

Chapter 150

'What the f*ck!'

When did Cindy come in?

Jason was nervous. He quickly hung up. His forehead was covered in cold sweat. He smiled, 'Cindy, why are you here?'

Cindy handed the breakfast to Jason. Looking at his sweaty face, she felt suspicious. She crossed her arms and slender legs. She asked haughtily, 'Tell me, what did you mean by a hundred billion and a seventy percent wealth?'

Jason was so nervous that he didn't know what he should do.

Oh no!

Exposed so easily?

Jason was worked up. He suddenly stood up and said, 'Okay, I'll tell you the truth!'

Then, he grabbed Cindy's shoulders and said hurriedly, 'Cindy, I'm telling you, I, Jason, am a rich kid. The strongest kind. My family is rich and powerful. My allowance alone is one hundred billion yuan!

Shock!

Cindy felt confused. She stared at Jason in astonishment, then glared at Jason angrily, 'Are you crazy? What are you talking about? What a farce.'

Cindy didn't believe it. She touched Jason's forehead and then her own. She muttered, 'You don't have a fever. Why are you talking such nonsense so early in the morning?'

'Alright, you'll accompany Angela today. I have something to do in the company, so I have to go to the pharmaceutical factory to talk about the deal.'

Cindy turned around and was about to leave. After a few steps, she pouted and glared at Jason. She said with concern, 'Eat your breakfast.'

Jason laughed like a fool. He scratched his head and said, 'I know, be safe.'

Watching Cindy leave, Jason breathed a sigh of relief.

Luckily I'm smart. Otherwise, I'd really have been exposed.

Fortunately, no one believed that he was actually telling the truth.

After breakfast, Jason played with Angela in the hospital for a while and Amanda asked him to come over.

He didn't know what his mother-in-law wanted, because she didn't say anything on the phone.

Jason went to North Pole Starry Sky restaurant beforehand. He took the Ferrari and then drove back to the Jiang family's old house.

The car did not stop outside the house. He parked it in the parking lot nearby.

After parking the car, Jason walked to the Jiang family's old house.

At the same time, Ivy and her classmates happened to walk out of a small shopping mall nearby.

From a distance, Ivy saw Jason getting out of the Ferrari, and she was shocked.

'What the f*ck!'

Jason actually drives a Ferrari?

Confidential

Could it be that she had been mistaken?

'Ivy, what's the matter? What are you looking at?'

Next to them were two female students with long braids. They had pearly white teeth and pink school bags. They wore white socks.

Ivy held her arms and frowned slightly. She replied, 'Um, you guys go first. I have something to do. I'll find you tomorrow.'

The boys and girls didn't mind. They went their own ways.

After that, Ivy strode to the Ferrari. She first looked at it a few times, and then she turned her back to the Ferrari. She took a lot of selfies with a duck face pose and posted them on her Moments.

'My boyfriend just bought a Ferrari. Cool right?'

After she had posted, Ivy sat cross-legged on the hood of the engine and started playing with her phone.

Meanwhile, Jason returned to Jiang family's old house. As soon as he entered the house, he saw Amanda Yang and his second aunt Jasephine talking about something.

'Amanda, here's some sisterly advice. You don't have much money, yet you still want to buy a villa in Split Mountain? Don't even think about it. Now the price is rising there, and it will cost at least fifteen million yuan.'

Confidential

Jasephine was sitting on the sofa. Her eyebrows twitched as she radiated a noble aura. She was wearing jewelry on her wrist, and an LV bag sat next to her.

Amanda laughed dryly, 'Second sister, who told you that I'm going to buy a villa? I don't have the money.'

Hearing that the price rose to fifteen million yuan now, Amanda felt dejected.

When her second sister had come to ridicule her in her own home and showed off her son-in-law, Amanda became angrier.

'Hey, Amanda, why are you hiding secrets from me? The Split Mountain villas belong to my my son-in-law's company. You asked about the villa that day. I I know all about it.'

Jasephine's face was full of pride. She stroked her hair which was newly permed.

Jasephine already knew that Amanda had gone to the Split Mountain villa to inquire about them and was beaten up.

Confidential

She came here in a hurry to see her sister and humiliate her. That was why she only knew half of the story.

Hearing that her second sister knew about it, Amanda felt ashamed. When she saw Jason coming in, she immediately vented her anger at Jason, 'Why are you standing there? Refill the teapot.'

Jason felt helpless. He ran to the kitchen to boil some water.

