

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 26

Kayla even intended to fish her phone out to record the scene where Sophia was kicked out of the door. Not only would she treasure the video in her phone, she would even upload it online for everyone to see what would become of this delusional b*tch!

However, to her surprise, the manager said something that interrupted all of her fantasies. “Then, Miss Harper, please follow me there to cancel your premium membership. I’ll refund your private safety deposit box and lessons with the private trainers as well.”

There were only three types of memberships that Audistin offered to the public—general membership, exclusive memberships, and premium memberships. As a matter of fact, there were two additional types of membership above those three, which were the gold membership and the platinum membership.

Gold members generally consisted of high-ranking officials and incredibly wealthy people—people who could shake Bayside City by stomping on the ground with their feet. However, platinum members consisted of those who were even more powerful and influential and Audistin even provided them with special services that were unavailable for other members to enjoy.

There were only a handful of people who had the platinum membership card as it was something that money and power couldn’t purchase. It was only given to those with extraordinary identities. For example, the young wife who had a flash marriage with their boss behind the scenes...

Although the manager was merely an ordinary manager in Audistin, he knew that the gym was not as simple as it looked. However, in his current position, he did not know much.

For instance, he didn't know about the boss's identity; all he knew was that the person was an extremely powerful and influential person. However, it's enough for me to understand that Sophia is the wife of the boss behind Audistin. Although the Harper Family is strong, they are completely insignificant as compared to our boss.

Kayla thought that she was hearing things, so she asked in disbelief, "What did you just say?"

The manager repeated clearly, "As the employees of Audistin, we don't welcome people who come here to seek trouble. Miss Harper, please come with me to cancel your membership.

If you have friends or relatives who are members of Audistin, please cancel their memberships as well." He wore a professional smile. "During the cancelation, please cancel your course with our private trainers."

Kayla was dumbfounded. "Are you insane? I'm Audistin's premium member and have spent more than one million here! The Harpers has spent more than 10 million in Audistin collectively, but you actually ask me to cancel my membership for that b*tch?!"

The manager maintained his professional smile. "Please mind your words. Miss Edwards is our member, so you shouldn't refer her as a b*tch. Audistin only welcomes civilized members."

"You—" Kayla Harper had never expected the manager of a tiny gym to treat her like that. If this were to happen in the ancient times, he's merely a runner! However, I'm a premium member! The employees here would usually bow obediently to me! "Is this how Audistin operates their business? Refusing a wealthy client like me, but protecting this b*tch?"

The manager was extremely polite as he patiently repeated the same statement that he made earlier. "Audistin only welcomes civilized members; we will not welcome those who continue to make personal criticisms. Miss Harper, please mind your words."

It was already half past ten, so there were more people in Audistin. These members were all from wealthy backgrounds and some of them even knew Kayla personally. Just like that, they watched her humiliate herself. Only a foolish or silly person like her will have the guts to stir up trouble in Audistin! This Young Lady Harper is just as arrogant as she is rumored to be and she isn't even concerned about the identity of the owner behind Audistin!

Although most people didn't know who owned Audistin, they were vaguely aware of the existence of this legendary person in Bayside City.

He had no name and nobody knew who he was or could even prove his existence, but he was the one controlling various properties like real estate and the new energy development in Bayside City. He also had a status which was almost on par with the Four Great Families. Legend had it that Audistin was the territory of this unnamed person, so no one dared to cause any trouble in this place.

In the face of the growing crowd of onlookers, Kayla felt humiliated and growled at the gym manager after casting a fierce glare at Sophia. "I'm leaving! Congratulations for your eventual loss of a large number of premium members!" With that, she haughtily went to cancel her membership. Xyla attempted to stop her, but the latter was now pissed that it would be difficult to do anything.

Kayla might be foolish, but Xyla wasn't. She would be landing herself in deep trouble if she was really blacklisted by Audistin since the members of the upper-class society in Bayside City mostly carried out business negotiations in places that were under the Audistin group.

They had the best gym, golf course, horse riding club, shooting range, health club, hunting ground and other places with clients that consisted of almost all the wealthy people of Bayside City.

If one were to be black-listed by Audistin, this person would never be able to enter any one of the properties owned by Audistin ever again! Therefore, it would be a terrifying matter to be rejected by the social circle that centered on Audistin.

All of her friends and besties loved to visit the Audistin gym to practice yoga, aerobics and dance; their fathers and brothers would socialize and have business talks in Audistin's golf courses and horse-riding clubs.

Audistin had become an important place for the rich to socialize and it was also a place for one to be in touch with other members of the upper-class society.

If she were to be banned from entering Audistin, it would also mean that she would inadvertently lose plenty of common topics and chances to socialize with the rich and wealthy. Therefore, she pretended to not know Kayla. Kayla Harper can cancel her membership, but I can't. I'll wait until she cancels her membership before I appear again.

Unexpectedly, the sharp-eyed Sophia spotted Xyla with a mere look and intentionally reminded loudly, "Hey, didn't you just arrogantly declare that your friends and relatives won't come to Audistin again?" As she spoke, she deliberately pointed at Xyla, who was currently standing in the crowd with the intention to distance herself from Kayla.

Kayla was so full of herself when she pulled Xyla from the crowd to cancel her membership. She even stated fiercely, "I definitely won't stay in the same place as this filthy woman! All my friends and relatives won't ever come to this place again! Never!"

Just like that, Xyla was tugged by Kayla, who wore a resentful expression, to cancel her membership while Sophia waved at them with a smile on her face.

Xyla was extremely disgruntled. I'm actually being kicked out from Audistin just like that! If I can't come to Audistin, I would inadvertently lose plenty of opportunities! It's all because of this idiot—Kayla Harper! If Kayla could use a gun, well, she would be able to shoot her target, Sophia Edwards, accurately. If she couldn't use a gun well, she would just shoot herself in her foot!

After seeing Kayla and Xyla leaving, the crowd dispersed after the show ended. Regarding the incident where Kayla was kicked out from Audistin, everyone's statement was it resulted from her causing a scene there. She even arrogantly declared that she would not set foot in Audistin ever again.

Nevertheless, everyone seemed not to know that there were two higher memberships above Audistin's premium membership, which was the gold membership and platinum membership, let alone the fact that Sophia was a gold member.

After she managed to rid herself of Kayla and Xyla, she went to search for her personal trainer with an uplifted spirit. The personal trainer, whom she had booked some courses with, was one of the few gold-rated personal trainers in Audistin—Gwen.

Gwen was a multi-talented person who had been training Sophia for the past year. She had been teaching her aerobics and yoga. However, these activities were just an addition to the main reason why the latter had come to Audistin to learn—it was because the former taught the world's top MMA combat skill!

Combat courses and the shooting courses, which used real guns in the shooting range located at the outskirts, were the courses that Sophia loved the most!
