Chapter 513 The Broken Carrot

“With several countries concurrently targeting us, do you think Diatoran has a good chance of winning this time?” Willow asked, concerned.

“We’ll be fine. It’s true that these enemies are powerful, but the soldiers of Diatoran are courageous and highly skilled. As long as we work together, we can definitely defeat the enemy!” Caspian said with conviction.

“I heard that the war in West Aridlands is so tense that even the King has gone over in person. It seems like the situation is not favorable,” Willow said worriedly.

“Don’t worry, honey. I have faith in Diatoran. The situation is critical now because the enemies launched a sneak attack on us.

“We’ve prepared ourselves. Once we face them head-on on the battlefield, we’ll definitely be in the lead,” Caspian replied firmly.

The consolidated strength of Diatoran ranked among the best in the world. Even though it was rather challenging to fight these countries, they could definitely win as long as their men advanced with vigilance at a steady pace.

“What about Southlake City and South Aridlands?” Willow was still worried.

“Since I’m in charge of South Aridlands, there won’t be a problem. Don’t worry about these things, honey. Have a good night’s rest. Everything will be fine,” Caspian said and smiled as he stroked Willow’s cheek.

Willow nodded her head and fell into a deep sleep.

However, Caspian could not fall asleep at all. He tossed and turned. An hour later, Willow was already fast asleep but Caspian was still wide awake.

Now that the war was about to begin, Caspian thought about something he needed to do. He walked out of his bedroom and took out the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

He wanted to take this opportunity to study the mysteries within the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

Unfortunately, even after half an hour had passed, he still could not comprehend the contents of the scroll fragment. They were very different from the first fragment he found. They were all complex diagrams that Caspian could not understand at all. taway

He then put the Eldorian Scroll fragment away.

He came to Zoey's bedroom.

But before he could knock, a sharp cry was heard coming from the room.

Caspian was stunned. His mind began racing as he wondered what was happening and why Zoey was wailing miserably in the middle of the night.

He wondered if something bad had happened to her. Did someone come to assassinate her?

With that in mind, adrenaline took over. But then he remembered that there were guards around the villa. It would be absolutely impossible for anyone to enter the villa.

Perhaps it was someone with powers greater than that of a supreme grandmaster?

Caspian felt that something was wrong. He picked up the Diatanium dagger and slowly turned the doorknob to Zoey's room.

The lights were switched on, and Zoey was lying on the bed. She was wrapped in her quilt, and her hands seemed to be moving around. There was a pained expression on her face.

Zoey did not expect that Caspian would show up all of a sudden. She was startled when she saw Caspian coming in.

“Caspian! Why did you enter my room?” Zoey exclaimed.

First, Caspian took a look around the room. He was relieved that no one else was in the room.

“What’s wrong, Zoey? Why did you let out an odd cry?” Caspian asked as he looked at Zoey.

“Aren’t you afraid of Willow finding out that you came into my room? Also, weren’t you just doing it ...”

Zoey felt too shy to finish her sentence.

“What? We’re already done with it. It’s been more than an hour.

“I heard your scream and thought that someone was here to assassinate you. That’s why I came over to have a look,” Caspian explained.

Zoey did not have to finish her sentence for Caspian to know what she was trying to say.

He did not want Zoey to misunderstand his intention.

“Are you sick? Why do you look so miserable?” Caspian asked.

"I-It's nothing. I just feel a little uncomfortable. I'll be fine soon. You may leave now," Zoey said bashfully

What was Caspian talking about? She heard them loud and clear, so

At that moment, Caspian saw half a carrot next to Zoey's bed!

There was nothing strange about a carrot, but the fact that it appeared in this setting was slightly odd.

And when he glanced at Zoey's expression, he connected the dots.

Could it be...

"Why are you still here, Caspian? Please get out!" Zoey yelled again.

"I can see that you're in quite a lot of pain. Do you need my help?" Caspian asked tentatively.

There was a unique meditation therapy that could calm people.

And Zoey looked like she needed it very much.

"What? Help me with what? What are you trying to say?" Zoey asked, perplexed.

"Zoey, you're Willow's best friend, which makes you my best friend. I think that you should find yourself a boyfriend. It'd be bad if you keep mistreating yourself like this.

"Besides, we should be giving our 'first time' to our lover, not Isn't it uncomfortable that half a carrot is stuck in you now?

to give Avon a call," Caspian said.

"Why would you call Dr. Long? What's broken? Caspian, I don't get what you mean," Zoey was utterly confused.

Caspian had suddenly barged in and began speaking in incomprehensible words, making Zoey really puzzled.

1.

“Zoey, you can drop the act. We’re all adults here. I get it!” Caspian said.

Zoey seemed to piece the puzzles together after looking at the half-DIONGH

“You’d better not make things up, Caspian. I’m just having really bad diarrhea after eating the carrot,”

Zoey explained in a hurry.

Her cheeks were flushed like tomatoes. She felt utterly embarrassed.

She did become excited after hearing their moans, and that was why she ate the carrot to quench her thirst. However, she started having abdominal pains after eating half of it.

She had only screamed out because the pain was too unbearable.

What did Caspian mean just now when he offered to help?

