

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 399

The person on the ground got one of her hands stepped on, so she used her other hand to grab an old broken wooden block at the side, which once formed the leg of a desk, and swung it fiercely at the bald girl, knocking the sword off the girl's hand with the impact.

Then, the person took the opportunity to roll over and get on her feet. She grabbed the wooden block again and hit the bald girl fiercely multiple times.

Blood splattered all over her face as the bald girl let out a wail of agony. However, in the next second, the bald girl charged toward the other girl suddenly, as if she couldn't feel the pain at all. Both of the girls struggled and fought with each other on the ground violently, with one of them on top of the other as they fought fiercely like they were trying to kill each other...

The girl who retaliated was Sophia, whereas the bald girl was actually Kayla Harper, Richard's younger sister! Michael's hand, which he used to hold his cell phone, trembled uncontrollably.

The video ended and a sentence flashed across at the end. It read, 'The old address of Mount View Elementary School. She doesn't have much time left. Come alone.' The meaning of the message was clear enough.

Kayla, who was supposed to spend the rest of her life in prison, suddenly appeared in the operation base of the Phantom Wolf. Judging from the drastic change in her personality, it was obvious that she had undergone Phantom Wolf's ruthless and inhumane combat training; she might have even been injected with drugs.

Now, she was just like a killing machine with no emotions, one that was extremely powerful and had become immune to pain. This was a trick normally adopted by Phantom Wolf.

They often brought desperate and fearless people under their wing, turning them into fanatic suicide bombers and launching massive terrorist attacks. Sophia could probably die at the hands of Kayla at any time!

Michael got into the car without any hesitation. Seeing that, Abel knew what he wanted to do. "Michael, you're his target. You'll die if you go. I'll go instead."

However, Michael didn't reply. Since Abel knew he had already made up his mind and wouldn't change his decision, he had no choice but to go with him.

Suddenly, Stanley, who was covered in blood, caught up with them. "Uncle Michael, let me come with you guys too!"

"No." Michael rejected him directly without any hesitation. The opponent they were about to face now was the fiercest and cruelest person ever in the history of mankind.

He couldn't even be sure whether he could come back alive himself, let alone the young and inexperienced Stanley. Anyhow, he did not wish for another new tombstone to be erected in the Memorial Garden.

Even so, Stanley insisted on going with them, and he threatened Michael fiercely, "I want to go! I'll lie down in the middle of the road if you won't let me go!"

The car engine had revved up, but Stanley stood in front of the car, preventing the car from moving forward. Michael's eyes flickered with complicated feelings.

Within a split second, a lot of different thoughts had flashed across his mind. Finally, he gave in to Stanley's wish. "Hale, give him a handy gun." Stanley then got into the car and it sped away quickly.

Mount View Elementary School was an abandoned site in the rural area. For various reasons, the school had not been demolished even after the location was marked as a demolition site. Therefore, it was left abandoned since then. Soon, a car that carried a passenger in it sped right into the area without regard for anything else...

At the same time, an intense life-and-death battle occurred somewhere else. The harrowing sound of a sharp tool piercing through human flesh was heard as a hair pin had been stabbed into the transformed Kayla's thigh.

Pushing it deeper into Kayla's thigh, Sophia had a vicious expression on her face. She wore her hair in a casual bun using a wooden hair pin when she went out this morning, but she didn't expect it would actually become so handy now.

Crimson blood gushed out from the stab wound, but Kayla, who seemed as though she couldn't feel any pain at all, grabbed Sophia's hair and pounded her head heavily on the ground twice. "B*tch, I want you dead! Just die!"

Kayla was covered in wounds. Her black tight-fitting garment was completely drenched in blood. Despite that, she seemed as if she couldn't feel any pain and was still unusually strong even though blood flowed profusely from her leg with every step she took.

Sophia got her head pounded on the ground so hard that she felt really dizzy, so she automatically folded her arms to shield her head from the destructive impact.

After all, her arms were softer than the ground, so Kayla's immense strength still made her feel very dizzy when she had her head hitting the ground. By the time she opened her eyes, everything around her seemed to be spinning like crazy.

