

Chapter 4 Advice in a dream

Eduarda did not sleep all night, her uncle told her to take only what was necessary, which he and his brother provided for her.

Now she is on a train with her uncle and the other three chosen ones.

Gaby keeps giving him worried looks, but disguises it every time Eduarda looks at him. It makes her feel a little better, it would be really wonderful if Gaby was her mate.

Looking out the window at the landscape that passes quickly, Eduarda falls into a deep sleep.

She is no longer on the train but in a beautiful and magical forest, right in front of her she hears an animal moaning and goes to see what it is.

In a clearing a large white wolf, with a kind of tattoo on her face, such deep blue eyes, and the iris black as pitch, she was so beautiful that Eduarda wanted to touch her, but when she got closer, she saw that she was bound by huge chains, which were hurting her.

Eduarda runs to her and tries to release her, and that's when she hears a voice:

"It's not sad",

Eduarda turns around and there is a woman with hair as white as the fur of the wolf.

"Who are you?" asks

Eduarda.

"Me?", Says the woman

smiling, "you could say I'm your friend", she says approaching and stroking the wolf who falls into a peaceful sleep.

"She is one of my most beautiful and powerful creations", she says looking at Eduarda

"Then why does he

keep her imprisoned", asks Eduarda

"Me?", She says smiling

once more and approaches Eduarda "her interesting necklace"

"It was my mother's"

"Yes dear I know, but I highly doubt your mother knew it would take you so long to get it out"

"I can't take it off, I promised"

"You need to take it off darling, it's about time, your protector is already ready, and your predestined is waiting for you"

Eduarda shakes her head nervously, and that's when she appears, her mother, exactly as Eduarda
remembered her.

"Honey, it's okay, you're ready now, you need to take off the necklace, save your life and our world, and don't forget not everything that looks like love really is, sometimes true love hurts but it's always the best way"

Eduarda rushes to hug her mother, and that's when she is lightly shaken by her uncle:

"Honey are you

there?"

"It was a dream",
says Eduarda more to herself than to her uncle

"Honey we're coming to Port Angeles, your brother will be at the station, we'll spend the day there
and tomorrow we'll go to Forks".

Eduarda was anxious to see her brother again, as it had been a year since they had seen each other.

The royal academy, as well as the abode of the royals, the largest pack in the world from which all others were governed, was located in a gigantic forest between Forks and the border with Canada.

Eduarda looks at her baggy clothes and wonders what her brother will think of her.

She gets up to go to the bathroom and is promptly followed by Betany.

As soon as they get away from the cabin, where her uncle is, she pushes Eduarda who hits her back against the door handle, reopening one of the last beatings, she feels the blood running down her back, and looks scared at Betany who says:

"If you dare complain about me to Joshua, I'll wait for the first opportunity in training and kill you, you hear, since I'm here I'm going to try to conquer the monster prince, or your idiot brother and I don't want you in my way, hear?"

Eduarda nods

frantically, not wanting to provoke another gratuitous aggression.

At that moment a furious growl echoes behind her, she turns quickly and sees Gaby with the black eyes of her wolf.

"You dare to lay a hand on her one more time, and I will kill you at the first opportunity", he says angrily to Betany

Betany, scared, takes two steps back and says:

"I can't believe it,

you like this freak!"

Gaby snarls once more and Betany turns and hurries away.

Looking at me he says:

"In all my lives my mother has never given me a mission as difficult as you have," and she turns
away from Betany.

Eduarda wonders what he means by that, she didn't know Gaby's mother, and what is this mission story!

The train stops at the Port Angeles station and Eduarda hurries to find her brother.

Joshua is watching the passengers leaving the train, he is more apprehensive than usual because he couldn't convince Erick to stay, to stay at the academy in Forks, and now he had the prince standing there beside him while he waited for his sister.

A peroxide blonde in sexy clothes gets out of the train and runs towards her:

"Joshy, I miss you", says Betany, throwing herself into Joshua's arms, who disguises his displeasure with a cold smile, pushing the blonde away from him.

"Alright Betany, by the way welcome to the academy", she says with na anxious look turning to the door waiting for her sister.

"You're not going to introduce me," says Betany looking Erick up and down.

Now Joshua no longer disguises his irritation with the blonde, and Erick observes the scene with amusement, as it is very rare to see his Beta lose his temper, although the blonde is really annoying, not more annoying.

"This is Erick the Crown Prince, and Erick this is Betany the daughter of the woman my uncle married", he says pushing the blonde unceremoniously away so he can have a better view of the door.

Betany's eyes now shine towards Erick, who starts to get irritated, while a pain runs through her back, pain that he knows is not his.

"Erick" says Betany
extending her hand.

Erick ignores her hand and nods, and looks away making it clear that he is not open to conversation.

"But what happened to her?", that's when Joshua's exclamation of horror, makes him look at the train door.