Could it be that he wanted to help her by using his hands “there”?

Zoey’s chest began heaving, and she felt really shy.

She had always felt an inexplicable attraction toward Caspian. No other men had been able to attract her this way before.

Caspian choked.

“Ah, so you’re just having diarrhea from eating the carrot. I thought...”
Caspian felt awkward now.

“What were you even thinking about? Get out now! I feel so humiliated “Thank God Willow doesn’t know about this. Otherwise, I’d be too embarrassed to meet anyone. You’d better not tell anyone about this,” Zoey said slightly irritably.

If Willow were to know that Caspian had misunderstood her this way, she might joke about it for a very long time.

However, Caspian remained standing there. It seemed like he had no intention of leaving.

When Zoey noticed him still standing there, she felt puzzled.

Today

“Why are you still here, Caspian? Please just go back to your room. You’re making me feel uncomfortable!” Zoey prodded.

She only had her pajamas on. With Caspian in her room staring at her, she felt shy.

“I need you to help me with something,” Caspian said slowly as he looked at Zoey.

Chapter 514 Neleed You to Teach Me Some Postures

“It’s already late/What do you want?” Zoey asked, feeling dubious about Caspian’s intention.

Caspian was the airnighy Diatoran God of War. What help could he possibly need from Zoey?

“There are a few postures that I don’t understand. They feel really awkward, so bwerera tolovry them with you,” Caspian said.

“Postures? How are we supposed to try them? Shouldn’t you try them with Willow?” Zoey was blushing again. Even her ears were turning red.

Zoey imagined that Caspian must have done various postures during their intimate a gorivity

She felt strange that he was seeking Zoey’s advice on the postures.

Zoey wondered if Caspian was as interested in her.

“Willow wouldn’t know how. These postures are too challenging. Only you’d know,” Caspian said as he shook his head.

Hearing this, Zoey froze.

What could the challenging postures be that even Willow would know? What were those two up to??

Nonetheless, Zoey was still a virgin. If Caspian was really planning to do it with her, it would be a win for her.

Adenali, Caspian was the Diatoran God of War. There would be countless women fighting for a chance like this. Moreover, judging Cercom Witlow’s screams earlier, Caspian must be really good in bed.

She warned the experience of making love to a man.

“I have a piece of martial arts diagram with me that I need your help with. Willow has told me before that you majored in medicine, so I’m sure you’d understand it better,” Caspian said as he took the Eldorian Scroll fragment out.

He did not reveal the truth about the Eldorian Scroll fragment in case Zoey kept asking questions about it.

“So you were referring to the martial arts diagram all along?” Zoey asked, perplexed.

“What else could it be? It’s the middle of the night. Why else would I be looking for you?” Caspian asked.

He had originally wanted to consult Avon on this matter, but he was not with them. It would not be right to have him come all the way to the villa in the middle of the night.

Since Zoey majored in medicine as well, she would know a thing or two about diagrams.

Now that the war was imminent, Caspian must improve his strength as well.

“Aren’t you the Diatoran God of War? Why would you still need to study a martial arts diagram?” Zoey asked in a rather displeased tone.

She felt annoyed. She had thought that Caspian was interested in her and wanted to do it with her.

In the end, all he did was ask about the diagram.

Zoey wanted to scream like Willow “That’s right. Now that the war is about to begin, I must practice my martial arts skills so that I can deal with the enemies,” Caspian said.

“But there’s not much time left. Are you sure it’s still going to work?” Zoey asked.

I’m just trying to practice since I can’t fall asleep, and I want to ask fdo your help since I don’t understand the diagram. If you don’t feel likke helping, you can just tell me. I’ll just get Avon to help me,” Cassician said before he turned around, preparing to leave the room.

After all, it was rather inappropriate for him to look for her in the middle of the night.

Hearing Caspian say these words made Zoey slightly anxious.

This was a golden opportunity to have some alone time with Caspian. She wondered if he would be tired as he had just done it with Willow. For an hour

“It’s true that studied medicine, but I know nothing about martial arts. Do you think I can be of help to you?” Zoey asked dubiously.

“It’s fine as long as you understand the diagram. The martial arts aspect is closely related to the diagram, so I’d like you to help me decipher it,” Caspian explained.

However, it seemed like Zoey did not really want to help him.

“I think you can give Avondo help you with the diagram” Zoey said as she wanted to stay a little while longer.

She did not want Caspian to think that she was easy.

“I’ll be really busy tomorrow as I have a battle to oversee. Today only time I have to practice maneuvers, which is why I must study the diagram now.

“Once I learn it, I’ll have a better chance at winning the battle,”

Caspian said.

“Aren’t you the Diatoran God of War? Why do you have to be at the front line when you already have so many brilliant soldiers?” Zoey asked curiously.

“I have to set a good example for everyone. The enemy is pretty strong. We can’t say for sure when a war will break out.

“It’s always an advantage for us to refine our skills,” Caspian said firmly.

“Alright, take your diagram out. I’ll have a look at it.” Zoey felt inclined to help after hearing Caspian’s passionate explanation.

Being able to help the Diatoran God of War would also be something she could brag about.