Jasephine looked at Jason who looked obedient and thought it was funny. She sneered, 'Your son-in-law is better. He might be a failure, but at least he knew how to do chores. Your life would be easier.'

Amanda was irate. She scolded, 'He is a loser. What's the point of doing housework? If he has half of your son-in-law's ability, I wouldn't have to suffer and live in this old house with Charles.'

Jasephine squinted and smiled. She watched Jason coming over with tea. Jasephine didn't hold the cup firmly on purpose when she picked it up, so all the hot water was poured over Jason's hands.

Confidential

The hot water scalded Jason's hand. His hand became red!

The cup fell and shattered.

'Oh, sorry, I'm so sorry. It's too hot. I didn't hold it firmly. Jason, are your hands okay?' Jasephine asked, pretending to be concerend.

Jason gritted his teeth and endured the pain. He squeezed out a smile, 'It's okay.'

Then he ran to the kitchen and soaked it with some cold water, yet he was still left with a big blister.

It was a heart-wrenching pain!

Jason's gaze was cold. He knew Jasephine did it on purpose.

In the living room, Jasephine forgot about Jason and said to Amanda, 'How about this? You can beg for my help, and I'll see if I can ask Hudson for some family discount.'

After that, Jasephine sat on the sofa and fiddled with the jewelry on her wrist, waiting for Amanda to beg her.

Confidential

She added, 'Amanda, you shouldn't have let Cindy marry Jason. Now do you regret it?'

When Jasephine said this, she didn't care about whether Jason, who was in the kitchen, could hear it or not.

Even if he heard it, so what? He was a loser.

Being bullied?

Grin and bear it

At the same time, Jason walked out of the kitchen and wiped himself with some burn medicine. Then he went to the living room and smiled, 'Second Aunt, you don't have to worry about the villa. I have bought a house. If you are interested, do please come for a visit.'

Jasephine and Amanda were stunned.

Amanda did not expect that Jason would still make such a big joke at this time.

Amanda glared at Jason. She quickly grabbed a book from the table and threw it at Jason. She scolded him, 'Jason, can you shut up? Get the heck out of here!

'Mom, I have really bought a house. I told you last time. In a few days, our family will move in and live there,' Jason bent down to pick up the book from the ground.

Jasephine looked at Jason with cold suspicion. She sneered, 'Amanda, I didn't know Jason has learned how to lie. This is a bad habit.'

'Yes, Second Sister is right.' Amanda couldn't do anything? She glared at Jason.

The next moment, Jasephine got up and picked up her bag,, 'Well, since Jason said so, I can go for a visit. Let's set the time, shall we?'

Da*n it

Amanda's heart shattered. There was nowhere to vent her anger. She stared at Jason angrily before she got up and slapped Jason. She scolded, 'Get out! Why did you open your mouth?!'

Jason laughed. He said would move into the new house together after Angela was discharged. This made Amanda furious. She scolded Jason for a while as he was leaving.

After Jason left, Jasephine said to Amanda with exasperation, 'Amanda, your son-in-law is useless. You have to teach him some manners. But since he said he bought a house, I really have to see what kind of house is it.'

Confidential

Jasephine also left. After she had left, she told her husband, daughter, and son-in-law about this.

She also notified many relatives. They said they would go to Amanda's new house for a visit after Angela was discharged.

They didn't really care about looking at the new home. They just wanted to make fun of Amanda.

Amanda was furious. She fell ill for next few days. It would be difficult for her to settle this matter.

Meanwhile, Jason left the Jiang family's old house. When he arrived at the parking lot, a lovely girl rushed out from behind when he was about to take out the key to the Ferrari. She hugged Jason from behind smiled, 'My my, cousin-in-law. Hidden your true self well, are we? You're even driving a Ferrari now.'

Ivy?

When Jason turned around, he saw Ivy with her arms crossed over her chest and staring at him with a smirk.

She was wearing a particularly revealing dress that day. It was a crop top with super-cut hot pants around her fair and tiny waist. She had exquisite makeup on. He could feel something squish against his back from the hug just now.

This girl grew quite well.

'Why are you here?' Jason asked in suspicion

Ivy held her mobile phone in her hand and played a short video, which was of Jason getting in the car.

She threatened Jason with a smile, 'Cousin-in-law, what do you think would happen if Cindy sees this?'

Chapter 151

Jason raised his eyebrows, looked at the video in Ivy's hand, and reached out to grab it.

However, Ivy pushed him away and put the phone to her chest. Then she stood up boldly and said with a smirk, 'Why don't you come and grab it?'

