

Chapter 47

Felicity was completely wordless the moment she saw the photos.

In the photo, William was getting into a luxurious car.

Although the driver's face was covered, it could not conceal the fact that she had a good figure...

All the people gathered around to look at the photos. Anger flooded their veins when they saw the photo.

"What a b*stard! He's not only an ingrate, a bloodsucker but also an unfaithful brat. Besides being a freeloader of the Bai family, he also has the most beautiful woman in the city, Felicity as his wife. Surprisingly, he's still unsatisfied. How dare he hook up with another woman?" One of the Bais shouted.

"Look at what this guy said just now. He acted so righteously but it turns out that he is having an affair," a woman said disdainfully.

She snorted. "Hmph. Of course, as a man who has no ability at all, he will have to seek support from a rich woman in case of the moments now. Look at what happened to us at this moment. If the Bai family drive him out, then he will starve to death."

William took a look at the photos and asked, "Felicity, if I say that this is a birthday present I prepared for you, would you believe it?"

Felicity was taken aback. A birthday present?

The crowd was boiling with rage when they heard this. "Hmph, a birthday present? Oh goodness, how could this guy be so stubborn to admit his mistake after being caught for an affair? He's hopeless!"

"What is the gift? The luxurious car? Or the woman? Bullsh*t! Such a good-for-nothing should be cut into pieces!" A lady in her thirties stomped her foot.

William darted a cold glance at the crowd. "Yes, this woman is the birthday present I prepared. Do you have any questions?"

His every word was cold, his eyes twinkling as brightly as stars.

Looking at William, who was standing firm and so confident of himself, a thought appeared in Felicity's mind all of a sudden.

"I believe you!"

Her words made everyone speechless again.

"Crazy! Both of them are crazy!"

Yasmine was trembling with rage. "Great! You guys make the most indecent match in this world! Felicity, I'll ask you once again!"

Yasmine took a deep breath and continued, "Look at what happened in the past few days. Everyone in the city has been talking about the Bai family."

"Why could another man give his beloved woman the Emperor's Flower as his wedding gift today?"

Yasmine glared at William. "While he can't even prepare any wedding gifts when you get married. Don't you think you're mistreated?"

"It's been three years. Our family has to endure all sorts of criticisms every year! Don't you ever think about us?" Yasmine's face was livid.

"The owner of the Emperor's Flower is about to show up in a while. Don't you feel pitiful?"

"Do you dare to say that you don't have any regret over this?" Yasmine questioned, her eyes fixed on Felicity.

"If you're feeling shaken or dissatisfied, even in the slightest bit, you aren't loyal to William. Do you dare to say that you don't have any of these emotions? Without loyalty, your feelings for him are no longer pure anymore. You two will divorce sooner or later."

At first, Felicity didn't care about Yasmine's words, but when Yasmine's last sentence made her body tremble violently.

She did have those emotions. It seemed that she had been swayed by the Emperor's Flower...

Did this mean disloyalty?

Seeing that Felicity's expression changed at once, Yasmine continued barking, "Now, let's talk about Fernando."

"He gives you three million yuan as your wedding gift. Everyone in the world can testify to his love for you." Yasmine balled her fists, her lips shaking.

"He had saved the Bai family several times too. He even establishes a joint company between the Lin and Li families. Plus, he even gives us an order worth ten million yuan. He is showing so much kindness to the Bai family. Everyone knows it."

"You ignore a good man who loves and is loyal to you. Instead, you choose to hold on to an ungrateful man. You are completely blinded by love!"

After hearing this, everyone began to condemn Felicity.

Felicity's heart skipped a beat. She didn't know what to say.

Yasmine noticed everyone was siding her thus she immediately added, "You have no idea what to say, right? Well, I'll add one more thing. If you do not feel guilty about it at all, then you can do whatever you want today!"

"You were sick a while ago and you were basically on the verge of death. If it weren't for Fernando who saved you, you wouldn't be able to stand here and talk back to us! He is your lifesaver. Don't you feel guilty? Has your conscience been eaten by a dog?"

Yasmine's words once again made Felicity become the focus of criticism.

Felicity looked at Yasmine with sorrow and resentment. "Yes, he did save my life, and I'm grateful to him. But why do I have to marry him as my way to repay him?"

"Hmph, tell me, how are you going to repay Fernando when you have no money and work, not to mention a house? His favor of saving your life is pressuring the whole Bai family so much that we feel suffocated. If you still have some conscience left in you, please do what we say so we can live our lives without any guilt. Do you want me to kneel down again?" Yasmine showed no sign of backing down.

Hearing this, Felicity's face froze and she burst into tears.

She gritted her teeth and thought, "What a d*mned favor! He shouldn't have saved my life!"

Why did they do this...

Why were they forcing her again and again?

Alright.

"Thank you for saving my life." Felicity wiped off her tears.

"I will repay him!"

She suddenly stood up and let out a sorrowful howl.

"William, I'm sorry. I owe my life to him. Now I..."

She paused for a while and continued, "I'll give it back to him!"

As Felicity spoke, there was a trace of sadness and determination in her eyes. When everyone was still in a state of shock, she broke a wine glass.

Then she swung her hand holding a piece of broken shard towards her throat.

However, her hand was caught by William immediately.

When Yasmine saw this scene, she sneered and bellowed, "Are you putting on a show in front of me? Well, just kill yourself if you have the guts. I'll give in and let it pass then!"

