

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1841

Chapter 1841

James frowned after hearing Kaj's words.

He thought this was just an ordinary duel where they decided on a winner.

He did not expect it to be a fight to the death.

Kaj floated mid-air, and his long silver hair flowed in the air. He was a handsome man with outstanding facial features. On his face was a provocative smirk

James had defeated Damian, and it brought disgrace upon the Void Sect.

The Void Sect came from the Sealed Realm.

Even within the Sealed Realm, they were considered a powerful sect and held power comparable to a divine site.

To them, the Earth was nothing but a barren place that lacked Spiritual Energy.

The fact that a Void Sect's disciple had lost to a martial artist from Earth would make them a laughing stock in the Sealed Realm's other divine sites.

This was why Kaj was determined to defeat James in front of all martial artists.

Next, he planned to defeat Earth's other ninth-ranked grandmasters, including Sky, the Prince of Orchid, Mountain, and the Omniscient Deity.

Defeating these ninth-ranked grandmasters would get rid of Earth's saving grace which would make controlling them so much easier.

After a brief moment of shock, James composed himself. He looked at Kaj floating in the air and said flintily. "And what will you do if you lose the match?"

"Haha! Me, lose?" Kaj laughed derisively.

"James, are you joking? You defeating me is the most absurd thing I've ever heard."

In the distance, the Void Sect's disciples also burst out laughing at James' words.

"James thinks too highly of himself. Who does he think he is to be able to defeat Mr. Waseem?"

"Damian, you've fought with James before. Tell me, how strong is he?"

One of the disciples inquired.

Damian said with a smile, "James is indeed strong and is slightly stronger than martial artists on the Skyward Stairway's Ninth Stair. However, However, he's still an insignificant turd compared to Mr. Waseem. I'm sure Mr. Waseem can defeat him with just one hand."

Damian gave his opinion.

To him, James was no match for Mr. Waseem at all.

The other Void Sect disciples laughed.

They laughed at James for being conceited.

However, James remained calm.

"In a match, there's always a winner and a loser. Either you win, or I win. Even if you're confident in defeating me, you still might lose if you slip up."

James looked at Kaj

Kaj's smile vanished. "How about you take over my position as Void Sect's senior disciple if you win?"

James gently shook his head and said, "I'm not interested in that position. If I win this match or if we end in a tie, I just need you to answer a few questions. Do you accept my condition?"

"I won't lose."

As soon as his words left his lips, Kaj made his move.

An immense burst of energy erupted from his body, and electricity flickered around him. In a flash, he appeared on the mountain James was standing on. Just his presence alone was enough to cause his surroundings to tremble.

Creak!

The mountain beneath his feet began to disintegrate

Cracks began to form, and rocks started tumbling down the cliff.

The martial artists spectating quickly retreated to a safer area.

Kaj stood firmly in place and began stretching his body as intense energy emanated from him.

As soon as he unleashed his True Energy, everyone immediately knew he was a real ninth-ranked grandmaster. The spectating martial artists from earth worried for James.

Yet, James still maintained his composure.

He slowly unsheathed the Primordial Dragon Blade and held it up, saying, "Go ahead."

With a sneer, Kaj suddenly stomped on the ground.

Boom!

The mountain collapsed instantly.

Countless boulders were reduced to dust.

Some boulders were surrounded by Kaj's energy and floated mid-air. Suddenly, they hurtled toward James.

James immediately got ready to block them,

He raised the Primordial Dragon Blade, leaped forward, and slashed at the boulders.

The spectators could only see a flickering figure sending out dazzling Sword Lights, and the boulders charging in James' direction suddenly being shattered into pieces.

In an instant, James had appeared above Kaj's head. He pointed his sword downward and plunged it down quickly, aiming for Kaj's head.

Chapter 1842

James' sword attack was so fast. It was not an exaggeration to say it was fast as lightning.

Before the sword fell, dust rolled up under Kaj's feet. Immediately, the rocks beneath him were shattered by the invisible energy.

Kaj's expression was still as calm as ever

Just as the sword was about to plunge into his head, he swung his leg upward, which was followed by a golden light

The moment he swung his leg, an astonishing energy materialized.

His True Energy came into contact with James' sword.

Boom!

An explosion swept the area.

The energy shockwave spread like ripples through water and destroyed everything in its path.

Rocks were shattered, and trees exploded after being struck by the shockwave.

The destructiveness of the shock wave was devastating.

James was shocked.

