

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 444

Natasha recovered her usual dignified socialite appearance as quickly as possible and accepted an interview with the reporters.

The reporter asked, “Miss Natasha, how do you feel about Mr. Taylor Murray’s evaluation of your actions?”

Natasha looked at the camera and smiled in an elegant manner, “I grew up watching Taylor Murray’s movies, so he is my idol. I just want to continue loving him in my own way. I suppose my actions before were indeed a bit ill-considered, but I have no intention of destroying Taylor’s family, and I’ll still fully support his acting career in the future.”

Natasha didn’t believe one bit that she couldn’t win Taylor’s heart over with her family background and strong financial resources. I’m Taylor’s number one wealthy fan, and my status is unshakable!

However, little did she know that the ‘Taylor Murray’s Top Fan’ online title she had splurged on purchasing was bought off by somebody else in just five days and three hours. An idol like Taylor had no shortage of fans, especially wealthy ones.

Within two days, a brand-new Taylor Murray’s top fan materialized from thin air with the online name ‘Eddie Fletcher’. The news reported: ‘Taylor Murray’s Top Fan Eddie Fletcher Donates Ten Million to Build Public Road Named ‘Taylor Murray Road’ for an Impoverished Mountainous Village.’

Apparently, someone called Eddie Fletcher had contacted the council of the impoverished mountainous village and donated millions of assets to build roads and bridges for the village in the name of Taylor Murray.

The sudden windfall of a ten-million donation left the people of that impoverished village shell-shocked, but they couldn't reach 'Eddie Fletcher'. So, they had no choice but to contact a reporter to publish the news so that they could thank Eddie Fletcher and Taylor Murray for the donation.

At the same time, the crew of War Dragon also received a flower basket for Taylor, which was sent by a certain 'Eddie Fletcher'. With that, Taylor made the headlines again, and a large number of entertainment reporters were curious about the real identity of Eddie Fletcher. However, no one could find out anything at all.

As the persona of 'Eddie Fletcher' was born, Natasha's status as the top wealthy fan of Taylor Murray was in danger.

Both of them dedicated roads to Taylor Murray, yet one donated money to build roads for an impoverished mountainous village, which brought convenience to the poor people living in the village and improved the idol's reputation; the other threw away money to glorify the idol, and as the idol himself said, it made no sense.

The contrast was stark when people started comparing the two.

In the summer resort of the film studio, Natasha was so angry that she smashed the tablet in her hands when she saw the news. Her hysterical scream echoed throughout this summer resort on the mountainside. "Go and check who exactly is this Eddie Fletcher for me!"

Natasha's eyes were bloodshot with rage. Whenever she closed them, she would recall Taylor's four unfeeling words: it made no sense.

She had always believed that Taylor liked her. Otherwise, why would he save her in the first place?

On that nightmarish night, she had arrested Sophia to interrogate her about the whereabouts of the amulet, but unexpectedly, she was besieged by unknown assassins. She then escaped from the basement and fell unconscious among a burst of gunfire. When she woke up in the hospital, she saw Taylor's men guarding her. It was Taylor who had rescued her from Phantom Wolf!

Since he saved her, it meant that he was interested in her.

"No one ever dared to challenge me financially. Since you want to play this game with me, I will play along till the end."

The news of Eddie Fletcher donating tens of millions of assets to build roads for the impoverished mountainous village broke out at once. Although the local villagers didn't know who Eddie Fletcher was, they had heard of Taylor Murray and were extremely grateful to him. With this, Taylor's reputation on the internet improved by leaps and bounds. When the main road was completed, they would erect a monument for Taylor Murray out of gratitude.

A huge number of reporters were camping outside the set to interview Taylor and ask about Eddie Fletcher as well. Unexpectedly, Taylor actually agreed to the interview this time.

A reporter asked, "Excuse me, Mr. Taylor Murray, but what do you think of Eddie Fletcher's road construction in your name?" Michael smiled slightly. "It is worth advocating."

The same four words, yet it was in stark contrast to Natasha's 'it made no sense' comment.

Within a day of Eddie Fletcher shooting to fame, Natasha quickly fought back on her side. Since Eddie Fletcher was doing charity, she also did charity. In the name of Taylor Murray, she donated several new buildings to an elementary school located in the impoverished mountainous village.

She thought this would win the favor of other Taylor Murray's fans, but she didn't expect it to be counterproductive. The online comments were more negative than positive, and most of the comments were not great.

'She's just parroting others in doing charity. Can't she be a little more creative? She should be a bit more sincere when doing charity.'

'With such a stupid fan like her, I guess it's difficult for Taylor Murray to avoid a bad reputation.'

'I still like Eddie Fletcher more. Look at how low-key that fan is.'

Natasha hated this person named Eddie Fletcher to death. Although she sent someone to investigate the person, she didn't even manage to find out whether it was a man or a woman.

Despite being berated online, she was still pleased about spending such a large sum of money. She wanted to see whether Eddie Fletcher would dare to respond to her move or not! The duel between two top fans had officially begun!

The statement of Natasha's donation of the school buildings had just been issued, but even before the money was ready, another news broke out. A research institution examining the disease Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) announced its receipt of a ten million ALS research fund by one of Taylor Murray's fans, Eddie Fletcher. The fund was set up to develop a drug for the disease, and 'Eddie Fletcher' even called out for public awareness on ALS!

After the research institution published the news of the donation on its Twitter, Taylor himself liked it and retweeted it, then called for more public awareness on the disease as well.

As for the news of Natasha's donation to the elementary school, Taylor never responded to it.

Seeing that something was going wrong for her, Natasha hurriedly donated 20 million to an AIDS research institution as a scientific research fund. She donated twice as much as Eddie Fletcher donated!

Actually, she didn't care about what the netizens said about her at all. All she wanted to do was to raze 'Eddie Fletcher' to the ground!

It was clear that 'Eddie Fletcher' had a strong financial background. After donating to the scientific research fund, the person donated a batch of tents and relief packages to a disaster-stricken mountain area in the name of Taylor Murray.

A day after donating those supplies, a foreign research institution suddenly discovered a new asteroid. On the second day of the discovery, the institution received a financial donation from 'Eddie Fletcher', the fan of Cethos' male celebrity Taylor Murray, to help with the scientific research. Thus, the institution that had discovered the asteroid named it as 'Taylor Murray Asteroid'.

Natasha, too, followed closely with her own donations of supplies and money. Since Eddie Fletcher donated an asteroid, she followed up by donating a newly discovered island!

In short, what Eddie Fletcher donated, she donated twice as much.

At night in a hotel, Michael started to scroll through the news on the Internet after having finished reading the script. When he searched for 'Eddie Fletcher', a torrent of news swept across his screen.

On seeing the name, his eyes were full of indulgence, and his smile became gentle. A kind of tender warmth spread through his body as he subconsciously glanced at Sophia, who was playing a game beside him.

Eddie Fletcher and Natasha had gone a bit overboard now, but this war was about to end soon.

Natasha had gone all out with her spending. Judging from the current financial level of the Mitchell Family, she couldn't go on even if she was the daughter of the Mitchell Family.

As for 'Eddie Fletcher'...

Sophia was playing a game with Stanley, and they were grinding while chatting in-game.

Stanley said to Sophia, "Eddie Fletcher, you're freaking rich to donate tens of millions in one go. Why didn't you invest more money in me? You're so stingy. I'm your nephew after all!"

"That's your uncle's money!" Sophia retorted.

"My uncle's money is all yours. I don't care! Invest money in me, Eddie Fletcher!"

"I don't have any money!"

"Eddie Fletcher... This name is really disgusting."