Felicity was quivering with anger. She looked at William and shouted, "Let me die! Just let me die! I owe him my life! I will bear this sin for the rest of my life! William, I don't want to do this!"

William held Felicity in her arms and comforted her, "I will give you a satisfactory solution later."

When Rebecca saw this, she couldn't bear it anymore.

She stood up and gave Felicity a hard slap.

"Slap!"

The loud sound of the slap echoed in the room.

Rebecca was fuming with anger. She then stared at both of them with hatred and roared, "Since you two are so stubborn, I don't have to sympathize with you anymore!"

She took out two green booklets and tossed them in front of Felicity. "I've pulled some strings to help with your divorce."

Felicity opened at the two green booklets and studied them. She felt as if a nuclear bomb just dropped on her.

She was utterly dumbfounded.

It was a divorce certificate!

It was done by her mother...

Her mother made both of them divorce behind their backs.

Rebecca said with an uncompromising attitude, "Therefore, the party today is not only your birthday party but also the divorce party for you and that b*stard. It's even a wedding party for you and my new son-in-law, Fernando. At the same time, it's also a housewarming party for us to move into a new house. Four events worth celebration come at once. You have to accept the reality no matter what!"

Felicity stared at Rebecca. For the first time in more than twenty years, there was a trace of indifference in her eyes.

She suddenly burst out laughing.

Her laughter was full of sorrow.

A divorce, right?

She tore the two divorce certificates into pieces.

"Let me tell you this. Of course, you can make William and me divorce without our knowledge, but I will take William with me again to register our marriage every single time you make us divorce!"

Felicity's tears flowed down her cheeks. "Even if we have to go to great lengths to achieve that, we won't hesitate to do so!"

Everyone could tell how firm and determined she was from her tone.

"Hmph, do you think you can still get married? If I could divorce you two, undoubtedly, I can make you marry someone else too!" Rebecca retorted fiercely.

Her words made Felicity tremble.

She stared at Fernando.

Fernando was still grinning at her, but there was a hint of evilness in his eyes.

Fernando pretended to be infatuated and uttered, "Felicity, I wanted to tell you this later. Alas, but I'm so into you. Look, we have registered..."

His words were interrupted by Felicity mercilessly.

"So what?"

Again, her words showed how firm her stand was.

"The relationship between William and I does not need to be proven by two pieces of papers!"

Felicity grabbed William's hand. "In the last decade, both of us know how much we love each other whenever we look into each other's eyes. Each eye contact we make is a testimony of our relationship itself!"

She looked into his eyes. "Every word we utter in the past ten years is proof of our love."

"Ten years ago, he even put his life on the line to prove his love for me." Felicity's memories replayed in her mind.

"Who do you think you guys are?"

After that, Felicity stood up while staring at William. She suddenly broke into laughter while looking at him despite having tears in her eyes.

"William, I never thought that I could do this much for you..."

At this moment, William was also smiling.

They were the couple that looked the most miserable in the room. However, at this moment, their faces were blooming with the most beautiful smiles for each other.

"Felicity, I'm leaving now. Will you follow me?" asked William.

This time, Felicity didn't even look at the Bais. She nodded and answered, "Sure!"

"I will follow you everywhere you go," she vowed.

"Even if you're going to the most dangerous place on this planet, I'll follow you as well."

The tears in her eyes sparkled. "I'll never let go of you!"

William nodded with satisfaction. He held Felicity and strode away from the house.

All the members of the Bai family were simmering with anger. They even stamped their feet.

"Well, well! Don't ever come back after you leave! Don't return to the Bai family when you have no money, house, and work in the future. Guys, let's continue on with our toasts. Even if the bride is not here, the groom is. I, Yasmine Chen, will only acknowledge Fernando as my grandson-in-law!"

Felicity and William immediately gasped for some fresh air after they walked out of the house.

What she said a while ago had used up all her courage and strength in her life.

Her hand was held by William's. She could feel the warmth of his palm. Then, she suddenly burst into laughter.

William turned around. "What are you laughing at?"

"I laugh because we are such a pathetic couple. Now, I have no money, work nor a house. I don't want to find a job for the time being because I'm not in the mood. Moreover, we've gotten divorced, and we can't even get back together. I can only be your mistress now. Hence, you have to be the one who supports me for a long time from now on." Felicity suddenly realized that marrying William was the best decision in her life.

Even if she was betrayed by everyone in the world, as long as he was with her, she could still laugh without any worries.

William touched Felicity's head lovingly. "It hurt me to see you being wronged just now. Sure, I will take care of you for the rest of my life."

However, at this moment, Felicity rolled her eyes at William. She reached out her little hands and pouted her lips. "Where's my birthday present? If you dare to say that you don't have it, I'll fight with you right away!"

William's face became solemn. He pointed to a building in front of him and asked inexplicably, "Do you still envy the owner of the Emperor's Flower?"

Felicity took a look and it turned out that they had come to the front of the Emperor's Flower, this luxurious villa without her realizing it.

Looking at William, she wrinkled her nose and purposely replied to him with a hint of jealousy, "Of course, I do. I envy them so much! What happened today is all because of it. Look, I'm penniless and homeless now. How I wish to be looked after by this mysterious big shot for the rest of my life."

William was beaming with happiness. He smiled at her gently, but he looked domineering at the same time.

"Then, as you wish!"

He held Felicity's hand and walked straight to the gate of the Emperor's Flower. Then he took out a key and handed it to Felicity.

"This is your birthday present. It's also my wedding gift for you."

"It's a flower," he whispered.

"Welcome, my Queen..."