There was nothing Jason could do about it. Ivy was quite good at being playful.

'What do you want?' Jason asked.

Ivy didn't hesitate. She took Jason's arm and said with a very intimate smile, 'Cousin-in-law, I didn't tell anyone about last time's incident. This time, no matter what, you should give me some money to keep me quiet.'

Jason frowned and looked at Ivy. She was standing in front of him with a coquettish posture, which would make any man short of breath.

'Tell me, what do you want?' Jason asked.

'Lend me the car for two days.' Cindy cut to the chase. She asked for the car keys from Jason.

Confidential

A Ferrari. I've never driven one. If I drive it to school, I'm sure I'll impress lots of people!

No matter what, she had to borrow this Ferrari from Jason today.

Jason frowned. After thinking for a while, he shook his head, 'No, the car is not mine.'

Ivy became anxious, 'It's not yours? Cousin-in-law, that's not funny. Who would lend you such a car just like that?'

Is Jason finding an excuse so he wouldn't have to lend me this car?

'It's really not mine.'

'I don't care. I want this car today. If you don't lend it to me, I will send the video to my cousin and tell her what happened last time.'

Ivy was angry. She sat on the hood haughtily and refused to get up..

Jason felt very helpless. He took out the car key and threw it to Ivy. He said, 'Okay, I'll lend it to you for two days, just two days. When the time comes, return it to me. This car is really not mine.'

Ivy didn't pay attention to Jason's last part of the sentence. She took Jason's car key happily.

Confidential

She couldn't wait to sit in the driver's seat and shouted to Jason, 'Cousin-in-law, get in the car and let me drive you around.'

Jason smiled drily and followed her into the car.

The two of them drove slowly around the city, then Ivy took Jason to the hospital and drove away.

Looking at the direction in which Ivy left, Jason shook his head.

In the afternoon, Jason played with Angela for hours. But most of the time, Jason was just pulling faces with Angela and telling stories.

The little golden bangle which had been given by Juliette yesterday was already in Angela's hand.

At the sight of this small golden bracelet, Jason felt sad.

His mother's possession.

It has been seven years. I haven't visited my mother for seven years.

He was such a terrible son.

There was no other way. The place where his mother was burried was not a simple tombstone.

Confidential

Titus had personally bought a piece of land which was tens of thousands of hectares in size and built it according to the ancient Imperial Mausoleum.

Now Juliette's people were guarding the mausoleum

They went out of the ward and came to the rehabilitation garden. Jason sat on the bench and did not speak for a while. He held the mobile phone that he had never shown to anyone.

He hesitated for a while before dialing a number.

The phone was connected a while later. A calm male voice spoke to him. It sounded emotionless, but it had a strong aura about it, 'What do you need me to do, young master?' He said respectfully.

Jason said calmly, 'How's the preparation going?'

'Everything is ready. I'm just waiting for young master's orders.' The man replied respectfully.

'Okay.' Jason said, 'I don't want to have any accidents. I will definitely wipe out the Yun Family. In a few days, you will also participate in the Royal Villa banquet. Let's meet.'

'Yes, young Master.'

Jason hung up. He looked at the glow of sunset over the horizon. He couldn't relax.

In order to deal with Juliette and the Yuns, he had been planning for thirteen years.

Starting from the age of twelve, it took six years to investigate the cause and plot of his mother's death, and then he reached an agreement with Juliette that when he was eighteen years old he could leave the Smith family. He then disappeared for four years to blend into in a life of the working class, and being labelled a loser for three years.

Jason thought that he could forget it.

Because he now had Cindy and Angela.

But, Juliette's sudden visit yesterday had given Jason a warning.

This woman had never considered letting him go.

The Yun family had an unknown plan.

This attack Jason had planned for so many years would be a nightmare for Juliette. For the whole of Yun Family.

The Smith family should only be inherited by the Smiths!

Jason's eyes grew darker. Coldness twirled around him

Jason would have concealed his identity forever for the sake of Cindy and Angela.

But now he had no choice.

Juliette had already crossed the line.

Today, Cindy dolled herself up and came to Sunrise Pharmaceutical in the South of Shang Jiang City to negotiate a business deal with Sunrise.

Because the deal with Tang Ren branch had been made, it was necessary for Bi Kang to find more pharmaceutical factories to produce drugs.

Sunrise Pharmaceutical was the largest pharmaceutical factory in Shang Jiang City. It was backed by a powerful boss.

Sunrise Pharmaceutical didn't just have a pharmaceutical factory in Shang Jiang City. They had lots of offices across the country. It was a strong company.

