

Chapter 118

Frank was overjoyed as he cleared his nose and asked hopefully, "Really?"

Vinson showed a pessimistic look and replied, "It's just that this highly-skilled doctor has quite a temper. I can only bring you to him, but I can't guarantee that he's willing to treat you."

Frank nodded unhesitantly. "I know, I know! People like him are usually quite a character! I'll plead and beg him. Elder Zhang, you're my savior!"

Vinson looked at Frank helplessly and said, "From now on, you better take good care of yourself. We can't wait any longer. Let's go down and see if he has left."

Frank quickly put on his clothes and left the room with Vinson.

At this moment, Elizabeth was standing before William.

She saw William sitting calmly on the sofa, anger in her ignited again.

"How shameless is he?" Elizabeth scoffed inwardly.

She could not believe that William actually stayed here!

"Ahem!" Elizabeth deliberately faked a cough noticing that William's eyes were shut.

William opened his eyes and saw that it was Elizabeth. He then closed his eyes again, ignoring her.

Elizabeth got even more furious!

After all, she was a rising star of Qena City. Many would even put their lives on the line just to meet her

However, William, a good-for-nothing, was ignoring her!

She stomped her foot on the table in front of William with her heels.

Bang!

William was unfazed.

"Stop pretending. There's no one here. Tell me your terms and conditions," Elizabeth hissed in an angry tone.

She knew that William was going to take advantage of the situation. She thought he was waiting here patiently for Elizabeth to offer a better price.

But William shook his head and said, "I'm not interested in your offer."

Elizabeth frowned at once.

Was William going to threaten Director Chien instead of her?

She knew this fella was cunning and shrewd.

William was doing this because he knew that Director Chien was filthy rich.

D*mn!

"Believe it or not, I can number the days you'll be kept alive in Qena City if I want!" Elizabeth threatened aggressively.

William looked indifferent and did not answer her.

Elizabeth was so mad that she kicked at the table, breaking the heel of her shoe in the process.

The fury in her heart was burning wildly!

William was so stubborn!

As expected, he was shamelessly fearless!

Elizabeth's reaction drew the passerby's attention.

Her heart skipped a beat.

D*mn it. This fella was so bold because he knew that she would not dare to make things turn ugly in public.

She had no choice but to contain her rage.

"D*mn it! I'm so unlucky!" Elizabeth cursed.

She took out a stack of money from her bag and threw it in front of William. "Take the money, delete those photos, and get out of here!"

"I don't want your money. Just leave. Don't make me repeat myself," William replied nonchalantly.

Elizabeth immediately shouted, "F*ck! Is this too little for you? It's 50,000 dollars! It's enough to last a tr*sh like you for a year!"

At this moment, they heard someone coming towards them. Judging on their footsteps, they seemed to be in a rush.

Frank saw Elizabeth first and immediately asked in surprise, "Elizabeth, why are you here?"

Elizabeth's face stiffened. She immediately played the victim card by pointing to William and said, "Director Chien, I just came down to kill some time. I didn't expect that this guy would harass me again! Look. He first tried to tempt me with money. Of course, I rejected it. He then tried to scare me by breaking my high heels!"

Staring at the money on the table and Elizabeth's damaged shoes, Frank glared at William in rage. "You b*stard! How pathetic! Security! Where are the security guards?"

The security guards came over as soon as they heard Frank.

"Get rid of him! This son of a b*tch!" Frank roared angrily.

The security guards knew Frank's identity and immediately stomped towards William.

But at this moment, Vinson caught up from behind.

As soon as he saw William, he immediately cried out, "It's Mr. Junior Divine Doctor! D*mn it! What are you guys doing? Stop it!"

After hearing what Vinson said, Frank, although confused, stopped the security guards.

Elizabeth, unsatisfied, threw herself into Frank's arms and muttered seductively, "Director Chien, you must stand on my side."

Frank's face changed.

This was a public space!

If he was photographed, it would bring him so much trouble.

This brainless little b*tch!

"Elizabeth, go home first. I'll call you tonight. Please." Frank wasn't entirely mad at Elizabeth; he had yet to have a taste on her charming figure and body.

But his words were clear enough.

Elizabeth glanced at William angrily. "Consider yourself lucky! We'll see how things go."

After that, she limped out of the room.

"Elder Zhang, do you know this guy?" Frank asked.

Vinson walked over quickly without hesitation as he bowed. "Greetings, Junior Divine Doctor Lu, we meet again."