He felt the terrifying force rushing in his direction and his arm felt numb from the shock, almost causing him to lose his grip on the sword.

After exchanging a couple of blows, James understood the terror that was Kaj's abilities.

Kaj's arrogance and confidence were well-founded.

Meanwhile, Kaj's expression also darkened.

He was surprised that his attack was only enough to stagger James slightly. According to his assessment of James' strength, James should have been seriously injured, if not dead, from his attack.

Contrary to his expectations, James was only forced back slightly.

James was blasted a hundred meters before he could regain his balance.

He stood on a collapsed tree and mobilized his True Energy, easing the pain in his arm.

Swoosh!

As soon as James gained a foothold, Kaj had already charged at him.

Kaj lunged at him like a rabid beast devoid of fear. The energy emanating from his body was strong and domineering. As he shot through the air, gravel flew up, and ancient trees turned into splinters.

He appeared in front of James in the blink of an eye and swung his fist at him.

His punch caused the surroundings to shake.

Suddenly, James felt a powerful force blasting toward him like a missile, aiming to eradicate everyone. and everything.

James raised the Primordial Dragon Blade.

He held it up straight and blocked the explosive punch.

However. Kaj stood firm, and James was pushed back by the force, leaving him no choice but to keep retreating backward.

Suddenly, Kaj appeared above James' head and threw another punch.

Next, he flickered to James' right, then left.

Kaj's figure kept flickering around James body and throwing terrifyingly strong illusory punches.

Boom!

Bang!

Boom!

The area James stood at exploded in an instant

Gravel and dust billowed into the sky.

James was caught up in the dust, and his body felt the impact of Kaj's blows. Despite transforming his physique by using the breathing method to absorb Empyrean Spiritual Energy in the past three years, he could not withstand such a vicious onslaught

He was injured, causing the Blood Energy in his body to roil and his True Energy to go wild.

His body sustained several external injuries, and blood dripped from his wounds.

At that moment, he looked incredibly distressed.

The martial artists spectating from far away were dumbfounded by the scene.

It was impossible for anyone to dodge such rapid attacks.

No one could withstand such terrifying strength.

Even Sky wore a grim expression. He was a ninth-ranked grandmaster but was sure he would suffer severe injuries from Kaj's barrage of punches.

Under the watchful eyes, James' body flickered, and he fled from the area with his sword

As soon as he escaped the area, another illusory fist descended from the sky.

Instantly, more illusory fists fell at the position he had stood in previously.

Dozens of illusory fists surrounded him and bombarded the area.

Rumble!

The ground trembled, and the mountains shook, making it seem like the world's end was near.

By then, James had already escaped hundreds of meters away.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1843

Chapter 1843

James held on to the Primordial Dragon Blade firmly, mobilized his True Energy, and quickly suppressed his injuries. He wore a desperate expression that was rarely seen on his face. He thought that even if his strength was not a match, he could at least parry Kaj's attacks after entering the ninth rank.

However, he never expected Kaj to be so strong.

Kaj showed his overwhelming strength as soon as the match began.

In terms of True Energy, James was much inferior to him.

A grim expression crossed Kaj's face as he looked at James standing several hundred meters away. Although James was injured, his energy still brimmed with vigor.

"Impressive. I've underestimated you," Kaj murmured.

James' strength had exceeded his expectations.

The Primordial Dragon Blade in James' hands began to shake

James raised his sword and pointed it at Kaj

"It's my turn now

As soon as he spoke his words, James rushed into battle once more.

He vanished from sight and left only a Sword Light behind.

The Sword Light cut through the air as James appeared in front of Kaj, thrusting the Primordial Dragon Blade at Kaj's vital points.

Kaj was not shaken.

He abruptly raised his hand and generated potent True Energy within his palm.

True Energy snaked out from his palm and wrapped around the Primordial Dragon Blade.

For a moment, it felt as if they had frozen in place.

James' sword was unmoving in mid-air.

No matter how much force he exerted, it would not budge an inch.

James activated the Lunar and Terra Art, unleashing the Lunar and Terra Energy within his body, and passing it through the Primordial Dragon Sword.

Suddenly, he raised his hand.

The Primordial Dragon Blade immediately broke free from Kaj's True Energy restraints. James leaped into the air, raised the sword, and released bursts of Sword Energy

Kaj panicked and quickly dodged the attack.

As soon as he escaped, the Sword Energy crashed into the ground.

Boom!

A deep trench was created on the ground in an instant.

