

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE

Chapter 4790 Such A Beautiful Place

Jared pocketed the celestial crystals, then turned to address the crowd. "All right. Stay safe in the Land of Finale. If anything comes up, I'll let you guys know."

"Mr. Chance, you need to tread carefully. This is the Haverford family's territory. You've killed Maison, so there's no way the Haverford family will let this go easily. The reason the Haverford family hasn't made a move yet is they're probably waiting for the appearance of Celestial Stairway."

Tennyson cautioned Jared.

"I know!" Jared nodded in agreement.

Octavion stepped forward and spoke. "Jared, if you ever find yourself in danger and can't escape, try to seek refuge at Doveston. Once you're there, even the Haverford family wouldn't dare to overstep their boundaries."

"Doveston? What place is that? I don't recall you mentioning it before," Jared asked in confusion.

"Doveston is simply a gathering place for cultivators. When the Celestial Stairway appears, all the cultivators will congregate at the Doveston. Thus, this period is the most bustling time for Doveston. Numerous cultivators come to the Land of Finale, not because of the Celestial Stairway, but to conduct business in Doveston. At other times, Doveston would be left idle. Doveston is the only territory not under the control of the Haverford family in the Land of Finale. It is a place where all the major powers share governance in a peaceful coexistence. This arrangement was specifically designed to prevent the Haverford family from exploiting their geographical advantage to suppress others!"

Octavion was explaining to Jared about the place known as Doveston.

"Also, while you're in the Land of Finale, it's best not to trust anyone, Mr. Chance. Especially considering your current status, you can't imagine how many people are watching you like a tiger stalking its prey."

Orion also chimed in.

"Jared, there's no need for you to be overly anxious. Once the Celestial Stairway is activated, Twilight Imperial City will also be part of its management. At that time, my father and Abbot Infinides will also be present."

Fraser gave Jared a reassuring pat on the shoulder, telling him not to be overly nervous.

As a powerful organization in Ethereal Realm, Twilight Imperial City undoubtedly held a significant place in this domain.

"All right. I got it."

With a slight smile, Jared vanished in the blink of an eye.

After traversing the vast grey area, the view before Jared suddenly cleared up.

There were towering majestic mountains, lush verdant trees, expansive meadows, and herds of cattle and sheep...

Gazing upon the stunning vista before him, Jared was instantly spellbound.

"Is this the Land of Finale?"

Jared was somewhat taken aback. According to Tennyson's introduction, this Land of Finale should have been a desolate place, devoid of any spiritual essence and bereft of any resources.

As Jared considered all this, a spark ignited in his eyes. Suddenly, he smacked his forehead and exclaimed, "D*mn! So this is what Land of Finale is like..."

Jared had come to understand that the Land of Finale did not signify desolation. Rather, it was devoid of spiritual energy and cultivation resources. To the cultivators of the Ethereal Realm, this place was utterly worthless.

If this were the perspective of an ordinary person or from the viewpoint of the mundane world, this place could easily be considered a hidden paradise.

The scenery was breathtaking, with pristine mountains and crystal-clear waters. Everywhere one looked, there were groups of animals.

These were all just regular animals, not beasts from any clan, and they certainly couldn't transform into humans.

"Fantastic! I finally feel like a normal person again..."

Jared fell from mid-air onto the grassy field, immediately starting to roll around in excitement.

The fresh air, once inhaled, brought a wave of relief.

"Such a beautiful place, yet in the eyes of these Ethereal Realm people, it had become Land of Finale..."

Jared was deeply moved.

If it were possible, Jared truly wished to spend his entire life in such a place, living a simple and peaceful life with the women by his side.

However, Jared knew that these were all wishful thinking. His current situation no longer allowed him to lead a simple life.

"Sir, is this your first time visiting this place?"

At that moment, a voice suddenly echoed from beside Jared.

Jared's body gave a slight shudder, and he instantly stood up. He had been so relaxed and excited just moments ago that he hadn't even noticed someone approaching him.