buying the treasure map, but he also helped Vasily capture Vasker.

"Mr. Ryder, with so many people looking for the treasure, what will we do if they really get their hands on it?" Vasily asked.

"Compared to the treasure, I'm more concerned about the future of our people. The treasure is buried underground. Even if no one manages to dig it up, we don't have the capability to do the same. Instead, by letting someone more capable retrieve it, it would help spread the techniques of Archaic Body Cultivation," Roman said

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2877- Real And Fake

"Mr. Ryder, what about the treasure key? Every other person now has an emerald badge that's exactly the same as mine. Are everyone else's keys fake?" Jared asked cluelessly. If the treasure maps were sold on purpose, what about the keys? Are all of them fake?

"What appears to be real might be fake and vice versa. Our people have plenty of treasures scattered throughout the far north. Every single one of them requires a key. That said, some of the treasures contain nothing, while others are traps. In fact, some even contain worthless items. As for the real treasure, there's only one of it, and it's hidden among the other treasures. Therefore, all the keys out there are not fake at all. It's just that even I have no idea where the location of the real treasure is," Roman clarified.

The revelation astonished Jared even further. I can't believe there's more than one treasure. With so many out there, how are we going to tell which is genuine and which isn't?

"Mr. Ryder, I heard Vasily mention that your ancestors used Demonic Cultivators to excavate the treasure. At the end of it, all of them were killed. I would like to know why they were willing to submit to your people."

Jared had long been curious about the topic. The Archaic Body cultivators weren't particularly strong, as they were limited by their technique's slow cultivation method.

The Demonic Cultivators were in no way weaker than the Archaic Body cultivators. Jared couldn't figure out why the Demonic Cultivators didn't resist at all. The question elicited a smile from Roman, who then looked at Vasily and everyone else. "Leave us..."

Vasily nodded before leaving with the others. When Jared and Roman were the only ones left in the tent, the latter brought out a box from which he retrieved a whip.

The whip was golden in color with faint runes flowing on top of it. One could feel a harmonious energy being emitted from it continuously.

At first glance, Jared could tell that the whip had been enhanced with an arcane array. The power it exuded was beyond that of ordinary weapons.

"This is Demon Flogger. When the whip strikes a demon, it will not only inflict pain upon them but also injure their divine souls. The harmonious energy it emits is capable of suppressing the demon's aura. All this while, my people have relied on Demon Flogger to force the demons into submission. It was a weapon that we came across by chance. Rumor has it that it fell from the celestial realm together with the ice soul, but no one has been able to validate how true it is."

While listening to Roman recount the history of the whip, Jared stared at it with a sparkle in his eyes. The ability to suppress demons makes this weapon a priceless treasure!

“Mr. Ryder, could you let me take a closer look at Demon Flogger?” Jared asked gingerly. Demon Flogger was a valuable weapon. It wouldn’t be surprising if Roman refused.

“Be my guest.” Roman handed Demon Flogger over readily. Upon taking it in his hand, Jared unleashed his spiritual sense toward it. Soon, he realized that the arcane array on Demon Flogger was extremely mysterious and was something he had never seen before.

Just as he wanted to examine it further, Faiyar let out an excruciating scream in Jared’s mind. Mr. Chance, stop. The aura from the object is overwhelming me. My divine soul is about to vanish!

Only then was Jared reminded about Faiyar. That guy Flogger’s aura. is a demon who fears Demon Jared retracted his spiritual sense and returned Demon Flogger to Roman.

“Mr. Ryder, with Demon Flogger, you’ll be able to get what you want when you encounter demons,” Jared said in admiration.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2878- The True Enemies

Roman smiled. “It’s not as easy as you make it out to be. Even though Demon Flogger fell from the celestial realm, it is still no more than a weapon whose power is determined by that of its wielder. If one’s cultivation level is similar to that of one’s enemy, one can use it to easily overwhelm a Demonic Cultivator. However, if the gap in strength is too huge, one will still be defeated.”

Jared thought that Roman had a point. Regardless of how powerful a weapon was, a lot depended on its wielder still. If a Manifestor intended to use Demon Flogger against a Body Fusion Realm Demonic Cultivator, his efforts would be nothing but futile.

“Mr. Ryder, there’s something I still don’t understand. I wonder if you can shed some light on it?” Jared asked.

“Go ahead.” Roman nodded. Jared took out his emerald badge and said, “This emerald badge is broken. Half of it was given to me by Vasily, while the other half was given to me by the count of Jipsdale. I want to know why the count has the other half of the emerald badge. Who is he?”

