

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 274

“Mr. Edwards.” Joel caressed Nathan’s head as he looked at Joe in front of him coldly. “Do you think I’m that ‘dear son-in-law’ of yours who is old and ugly?”

He looked at Joe sharply with the expression of a fierce tiger.

Joe was taken aback by that.

He was the third generation of the army family with the title of Major General. On top of that, he was also extremely good-looking. No matter from which angle Joe looked, he was not the ‘dear son-in-law’ who was ugly, old, and a family-jinxer.

I was actually fooled by this little rascal!

After he bowed and apologized, he turned around to glare at Nathan. “You brat! You shouldn’t simply point at a man and say he’s your father!”

However, Nathan suddenly fled from Joel and ran past the crowd again.

Joe thought that Nathan was definitely looking for his own father after being threatened.

Hence, Joe and his family followed his lead once more.

This time around, Nathan hugged the thigh of a prince of a foreign country.

He has blue eyes, and his hair is blond. No matter what, he doesn’t look like the father of this brat at all!

Joe cursed, “F*ck you, brat! Are you fooling around with me? Show your dad to me immediately!”

Nathan jumped after being yelled at. He then shuttled amid the crowd and hugged the leg of a foreign president this time.

Joe stomped his feet on the ground. “You rascal, I’ll hit you right away!”

Nathan ran past the crowd nimbly once more, but this time, he was indeed going to his father.

Joe could completely tell that Nathan was just fooling around with him, so he chased after Nathan to catch him.

After I catch him, his father will definitely have to appear.

While cursing, Joe chased after him as he shoved people away. Then, he saw Nathan hugging Taylor Murray’s thigh. On top of that, he even yelled, “Daddy, there’s a bad guy trying to catch me!”

He simply hugged another person’s thigh again!

No matter what, Taylor Murray doesn’t look like his dad at all!

“F*ck you, brat! I’ll kill you!” Right after Joe reached Nathan, he immediately rolled his sleeves up to catch him.

Nathan was so scared that he hid behind his father.

Just when Michael was about to speak, Sophia suddenly approached them from behind. “Security! Security! Someone is fooling around here. Throw them out for me, please!”

As it was an important occasion, the security team was directly managed by the army. In no time, a few soldiers from the special forces surrounded Joe immediately.

Meanwhile, Stanley also rushed to them while complaining, “How dare you make a scene here! Someone, shoot this old fella right away!”

A few red laser points appeared on Joe’s body as the snipers took their place in the dark.

Joe was so shocked that his fat body trembled, while Xyla and Richard were also taken aback as they didn’t expect that there were snipers here. Richard quickly said, “Calm down. No one is making a scene here. We were just trying to help them reconcile with their family!”

Nathan pounced from Michael’s back and landed in Sophia’s embrace.

She snorted coldly. “It’s a charity banquet, not an occasion for your family matters.”

Seeing Sophia speaking back to him fluently, Joe retaliated, “Sophia, I’m your father! Is this the way you speak to me?”

However, Sophia did not look at him and spoke to Joel, who was next to her, “General, please chase them out. If they continue to make a scene here, just shoot them.”

Stanley continued to instigate the incident without knowing what was actually going on. “Shoot them! Shoot them! Shoot all of them!”

There were also many people from the Edwards Family who participated in this event. Joe was only able to enter the circle of Edwards Family after putting in a lot of effort, and some people from the family even knew him. At that moment, one of them walked to him and berated, “Can’t you tell what occasion is this? This isn’t a place where you can make a scene! Get lost!”

Facing the senior members of the Edwards Family, Joe immediately resigned and smiled awkwardly. "It's just a misunderstanding! Just a misunderstanding! Hahaha! I'm just too happy seeing my daughter today!"

Hmph! If my son-in-law could stand up for me now, he might boost my position in the Edwards Family! Perhaps this senior member would even have to suck up to me!

Under the besiege of a few soldiers from the special forces, Joe relented immediately. "We're leaving right now! We're going soon!"

With that, Joe and Faye were chasen away mercilessly.

Xyla tugged on Richard so that he would clarify that they had nothing to do with the Edwards. He did this so that they could stay, but Stanley did not let them go.

"And the both of you! Get lost! Otherwise, I'll shoot you myself!"

Richard and Xyla also went away in disappointment.

The world had finally quietened, and the banquet continued.

Compared to the busy banquet, what happened just now was just a minor incident.

Even though Joe was chasen out of the banquet, he was delighted. "Haha! I can't believe that that girl has married into such a good family! I should've asked for more than 80,000!"

Both the father and daughter of the Edwards Family were delighted to find out about this, and they were determined to know Sophia's husband so that they could get all of his assets and wealth.

On the other hand, Richard was silent as some ideas were forming in his mind.

Sophia has been longing for me all this while. She must feel very resentful that she's married to an old man!

Since that's the case, I might as well as take advantage of this!

Of course, Xyla also had her own thoughts.

I must never allow Sophia to be able to turn over a new leaf!

The most important matter right now is to find out who the hell Sophia has married!

At the same moment, Sophia and Nathan were resting in the hotel room. She caressed his head gently and asked, "Darling, were you shocked just now?"

Nathan shook his head and held her hands tightly, looking as if he was afraid that Joe might bring her away.

"He suddenly asked, "Will you go back with that man and break up with my daddy?"

Sophia hugged Nathan tightly. "Darling, what silly thoughts you're having. I'll always be your mom, and your home is my home too."

With that, Nathan was finally relieved.

Suddenly, Stanley barged into the room with a loud bang. His left hand was in his pockets, but his right hand was holding a shotgun.

"Sophie, tell me where the old man is! There's 80,000 here, and a gun. He either has to take the money and let you go, or I will shoot him!" He then held Sophia like he was holding a chick as he walked out. "Come on. Bring me to that old man!"

Shocked, Sophia yelled shrilly, “Stanley, are you nuts?”

Stanley had gotten angry this time, and he snorted coldly. “Nuts? No! I definitely can’t allow you to marry an old man. No matter who he is, he will have to let you go today, or he dies!”

Sean rushed into the room to hold Stanley back together with Sophia.

Even though Stanley was a gamer, he was actually quite strong too. Both of them could hardly hold him back now.

With one hand holding the shotgun, he grabbed Sophia with his other hand to look for the man.

“I don’t f*cking bother with the money anymore. If the man doesn’t let you go, I’ll kill him immediately.”

Struggling to get out of his grip, Sophia realized that she was no match to Stanley when he went berserk.

“Stanley, let go of me now! Whom I marry is none of your business!”

“Of course it’s my business! I f*cking fancy you; don’t you know? Even if you don’t marry me, I’ll give my blessings if you marry someone I approve of, as long as you are happy. But you f*cking married an old man! How could I ever agree to this?”
