A Man Like None Other Chapter 3466-“We’re free! Finally, we’re free!” Magnus and the others couldn’t contain their excitement as they laid eyes on the familiar palace.

However, as they entered the palace, they found themselves trapped in various arcane arrays, putting their lives at risk.

Jared stared at the palace before him, sensing waves of celestial energy emanating from within. There was something unique about it, but he couldn’t quite put his finger on it.

During his first visit to the palace, he hadn’t noticed any trace of celestial energy.

Now, however, it surged unexpectedly, sparking his curiosity.

“Stay here. I’ll go in and take a look.” Jared instructed Magnus and the others, who nodded eagerly in agreement.

They had no desire to go back inside, knowing the danger it posed to their lives.

Jared entered the palace and discovered a bronze cauldron containing a darkened liquid. The celestial energy he sensed was actually coming from the cauldron itself.

As he looked around, he realized that the palace was completely empty, devoid of any other objects. This struck him as odd, considering the cauldron hadn’t been there during his previous visit.

He leaned in closer, examining the cauldron carefully. The celestial energy rushed towards him like a vast sea, and he couldn’t help but absorb it eagerly.

“Could this be celestial water?” Jared exclaimed in surprise.

When celestial energy reached a certain intensity, it condensed into liquid form.

If the liquid in the cauldron was indeed celestial water, it would contain an immense amount of celestial energy.

Jared's Focus Technique began circulating wildly, and a thin layer of celestial mist enveloped his body.

As he gazed at the celestial water in the cauldron, he felt a strong urge to drink it immediately. Despite its pitch-black appearance, he knew it would greatly benefit his cultivation.

Just as he was contemplating whether to drink it, his Storage Ring suddenly vibrated.

To his astonishment, the spirit beast egg emerged on its own and dove straight into the cauldron. It seemed to have sensed the call of the celestial water and began rolling around in it, as if taking a bath.

The constant rolling of the spirit beast egg created a vortex, causing the surrounding celestial energy to surge like a tsunami.

Jared couldn't help but curse under his breath. After finally finding celestial water, he had hoped to utilize and absorb it to elevate his cultivation level by two levels.

However, his hopes were shattered when he realized that the spirit beast egg was competing with him for the celestial water.

Desperately circulating his Focus Technique, Jared found that his absorption speed was far inferior to that of the spirit beast egg.

Helplessly, he watched as the celestial water in the cauldron dwindled, unable to do anything to stop it.

"You've absorbed so much celestial energy, but you're still just an egg. What use are you?" Jared scolded in annoyance.

This spirit beast egg only knows how to compete with me for celestial energy, but it's of no help at all! If it could hatch and become a spirit beast that I could ride, that would be impressive!

Before he could finish his rebuke, something changed within the spirit beast egg. The eggshell gradually turned transparent, revealing the creature inside.

Jared's heart filled with joy as he leaned in for a closer look, but the eggshell quickly turned opaque again.

However, this time, there were faint cracks on the eggshell.

"Could it be hatching?" Jared felt ecstatic inside.

As the celestial water in the cauldron diminished, the cracks on the spirit beast egg grew larger.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3467 -Upon witnessing this, Jared held his breath and waited in silence. The sky above the palace was already covered in dark clouds, with lightning streaking across.

Magnus and the others waiting outside looked up at the sky in astonishment.

"This aura is so terrifying. Could it be that the Celestial Battlefield is about to close?" a member of the Nethersky Sect asked in alarm.

However, Magnus shook his head. "Master must be on the verge of a breakthrough. The clouds in the sky are lightning tribulation clouds." "A breakthrough?" Surprise appeared on the faces of the few members of the Nethersky Sect. Despite his young age, Pablo was already an Eighth Level Tribulator cultivator.

If he were to achieve another breakthrough, he would become a Ninth Level Tribulator. That would be quite extraordinary.

"Mr. Orozco, if Master breaks through, he will become a Ninth Level Tribulator, Isn't it unusual for such a young cultivator to reach such a high level of cultivation?" "Is this even possible? Since when has cultivation become so easy?" A few members of the Nethersky Sect found it hard to believe.

"Ninth Level?" Magnus looked at the sky solemnly. "Perhaps it's not the Ninth Level, but a direct breakthrough to the Ultimate Realm. It's the first time I've seen such terrifying lightning tribulation clouds!" Thunder roared, and lightning flashed across the sky, illuminating the surroundings. The deep and rumbling sounds resembled the roar of a ferocious beast.