Caspian took the Eldorian scroll fragment out and handed it over to Zoey. She perused the document.

This was the first time she had ever seen a martial arts diagram like this.

However, there was not much text on it. There were many images of the human body and a few difficult positions.

Looking at the diagram, she finally understood what Caspian meant when he mentioned “postures”.

“So, are you able to decipher the hidden messages?” Caspian asked.

“I guess so. I can understand the diagram clearly. It’s just the martial arts aspect of it that I don’t understand,” Zoey said.

“That’s fine. You may start explaining slowly from the first page,” Caspian said.

“Basically, the first technique is Dual Force Strike, also known as the Miroctal Strike. There are very clear points ...” Zoey said.

As she explained the diagram, Caspian began practicing in the room.

As expected, he would not have been able to practice if there was no

Zoey was amazed at Caspian’s moves.

Her mind began to wander. She imagined what it would be like to be pinned under such a man.

“Zoey, what about the second page?” Caspian asked.

He caught Zoey in a daze.

“The second page of the diagram is more complicated. And it seems like these positions should be practiced in an open space, not inside a room,” Zoey said while looking at the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

“Let’s head outside, then. I can’t extend my arms and legs in this room anyway,” Caspian said with a nod.

Zoey nodded unconsciously even though she was taken aback by his request.

For some reason, she could not refuse Caspian’s request.

The armored soldiers guarding the villa felt odd to see Caspian and Zoey coming out of the villa. They were curious about why they left the villa in the middle of the night.

The scene of a man with his wife’s best friend gave them impression. They wondered what they were up to.

He did not dare to meddle in the affairs of the Diatoran God of War.

“Let’s head to the backyard of the villa. There’s an open space there. It’s close to the river as well, which means we wouldn’t be disturbing anyone,” Caspian said.

“Alright,” Zoey said as she nodded.

The two passed through a forest and arrived at the riverbank.

Zoey suddenly became nervous.

It would be very exciting if they were to do it at a place like this in the middle of the night.

She began to wonder if Caspian had something else in mind.

Chapter 515

Chapter 515 Leaving the Villa in the Middle of the Night

Zoey’s mind began to wander again as she fantasized about Caspian. Once she pictured being pinned down by an outstanding man like

Caspian, she felt ecstatic.

The reflection of the moonlight sparkled on the river’s surface, making the scene feel so poetic..

Caspian saw a large hole on the river bank as soon as they arrived at the riverside. The hole looked like it was caused by a bomb explosion.

“Is this the place where Macy threw the bomb?” Caspian asked.

“Yeah, it was so dramatic yesterday. I heard from them that the enemies had placed the bomb inside your closet. It’s fortunate that Macy found it in time.

“Otherwise, the entire villa would have been blown up,” Zoey said. She was still frightened by the incident the day before.

“Macy is really brilliant. She used to be the best among the female soldiers in the army!” Caspian said.

“That explains why she’s so good! It was said that there were 0 seconds left on the bomb when she found it. Within such a short period of time, she sprinted here all the way from the villa and into the river.

“No ordinary person would’ve been able to pull that off!” Zoey said. She was suddenly in awe of Macy.

“Didn’t you learn a move earlier? Let me see how great your skills are,” Zoey said excitedly.

She somehow felt like they were having an affair.

“Okay.” Caspian nodded before picking up the Diatanium dagger.

He gripped the dagger tightly in his hands and began using the techniques he had just learned from the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

He stabbed a tree forcefully.

Suddenly, a bright flash appeared. The dagger released immense energy.

It was a small dagger, but it had actually pierced the entire tree trunk!

As

Zoey froze on her spot.

Even Caspian was surprised.

As expected, the execution and method improved immensely after having studied the diagram.

Before this, he practiced without guidance and could not find the point of the move.

“That’s incredible! Caspian, you’re truly amazing! With a method like this, you can definitely defeat the enemy!” Zoey said excitedly.

“I didn’t expect that it’d be so effective. If I learn all the methods on the diagram, I should be able to bring down an entire tree with my bare hands, right?” Caspian asked excitedly.

“I think that’s totally possible. I noticed that the diagram included methods like sword movements as well as hand and leg movements. As long as you master them, you’ll definitely be unbeatable!” Zoey praised.

“Let’s hope that becomes a reality!” Caspian nodded. It was difficult for him to improve as he was already at a really high level.”

“Excuse me for a second, I think I need to use the bathroom,” Zoey suddenly said, feeling rather embarrassed.

“That’s fine. Just go.” Caspian said, feeling slightly bothered about it. Nevertheless, he was the one who interrupted her evening. He felt a little bad about it.

“You stay here and don’t move. You can’t peek, you understand? Otherwise. I’ll tell Willow Zoey spotted.

Zoey was really something. How could she even think of that?

If Caspian knew what Zoey was thinking, he would become speechless.
"Ah!"

Suddenly, Zoey's scream could be heard coming from the bushes.

Caspian's expression went frigid. He immediately turned around and saw Zoey running over in a panic, with her pajamas in her hand.

"What happened?" Caspian asked.

He wondered if there was a peeping Tom.

"I got bitten by a snake!" Zoey said in a frightened voice.

