

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 334

Once Richard knew about Natasha's true identity, he was so frightened that he did not even squeak but made way for her after being awestruck. "Oh, it's you, Natasha. This way!"

Upon hearing that, he and Xyla hastily moved from their position to make space for Natasha. Xyla was extremely unsatisfied, but she didn't dare to oppose because of who Natasha was.

As the eldest daughter of the Mitchell family, Natasha was also the successor of the Mitchell Group. Not only was she an outstanding student, but she received close to full marks in every exam as well. When she was only in her freshman year, she had already earned first place in various international competitions and by the time she entered her second year, she had completed all the courses in her university degree through self-study and even began her postgraduate entrance exam.

On top of that, she was also the campus belle in Bayside University. Whenever there were foreign guests visiting the campus, she would represent the university as the most distinguished student to accompany them on their tour.

When Sean noticed Natasha's arrival, he calmly obscured Sophia by standing right in front of her. He winked at Stanley and the latter immediately understood before proceeding to inform her about Natasha's arrival. "Properly hide your amulet!"

Members of the Mitchell Family had been fighting each other over the possession of the said amulet, but Old Master Mitchell did not have any intention of passing it to anyone. In the past, there was even someone who wanted to snatch it in broad daylight. Even though Woody Mitchell was old and no longer had any authority, he still had a band of good brothers, such as Old Master Fletcher.

Due to Old Master Fletcher's power, they were unable to make a move on Old Master Mitchell. Even if Cooper Mitchell was already dead, he still had a handful of loyal followers that he trained in the Mitchell Family, who looked up to Old Master Fletcher.

There was a time when Natasha's father had made an extremely close imitation of the amulet, plotting to replace the genuine one, but Old Master Mitchell saw through the plans. With his crutches, he walked up to the door of Natasha's father's house, forcing them to return the original amulet to its rightful owner.

If Natasha ever noticed that the amulet was in Sophia's possession, a mayhem could break out at once.

As soon as Sophia heard Stanley's words, she immediately stuffed the amulet in her collar before looking at Natasha and frowning at the same time.

Upon noticing her arrival, the students in the area were awestruck and quickly flocked toward her to welcome her. After all, she was Bayside University's most distinguished student and also the eldest daughter of the Mitchell Family. Who would not want to have a connection with her, albeit the slightest one?

"Wow, Miss Natasha, you look absolutely stunning today!"

"Miss Natasha, why are you here today?"

Natasha was in her second year, but she was only seventeen years old. When she was fifteen, she had already enrolled in Bayside University, which was why everyone looked up to her.

She looked toward the crowd with a lofty aura and glanced over the female crowd consisting of all shapes and sizes. With a smirk, she snickered in her heart, What simple minds.

Without warning, she announced, “I have applied to be this year’s campus belle.”

The female crowd was shocked, especially those who thought they stood a chance at winning. Wasn’t Natasha the previous winner of last year’s campus belle? Why is she even competing with the freshmen this year? She isn’t even on the list of finalists either!

However, Natasha ignored the crowd’s bickering as she sat on the piano bench and started to practice on the piano.

At once, elegant piano notes reverberated throughout the whole backstage—those who heard the notes immediately knew that whoever was playing the piano had a high degree of mastery.

In fact, she had learned how to play the musical instrument when she was at a young age and even had her own piano concert when she turned ten. Under the tutelage of a world-class piano master, her degree of mastery surpassed the average person by a huge margin.

At once, the female pianists who were preparing to perform on stage paled. After all, competing against her in terms of playing the piano was akin to having a death wish.

When Sophia saw the crowd surrounding Natasha, there was a glint of sadness in her eyes.

After all, a princess would likely be someone like Natasha, being showered with love and care at a young age without any worry at the same time. What a nice life to have!

At that moment, Stanley suddenly patted Sophia’s shoulder and asked, “Now that the genuine outstanding student is here, are you having cold feet now?”

Sophia looked at the scene for a while and averted her gaze. “Give me some more time and I will surpass her.”

