

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 364

Everyone came to the trip to play, but Sean couldn't get his spirits up. Before Stanley, who probably had a hangover, woke up, he went to sit alone under the umbrella and stared at the long stretch of beach and sea in a daze.

Sean's father had died when he was very young so he couldn't remember what his father looked like. All he could recall was back then, before his mother left the Mitchell family and got remarried, she had held him in tears and said, "Sean, if only you were born a girl! If you were a girl, I could've taken you with me."

If he was a girl, he could have left the Mitchell family with his mother.

However, he was a boy, and the Mitchell family would never let their bloodline leave the house. Furthermore, his mother didn't have a powerful family like Celine and he didn't have an uncle who would take him away at all costs, so he kept staying with the Mitchell family and was adopted by his uncle.

When he was young, he remembered clearly but didn't understand what his mother's words meant. If you were a girl, I could've taken you with me.

Naively, he thought that as long as he put on a skirt, his mother would be able to take him away. Unexpectedly, he wore girl's clothes and waited until he was eighteen but his mother still never came back to take him away... The salty sea breeze ruffled his hair and he took a sip of his juice. As he watched Nathan, who was playing on the beach, his eyes were full of envy. All of a sudden, he saw Sophia and Stanley chasing after Judge.

"You stupid dog! Stop right there!"

Judge was holding something in his mouth. Perhaps he was frightened or excited, for he ran faster and faster. Seeing that Judge was running toward Sean, Sophia anxiously yelled, "Catch that dog! Catch him!"

With that, the few of them worked together and managed to catch Judge. Then, they pulled out the calculator that was full of saliva from its mouth. Seeing that the calculator was destroyed, Sophia apologetically said, "It's all my fault for not closing the door properly and giving this dog a chance to run into the room and create a mess. It even broke Cooper's calculator."

Meanwhile, Stanley lowered his head and patted his innocent dog that took the blame. He didn't dare to look at Sean or the dog in the eye.

Sean looked at the calculator distressed but he didn't blame it on Sophia. "It's okay. Uncle Cooper has been dead for so many years. These things have no meaning anymore. Besides, the Mitchell family comes to his study to search for things every year, and they secretly took a lot of things. It doesn't matter if there's one less calculator."

Sophia looked apologetic as she said, "I will punish this naughty dog for you!"

Hearing this, Stanley hurriedly held his darling pet dog and yelled, "You're not allowed to hit my son!" After he finished speaking, he slapped Judge's butt and the dog ran away. Sophia and Stanley then chased after the dog. Meanwhile, Sean stared at the calculator and his sharp eyes noticed that this calculator was different from other calculators. He lightly pulled on it and easily disassembled the calculator. Then, he realized that this calculator was specially designed, and there was even a hidden compartment inside that had a USB!

A flicker of hope instantly appeared in Sean's eyes. This calculator was found in Cooper's room so it definitely belongs to him. Maybe there are some clues that he left behind here!

He quickly glanced around and saw that Sophia and Stanley were still chasing after Judge. Seeing that there was no one else around, he hurriedly plugged the USB into the laptop beside him. After plugging it in and waiting for it to scan, he realized the USB was filled with more than ten gigabytes of video recordings. Sean was extremely excited as he never thought that he would find files that Cooper secretly left behind. Later, he clicked on the first file and soon, Cooper appeared on the screen.

According to the time the video was recorded, Cooper was around 28 years old at that time, which was a year before his death and the third year he took over the position as family head. In the video, Cooper was utterly handsome. Being half a foreign descent, he had deep, dark eyes. At that time, he was at the peak of his career and appearance. Even though more than ten years had passed, this face was still profound to Sean.

“Uncle...” Sean couldn’t help but mumble.

This is probably Cooper’s video diary. As Cooper’s deep and scorching eyes stared into the camera, Sean could feel his strong demeanor even through the screen.

“I hate more than love the family that gave birth to me and raised me.” This was Cooper’s first sentence.

“I will never forget the day her body gradually turned cold in my arms. Even though it was a cold corpse, I didn’t manage to protect her and I had to watch as she was thrown into the incinerator. She turned into ashes and smoke in front of me and I couldn’t even get a handful of her ashes. At that moment, all my love for this family vanished, and all that’s left is hatred.”

Sean was startled as he didn’t know that Cooper had such a grudge with the Mitchell family. The video continued and Cooper was silent for more than a minute before he said, “I was too naive back then. I thought I was strong enough to protect her, but in the end, she still died in front of me. It was my innocence and the Mitchell family’s cold-heartedness that killed her. Since then, I’ve been eager to leave the Mitchell family every waking moment. That day is not far away now... Once I finish arranging my father and the Mitchell family’s future, I will completely disappear. In addition to my public assets, I left several fortunes for the Mitchell family. The biggest one is the 100 million that I left in Kuwait.”

Hearing this, Sean’s ears perked up and he subconsciously glanced at Sophia and Stanley who were still chasing after the dog not far away.

Unexpectedly, Cooper chuckled mockingly and said, “This 100 million is not in cash. It’s made up of land deeds of all the properties on a street in the wealthy district of the capital of Kuwait, as well as a batch of gold. I have an investment company in Kuwait that specializes in taking care of my investments. Even if I’m gone one day, the company will still continue to operate. If you want to get this fortune, you have to have my token and a password. The token is the amulet that my father gave me but this amulet comes in a pair. The two tokens must appear together to take effect. The other half of the amulet has gone to another world with the person I love.”

After Sean finished watching the video, he was silent for a while. It seems that the Mitchell family will never get this money because Cooper doesn’t want them to get it. He already knew that the token had been destroyed but he still set it as the token to access the fortune. The reason he did this is to let the Mitchell family look at the unobtainable fortune in desperation!

Cooper, is this your way to retaliate against the Mitchell family after your death? However, the Mitchell family really is cruel. I can’t believe they killed somebody and even burned her in front of Cooper!

Sean watched the video several times more and suddenly noticed one of Cooper’s sentences. Once I finish arranging my father and the Mitchell family’s future, I will completely disappear.

He grew up listening to Cooper’s deeds. Even now, the Mitchell family was still living under Cooper’s brilliance. The business they had was founded by Cooper back then and before his death, he even signed a long-term large order for the family. With this order, the family would have no worries for the next ten years.

Upon closer inspection, all of this seems to have been pre-arranged...

A bold idea suddenly formed in Sean's mind.

Cooper is not dead yet!

Sean was extremely excited. After sending the video to his most trusted uncle, which was his grandfather, he continued to view the other videos in hopes of finding clues. If they could find Cooper, they didn't need gold or properties. After all, Cooper was the Mitchell family's greatest treasure!