The situation was ridiculous to her as well. She had only gone to relieve herself out of necessity. Why did she have to get bitten by a snake?

Caspian was surprised. He immediately ran to the place where she was to see what kind of snake it was.

If it was a venomous snake, they would have to immediately suck the poison out and have Avon come over.

But when Caspian arrived at the spot, he saw that it was ju snake. The snake got scared as well and slithered away.

Based on his experience, snakes of this kind were not venomo there was nothing to worry about.

“Don’t worry. You’re going to be fine. This kind of snake is not venomous,” Caspian comforted her as he noticed that Zoey was stil panicking.

“Are you sure that it’s really not venomous? What if I die from the venom?” Zoey had some doubts about Caspian’s claim.

“I’ve seen a lot of such snakes before. I’ve encountered many of them

Caspian had been on the battlefield for many years. He had dabbled in various fields before. It was relatively easy for him to distinguish between different kinds of snakes.

Even his armored soldiers had this set of skills. It was one of the essential lessons they had to learn in the army.

“What if you’re mistaken? It’s pretty dark here as well,” Zoey asked impatiently.

“I’ll have Avon come over to check your wound, then,” Caspian said when he saw that Zoey was still worried.

She would most likely believe Avon’s words as he was a doctor.

“You can’t do that. I don’t know him well. Besides, it’d be bad for him to know that we were in a place like this in the middle of the night!” Zoey explained in a hurry.

“What do you have in mind, then?” Caspian asked.

Zoey was right.

It would be bad if others knew that they were in a secluded area in the middle of the night.

“Can you help me suck the venom out? I’m afraid I’m going to die,” Zoey said worriedly.

“I guess so. Where did it bite you?” Caspian asked.

Caspian could only comply with her request in order to dispel her concerns.

Zoey blushed right after Caspian finished his sentence.

“It... It bit my butt,” Zoey said shyly.

“What?”

Caspian had no other options. He saw that Zoey was about to cry, and crying women scared him the

“I guess... we have no other choice, then. Lift up your dress. I’ll help you take a look,” Caspian said in a resigned tone.

He did not think too much of it because Zoey's life was at stake.

When she lifted her dress, she began blushing really hard.

She had never let a man see her body before.

With her life on the line, though, she had no time to worry about that.

No one would know about this incident as long as she kept it to herself.

Zoey turned around so that her back was facing Caspian. Slowly, she lifted her nightgown, exposing her bottom.

With her nightgown gradually lifting, her slender legs were slowly exposed. Then, her perfect curves were revealed. Caspian was momentarily taken aback upon seeing Zoey's body.

"Is the wound bad? Do you see it?" Zoey asked softly.

She felt really shy. It was embarrassing having to stick her butt out for a man to see.

"I see it. It's not that bad." Caspian looked carefully and saw two small bite marks on Zoey's buttocks.

"Then you'd better hurry and help me suck the venom out or I'll be dead soon. I'm already starting to feel dizzy," Zoey said urgently.

"Don't you think this is a little inappropriate? If I suck it for you ..." Caspian said awkwardly.

“When the time comes, you won’t be able to explain yourself.” Zoey was a lady who cherished her life.

She was truly frightened.

What if Caspian did not see the snake clearly? After all, it was dark.

She had heard before that a snake’s venom was lethal.

If the venom was not dealt with immediately, it would be life-threatening.

Caspian felt like he was stuck in an awkward position. If it was Willow who had been bitten, he would help her suck the venom out without a moment’s hesitation.

However, his relationship with Zoey was platonic. Also, Zoey was Willow’s best friend. This was a very taboo thing to do.

Moreover, he had clearly seen the snake, and it was definitely a no venomous snake.

It felt like he was taking advantage of Zoey if he really went down and sucked the venom out of her buttocks.

“Why are you not sucking it out? I’m dying over here!” Zoey was becoming more and more anxious.

In her mind, every minute of delay placed her life at a greater risk.

Zoey was about to combust. She was still a virgin. Caspian had now seen everything and yet he was still reluctant.

After sucking for about two to three minutes, Caspian got up and said, "It's done. It should be fine now."

Caspian did not dare to continue any longer. He was afraid that he might commit a mistake.

After all, Zoey was also a very beautiful woman. He did not want to do something that would wrong

"Could you also squeeze it out?" Zoey requested again.

She wanted to make sure that all the venom had been fully extracted from her body in order for her to be fully assured.

Caspian was speechless.

He looked at Zoey's tender and fair skin. He imagined that it w silky to the touch.

Nonetheless, he could not refuse. Otherwise, Zoey would defini start crying again.

Caspian was torn. He could only stretch his arms out and reach for her rear.

“Could the snake really be venomous?” Caspian asked, confused. He was sure that the snake was non-venomous at all.

Could he have gotten it wrong?

“The snake might not be venomous, but I think you are,” Zoey said softly.

Zoey’s words made Caspian perplexed.

A bold idea came to Zoey’s mind at that moment. Since they were the only ones there, she wanted to experience love-making.

When she heard Caspian and Willow doing it earlier, Willow’s screams made it sound like they were enjoying it a lot.

With the moonlight shining so brightly, the thought of doing it by the river felt really exciting.