Kaj appeared a thousand meters away. His arm was injured by the Sword Energy. Blood oozed from his wound, and he stimulated his True Energy to stop the bleeding.

His face had become cold as ice, and there was a palpable murderous intent.

James' strength was beyond his expectation.

"I've underestimated you, James. I didn't expect you to have entered the ninth rank at such a young age. However, your achievements were purely because of the Dragon Essence. You're still far behind me. Let me show you the true essence of the ninth rank."

"Pass me a sword!"

Kaj raised his hand.

A Void Sect's disciple in the distance quickly threw a sword at him.

Kaj swiftly caught the sword.

He immediately drew the sword.

The sword in his hand shone brightly. At the same time, Emyrean Spiritual Energy gathered in the sword.

James could feel the pressure of this force.

It felt similar to when he fought with Tyrus a few years ago.

James did not understand it back then, but now he knew what it was. The force was the energy of heaven and earth itself. The Emyrean Spiritual Energy quickly gathered and formed an oppressive force.

James smiled faintly.

He violently swung the Primordial Dragon Blade in his hand.

The Emyrean Spiritual Energy in their surroundings quickly fell into his command.

This 7"

The elder from Void Sect inside the wooden house on Mount Bane stood up abruptly and stared at

James.

"How is this possible? The Earth's Spiritual Energy is so scarce that it's almost non-existent. How could he step into the ninth rank without any external energy to bolster his own?"

The elder from Void Sect was shocked

They had been on Earth for some time and had done their research on Earth's martial artists.

From their investigations, they learned that martial artists from Earth had only improved in recent years because they had killed the dragon, obtaining the dragon's blood and essence.

In addition, the ninth-ranked grandmasters on Earth only achieved entering the rank through the Dragon Essence and not their own strength.

James's ability to mobilize Emyrean Spiritual Energy to create an intense force meant he used his own effort to enter the ninth rank.

"We must get rid of him."

The Void Sect's elder had a bitter expression.

With him being able to sense Emyrean Spiritual Energy, he would become a powerful threat after the seal was lifted. He could not allow James to live.

After the initial surprise, he calmed down.

"Even so, it doesn't matter. He's still not a match for Kaj."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1844

Chapter 1844

The powerhouse from the Void Sect put a lot of trust into his disciple

In his eyes, James was still inferior to Kaj despite being a ninth-ranked grandmaster.

Kaj had already been in the ninth rank for more than twenty years.

Moreover, he reached the rank in the Sealed Land, which had sufficient Spiritual Energy
Thus, James was not comparable to Kaj

In the sky, the two held onto their swords

At that moment, both of them brought out their Emyrean Spiritual Energy

The two formed intimidating opposing forces with the Emyrean Spiritual Energy concentrating in their swords

The spectators in the distance felt a frightening force sweeping toward them.

"Is this what a real ninth-ranked grandmaster is like?"

Sky's eyes widened

Although he was also a ninth-ranked grandmaster, he, too, relied on the Dragon Essence to break through the rank.

Therefore, he could not sense the existence of Empyrean Spiritual Energy, nor was he able to control it

At that moment, he could only sense two intense forces.

It made him yearn for such power

Suddenly, Kaj made his move.

He instantly appeared above James' head with his long sword and swung his sword at him. Immediately, a potent Sword Energy rushed at James with the power of heaven and earth.

James quickly raised his sword to parry the Sword Energy

Boom!

The two strong forces crashed into each other and dispersed to their surroundings.

Both of them were blown away

"He's powerful."

After the explosion, James was shocked.

He did not hold back this time and went all out but was still blasted away

Moreover, the wounds on his body were close to opening up again.

Just then, James understood that Kaj was indeed powerful.

Snapping himself out of his shock, he calmed himself down. He lowered his stance and dashed forward, quickly appearing below Kaj. Then, he shot up into the sky.

Swoosh!

A terrifying Sword Light erupted from his blade.

As the Sword Light appeared, it quickly absorbed the Emyrean Spiritual Energy.

Mount Bane was where the seal was located, and the Emyrean Spiritual Energy was more concentrated there than in other areas.

With the potent Emyrean Spiritual Energy augmenting his own, James' Primordial Dragon Blade's Sword Energy was unfathomably strong. The spectators in the distance were pushed back by the force, and the whole sky seemed to darken instantly

The space surrounding the Sword Energy looked distorted.

The terrifying Sword Energy launched at Kaj

Kaj was not afraid and calmly sent forth a counterattack.