Kayla yanked Sophia's unruly hair and pounded her head on the ground once again with all her might, but suddenly, Sophia noticed that Kayla's body convulsed for a moment before she kneeled down on the ground weakly.

It happens again! Sophia had already noticed that earlier. It seemed as though there was some kind of remotely controlled device installed in Kayla's body. Every time Sophia's life was in serious danger, someone would activate the remotely controlled device within Kayla's body, causing temporary numbness to her body.

However, after a few seconds, Kayla would become really strong again, like a senseless beast that came lunging at Sophia for her life. She had completely lost her sanity, for she was now nothing but a beast that only wanted to kill! However, after the remotely controlled device was activated, Sophia had a few seconds of time to catch her breath.

At that moment, she saw Kayla go limp and lie down on the ground. Sophia knew she had another few seconds of time to save herself, so she got up as fast as lightning and snatched the sword, which Kayla brought along with her initially.

Deciding to strike first, Sophia charged toward Kayla fiercely, swaying the blade frantically at the bald girl, looking like she was about to chop off an animal's leg. She didn't know what exactly happened to Kayla after not seeing her for several months. Now, she was rendered a ferocious killing machine with superhuman strength.

Nevertheless, ever since that incident with Phantom Wolf last time, Sophia never once slacked off on her hand-to-hand combat training. Since the person behind all these misfortunes wasn't actually intending on killing her, she could still hold on. Now, it all depended on whether she would lose her stamina, or Kayla would lose all her blood first!

The current Kayla had lost her mind completely. What was only left in her was utter hatred and her natural killer's instinct. Nothing could stop her from killing now, except for the complete loss of blood.

The person behind all these misfortunes never wished for Sophia to die at all. She could even notice the moving surveillance camera on the wall, as if purposely showing someone the video of her fighting with Kayla.

This, of course, wasn't to fulfill some peculiar desires of some psychopaths, but to lure someone over here to save her. Nobody would do such an outrageous thing, except Phantom Wolf's leader, and the one that Phantom Wolf's leader wanted to lure here was probably Michael.

Kayla lunged at Sophia violently again like a savage and senseless beast. Going bonkers, Sophia carried the rusty sword before charging forward at Kayla. She thrust the sword into Kayla's body, piercing right through it.

Then, she pushed Kayla and pressed her tightly against the wall with all her might. Since she had thrust the rusty sword really hard through Kayla's body, it stuck right into the wall, pinning Kayla onto it in the process. However, Kayla, who was completely immune to pain, held out her hand and grabbed the hilt. She actually still had the strength to draw the sword out from the wall.

The battle was so intense that it made Sophia lose her sanity too. She was completely oblivious of how far she had gone.

The only thing she knew was if she went the slightest bit easier on her opponent, she would probably be the one to die next. So, she turned around, grabbed a broken wooden stool and whacked Kayla's head with it. Using up the last bit of energy in her, Sophia kept on hitting Kayla until she couldn't move anymore.

In the end, Sophia was completely drenched in blood. She was relieved finally when she noticed that Kayla, who was still being pinned on the wall, was dead for good. All of a sudden, she went limp as all energy had left her body, making her slump onto the floor weakly as she lowered her head while gasping for air.

Streams of blood dripped down her hair onto the floor. She couldn't even be sure whether those were hers or Kayla's blood. With a few droplets of blood still hanging on her long eyelashes, everything seemed to be dyed red in her vision.

The place was an old abandoned multipurpose classroom; there was still a broken loudspeaker hanging at the corner of the wall. A deafening static sound could actually be heard coming from the loudspeaker. After the static, a cold snicker was heard.

“Haha, it looks like you’re not as important as I think you are to him after all. I told him to rush here in ten minutes, or else I’m going to kill you, but too bad, for half an hour has passed by now, yet he’s still not here.”

The voice was deep and gruff. Despite the fact that it was altered with a voice changer, Sophia knew the one talking was the leader of Phantom Wolf. She felt glad rather than disappointed when she heard that Michael didn’t come.

It’s better if he doesn’t come. His life should be left unharmed as he waits for the girl who loves him to cherish him with all her heart. As for my life... You can just take it in exchange for his!
