

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1111

After a moment of total silence, Nina turned around and shuffled out of the cafe without a word. Both Sheila and Davin heaved out a sigh of relief, thinking that they did not let Evan and Nicole down by having accomplished their mission well.

When they returned to Imperial Garden, Nina locked herself up in her room again and refused to answer any of their questions.

After Sheila and Davin recounted the scene that took place at the cafe to Evan and Nicole, Nicole sighed wistfully, "I'm afraid it might take Nina weeks or even months to recover from the heartbreak."

"Nicole, I'm sure Nina will recover after some time. Before any of us realize it, she will be back as the pompous prima donna of our family!" Davin said.

Nicole nodded, hoping what he said would happen sooner rather than later. Nina is such a precocious kid that she has already tasted heartbreak at such a tender age. I really wonder who she takes after.

Davin gave Evan a piece of advice. "Evan, you have to be extra careful now that Nina is having her adolescent period. Perhaps, you should consider getting a female tutor for her next time. Nina might seem aloof and detached on the outside, but she is easily touched by anyone who treats her nice or cares about her. Eventually, she will fall in love with that person and give herself a hard time if her love isn't reciprocated."

"Davin, I think you've got the wrong idea about Nina. Nina won't fall in love with someone just because that person cares about her, that person must be outstanding and talented as well. I'm sure she won't be interested in guys who are mediocre in terms of their appearance and capabilities. In fact, Chris and Nina have been getting along well because they share the same passion for cosmetic products. If Chris were younger by a few years, I think he would be perfect as Nina's boyfriend!" Sheila countered.

"Sheep, what baloney are you talking about? There's no way Chris is good enough for Nina. To me, Nina is the moon in the sky while Chris is only one of the bazillion stars around her. Only a guy who shines like the sun deserves to have her."

Nicole let out a sigh after listening to Davin's comment. Instead of hoping Nina would get a man like that as her partner, Nicole only wished that her daughter would meet a guy who could take care of her well and make her happy for the rest of her life.

Evan, who had been looking grim and keeping silent for most of the time, finally spoke, "Mind you, this Chris Sanders is no ordinary guy. I asked John to help me do some digging about him. According to the intel he's got, Chris is the illegitimate son of Mr. Sanders from K Enterprise. Mr. Sanders only has two daughters with his wife. So Chris was allowed to move back to Shen residence after Mrs. Sanders passed away. It was at that time that he became the successor to Mr. Sanders, and he's bound to become the new owner of K Enterprise!"

"Say what? That young lad is the successor to Mr. Sanders from K Enterprise?"

While Davin's curiosity was piqued, both Sheila and Nicole were shocked by the information. Sheila, who was particularly taken aback by the news, asked, "If Chris really has such a powerful background, why is he willing to work as Nina's tutor?"

"Perhaps, he has some ulterior motive!"

"What ulterior motive could he have?" Davin pressed on.

"John hasn't found out any clues on that point yet," Evan answered ominously.

Davin mulled over the information for a while before he spoke, "There must be more to Chris Sanders than meets the eye! It seems like we've made the right choice making Nina distance herself from him. Evan, since K Enterprise is a company based in K Nation, do you think Uncle Morris and Levant might know something about it? After all, they've lived there for quite some time already. Let me visit them to gather some information!"

"I'm going with you to play matchmaker for Levant and Tiffany. The earlier they become a couple, the earlier their baby can have a complete family."

Davin eyed Sheila with confusion upon hearing what she said.

She furrowed her brows at him. "Why are you staring at me that way?"

"You're free to come with me to learn more about K Enterprise. However, I think you'd better steer clear from their private affairs."

"What do you mean? Do you think they can't have a relationship with each other?"

Instead of answering her, Davin gave Sheila a once-over before shaking his head grimly.

"If you don't think that way, why are you stopping me from helping them?"