Boom!

There was another strong impact

It was so strong that the two Sword Energies exploded in the sky

The mountain range was leveled instantly.

Kaj held his long sword and took the initiative to launch attacks.

Flickering in the sky were the two's figures and their Sword Energies.

James and Kaj fought fiercely.

After exchanging dozens of moves, James appeared in the distance and swung the Primordial Dragon Blade, instantly unleashing thirteen dazzling Sword Energies.

The thirteen Sword Energies merged together and formed a 100-meter-long sword.

The colossal sword was made of the purest energy.

The powerful Sword Energy had two colors-it was half black and half white.

The long sword floated horizontally in the air, and its intense energy caused the surroundings to look distorted and unreal. The space looked like broken glass that would shatter upon the slightest touch. The sky also looked like it would crumble with a light tap

"It's the Fourteen Heavenly Swords!"

The martial artists exclaimed.

“What’s going on? Why is James’ Fourteen Heavenly Swords so different from the time he used it a few years ago?”

“It feels like two completely different energies.”

“One is True Yang Energy, and the other is True Yin Energy”

“The Fourteen Heavenly Swords is formed by the fusion of Yin and Yang Energy.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1845

Chapter 1845

The spectators exclaimed.

They held their breaths and watched the battle intently.

Kaj looked at the towering True Energy sword and could sense the power it held. At that moment, he felt his blood turn to ice

“Attack!”

James waved the Primordial Dragon Blade in his hand.

The 100-meter-long sword of True Energy struck out with great strength and slashed at Kaj

Kaj snorted smugly.

He waved his hand, and Sword Lights burst out from his sword one after another. Immediately, hundreds of Sword Lights appeared, charging at the Fourteen Heavenly Swords at once.

Boom!

An explosion happened in the sky.

The Sword Light burst out and looked like fireworks to the people watching the battle from afar, as they could not clearly see the fight.

Kaj blocked the Fourteen Heavenly Swords.

However, James made another attack

He unleashed a strange sword technique-the First Lunar and Terra Sword Art

It was the unmatched sword technique recorded on the mountain.

In the past three years, he had been studying the sword technique and the First Sword Art he had obtained from King Quavon's Mausoleum.

He had fused the two sets of sword techniques together a long time ago but never had the chance to use them. Now, he could finally unleash it without restraint. His swordsmanship was as quick as a flash, making it almost impossible to parry

At that moment, the Fourteen Heavenly Swords clashed with Kaj's flurry of Sword Lights. The two exchanged blow after blow.

The dazzling Sword Lights flickered in the sky like lightning, constantly decimating the surroundings.

The surrounding area was reduced to rubble and splinters.

The two moved and swung their swords at blinding speeds.

James quietly appeared behind Kaj and thrust the Primordial Dragon Blade.

Kaj was oblivious, and it was already too late by the time he realized it. James' sword was already pressing against his back.

Although James did not pierce it through his body, the Sword Energy contained in his sword was potent enough to injure Kaj.

The Primordial Dragon Blade itself did not pierce through Kaj's body, but the Sword Energy emitted from it managed to go past his defenses.

His body plummeted from the sky and crashed into the ruins, unable to continue the fight.

The area returned to silence.

The spectators watched the scene with wide eyes. They stared at the battlefield from a distance and watched as Kaj's body fell from the sky.

"This?"

The Void Sect's disciples were shocked.

Kaj was practically invincible to them.

Even in the Sealed Realm, Kaj was one of the best seniors in their sect.

Yet, he had lost to James, a martial artist outside of the seal.

They were in disbelief at the battle's outcome.

"Mr Waseem, get back up!"

"You're supposed to be invincible, Mr. Waseem! How can you lose to that brat, James, a martial artist from outside the Sealed Realm?"

The Void Sect's disciples shouted anxiously.

However, Kaj never got back up.

James' body slowly descended from the sky and landed firmly on the ground. He stumbled backward, vomited a mouthful of blood, and then collapsed.

Despite winning the match against Kaj, he sustained severe injuries.

"Damn it."

There was a furious growl in the distant mountain.

"You dare hurt my disciple? You must really want to die."

After the voice rang out, an elderly man appeared.

The man wore a gray robe and had an old and bearded face. His face was wrinkled, and his eyes were sunken. It was evident he was boiling with anger.

He appeared in front of James instantly and thrust out his palm.