Bi Kang was not qualified to make a deal with

Confidential

Sunrise Pharmaceutical in the past, but now it was different. With the signing of Tang Ren's branch, Bi Kang was qualified.

'Oh, Manager Jiang has come in person. You should've told me. I could have welcomed you in person.'

Cindy walked into the office building on the 13th floor of the pharmaceutical factory and saw Rhett, the CEO of Sunrise Pharmaceutical, in his office.

As a well-known enterpriser in Shang Jiang City, he was also a representative in the government, and he was a famous entrepreneur on Hu Lun's wealthy people list.

Nobody could mention Rhett without mentioning his father-in-law.

He was a high-ranking official in the capital city, and his power was unfathomable.

Over the years, under the protection of his father-in-law, Rhett's pharmaceutical factory had made great progress and was on the verge of becoming one of the top ten in the country.

His wife was also an iron lady. She was involved in the fields of real estate, film and television entertainment, and cultural development.

Confidential

Rhett was a successful son-in-law and had won the favor of his father-in-law.

Cindy smiled and shook hands with Rhett. 'Director Rhett, you're a busy man. I couldn't ask you to pick me up.'

Rhett shook hands with Cindy. He stared at Cindy and couldn't help but look at her a few more times. The rumors were true. She was a rare kind of beauty.

Cindy's gracefulness was really intoxicating.

'Um, Director Hu.' Cindy was a little embarrassed. She withdrew her hand.

Rhett finally realized what was going on. He smiled, 'Oh, Manager Jiang is indeed a beautiful woman. I'm attracted by your gracefulness.'

Cindy smiled on the surface, but she had her guard up.

On the way there, Mandy had reminded her that Rhett was not a good person. He was an old lecher.

He played with a lot of women over the years. All the female secretaries the company hired slept with him.

Confidential

His wife also turned a blind eye to him. She had an affair herself too.

The couple shared no love anymore, yet they still hadn't gone through a divorce. They were just together to just maintain a business relationship and fame.

Rhett personally made tea for Cindy. They talked for a long time. The more they talked, the more fascinated Rhett was with Cindy, and the more restless he felt.

It was a pity that such a woman was married to a loser.

Rhett's eyes slowly moved from Cindy's white ankles all the way up to her red lips, which were exceptionally attractive.

The best!

Her voice was sweet and soft.

Rhett gulped. He wasn't listening to what Cindy was saying and plopped down beside her. He looked like he was pouring tea for her, but his hands were on Cindy's thighs. He smiled, 'Manager Jiang. We can talk about business later. Where will you go for dinner tonight? I'll treat you.'

Confidential

Cindy cautiously pushed Rhett's hand away. She changed a posture. Cindy smiled, 'Chairman Rhett, let's talk about business first. When we make a deal, we'll have a celebration party.'

After that, Cindy took out her mobile phone. It seemed that she was looking at the time, but she had already typed out a text message for Jason.

The only person who could give her a sense of security was Jason.

Rhett touched his hand to take in her lingering warmth. He leaned on the leather sofa. He stuck out his big belly and smiled. 'Manager Jiang, I go by one rule. A meal before business. If Manager Jiang finds it impossible to entertain me, then I don't think there's a need to talk anymore. Sunrise isn't short on medical companies. Your Bi Kang isn't worthy of Sunrise. At least to me.'

Rhett was having ideas about Cindy.

She was so beautiful. She was the goddess he had dreamed of for many years.

Confidential

Rhett felt an itch in his heart which wouldn't go away when he couldn't get hold of a woman like her.

'What's wrong, Manager Jiang? Don't be nervous. It's just a meal.' Rhett said as he held Cindy's little hand and smiled lecherously.

Cindy forced a smile and pulled back her hand. She got up and bent down, 'Director Hu, it seems that we can't do business anymore.'

Old lecher!

When he saw her leaving, it was like letting his prey go untouched.

Rhett was anxious. His face contorted with rage. His voice also became sharp. He rushed over to Cindy and hugged her from behind.

'Manager Jiang, don't go. We can have a good talk now that you're here. Let's be honest. Here, sleep with me for a night. You can have all the business you want.'

Rhett grabbed Cindy tightly like a beast. He wanted to kiss Cindy's neck from behind.

In his eyes, there had never been a woman he could not have.

'Let me go! Help!'

Cindy struggled, but she was no match for Rhett. She was unable to fight back. Also, she was now dizzy and was gradually losing control of her body.

He had put something in the tea!