Zoey wanted to create a beautiful memory in this lifetime.

When Caspian saw Zoey’s flushed face, he became even more confused.

“What are you talking about? Why would I be venomous?” he asked.

“Oh, you don’t get it, do you?” Zoey was speechless. Was Caspian just a blockhead? Was he usually Zoey was not even poisoned but insisted that she was. Her little drama held up his progress in studying the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

Zoey let out a frustrated sigh and pulled her nightgown down.

She had been so upfront about her intentions and yet Caspian was unmoved.

She began to doubt if she had any charm.

“Are you fine now?” Caspian asked when he saw Zoey’s expression.

“That’s right! I’m so mad right now!” Zoey barked.

Caspian became even more confused. She was just fine a second ago, so why was she suddenly angry?

“Hurry up and study the martial arts diagram already!” Zoey knew deep down that Caspian was not interested in her at all.

It was a one-sided thing on her part. Indeed, love-making at a place like this would be thrilling, and even more so because she had never done it before.

“Alright.” Caspian nodded before continuing his research on the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

Coupled with Zoey’s interpretation, Caspian managed to practice the techniques more effectively.

With a loud bang, Caspian threw a punch. The strong wind swept across the river. It was as if there was an explosion on the river as waves went up several meters high.

They managed to go through half of the Eldorian Scroll fragment.

“Okay,” Zoey said, nodding.

Deep down, she felt like staying with him a little longer.

Nevertheless, since he had already spoken out, she could only comply.

“Oh my!” Zoey exclaimed.

She had only taken two steps before she stepped on a rock and sprained her foot.

“What’s wrong?” Caspian asked.

“I think I’ve sprained my foot,” Zoey said, gritting her teeth from the pain.

Zoey was surprised. Nevertheless, she did not hesitate at all and climbed onto Caspian’s back.

Upon returning to the villa, both went back to their respective rooms. to resume their slumber.

Caspian was afraid that Willow would have awoken. Thankfully, she was still fast asleep.

Nothing happened all night.

In the morning, Caspian received the latest news saying that Vadesia and Astronia’s negotiations with Necros seemed to have fallen through.

The three countries became entangled in a dispute as Necros refused. to open up a passage for them.

Necros was no fool. They were co-dependent on Diatoran. If anything happened to Diatoran, their country would be in imminent danger as well.

Immediately, Caspian called Sylvia and Macy over. He planned to check on the situation at the coastline of Southlake City. He would head over to Necros in person if the situation called for it.

“I’ll wait for you, Caspian. You must be careful,” Willow yelled.

“Don’t worry, I’ll be sure to return home safely,” Caspian said before turning around to get into the armored car.

With the imminence of war, he could no longer afford to worry about his personal feelings.

Once Astronia and Vadesia broke through Necros’ line of defense, they would be in the vicinity of would definitely cause them to panic.

For that reason, he had Willow continue staying in Southlake City.

Even though he had brought Sylvia and Macy with him, he left dozens of armored guards in Southlake

City to protect Willow.

Now that the war was coming, he needed Sylvia and Macy to be on the front line. They were his best fighters.

To have them stay back to protect Willow would be a waste of their talent.

Willow and Zoey stood outside the villa as they watched Caspian's car leave.

At this very moment, some troops from Astronia and Vadesia decided to cross Necros by using submarines.

It was Necros was a small country that was easy to deal with. They did not want to spend a second more on Necros as their ultimate Southlake City.

The advanced troops of Astronia and Vadesia used their detectors to detect all the bombs that had been placed

They managed to get through successfully without detonating bombs.

After all, the technology of these countries was very advanced as well.

Instantly, news about the armies of Astronia and Vadesia appearing on the coastline spread across Southlake City.

The entire Southlake City was plunged into chaos. Some of the more

As the armored vehicles passed through the streets of Southlake City, Caspian saw a lot of people holding banners on the street. They seemed to be very emotional.

"Caspian, the chief commander of South Aridlands is a coward!"

"The chief commander backed down before the war! Replace him!"

"Too cowardly to fight! Replace him! Replace him!"

"The disgrace of Diatoran!"

The Stewart family exposed Caspian's identity as the chief commander who ordered the naval retreat.

Like a stone that disturbed an otherwise peaceful lake, a ripple effect was created.

Many knew that Astronia and Vadesia were drawing near to Southlake City. For that reason, they began to take it to the streets and demand for the chief commander to be replaced.

They were not concerned with whatever a "Diatoran God of War" was. They would support anyone as long as that person could protect them.

For now, all they wanted was someone valorous to enter the battle as their chief commander!

Just a day earlier, Caspian had the reverence of the people of Southlake City. However, his reputation seemed to have been tarnished overnight. Half of the people of Southlake City were criticizing him now.

Caspian felt rather frustrated that the situation had turned disorderly.

"I can't believe they're making a scene here, Lord Caspian. I'll go and teach them a lesson!" Sylvia fumed when she saw the banners.

"No, don't mind them," Caspian said.

"But they're slandering the good name of the Diatoran God of War. Should we just let them do whatever they want?" Sylvia asked impatiently.