James was lying on the ground and could not get up before the devastating force suddenly swept toward him. The powerful force crashed into him, causing his body to bounce off the ground and fall a distance away

He vomited more blood, and there was a horrifying wound on his body.

"Honey!"

Watching from a distance, Thea was enraged upon seeing this scene.

A malicious energy erupted from her body, and her pitch-black pupils turned crimson.

"Thear

Thomas' expression turned to shock, and he quickly tried to hold Thea back but was too late. Thea had already rushed to the battlefield.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1846

Chapter 1846

After James had defeated Kaj, Void Sect's strongest elder struck James

James had already been injured yet sustained another blow from Void Sect's powerhouse. At that moment, the meridians throughout his body were broken, and he had severe internal injuries. He felt dizzy and his eyelids grew heavy.

"No, I can't fall asleep."

James was still vaguely conscious, but he gradually became increasingly groggy

In his hazy state, he thought he caught a glimpse of Thea rushing toward him.

"Thea."

James wanted to get up, but his whole body was wracked in agonizing pain, and he had no strength left.

He performed the healing method recorded in the medical book and mobilized his Terra and Lunar Energies to quickly mend his injuries.

Thea rushed over from afar.

Witnessing James being struck, the Four Holy Beasts' blood in her body made her go berserk. A dreadful energy emanated from her body as soon as she transformed. She flew over and unleashed Exalter, attacking the Void Sect's powerhouse.

Although Thea had not reached the ninth rank, her Exalter and Murderous Energy were difficult to counter. However, the Void Sect's powerhouse kept his cool, and a golden light erupted from his body to form a protective shield, which blocked Exalter's attacks.

"Thea."

A gentle voice called out for her

Shortly after, a man showed up.

Dressed in a white robe, he looked to be in his 30s and radiated with elegance

It was Tyrus.

Tyrus appeared behind Thea and tapped her shoulder a few times.

Thea, who was in a maddened state, returned to normal and withdrew Exalter. She glared at Void Sect's elites and roared furiously, "What's the meaning of this? This was a battle between James and Kaj! Why did you interfere?"

The elderly man from Void Sect cast a glance at Thea and said bluntly. "So what if I interfered? Anyone who hurts my disciple must die."

At that moment, Kaj stood up from the ground.

James' Sword Energy had pierced through his body. Despite sustaining grievous wounds which nearly killed him, he still would not go down so easily since he was a ninth-ranked grandmaster.

Seeing Kaj stand up, the elderly man heaved a sigh of relief. He walked toward Kaj and asked, "Are you alright?"

Kaj gently shook his head. With a pale face, he replied weakly, "I'm hurt quite badly, but it's not enough to kill me."

At that moment, Tyrus walked toward James and quickly checked his injuries. Then, he propped him up. into a lotus position and took out a mysterious fruit for James to eat.

James was still conscious when the fruit was stuffed into his mouth. He could smell the fruit's fragrance, and when he bit down on it, James felt Empyrean Spiritual Energy flow into him from the fruit.

"T-This fruit contains Empyrean Spiritual Energy?"

James looked at Tyrus in shock

Tyrus waved his hand and said, "Don't talk. You should concentrate on healing your wounds. Leave the rest to me"

"Alright."

James nodded, stopped talking, and began to quickly treat his wounds.

Tyrus looked at the elderly man of Void Sect. With his hands behind him, he said with a menacing voice, "What's the meaning of this, old man? Do you really think Sol has no powerful martial artists?"

The elderly man glanced at Tyrus and said disdainfully, "So what if I'm trampling on you guys? There isn't anyone that can stand up to me. What are you going to do?"

Immediately afterward, he issued an order, "Get them all! Don't let any of them leave."

Following his order, all 20 martial artists from Void Sect took action.

Most of them had reached the peak of the Skyward Stairway's Ninth Stair. Some were even Half-Saints

Seeing the 20 people move in unison, Thomas and the others immediately bore desperate grimaces. they quickly retreated.

"Stop right there!"

At that moment, a shout resounded.

The voice was like thunder ringing in everyone's ear.

The Void Sect's disciples were shocked and stopped in their tracks, not daring to move as they searched for where the sound came from.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1847

Chapter 1847

A man descended from the sky. He wore a white robe and had a youthful appearance, looking like he was probably around his 30s. However, all the hair on his head was a brilliant white.

"Father Tyrus greeted him respectfully

Langston swiftly descended from the sky, appearing in front of Void Sect's powerhouse.

"This."