Roman fell silent. A long while passed before he said, "If you have the opportunity one day, you should ask the count yourself. It's not something I can tell you. Anyway, you must be exhausted from the long journey. You should get some rest. Tomorrow, I'll have Vasily accompany you on your search for the treasure since he is familiar with the land."

The moment he finished, Roman got up and prepared to leave. Jared could tell that Roman knew the true identity of the count of Jipsdale but was unwilling to reveal it. He decided not to push the topic.

"Mr. Ryder, I heard Vasily mention that the Tall family is looking to destroy your people. If I am so lucky as to find the treasure, I'll figure out a way to eradicate them for you."

Since the Archaic Body cultivators had done him a good turn, Jared felt compelled to return the favor. After all, he couldn't bring himself to leave with their treasure without doing anything for them.

Roman turned around with a helpless look on his face. "Unfortunately, the Tall family aren't the terrifying ones in the far north. It's the Demonic Cultivators."

"Demonic Cultivators?" Jared was stunned. "Do Demonic Cultivators still exist in the far north?" "Isn't the far north the best place for them to exist?" Roman threw the question back at Jared, causing him to fall silent.

The far north was sparsely populated and had miserable living conditions, perfect for those who were being hunted, such as Demonic Cultivators.

At the very least, they could live there in peace, away from the threats to their lives. Watching as Roman left, Jared realized that the Ethereal Realm was a lot more complicated than he had imagined.

Even the far north was not as peaceful as it appeared to him. Upon walking out of the tent, Jared saw Viola and the others waiting outside.

"Jared, Mr. Ryder has arranged accommodation for us. Let's get some rest," Viola suggested. Nodding in agreement, Jared followed Viola into one tent while the Three Bandits settled into another one.

In the middle of the night, blistering flashes of light appeared hundreds of miles away from the Archaic Body cultivator settlement. The rumble that ensued was so loud that even those from afar could hear it.

Lying in his tent, Jared knew that those were the signs of an ongoing battle. Given the massive influx of men to the far north in search of the treasure and the rumors of the ice soul fragment spreading far and wide, countless cultivators had gathered in the far north.

As chaos descended upon the far north, the Demonic Cultivators would hide at the sight of the arriving swarms of cultivators.

It now became evident to Jared that Roman's real target wasn't the Tall family. Instead, the true enemies were the terrifying Demonic Cultivators.

After all, the ancestors of Archaic Body cultivators had massacred many of them in the past. It was enough reason for them to seek revenge.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2879- Fatal Canyon

The next morning, Jared and the others had Vasily accompany them as they embarked on their journey in search of treasure. For reasons unknown, Roman did not send them off this time.

After leaving the Archaic Body cultivators' settlement, Vasily retrieved Demon Flogger from his bag and said, "Here you go, Mr. Chance. Mr. Ryder knows that we will likely run into lots of Demonic Cultivators on this journey, so he told me to give you this."

Jared froze when he received Demon Flogger from Vasily. Given its value, it would not be an overstatement to call Demon Flogger a priceless treasure, and yet Roman had given it to Jared.

Jared couldn't help but feel touched by the amount of trust Roman placed in him. I'm even more confident that we'll be able to find the treasure now that I have Demon Flogger with me! Once I find the treasure, the Archaic Body cultivators will surely prosper!

Since the treasure belonged to the Archaic Body cultivators, Jared wasn't planning on keeping any of the techniques and magical items that the treasure contained. With the exception of Ice Soul Pill, he would hand everything else over to them.

"What is this, Jared?" Viola asked curiously when she saw Demon Flogger.

"This is the bane of Demonic Cultivators. We won't have to fear them now that we have this with us!” Jared replied with a faint smile as he shoved Demon Flogger into his pocket.

The group then traversed huge snowy plains with tall, icy mountains and deep, icy canyons around them. It was a very nasty terrain to go through.

A single misstep could cause one to fall thousands of meters into the icy canyons below. Even Body Fusion Realm cultivators would not be able to survive a fall like that.

Jared and the others had no choice but to check out the locations marked on the treasure map even if those locations had most likely been visited by countless other people. Since no one knew the exact location of the treasure, they could only try their luck and hope for the best.

After spending the entire morning walking around, Vasily looked straight ahead and said, “It looks like we’ll have to go around, Mr. Chance. Fatal Canyon is just up ahead, and there are countless ferocious beasts in there. There’s no way we’d be able to go through it.”

“Fatal Canyon?” Jared frowned as he gave it some thought. Why would a place with such a harsh environment have countless ferocious beasts?