Even Feenix, on the mountainside, could hear them clearly and see the lightning tribulation clouds in the sky.

At this moment, Jared also sensed the overwhelming pressure. It was even more intense than when he had achieved a breakthrough.

Gazing at the lightning tribulation clouds looming overhead, accompanied by the ominous peals of thunder, he was filled with disbelief.

“Could it be that this spirit beast needs to endure lightning tribulation when it hatches?” He was utterly perplexed.

No matter the kind of spirit beast, it’s still part of the beast race, merely an animal. How could it immediately face lightning tribulation following its birth? If that were the case, the beast race would have been extinct long ago, as a beast could never possibly withstand lightning tribulation right after hatching from its egg!

“No, I absolutely can’t allow this spirit beast to die in the egg. I’ve invested so many resources in it. It must hatch from this egg, even if it’s just a dog.” After Jared finished speaking, the Golem Body enveloped him entirely. He had made up his mind to help shield the spirit beast egg from the lightning tribulation.

Boom!

A thick bolt of lightning suddenly descended, causing the entire roof of the palace to shatter into pieces. With a roar, Jared threw a punch that blocked the bolt of thunder.

“This doesn’t seem right. How could the lightning tribulation be so powerful?” After shattering the lightning tribulation with a single punch, Jared sensed that something was amiss. The might of the lightning tribulation was surprisingly even more formidable than when he himself had broken through to Tribulator.

What kind of spirit beast could trigger such a formidable lightning tribulation once it hatches from its egg?

Boom!

Before Jared could catch his breath, the second lightning tribulation struck. With gritted teeth, he once again launched an attack towards the lightning tribulation.

Time and again, he blocked off the lightning tribulation. The cracks on the spirit beast egg multiplied, and it seemed to be on the verge of hatching.

Jared was both surprised and delighted, genuinely terrified that a little monster might break out from the egg. If that happened, all his efforts would have been in vain.

Boom!

As he gazed intently at the spirit beast egg, a bolt of lightning tribulation suddenly struck.

“Damn it! When will this end? This is already the eighth lightning tribulation.” Jared was utterly speechless. When he achieved a breakthrough, he had only faced a maximum of nine lightning tribulations.

But that spirit beast egg hadn’t even hatched yet, and it was already facing its tribulation was evidently much greater.

“Mr. Summers, look at the peak of the mountain. It’s the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation.” Freddie stared blankly at the eighth lightning tribulation on the mountainside, his face filled with shock as he spoke to Tyler.

At that moment, even the usually composed Tyler wore an expression of shock.

“Who is it? Who exactly is breaking through? How could there be Obsidian Lightning Tribulation? This is a lightning tribulation that only occurs upon advancing to the Ultimate Realm. Could it be that someone has broken through to the Ultimate Realm?”

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3468-Outside the palace, Magnus became incredibly excited upon witnessing the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation.

“Ultimate Realm! Master has broken through to the Ultimate Realm!” His entire body trembled with excitement.

With an Ultimate Realm sect leader, the Nethersky Sect was bound to rise rapidly in the Ethereal Realm, both in terms of power and status.

The other few members of the Nethersky Sect also wore expressions of excitement. At that moment, Jared was already somewhat bewildered. With the Dragonslayer Sword in hand, he stood guard over the spirit beast egg and unleashed the power of Nine Shadows.

Countless sword energies transformed into a golden dragon and charged directly at the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation.

As the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation collided with the Golden Dragon, a terrifying aura spread out in all directions.

Magnus and the others waiting outside were sent flying by the force, flung back a few kilometers before finally coming to a halt.

The entire mountain peak trembled slightly.

Meanwhile, Tyler and his companions on the mountainside wore grave expressions.

“Oh no, could it be that Pablo has broken through to the Ultimate Realm?” Feenix said with concern.

After all, Pablo was the most powerful among them, an Eighth Level Tribulator cultivator. If he were to encounter any opportunity or divine pill, it would not be impossible for him to skip a level and break through to the Ultimate Realm.

At her words, everyone’s expressions turned even grimmer. If Pablo had really advanced to the Ultimate Realm, they would be lambs awaiting slaughter with nowhere left to hide.

In the face of someone of the Ultimate Realm, Tribulators like them were nothing more than ants.

“If Pablo has broken through to the Ultimate Realm, wouldn’t Mr. Chance be in great danger?” Jennifer exclaimed.

“I need to go and look for Master!” Feenix began feeling anxious deep within.

She wanted to go to the mountain peak to find Jared.