The Void Sect elder was stunned by Langston's speed and took a few steps backward.

"A Supernatural?"

The Void Sect's powerhouse stared at Langston in disbelief.

Langston stared at him and said, "What were you saying just now? You think you can step on us because there aren't any strong martial artists in Sol?"

"H-Have you reached the Supernatural rank?"

Having sensed Langston's energy, the other man grew anxious and fear crept up on his face

Langston did not answer his question. Instead, he slowly approached him one step at a time. "You're sorely mistaken if you think that there aren't any other strong martial artists in Sol. I simply do not bother involving myself in trivial spats by youngsters."

Being addressed by Langston made it feel like an oppressive force was bearing down on him. It made the formidable man short of breath and beads of sweat dotted his forehead.

A Supernatural martial artist. The person before him had reached the Supernatural rank!

He was stunned

In the Sealed Realm, people who had reached this rank were seen as peerless.

The Void Sect's head was also a Supernatural

He never expected a martial artist from outside the Sealed Realm to have reached the Supernatural rank with such scarce Spiritual Energy

Under the pressure of Langston's terrifying energy, the elderly man did not even dare to breathe.

Langston withdrew his energy and walked toward James.

Seeing the injuries on James' body gradually healing themselves, he heaved a sigh of relief.

He did not leave and guarded James as he mended his wounds.

The whole area became dead silent.

Everyone's eyes were fixed on Langston.

Thomas, Sky, Simon, and the others also stared at Langston, trying to guess what the Supernatural rank really was.

Was it a rank above the ninth rank?

In the blink of an eye, half an hour passed.

James gradually stood up from the ground.

Thea walked over in time, took his hand, and asked worriedly. "Honey, are you alright?"

James forced a smile on his ashy face and said, "I'm fine for the time being."

After speaking, he looked at Tyrus and Langston. Then, he clasped his hands together and said, Thanks for the spiritual fruit, seniors. I would've been in critical condition if it weren't for it."

James had learned a lot of secrets

Thus, he knew the spiritual fruit was an invaluable commodity.

The seal had not fully opened yet, and spiritual fruits were very rare and highly sought after

Having the spiritual fruit would significantly improve his strength. After the seal was completely broken, he could seize the opportunity to gain as many boons as possible

Yet, Tyrus and Langston simply gifted the fruit to him.

Langston looked at James and said, "As long as you're fine with it."

Then, he looked at the spectators in the distance and said, "Everyone should disperse

However, the crowd did not leave. Instead, they began drawing closer to greet Langston.

Langston did not bother with them and left immediately

"Honey, let's leave too."

James glanced at the severely injured Kaj. Initially, he wanted to ask Kaj a few questions, but it seemed he would not be getting any answers

He nodded slightly, turned around, and left with Thea's support

The Omniscient Deity stood on a mountaintop in the distance. With his hands behind him, he watched the scene unfold and smiled faintly.

"You sure are something. Langston. You've actually stepped into the Supernatural rank secretly. The Dragon Essence must've improved his strength significantly. Since he gave James a spiritual fruit, he must already know about the seal and must have been searching all over the world for spiritual fruits."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1848

With Thea's support, James left Mount Bane.

Tyrus also accompanied him.

After leaving Mount Bane, James deliberately slowed his pace, waiting for the other martial artists to leave first.

When everyone else had left, he stopped in his tracks and turned to Tyrus, asking, "What did you give to me just now?"

James already knew that it was a spiritual fruit that was formed after the seal started breaking. The Empyrean Spiritual Energy from the Sealed Land began to leak out, and some plants on earth mutated as a result.

However, he pretended not to know anything because he was unsure of whether Tyrus knew about the seal.

Tyrus said with a smile, "There's a lot more you have yet to know, James. However, it's not the time for you to know yet. Don't rush back to Cansington. Come with me to the Southern Plains. There's someone I'd like you to meet."

James asked warily, "Hmm? You want me to see someone in the Southern Plains?"

"You'll understand when you're there."

Hearing this, James looked at Thea

Thea understood his intentions and immediately said, "It's alright. I can return alone."

"No. I'll get Grandpa to escort you back."

James planned to head to the Southern Plains but was worried about Thea

After thinking about it, he still felt that it was ill-advised.

He would blame himself if something were to happen when Thomas was escorting Thea. Since it only took a few hours to arrive at the Southern Plains via plane, he came to a decision.

"You should come with me instead."

"Alright." Thea nodded.