Upon hearing this, Frank was stunned.

Junior Divine Doctor Lu!

"He is the Junior Divine Doctor that Vinson has just praised highly of?"

Frank thought to himself, "How is this possible?"

William was so young!

He looked like a teenager.

Moreover, didn't he come here to get Flavia to his company?

How could he be a junior divine doctor?

"Elder Zhang, are you sure you've got the right person?" Frank felt that he had been cheated, his voice exuding a hint of coldness.

Vinson nodded and shared what had happened before.

Hearing that, Frank sneered immediately.

"So, you have only seen him using the needles once. Not only does he not have a medical practitioner license, but he also has no records of treating others in the past. As far as I know, no traditional Chinese doctors know every specialty in the field. Plus, there are several fields in traditional Chinese medicine, right? How could he diagnose my illness?" Frank bombarded Vinson with questions. His business mind allowed him to identify a few loopholes in Vinson's explanation.

Hearing Frank's question, Vinson was also stunned.

Vinson realized that he had trusted William intuitively because of William's exceptional acupuncture skill.

As for the other details, it was true that Vinson knew nothing.

Seeing that Vinson being taken aback by his questions, Frank's face changed at once. "Elder Zhang, I know you didn't mean to cheat me, but do you know what he did just now? He was trying to trifle with a woman and mess up my business. It's an understatement for me to call him my nemesis! How can a corrupted guy like him be an ethical doctor?"

Vinson was speechless. He looked at William with an apologetic look. "Junior Divine Doctor Lu, sorry for disturbing you."

William finally stood up slowly.

He walked towards Frank.

Frank looked at him with disgust and asked, "Are you trying to cause a scene in public?"

William chuckled, "You mean to beat up someone like you?"

He sniffed at Frank and said, "Cartialgenous, Dioscorea, eucommia ulmoides, cistanche deserticola, and tuber fleeceflower. These are the traditional Chinese herbs that you have recently taken. How unfortunate. That tells me that you have a kidney disease..."

"It's fine if you accidentally consume it for your general health. But it's scary if you take the wrong medicine for your illness..." William added.

"This is the second time we've met, and it should be the last time."

William paused for a while and continued, "Call your family to prepare your funeral tonight."

VAMAP20 WORK

Chapter 119

After William finished his sentence, Vinson's expression changed on the spot!

What did he hear a while ago?

William had correctly identified all the Chinese medicine herbs Frank consumed just by sniffing.

He also accurately diagnosed Frank's illness.

He was truly amazing!

Some experienced doctors might only be able to identify the contents of medicine if they were to sniff it from a medicinal jar.

However, William was able to do so by just smelling it from the scent given out from a person's body!

The scent of the human body was a mixture of all sorts of odors.

Moreover, Frank had just had a meal, further complicating the scent.

However, despite that, William was still able to name the herbs.

For a moment, goosebumps ran over Vinson's entire body.

However, at this moment, Frank sneered. "Keep bragging, you brat! I'd like to see how long you are going to put on an act in front of me!"

Vinson immediately grabbed Frank and asked in amazement, "Was Junior Divine Doctor Lu's prediction accurate?"

Frank's face was written with pure disdain. He pointed at William and said, "Since he purposely came here for me, then he would do some homework, wouldn't he? Besides, I just got this prescription yesterday in Qena City. It is unsurprising that he gets it correct."

Vinson could not help but doubt William too after hearing Frank's words.

Was William secretly investigating Frank?

But, at this moment, a light bulb lit up in Vinson's mind. He immediately asked William, "Junior Divine Doctor Lu, you just said that the medicine doesn't work. What's the matter? Director Chien has been having a kidney problem for a long time. I have always been keeping track of his health. Is there anything wrong with it?"

Before William could speak, Frank added further, "This is nonsensical. Are you kidding me? Elder Zhang is with no doubt the best doctor in this city. How can he be inaccurate with his diagnosis and prescriptions? It would make me a laughingstock if I opt for a lousy doctor like you."

At that moment, William smiled.

He drawled, "Whenever a person is ill, it will emit a different scent. I can smell a withering scent from Director Chien. It only takes me one sniff to tell how much toxins he has accumulated in his system. There will be grey-colored bloody pustules in his body."

Accumulated toxins?

Grey-colored bloody pustules?

Vinson was stunned by the two sentences.

He had never heard of it.