“Calm down, Feenix. We still don’t fully understand the situation. If you go recklessly, you might end up causing more trouble for Jared. Let’s wait here and assess the situation first.” Catina stopped Feenix from leaving. Feenix clenched her fists, her heart pounding relentlessly. “Master, you must be fine. Otherwise, I will also follow you into the afterlife.” Everyone looked up at the mountain peak. A peculiar silence descended, and there were no longer flashes of lightning within the lightning tribulation clouds.

In fact, there wasn’t even a whisper of wind.

It was as if the entire world had come to a halt. Glancing at the spirit beast egg on the verge of hatching, Jared cursed inwardly. “If you dare to hatch into a little monster, I swear I’ll burn you to ashes!” He had expended nearly all his spiritual energy to help the spirit beast egg withstand the lightning tribulation. If the spirit beast that hatched did not meet his expectations, he would burst a blood vessel.

Suddenly, a strong bolt of Obsidian Lightning Tribulation shot down amid the profound silence. Jared’s eyebrow arched. With a swift leap, he headed straight toward the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation.

He was determined to use his extraordinary physique to withstand the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation. Magnus and the others watched as Jared suddenly soared into the sky, their eyes wide in shock.

They had never seen a cultivator willingly face lightning tribulation.

“What a terrifying lightning tribulation!” At that moment, Pablo’s voice unexpectedly rang out from behind Magnus and the others.

Upon hearing the voice, Magnus hurriedly turned around. The moment he laid eyes on Pablo, he was dumbstruck.

“M-Master, w-why are you here?” Magnus asked incredulously.

Pablo’s brows furrowed.

He countered, “Why can’t I be here? It turned out that the demon beasts from earlier were all illusions. I almost got trapped in there. How did you all manage to get out?” His words left Magnus and the others utterly bewildered.

“Master, didn’t we break the illusion array and get out together? Moreover, you were undergoing lightning tribulation in the palace. Aren’t you currently withstanding lightning tribulation?” Magnus asked in great confusion.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3469-Pablo was also surprised when he heard about withstanding lightning tribulation.

He looked up at Jared in mid-air and instantly understood what was happening.

“You’ve all been fooled. The person going through lightning tribulation isn’t me.

Are you all blind?” As soon as he said that, Magnus and the others looked up at the sky. They saw that Jared had once again changed his appearance. He was now wearing golden armor from head to toe, emitting a terrifying aura in all directions.

He stood majestically like a war god, with wide- open eyes. A golden dragon materialized behind him, roaring continuously.

The Golden Dragon charged towards the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation and, astonishingly, swallowed it whole.

Jared’s eyes shone, and the spark of nascence within him flickered incessantly.

The lightning nascence and spark emitted a blinding light, with the lightning nascence surging wildly.

Powerful suction waves began to absorb the nascence aura within the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation.

Watching all of this unfold, Magnus was completely dumbfounded. He hadn’t expected that the Pablo he had seen earlier was actually Jared in disguise.

Gah! It's my fault for being too careless. I was under attack by demon beasts and filled with fear and apprehension at the time, so I failed to notice!

Pablo also had a bewildered expression as he looked at Jared in mid-air.

"How is this possible? He's only a First Level Tribulator cultivator. How could he trigger the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation? This is impossible. Who is this person really?" He was filled with profound doubt.

Ever since his fortuitous encounter in the Demon Devouring Cave, he had always considered himself the most talented individual on Demonica Mountain.

However, upon seeing Jared, Pablo's confidence wavered. After Jared refined and absorbed the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation, the lightning tribulation clouds in the sky slowly scattered.

As that happened, a colorful beam of light shot straight up into the sky from within the palace. The radiant spectrum of colors shone on Jared, making his golden armor even more dazzling.

Jared lowered his gaze and realized that the colorful light originated from the spirit beast egg.

To be precise, it was no longer a spirit beast egg but a little creature the size of his palm.

It had the shape of a lion, with something resembling a horse atop its head, and its entire body was covered in fluffy fur.

Jared slowly descended from mid-air. After exhaling deeply, he fixed his gaze on the little creature before him.

"A little unicorn... Not bad." After carefully observing it, he began to laugh. He reached out to touch the little unicorn, but as soon as he made contact, it bit his finger. Blood immediately gushed out.

"Damn it! I'm your master, yet you dared to bite me?" Jared quickly withdrew his hand, glaring furiously at the little unicorn. The little unicorn licked the blood that flowed out of Jared before letting out a roar.