Although Thea's due date was approaching, she showed no signs of going into labor anytime soon. It seemed that their baby would not be born in the next few days.

After concluding their talk, the trio headed to the Southern Plains together.

Tyrus led James and Thea to a cliff on Mount Thunder Pass in the Southern Plains.

Thea had been to this place before.

Back then, she followed Tapio to this cliff and even headed in to explore further. However, there was a magic circle at the bottom, so she quickly turned back since she knew nothing about magic circles or how to handle them.

James looked at Tyrus and asked, "Who are we here to see?"

"You'll know when you see him."

With a flash, Tyrus jumped from the cliff and arrived at the bottom.

James looked at Thea, asking, "Will you be able to keep up?"

Thea smiled and said, "Why not?"

She mobilized her True Energy and followed Tyrus down the cliff.

James followed closely behind her

Soon, three of them landed at the bottom.

The place's layout was strange. It was thanks to the extraordinary formation that surrounded the area. Without any understanding of formations, one would die after being trapped and drained of their energy With Tyrus leading the way. James and Thea easily passed through the formation and entered a natural stone cavern.

The cavern's entrance was rather small, but the interior extended in different directions. There was even an underground palace within.

James' curiosity about the person Tyrus wanted him to meet was piqued.

However, Tyrus remained tight-lipped about it, so he did not inquire further.

With Tyrus' guidance, James and Thea reached the deepest part of the underground palace, where there was a cell with iron bars. A single person was within the cell.

Tyrus stopped in front of the cell.

Although it was a cell, a decently clean room was inside it.

There was a woman in a white dress and long hair seated on a chair. Her eyes had a far-off look as she stared at nothing in particular

“Sir?”

With doubt on his face, James asked, “Who’s this? Why did you bring me to see her?”

“Her name is Xandra Lafleur”

Tyrus looked at the person in the room.

Unbeknownst to James, this was not a prison.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 1849

Chapter 1849

The room was sealed off with an iron door

“Xandra Lafleur?”

When he heard the name, James’ eyes began to waver.

Three years ago, he met with his father, Nicholas, and learned some things about his mother.

His father had mentioned his mother’s name was Xandra Lafleur.

At that moment, his heart began beating rapidly.

Tyrus looked at Xandra who was in the room. He sighed softly and said, “She’s my youngest sister and was originally a very talented woman. Her talent for martial arts was terrifying. It did not matter what kind of martial technique it was, she was able to learn everything easily. When she was eighteen years old, she mastered all the martial art techniques in the world and stepped into the eighth rank at such a young age.” Tyrus spoke softly as he talked about Xandra.

“Thousands of years ago, my father led people to slaughter the Spirit Turtle but they failed. My father. planned to regroup and attempt to kill the Spirit Turtle once more. Incidentally, he learned about King Quavon’s Mausoleum by chance. He managed to enter the museum and obtained the phoenix’s blood there.”

“Father and I were fine after consuming the phoenix blood. My sister, on the other hand, encountered a problem after she consumed it. She was left in a semi-deranged state. For thousands of years, she remained in this state of insanity. Being in such a state for a prolonged period of time caused her to suffer from brain damage. There were only a few years where she was able to regain her sanity.”

“Thirty years ago, my sister broke out of her cell and fled.”

Hearing this, James drew a sharp breath.

He stared at the woman locked up inside the cell.

The woman had a gentle and refined appearance. She was as beautiful as she was in the pictures he had seen of her

In that moment, he was sure the woman before him was his mother

That woman was his biological mother.

His eyes turned red, and tears began to brim in his eyes, threatening to stream down his face.

Tyrus continued. "After my sister fled, the phoenix blood in her caused her to experience an Energy Deviation. She forcefully suppressed it but ended up injured. Back then, she happened to be rescued by your father, Nicholas. One year later, you were born.

"After I found her, I secretly brought her back here."

"Mom!"

James looked at the woman inside the cell. She was beautiful, but her eyes were lifeless, like a zombie. He could not stop himself from calling out to her.

He looked at Tyrus again.

He never expected Tyrus to be his uncle.

What was even more unexpected was the fact that the Prince of Orchid Mountain was his grandfather.

He finally understood why Tyrus had been secretly helping him.

It was because Tyrus was related to him.

"My mother...H-How is she now?"

James approached the cell and looked at the woman inside.

Tyrus replied, "Her condition is pretty bad. The phoenix's blood greatly affected her, causing her to lose her mind. My father had no choice but to seal off her True Energy. Otherwise, this small cell wouldn't be sufficient to contain her."