"You're the one I have no confidence in. Without your interference, there's still a chance they might become a couple. However, if you decide to stick your nose in their affairs, I'm afraid the two might end up being total strangers to each other. That's why I think you should keep your mouth shut."

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1112

"Davin Seet, am I really as bad as how you put me? I can't believe you're looking down on me like this! It seems like I must go there and prove you wrong! I'm sure I'll be able to make them a couple by the end of my trip! Let's go and visit Levant now!"

Davin cast her a contemptuous glance. Sheep is clearly bringing trouble upon herself. Judging from her unyielding attitude, it seems like there's nothing that can convince her to give up on intervening Levant and Tiffany's relationship.

"Why aren't you moving?"

Just like that, David was badgered by Sheila to leave Imperial Garden together with her.

Along their journey, Davin cautioned her to be careful with what she was going to say to Levant later. A minor slip of the mouth could cost them their relationship, and Davin thought that was what Sheila should try her best to avoid.

"Don't worry, I know the drill."

Despite the repeated assurances offered by Sheila, Davin still had his reservations. Knowing Sheila tended to speak her mind without giving it much thought, he fervently hoped that she would not turn out to be more of a hindrance than a help.

When they arrived at Levant Winery, Levant seemed rather surprised to see them. "What motivated you guys to pay me a visit?"

"Are you not happy to see us?" Sheila asked casually.

"Of course, we're here with a purpose!" Davin said.

Levant cast them a fleeting glance before instructing the maid to serve them tea.

"That's more like it!"

With that, Davin and Sheila went inside and settled down on a beige-colored sofa. Without beating around the bush, Davin asked Levant about K Enterprise directly.

"The successor to the owner of K Enterprise... Why are you suddenly so interested in him?" Levant was puzzled.

"We're just curious as to why the guy offered to be Nina's tutor on cosmetic skills. Also, we wonder whether he will be the right guy to teach Nina."

Levant was taken aback by what he just heard. Why would the successor to the K Enterprise be willing to do such a humble job?

"I don't think he's the right guy for the job. As far as I know, K Enterprise is the company that set the benchmark in the cosmetic industry. In fact, the company is even more outstanding than Seet Group in the industry. As the successor to such a prominent company, is it possible that he will have the time to teach Nina? Unless he's got some ulterior motive."

"Evan thought so too. So, I need your help investigating the ulterior motive he could have. After all, you're well-connected in K Nation after staying there for more than thirty years."

"Am I doing this as a favor for you or Evan?" Levant doubted while sizing Davin up.

"You're doing this as a favor for me. Evan has no idea I'm coming here at all. After all, Nina is my niece, and I feel obligated to help her!"

Levant scoffed, "Fine, I'll do it for your sake. If it's Evan who asks for my help, I wouldn't agree under any circumstances!"

Seeing how resentful Levant looked, Davin flashed him a sheepish grin. Do you really have to be so hostile toward Evan just because he decided on your behalf to let your son survive? By the time you become an old man, I'm sure you will be grateful for Evan for the fact that you have a son to look after you!

"Is there anything else you need to tell me?" Levant asked Davin, who was absorbed in his own thoughts.

Just as Davin was about to say no, Sheila barged in on their conversation, "Yes! Of course, we have other things to discuss with you!"

Solemnly, she stared straight into Levant's eyes and asked, "Do you miss your son? He's a cute little boy who's really fun to be with."

Without answering her, Levant's expression hardened.

Being insensitive to his grumpiness, Sheila added, "Do you wish you could see your son and keep him company every single day of your life?"

Levant retained his silence, and his face looked ashen.

Still, Sheila pushed on, "Someone once told me about the story of a father who loved his son a great deal. He snapped a photo of his son every single day from the moment he was born right until he reached adulthood. On the day his son turned eighteen, he arranged all the photos in sequence and observed the growth of his son. Watching that is going to be a hell lot more heartwarming than any blockbuster movie. Don't you want to experience something like that?"

Levant started picturing how the entire process was going to be like. He agreed it would be quite a mind-blowing sight to look at all the photos eighteen years later.