Just like any other living creature, they need food and resources for growth too! If there really are that many ferocious beasts in this canyon, then it must contain the food and resources they require! I don’t know what those resources are, though....

Jared asked, “Is there some kind of magical item in Fatal Canyon?” After all, magical items were often guarded by ferocious beasts.

Of course, the ferocious beasts did not originally intend to guard the magical items. They just needed to absorb the aura from the magical items to survive and eventually became the magical items’ guardians.

“I’m not sure about that. According to previous records, there were not so many ferocious beasts living in this canyon before. It seems that the ferocious beasts have recently popped up here all of a sudden. Some people tried exploring the canyon, but none of them returned. That’s why we call it ‘Fatal Canyon.’ Usually, we try to avoid going through it.”

Vasily explained. "I have a feeling that we'll find some great stuff in this canyon. Come on, let's check it out!" Jared said and started making his way into the canyon.

The others exchanged glances and followed closely behind. They soon arrived at the canyon and saw that the walls on both sides were incredibly high and completely covered in ice, making them smooth and slippery.

The canyon was just a little over a hundred feet in width, and they could sense the aura coming from the ferocious beasts even from the entrance of the canyon.

"You guys stay here. I'll go scout it out," Jared said as he concealed his aura, jumped into the air, and silently flew over the canyon.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 2880- Give It A Shot

Jared could see that the canyon was filled with lots of demon beasts, each of them possessing white fur that made them hard to spot as they lay in the snow.

The demon beasts had yet to notice Jared, so they were all just lying around lazily. As Jared got deeper into the canyon, a skull-sized stone in the middle caught his attention.

The stone was surrounded by fog, and several demon beasts could be seen licking at it. A golden light came out of Jared's eyes as he lowered himself a little to get a closer look.

Wait a minute... That's not a rock! It's an ice soul fragment! Judging by how big it is, one can only imagine the amount of power it contains!

Jared's breathing started to get heavy. He felt tempted to just charge in there, snatch the ice soul fragment, and fly away. That presence of the ice soul fragment would explain why there were so many demon beasts in the canyon. They were all feeding off the energy it exuded.

After taking a moment to observe the situation, Jared fought off the temptation and slowly backed away. Although he had been very careful with his approach and concealed his aura, an ice bear, that was about fifty meters tall, still noticed him.

The ice bear appeared to be the leader of the demon beasts in the area. It was as powerful as a Top Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator. It kept staring in the direction Jared had disappeared in.

Although the ice bear had the body of a demon beast and did not possess a human form, the look in its eyes was filled with knowledge and wisdom.

Jared didn't dare scout out the area with his spiritual sense, so he had no idea that Top Level Body Fusion Realm demon beasts were present in this canyon.

"What did you find, Mr. Chance?" Vasily asked anxiously when he saw Jared return. "There is a huge ice soul fragment deep within this canyon. That explains why the demon beasts are all gathered here!" Jared replied excitedly.

"Even if there is an ice soul fragment in this canyon, we can't possibly get it with all those demon beasts guarding it! Besides, it's possible that there are even more powerful demon beasts in there! I think we should go around instead!" Vasily suggested. However, Jared was so tempted by the ice soul fragment that he refused to leave without giving it a shot.

"I'll probably regret it if I just walk away like this," Jared said calmly. Noticing that Jared wanted to give it a shot, Vasily reminded him, "Don't do anything rash, Mr. Chance! I know you're very powerful, but there are thousands of demon beasts in there! We don't even know if there are any above Body Fusion Realm! None of us will be able to make it out alive if we anger them!"

This isn't a game! We could easily end up dead if we just go barging in like this!

"Don't worry! I'll make sure to take all necessary precautions so that we won't be in any danger even if we fail to retrieve the ice soul fragment!" Jared reassured him with a smile. Realizing how determined Jared was, Vasily decided not to say anything further.

After giving it some thought, Jared unleashed his spiritual sense and enveloped the canyon with it. He knew that it was impossible to steal the ice soul fragment without being spotted, so he wasn't afraid of disturbing the demon beasts with his spiritual sense.

The demon beasts grew agitated and started roaring when they picked up Jared's spiritual sense.

Jared felt his heart sink when he discovered the Top Level Body Fusion Realm ice bear with his spiritual sense. Looks like there really are powerful demon beasts in the mix, but I'm not about to back down! I've come too far to give up now!

Jared continued to expand the range of his spiritual sense until he could get a clearer view of the entire canyon