"They must have misunderstood us because they have no idea what's going on. It's completely understandable for them to be resentful now,

Caspian said.

“But they’ve crossed the line with their insolent remarks. I just can’t stand it anymore,” Sylvia said furiously.

“Once we win the war, they’ll know why I had to do what I did,” Caspian said. “Have you figured out how you’re going to defeat the enemy?” Sylvia asked.

Caspian had not disclosed his strategy to them.

“Of course. First, we’ll provide reinforcement to Necros and help with the defense against Astronia and Vadesia. As for the advan troops, we’ll just let them in.

“Once they’re within range, we’ll annihilate them!” Caspian said.

As the Diatoran God of War, he had already devised a complete battle plan in his mind.

“I knew it. You must’ve had your reason for asking the maritime troops to retreat.”

“Once they’re near Southlake City, we’ll use the suppressive fire tactic. How’s the situation in Necros?”

Caspian asked.

“Got it. But how did these civilians know that you’re the chief commander?” Sylvia asked.

“I’m not sure either. Only a small number of people know about the identity of the chief commander.

They might have inferred from the procession yesterday.” Caspian had wondered about it as well, and this seemed to be the only possible explanation.

“Could the leak of your identity as the chief commander come from a group who wants to disrupt the stability of Southlake City?” Sylvia asked as she pondered.

“With the urgency of the war’s situation, let’s not worry too much about this,” Caspian advised.

It was a waste of time to linger on such trivial matters.

“Guys, look! Caspian’s vehicle has appeared! Don’t let him get away!”

At that moment, Richard was among a crowd. He yelled as he pointed at Caspian’s vehicle.

When the people around him heard that Caspian had appeared, they immediately rushed over.

Thousands of people blocked the streets.

The vehicle that Caspian was in had to come to a stop.

“Come out, Caspian! Someone like you is not worthy of becoming chief commander!” Nicholas shouted as well.

The anger within those civilians burned even more intensely after hearing what Nicholas had just said.

Caspian started piecing the puzzles together when he saw Richard and Nicholas.

The leaking of his identity must have had something to do with them

They wanted to use public opinion to their advantage and ruin Caspian’s reputation.

“These people are obstructing the army when there’s a war going on. Have them evacuated immediately within three minutes. Otherwise, they shall be held accountable for their actions!

“Have our men punish Nicholas, Richard, and whoever’s with them. Make an example out of them!”

Caspian ordered.

This was a serious matter. Caspian could not afford to be lenient.

“Yes, Lord Caspian!”

Sylvia nodded before immediately leading a few men out of the car!

Chapter 518

Chapter 518 Fanning the Flames

“We’re giving you three minutes to clear the path. Otherwise, you’ll be charged with the obstruction of official duties!” Sylvia shouted as soon as she got out of the vehicle.

Every second was critical. They could not afford to lose their valuable time on senseless matters.

If they were to lose out on the golden timing for the battle, they might have to suffer irreparable consequences.

Caspian was gracious to these people because they were clueless about the exact situation.

Moreover, most of them were ardent youths with good intentions. It just so happened that Richard and Nicholas had taken advantage of their zeal.

Caspian gave them three minutes because he knew that it would take some time for thousands of people to leave the place. The amount of time given was ample. If they were ruffians, Caspian would have already ordered for the armored car to run them over.

“Come out, Caspian! Explain yourself!”

“That’s right! If you’ve got the balls, you’d better come out right now! What are you hiding in there for?”

“I can’t believe he’s the chief commander. He can’t even face us!”

Richard, Nicholas, and the likes were starting to incite the masses again.

All they wanted was for Caspian to be destroyed. They had hated him

+25 BONUS for a lonely man to cure the opportunity to any mum down
Their goal was to have the people of Diatoran cast him aside so that he would have to resign from his position as the chief commander.

As the Diatoran God of War and also the head of the Five War Gods, however, Caspian would never let himself be fooled by the goading of these people.

The reason he remained silent was not because he was afraid.

He was worried that there might be secret agents hiding among the crowd and that they would try to assassinate him once he got down from the vehicle. When that happened, there would definitely be more unwanted bloodshed.

He did not want a tragedy like this to happen and had thus chosen to endure.

“Caspian, we heard that the advanced troops of our enemies are already approaching Southlake City.

You sure are doing one hell of a fine job!”

“Are you thinking of surrendering? How ridiculous!”

“Yeah! How did someone like you become the chief commander?”

“Caspian! Get down here if you can!”

The civilians were becoming more and more upset. They had even begun to insult Caspian.

As the people’s rude remarks were starting to cross the line, Sylvia took her gun out.

The armored battalion followed suit and drew their weapons as well, taking aim at the civilians.

“You have one minute left. You’d better leave immediately. Otherwise, you’ll be labeled as criminals obstructing military affairs.

“I’ll then have reason to suspect that you’re the enemies’ agents, and I’ll kill you without mercy!” Sylvia roared.

The civilians stumbled two steps backward. They were startled by the sight of the weapons.

Even though Richard and Nicholas were also afraid, they did not want to let this golden opportunity slip.

They believed that Sylvia and the others would never open fire at the civilians.

