

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 354

Michael called the vice-principal, "I am going to change the promo on the homepage; please, check it in a while."

Without waiting for the vice president's response, he hung up the call and immediately told Gemma to hack the official website of Bayside University and put up the promotional video of Sophie on it. He also asked Gemma to change the background of the homepage. As long as there were people's faces, it was replaced with Sophie's beautiful photos!

After a while, the vice-principal called, "Michael Fletcher, do not piss me off! What if the website crashes? The user traffic right now is very high. Do not create a mess!"

"Do you still want the building or not?"

The Vice Principal hung up the call after a minute of silence.

Sophie on the other side took the tablet and watched the video on the official website happily. Sophie had never imagined being able to take the entrance exam for Bayside University. Every time she secretly entered the official website of the Bayside University, she was jealous of the students in the photos that used to be posted on the official website. The Bayside University was her childhood dream! When she was in high school, she used to secretly download the promotional video of the university on her mobile phone and watch it frequently. This used to help her keep up her spirits. Who knew that one day she would be able to be on the official website of Bayside University; to be on the cover page of the website; to become the star of the promotional film. The promotional video also highlighted her champion status. This reduced the shine of Natasha Mitchell.

The couple cuddled up on the sofa in the living room while watching a film. They were also sharing kisses. Seeing both of them being attracted to each other like two magnets, little Nate went out to play with his toys, sighing helplessly.

There are children here!

However, Little Nate was used to his parents' public displays of affection as they were not ashamed of their behavior at all. Little Nate just tried to ignore it. Go kiss and make a little sister as soon as possible. I can't wait to hold a little sister in my arms.

But he also heard that Sophie was unwell and it was very likely that he would not be able to hold a little sister within the next two years. Although it was a little regretful, Sophie's health was important as well.

The sun outside today was a bit fierce and little Nate could only play in the living room. His other friends had gone back to their hometown to relax for the summer vacation. Little Nate played with his robot alone and directed the robot to walk around in the living room. His parents were still in the midst of an intense make-out session. They were not perturbed.

After the promotional video was put on the official website, it was also on Stanley's APP, which caused a very big sensation among prospective students and old students. Natasha and Sophie became well-known among the students of Bayside University.

Natasha already had an image as she was the princess of the Mitchell family and her best friends were all upper-class ladies of Bayside City or royal princesses of Europe. They are proficient in various talents and have won many international awards. They are the best at the Bayside university. Her phrase 'I am 17 years old and time is running out' had become her golden phrase.

On the other hand, Sophie was also a very eye-catching personality among that year's freshmen. She was beautiful and had a strong academic personality. Unlike Natasha, she had risen from a poor family and attracted much attention.

After she separated from her ex-boyfriend, the whole school was full of turmoil. Her extraordinary song for the belle contest became a masterpiece that everyone started to imitate and it became an indelible classic in the history of the Bayside University campus belle contest.

Each of them had their own specialties and fanbase according to their personality. Some people preferred Natasha's princess character and some people preferred Sophie's common character.

Stanley's APP quickly launched a poll, which allowed both their fans to come together, taking the opportunity to increase the number of users of the APP.

Natasha Mitchell of the Mitchell family's ancestral home of Bayside City slammed down the tablet in her hand after watching the new version of the promotional video on the website.

D*mn, what good tactics! She managed to bribe the website owner to change the video!

The new promo film was entirely based on Sophie Edwards as the protagonist and her part had been re-shot. It must have been guided by professionals. It felt completely different from the previous one and Natasha's part had been deleted. Natasha had become a foil for others in the entire story. "Haha!"

Natasha gave a grin; her delicate face changed suddenly as she overturned things on the table in front of her. Bang, bang!

The bottles and jars on the dressing table began to fall to the ground and the little maid at home was silent as she was afraid to approach Natasha.

Natasha's unusually slender and beautiful hands that were used to playing the piano had green veins protruding from them as she firmly grasped the hem of her skirt.

Half an hour later, she calmed down a bit, turned on the tablet again, and looked for the document that she had received about Sophie. In the document, a dirtily dressed little girl was standing next to the garbage dump, happily holding a can she found in the trash can while wearing a big smile on her face. It was a 7-year-old Sophie. This is the earliest picture of her that could be found so far.

Natasha still couldn't believe that she was defeated by such a low-class, poor girl! Next time, if fortune would take her side, she would definitely suppress Sophie until she crushed her self-esteem.

At the Imperial basement, Abel shook hands with Michael. "I'm really sorry; I still can't find your father-in-law."

When Abel searched for Phantom Wolf, he had already entered the information of all the big figures in various countries into his database, as those people may be Phantom Wolf or his associates, or even the next targets of Phantom Wolf.

Even after investigating in the database for a long time, he still couldn't find the trace of Cooper Mitchell. Since he had been hiding for more than ten years, it was hard to track him.

Michael flipped through Abel's database and the database could be described as a collection of endless financial and material resources.

Michael launched three satellites into outer space. The signals could cover the entire earth and the information obtained by the satellites could provide a panoramic view of the entire world. Cooper was meticulous in his work. Perhaps that was why, despite having all this, Cooper Mitchell still couldn't be traced.

Michael clicked on a folder on the touch-screen and saw that there were many introductions of people in it.

He opened them one by one, "Who is this again?"

Abel replied, "I used to investigate and search based on Cooper Mitchell's age group and these people in this folder are people with suspicious age groups. They are mysterious. They don't easily show up and the information about them is also incomplete. They are the focus of the next step in our investigation. "

Clicking on the folder, he found that the characters in it were not insignificant.

"This..." He saw a name that he struggled to pronounce. He was an Oscar actor. He had worked with Michael in two films. He was considered an old partner. He was an old, white man and he was gay. Back then, he had molested Michael once, which traumatized him for life.

"D*mn, why did you put in this pervert? How could this person be Cooper Mitchell!"