Seeing that Levant was contemplating the idea, Sheila turned her persuasion on full voltage. "In fact, you already have such a chance awaiting you to grab it. All you have to do is visit Tiffany and show her how much you care about her. I believe Tiffany will give you the chance to build a family with her!"

Say what? Show Tiffany how much I care about her? Dream on!

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1113

I'm sure the only reason why that woman was so insistent back then on giving birth to that baby boy was that she was eyeing the position as my wife! There's no way I will allow her to get what she wants! Why should I show how much I care about her when I have no feelings for her at all?

"Are you done?"

Stunned by his tone, Sheila stammered, "Y-Yes, I'm done. I'm just wondering if you will visit Tiffany?"

"If you're done, kindly see yourself out then!"

Both Davin and Sheila were rendered speechless.

Is he chasing us out?

Pissed with Levant's rude attitude, Sheila did not see the need to keep things pleasant anymore. She leaped to her feet and glared at him resentfully. "Levant, let me get this straight – I'm telling you this for your own good. If giving Tiffany the cold shoulder is the plan you're sticking to, it won't be long before Tiffany goes on to marry another man. By the time that happens, your son is going to see another man as his father."

"She's free to marry any man she likes. However, I'll ask for the custody of my son back. There's no way I'll allow my son to see another man as his father!"

"Can you be hundred percent sure that you can get your son's custody? If Tiffany insists on fighting for his custody, I guess there's nothing you can do to stop her from doing so."

"You'll have to wait and see whether I can do that."

Sizing Levant up, Sheila snickered, "It's so obvious that you actually do care about your son! If that's the case, why can't you just reconcile with..." Tiffany.

"Please excuse me as I have something urgent to attend to!" Levant cut Sheila off directly and marched away.

"Damn it, he can't even wait until I finish my sentence. Is patching things up with Tiffany totally out of question for him?"

"He wouldn't be the same man who's had a crush on Nicole for years if he's open to the idea of marrying Tiffany. Don't you know how stubborn Levant can get? The things you said just now are just going to fall on his deaf ears."

Sheila lamented, "I'm only doing this for the sake of that chubby and adorable little boy."

"Seems like trying to persuade him verbally isn't going to work. Let's go home first and try to come up with another plan," Davin said.

When the two were walking out of Levant Winery, Sheila stared at Davin hesitatingly, thinking whether she should share with him the things on her mind.

"What's the issue? Sheep, it isn't your style to be so wishy-washy. Just tell me what's on your mind already," Davin urged.

"Davin, has Renee visited you lately?"

At the mention of Renee, Davin felt somewhat nervous. Why hasn't Sheila forgotten about Renee months after she met her? Women really have superb memory when it comes to their love rivals, huh!

"Nope. Mom talked with her, and they agreed that Renee would only contact Mom directly in the case that she needed anything. By the way, Mom's thinking of making Renee her goddaughter. Are you fine with that?"

Renee is going to become the goddaughter of Davin's mother.

Does it mean Renee and Davin will be god siblings in the future? If that's the case, I will become her sister-in-law, won't I?

"I'm fine with it as long as that's what Mom wants to do. But, there's one thing I want you to bear in mind – even though Renee will be your god sister in the future, I won't be pleased if I find out that she's using that as a means to spend more time with you. Davin, I hope you will be doing your part to maintain a distance from her too. I want all my stuff to be exclusively owned by me, and I will freak out if anyone tries to snatch anything of mine away."

"Don't worry, Renee isn't the type of girl who will pull off something like that. Besides, I know exactly who I care about the most. So, be rest assured that I won't let you down!"

Sheila was overjoyed to hear such a sincere speech from him, which was especially rare for a cynical and insensitive man like Davin.

"Please remember what you just said."

"Sure, I will."

"Swear that you won't let me down."

"Swear?"

Indeed, women are nothing but trouble. Why do all of them seem to have a thing for asking people to make pledges?