“Everybody, don’t panic! We’re all good citizens. They wouldn’t dare to open fire at us!” Richard yelled from among the crowd.

“He’s right! It’s not like we’re breaking the law. They have no right to shoot us!”

“There are so many people present. If they have the audacity to shoot me, Caspian will no longer be the chief commander!”

When the civilians heard Richard’s words, they became worked up again.

When Sylvia saw how cocky Richard and Nicholas were, she wanted to just shoot them.

The current situation was dire, and these people were unaware of how detrimental their actions were.

Judging from the people’s behavior, they needed something stronger than a mere warning.

Since Caspian had already given the order to deal with Richard and the likes, killing one of them would instill fear in the others.

Nevertheless, Sylvia did not act recklessly. After all, Richard was still the son-in-law of the Stewart family. Even though Caspian and Willow had severed their relationship with the Stewart family, killing Richard did not seem like a good option.

Besides, Richard was Caspian's brother-in-law.

After giving it a thought, Sylvia decided to target Nicholas since he was not related to the Stewart family in any way. Moreover, he had also tried to take advantage of Willow before.

would not be a bad thing for him to disappear from this world.

Besides, he was inciting the citizens to stir trouble. He was deserving of death.

Given their current situation, the people should be united with the army to fight against their enemy.

However, the entire city was in total chaos instead. It was heartbreaking to watch.

As long as this issue was not resolved, they would not be able to leave this place today.

Sylvia looked at the time. There was only less than 20 seconds left. Once the three minutes had passed, she would get ready to shoot

Nicholas.

Nicholas seemed to be oblivious to his impending doom.

"Caspian's a coward! He should not be the chief commander!" he shouted from among the crowd.

"Caspian's a coward! He must leave! He's not worthy of being the chief commander of this battle!" The crowd began to join Nicholas in

This news was like a glimmer of hope for Nicholas.

He wanted to take this opportunity to get his revenge on Caspian.

Nicholas was invited by the Stewart family to join them in stirring up the civilians to go after Caspian.

He did not hesitate at all. After all, Caspian took his woman away. He had to make Caspian pay.

For that reason, he joined Richard in the uproar.

As long as he could have Caspian deposed and turned back into an ordinary citizen, he stood a chance at getting back at him!

"Who's to say he hasn't colluded with the enemies? I suspect that he's a traitor! We should all punish him!" Nicholas shouted. He had switched his chant once again.

"Traitor! Traitor! We should all punish him!

"Traitor! Traitor! We should all punish him!

"Traitor! Traitor! We should all punish him!"

The crowd's emotions were becoming more and more agitated. Nicholas had completely led them

They were not aware of how their behavior was posing a danger to the country.

Sylvia scowled. From the looks of it, the situation might get out of Nicholas, who was shouting the chants, became frightened when he saw Sylvia pointing the gun at him.

Right when Sylvia was about to pull the trigger, Nicholas suddenly came to his senses and made a run

As he was already standing in the center of the crowd, he disappeared into the sea of people when he turned around and ran away..

When Sylvia noticed this, she held back from shooting to avoid hurting the others.

In her desperation, she pointed the gun to the sky and opened fire.

With a loud bang, the civilians got so frightened that they fled in all directions.

Richard did not expect Sylvia to actually pull the trigger. He was also frightened. Sylvia's eyes were definitely glowing with malevolence.

If it were not for Nicholas' quick reaction, he might have already been shot to death.

Nobody saw this coming. They assumed that Sylvia would not open fire.

They were too afraid to continue protesting. Everyone fled the scene, fearing that they might be the ones to get shot if they continued staying at the scene.

It did not even take half a minute for the thousands of people to flee.

The damp area at Nicholas' crotch was really obvious and reeked of ammonia.

"Did you literally pee your pants, Mr. Archer?" Richard asked.

Nicholas felt ashamed. He did not know how to respond.

"Caspian and his people are too despicable. How could they abuse their power and attack us? I was too scared to do anything," Nicholas cursed.

He felt utterly disgraced and humiliated.

"Does he really think that he can do whatever he wants?" Richard said through gritted teeth. He also hated Caspian's guts.

"He's a prominent figure. We can't possibly compare with him. What choice do we have?

"If we don't teach that fucker a lesson, we'll never be able to hour heads up high again. I won't have this!" Nicholas said, feeling helpless.

"There must be a way. Since everyone hates him now, we can continue steering public opinion to our advantage. When the time comes, all the people of Diatoran will be prejudiced against Caspia Richard said fiercely.

“If we can really manipulate the people’s opinion of Caspian, he might really lose his position. There’s no saying that the King wouldn’t dismiss him. And when that time comes, we’ll finally achieve our goal, “Nicholas gritted his teeth and said.

“Has the King been blinded? Why did he make a loser like Caspian.

They could not believe that he was a prominent figure.

“Forget it. I think we should just give up. It’s not like we’re his match,” Nicholas wailed.

“We’ll see. He might just lose the war this time. When he fails, he’ll definitely become the most detested man in the country.

“And when that time comes, everyone will surely want to tear him. apart.” Richard smirked.

“You’re right. Once he loses, the King might even ask him to pay for his sins using his life.” Nicholas was suddenly hopeful again. Richard was right.