"Can I go inside to see her?"

James felt a warmth surge in his heart seeing his mother

He had dreamed of meeting his mother for 30 years.

Now, he finally got to meet her

Tyrus opened the cell.

James walked inside.

As soon as James entered the room, Xandra stood up abruptly and charged like a wild beast.

Tyrus intercepted her in a flash and sealed her acupoints, calming her down once more

He helped her return to her seat.

James stood before Xandra and his face held a complicated expression as he looked at her. He immediately took her pale hand and checked her pulse.

Tyrus gently shook his head and said, "It's useless. If there was a way to fix her, father would've already done it."

After checking Xandra's pulse, James also came to the same conclusion-her brain was severely damaged. There was still a slight chance of helping her, but it would be rather troublesome

"Mom."

With a loud thump, he fell to the ground and wept

Xandra's acupoints were sealed, so she could only sit mindlessly. Her unfocused eyes seemed to focus a little as if she heard someone calling out for her

Tyrus unsealed Xandra's acupoints.

Xandra looked at James, who was kneeling on the ground, with confusion. She had no idea who he was or why he was kneeling on the floor.

"W-Who are you?" Xandra looked at him in bewilderment.

Tyrus helped James up from the ground and said, "It's useless. She doesn't remember anything. She may look relatively calm now, but it'll be dangerous once she loses her sanity again. Let's head outside first."

He helped James out of the cell.

After heading to a room in the underground palace, James' brows furrowed together.

He had checked Xandra's pulse, and she was in a dire predicament. Her experience had greatly traumatized her brain and the nerves within. It would be extremely hard to treat.

Thea remained silent throughout the whole reunion, quietly staying by James' side.

After thinking for a while, James turned to Tyrus, who was standing beside him. He never expected Tyrus to be his uncle

"You're my uncle?"

Tyrus smiled and said, "I didn't want to tell you these things so soon, but since you've already entered the ninth rank, I felt you at least deserved to know as much. I did not bring you here so you could cure her. I know you're capable of doing so, but I have something else to tell you"

James asked, "What is it?"

Tyrus said, "It's a secret my father acquired from King Quavon's Mausoleum in the past."

Hearing this, James' heart skipped a beat.

Tyrus continued. "A thousand years ago, my father entered King Quavon's Mausoleum. He found out the truth that King Quavon never actually died, but he left for a mysterious place instead."

"The Sealed Realm?" James asked tentatively.

"Oh? You seem to be familiar with it already" Tyrus was startled

The Sealed Realm was a secret only he and his father knew about. No one else in this world knew about it, so how was it that James had knowledge about it?

Tyrus looked at James with shock and suspicion.

James replied with a smile, "I very recently learned of it. The Omniscient Deity was the one who told me."

"I see.. So the Omniscient Deity also knows about it. I never expected him to hide it so well," Tyrus said, still baffled by the revelation.

James asked, "Uncle, how much do you know about the Sealed Realm?"

Tyrus said, "I don't know much about it. I only know the seal is located on Mount Bane. More than two thousand years ago, King Quavon gathered four keys and opened up the seal to the Sealed Realm. Before he left Earth, King Quavon left the seals on earth, built a mausoleum, and left records about the Sealed Realm within it.

"As far as I know, our earth was originally an enormous planet but was sealed off for some reason.

"King Quavon had left behind a message. At a certain time, the seal can be opened after the four keys are gathered. When that happens, the earth's Empyrean Spiritual Energy will be unleashed."

James asked, "Since King Quavon released the seal, shouldn't it already be open?"

Tyrus said, "No. King Quavon only made an entrance. It's not the real opening. He said the real opening can only be activated at a certain time. Other than that specified time, it will not open. King Quavon left a prophecy, saying it would open about ten years from now."

"Ten years?" James' jaw dropped in shock.

Tyrus nodded. "Yeah, ten years in the future King Quavon also said a series of changes will happen to our earth when the time for the seal to open draws close. Now that changes have started appearing, it means King Quavon's prophecy was accurate."

James asked, "So, do you know about the four keys?"

"Yeah. I know about it. I've been tracking them down all these years. However, I've only obtained one out of the four keys. I don't know where the other three might be."

James said, "They're with the Omniscient Deity"

Tyrus suddenly came to a realization. "I see."

James and Tyrus sat together and chatted about the Sealed Realm, the changes in the world, and opening the Sealed Realm.