Frank burst out laughing. "Grey-colored bloody pustules? Ask Elder Zhang and you'll know that I never have any pustules. Nonsense!"

Vinson was also confused by William's mysterious remarks.

Deep down, he believed in William. However, it was ridiculous that there was anyone who could identify illness by just a sniff.

William knew that both of them were doubtful.

He then took out a Needles of Ruby Flower and placed it gently on the table.

Then, he left.

His voice reverberated across the room.

"Our third meeting will cost you quite a fortune. When the fifth grey-colored bloody pustule appears on your body, poke the smallest one with this silver needle. This is the only way you will survive and see the sunrise tomorrow."

"Lastly, another piece of advice. Elizabeth is emitting a foul odor. She must be suffering from a sexually transmitted disease. You better watch out."

After that, William had already disappeared from their sight.

He left the Needles of Ruby Flower that glowed with a fascinating red light behind.

At this moment, Vinson was as pale as a ghost.

William's words were clearly worth pondering over.

However, it was such a peculiar thing. Ordinary people like them couldn't believe it at all.

Besides, Frank didn't have the pustules that William just mentioned.

Alas, it seemed that William also had his moments of misdiagnosis. After all, he was still so young.

In time, William would definitely make a name for himself in this profession.

Unfortunately, that wasn't the case on this day.

There was a glint of disappointment and regret in Vinson's eyes. He said to Frank, "I'll be going back first. Don't worry too much. I'll sleep on it and come up with a way to save you. Do not take any other medication."

Frank placed his trust in Vinson and immediately nodded.

After Vinson left, Frank looked at that tiny silver needle on the table and giggled.

He had seen too many douchebags who tried to play cat and mouse with him.

William didn't even bat an eyelid while lying.

However, it was a pity that his lie was full of loopholes.

Quite a fortune?

For a useless needle?

Did he really regard himself as a Divine Doctor?

Nonsense!

At the thought of this, Frank swept off the silver needle, dropping it below a table.

When William returned home, Felicity was not at home.

Only by night time, she returned home with an exhausted look on her face.

It seemed that she had been shouldering all the workloads because of the exclusive dealership.

After she finished showering, William said with concern, "Felicity, you aren't fully recovered yet. Don't overwork yourself."

Felicity smiled gently. "It's okay. I'm not busy with the dealership. Instead, I'm busy with another matter."

After she finished, her eyes flashed across a secretive and playful gleam.

William was taken aback. He asked. "Then, tell me."

"Aren't you a genius? Try guessing. I went to a place today, and it has something to do with a type of medicinal herb," Felicity beamed proudly.

William picked up the hairdryer and gently blew her hair while asking, "The Heption Herb?"

Felicity's smug smile disappeared at once. Following that, a trace of disbelief crept onto her face. "How did you know?"

But after she finished speaking, she immediately covered her mouth and punched William in the back, muttering coyly, "You brat, you're using this tactic to get me to tell you!"

William fiddled her hair and replied with a smile, "When you came back home, I can see purple-colored soil covering your high heels. Plus, you told me that it was a type of herb. As far as I know, in Qena City, a land with purple mud is only located in a small village under the piedmont of Purple Cloud Mountain. That village produces the unique Heption Herb."

Felicity's eyes were wide open. She almost gave him a round of applause.

William further elaborated, "The Heption Herb is the kind of herb that the Genuine Care Medical Center will need for its upcoming cosmetic product. As an exclusive dealer, you should be familiar with it. Hence, you plan to seize all the Heption Herb in the village before others, stockpiling it for a better price. Am I right?"

Felicity looked at William in disbelief.

Such a wise husband!

He not only identified the herbs, but he also foresaw Felicity's plans with it.

The details were perfectly thought, planned, explained, and articulated!

William read through Felicity's mind thoroughly.

But her little face instantaneously turned red.

This was Felicity's little secret for William to guess.

Unexpectedly, it was exposed by William without any difficulty!

Just by the mud on her shoes...

Felicity's mouth twitched. "William, you'll make a good living if you become a fortune teller at a pedestrian bridge!"

Felicity's sudden remark rendered William speechless.

Felicity's face turned solemn all of a sudden as she glared at him. "I almost forget that you're a lapdog of the Genuine Care Medical Center! Don't tell me that you'll reveal my well-devised plan to them and seize those Heption Herbs! If you do so, you will end up becoming my ex-husband!"

VAMAP20 WORK