“That’s right. We’re looking forward to Diatoran’s defeat. When that time comes, Caspian’s reputation will be ruined.

“Everyone’s definitely going to shit on him! Let’s see if he can still be cocky then,” Richard said.

Suddenly, a man clad in a black shirt, sunglasses, and a mask walked into the alley.

“I see that the two of you hold a grudge against Caspian!” he said in a malicious tone.

Both men were startled by this man’s sudden appearance.

“W-Who are you?” Richard asked in a fearful tone.

Nicholas wanted to know who this man was as well.

Since they had no idea who this man was, they would not foolishly admit that they had a grudge against Caspian.

What if he turned out to be one of Caspian's men?

Richard and Nicholas took a closer look at the man and realized that he did not look like a citizen of Diatoran.

Do you also have a grudge against Caspian?" Richard asked.

Of course! Now that Modesta has officially declared war on Diatoran, he must kill him. He's the chief commander, after all!" Kenzie said loudly.

In fact, he had been observing Richard and Nicholas from the shadows. He had overheard that conversation.

It was obvious that both Richard and Nicholas were not fond of Caspian. These two were the perfect candidates for instigating rebellion, which made him approach them.

Kenzie had already sneaked into Secundake City for some time. His duty this time was to dismantle the dictatorship by little from within.

He had been waiting for the perfect opportunity.

Earlier, he had seen everything that happened on the street.

He had also noticed that the two had been fanning the flames.

Therefore, Kenzie wanted to use these two as the catalyst for a big movement throughout the city. This way, they could lay the foundation for whatever rebellion they had in plan for their next move

Nicholas and Richard seemed to have guessed Kenzie's identity from what he said.

It was a sensitive period. Their conversation with the enemy's spies would inevitably arouse suspicion.

If the nation were to find out about this, they would be dead.

They could not afford to be labeled as traitors.

If they were to be caught red-handed, they would be decapitated. Even those with prominent backgrounds would not be able to escape.

"Don't worry, the enemy of my enemy is a friend. Look, we're friends now.

"After all, our common enemy is Caspian. We'll get rid of Caspian together. I wonder if the two of you are interested in joining me?" Kenzie said as he put on his sunglasses and mask again.

"What are you doing here? You're a Vadesian. We're about to have a war. You think we'll join hands with you? That would be treason," Richard said urgently.

"He's right. You'd better hurry and leave. Don't let others know that we've met. It's just too bad you're a Vadesian. It's true that we have a grudge against Caspian, but we'll never betray our country. Our only

“As long as you work together with me, I promise you that you can get rid of him and pay him back for all that he has done. On behalf of Vadesia, I promise that as long as you join hands with us, we’ll spare your family.

“In addition, we’ll make your family the most prominent family in Southlake City!” Kenzie said.

Richard and Nicholas were tempted.

“Can Vadesia really guarantee our safety and help us become the most powerful family in Southlake City?” Richard asked.

“We’ve already reached a consensus with Astronia. Together with Filren, we’ll be attacking Diatoran from all directions. You won’t be able to defend yourselves against our attacks.

“It won’t take long for Diatoran to be taken down. When that happens, Vadesia will have already occupied the entire nation completely! If you work with me now and help us defeat Diatoran, our country will remunerate you generously.

“We’ll also ensure that your family has a firm foothold in Southlake City. We’ll give you whatever resources you need.” Kenzie grinned.

Richard and Nicholas had completely bought into it. The conditions he offered were too tempting.

“Are you sure that we’ll lose? I’m telling you, Diatoran is very powerful!

is actually having the upper hand.

“Any reasonable man will be able to tell from the current situation that Diatoran will never be able to win against us, no matter how powerful you are.

“I heard that Estrya is also waiting for an opportunity to strike. With four nations attacking Diatoran, your nation doesn’t stand a chance at all!” Kenzie emphasized.

Nicholas and Richard exchanged glances. They were convinced by Kenzie’s claims because Diatoran was indeed in a precarious situation.

“The reason a loser like Caspian could become the chief commander

However, he did not reveal it because he wanted to give Nicholas and Richard some false hope so that would become his moles.

“I think you’re right! I can’t understand how a loser like Caspian could become a five-star general. It’s a rank higher than John’s!” Richard exclaimed, baffled.

“He happened to save your king back when he was in the military. The King was happy and gave him a rank in the military!” Kenzie said.

“So that’s what happened! I can’t believe he actually saved the King before. That explains why a loser like him could cop such a high rank! It all makes sense now,” Richard said as he nodded a few times.

“That’s right. It’s all because he saved your king that he could have the position he has today. He actually can’t do shit.

“He’s a loser through and through. The King of Diatoran couldn’t even publicly award him the rank for fear of causing public outrage,” Kenzie said. He tried his best to demean Caspian.

Richard and Nicholas no longer had any doubts after hearing Kenzie’s words. They finally understood why they never heard about Caspian’s promotion.

“The King has been blinded! All Caspian did was save him. How could he award him with such a high military rank? How could someone like him become the chief commander?” Richard spat.

“Yeah! To have Caspian be the chief commander is giving the country a death sentence,” Nicholas chimed in.