Natasha was indeed a genius from the Mitchell family. When she was ten years old, she held her own concert and studied in Bayside University by the time she turned fifteen. At the current moment, she was preparing for her postgraduate entrance exam. On other hand, Sophia was already twenty, but still in her freshman year.

Despite the stark difference, Sophia did not think that she was that far off from Natasha. When she was eight years old, the village held a survey on the school age of the villagers. It was only at that moment when they realized that she was not enrolled in school and allowed to study from then. Therefore, she could not be compared to Natasha whatsoever.

Even after school hours, she had to return to her house to help with the farm work. Due to her poor background, there was no way for her to develop her skills.

Despite all the odds, she still believed that she was not late and that she was still young, so everything was still possible!

From now onward, there would not be any saying of 'if only she had Natasha's conditions, she would have done this and that'. She swore that she would surpass Natasha, no matter what!

At that moment, Gemma held Nathan in his hands and led him backstage.

"My son, let Mommy hug you!"

Sophia sighed while extending her hand. His face was set in stone while he reluctantly allowed her to hug him.

Nathan and Michael always came in a pack. If Nathan was here, then Michael was surely...

"Aaaaah—"

Suddenly, there was a commotion at the front stage. In that instant, Sophia's ears instantly perked up as she remembered that Michael's speech was arranged before the campus belle contest. She also acknowledged the fact that it was almost time for his speech after looking at the clock.

The idol had arrived!

She frantically followed everyone's footsteps to the front of the stage to observe the scene.

Michael was not the only who arrived; his inseparable partner, Harry, was also here.

The truth was that Harry wasn't interested in taking part, but Michael had convinced him that his future bride wanted to join the campus belle contest. In fact, it was her first time joining a large-scale competition. He was concerned about her being nervous, which would cause her to underperform and resulting in a lower score. Therefore, Michael was here to instill hope in her by having Harry added to the panel of judges.

That was the story of how Harry, who was playing games at home, was dragged into the situation.

Under the vice-chancellor's guidance, the duo entered the giant hall through the VIP lane, which caused a huge commotion for the students who were present.

The school hall with a seating space of six thousand people was now packed with people; those who arrived late were unable to enter and could only watch the livestream from outside.

Michael was looking absolutely stunning today as he leisurely walked down the path with his black suit decorated with emerald green patterns. The emerald green pattern was also subtly radiating a luxurious aura while dazzling lights shone on him.

In that instant, he was literally a God radiating light!

The Michael at home would normally wear a tracksuit while the one who was outside would wear a formal attire.

He was looking absolutely handsome!

In fact, Harry also wore the same suit as him, but the two of them gave off a whole different vibe.

“Aaaaah, my idol! Aaaaa, My husband!” Sophia and a group of girls screamed .

The appearance of Michael and Harry caused the crowd to become insane and at once, various screaming sounds reverberated throughout the hall.

They waved at the crowd, following the workers on duty to the VIP guest lounge to catch a breath.

While the students offstage were blocked by security, those who were preparing for their performance backstage surrounded the VIP guest lounge instead.

“Let’s go and watch them too,” Sophia said after noticing that everyone was gone and quickly headed in the direction of the lounge as well.

Despite the huge response, everyone was merely observing from outside the door for the fear of disrupting their idol’s rest time.

“Oh my God, my idol is so handsome!”

“Awwwwww, my husbands are so handsome!”

A bunch of girls drooled at the two idols from a distance as they took out their cellphones to secretly take their idol’s photos.

Sophia also followed suit. After all, Michael was exceptionally stunning today by donning a suit while wearing a pair of leather shoes.

He was absolutely rocking the outfit, which made it a pity that he was topless while usually wearing a pair of pants at home.

She happily decided to take a nap before he changed his clothes after returning home.

While the two idols rested in the VIP guest lounge, the vice-chancellor was over the moon about the situation. It had never crossed his mind that when Michael arrived, Harry would tag along!

On top of that, Harry also wanted to donate a gymnasium, which made it an absolutely amazing situation!