Despite its small size, the roar echoed throughout the entire mountain peak. The terrifying aura almost made Jared fall to the ground.

Moreover, the little unicorn began to emit a golden glow. A familiar aura hit him.

“Isn’t this my aura?” Jared was momentarily taken aback. Then, understanding suddenly dawned on him. The little unicorn bit him to acknowledge him as its master by tasting his blood and carrying his scent.

“I’m sorry. I blamed you wrongly. It’s just that your small body isn’t really suitable to serve as a mount. For your sake, I’ve nearly exhausted myself. I hardly have the strength to walk now,” Jared said helplessly, placing the tiny unicorn in his hand.

To his surprise, the little unicorn stuck out its tongue at him. Then, with a swift turn, it scampered back into the Storage Ring.

Upon seeing that, Jared could only chuckle helplessly. He didn’t bother it anymore since he couldn’t expect a unicorn the size of his palm to carry him around.

For now, I’ll just take care of it. It will be fine once it grows up. At that time, I’ll have a spirit beast as my mount and will likely be unrivaled in the Ethereal Realm!

A Man Like None Other Chapter 3470-As Jared indulged in his delightful daydreams, a sudden dangerous aura swept over him.

Outside the palace, Pablo witnessed Jared enduring the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation and heard a fierce roar from a beast within. This filled him with suspicion, prompting him to use his spiritual sense to investigate the situation.

Immediately, Jared recognized Pablo’s aura and became completely tense. He was weak at that moment. Despite absorbing the lightning nascence from the Obsidian Lightning Tribulation, he was no match for Pablo.

Just when he was at a loss, he caught sight of the bronze cauldron, which had absorbed all the celestial water.

Initially, the cauldron contained celestial water, but it had been completely absorbed by the spirit beast egg. However, the bronze cauldron remained. A bronze cauldron capable of storing celestial water must be a magical item as well!

Jared devised a plan to conceal himself within the bronze cauldron, making it impossible for Pablo's spiritual sense to detect him.

Upon further thought, Pablo probably didn't charge in right away because he was intimidated by the lightning tribulation and the unicorn's roar. Unaware of the situation inside the palace, he dared not recklessly rush in.

Jared's only task was to keep himself hidden. If Pablo couldn't detect him, then he wouldn't know the true situation in the palace and wouldn't dare to enter.

First, he needed to deceive Pablo before figuring out an escape plan. Jared leaped up and threw himself into the bronze cauldron. The residual celestial energy wrapped around him, and a beam of white light appeared.

He looked towards the white light and discovered words carved around the bronze cauldron.

He reached out and gently caressed the four walls of the cauldron. In an instant, sacred and divine rays of light burst forth, radiating in all directions. The entire palace was enveloped in celestial light.

Combined with the celestial mist surrounding the palace, it resembled the Skyward Palace in the Immortal Realm.

The celestial light emanated from the bronze cauldron, engulfing Jared entirely.

His surroundings transformed into a vast expanse of white, and the cauldron disappeared.

Confused and unsure of his location, a wave of heat swept towards Jared.

Following the heat, an elderly man slowly appeared, his body engulfed in flames.

Beneath the flames, he wore a vibrant red robe, a shade so intense that it was almost blinding.

“Who are you?” Jared instantly became guarded.

The elderly man remained silent and scrutinized Jared from head to toe.

After a long while, he finally smiled slightly and said, “I never expected that the one to inherit my legacy would be a Draconian, let alone the noblest Golden Dragon. Well, since I left my legacy here, whoever discovers it first should rightfully claim it.” Having said that, the elderly man waved his hand lightly. Instantly, the flames surrounding his body transformed into various beasts, continuously changing.

Jared watched as he seemingly performed and asked impatiently, “Who exactly are you? Is playing with fire your legacy? If so, I also possess the same skills.” After speaking, his fire nascence spark flickered, and a ball of demonic fire pulsated in his palm.

“Huh?” The elderly man appeared somewhat surprised upon seeing the flame in Jared’s palm. “Demon’s demonic fire? You actually possess this within you. It seems I need to conduct a thorough examination.” He waved his hand at Jared, and a ball of flames surrounded him.

Like a mouse in the presence of a cat, the ball of fire in Jared’s palm steadily weakened and ultimately extinguished in the center of his hand.

“What are you doing?” Jared paled in shock. He realized that no matter what he did, he couldn’t escape the flames surrounding his body.

The elderly man said nothing. After a brief moment, the flames gradually extinguished.