"Well, I swear I won't let you down!"

"Can't you be more serious? I'm going to make you repeat it again and again if you aren't taking it more seriously."

Davin let out a barely audible sigh. Standing ramrod straight, he raised three fingers and pledged. "I, Davin Seet, hereby pledge that I will never let Sheila Muir down in my entire life. Is that good enough?"

Sheila pondered over what he said and pointed out, "Your pledge isn't complete! You have to include the consequences you will suffer in the event you let me down."

"How do you think I should be punished then?" Davin threw the question back at Sheila.

After some contemplation, an idea struck Sheila. "If you ever let me down, you'll be transformed into a pig or a prick!"

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1114

Davin was left wordless. Holy cow, Sheila Muir, I have no idea you can be so vicious and mean!

"Say it."

"Alright, alright. I'm saying it now – if I ever let you down, I'll become a pig or a tiger."

"Davin, you can't omit the very last option I gave you because that's what I want to hear from you the most."

Taking a deep breath, Davin included the 'prick' part in his pledge through gritted teeth. Finally, Sheila was satisfied.

"Keep in mind what you just said."

"Oh, I won't dare to forget it!"

His answer put a broad grin on Sheila's face.

Then, the two returned to Seet Residence. Before they could even sit down on the sofa, Davin's phone started ringing.

Davin, who saw Levant's name on the screen of his phone, was surprised to receive a call from him so soon. Has Levant found out something about K Enterprise already?

"Levant, how can I help you?"

“So, I’ve done some research on K Enterprise. Apparently, there’s been internal strife for power ongoing in the company between Chris Sanders and his two half-sisters. Everything started when his two sisters demanded total control over the cosmetic and skincare department of the company. Conflict soon ensued when Chris refused to let them have their way. After a discussion with the board, Mr. Sanders came up with a way to solve the issue – anyone who proves that he or she is better at managing the department will earn the authority to manage it.”

“Although Chris indeed has some experience in the industry and he knows his stuff about skincare products, he doesn’t really know much about cosmetic products. He’s no match for his two sisters who grew up immersing themselves in the cosmetic products industry. Thus, he needs someone who was born with the talent in the field to give him a hand. I suppose he only offered to be Nina’s tutor because he found out that Nina had fabulous make-up skills and knowledge on cosmetic products.”

After extracting all the key information from what Levant said, Davin concluded. “So, are you trying to say that Chris intends to make use of Nina’s talent to help him clinch the victory in his battle with his two sisters?”

“That’s correct!”

Davin did not respond to him.

Seems like becoming Nina’s tutor and making her fall in love with him are all part of Chris’ plan to get Nina to help him unconditionally.

Damn it, he’s trying to make use of Nina’s feelings to induce her into doing things he wanted her to do.

But then again, how come he’s willing to help us put on a show to convince Nina to give up on him when that’s going to ruin his plan?

What exactly is he trying to do?

Levant added a piece of advice for Davin. “Remember to make sure Nina stays as far away as possible from that guy. There’s no reason for Nina to get involved in the family strife in K Enterprise. Once Nina is seen as someone on Chris’ side, I believe his two half-sisters will treat Nina as their enemy too. If that happens, Nina will be stuck in a very dangerous situation.”

Davin agreed. "Yes, we will make sure Nina steers clear from him from now on! We won't give him any chance to get near to Nina too. Hey, I must say that your information is really helpful!"

"The best way to appreciate my effort is to help me exact revenge on your brother by beating him up."

Furrowing his brows, Davin was at a loss for words. Levant is obviously expecting too much from me here. I won't have the guts to do something like that ever in my whole life!

"Hello? What did you just say? The signal here is so bad that I can't hear you at all! Hello..." Davin quickly hung up his phone, feeling proud of himself for dealing with the issue quite brilliantly. Is Levant trying to turn Evan and me against each other? Dream on! There's no way I'll fall for his trick!

Just as Davin was about to phone Evan to tell him about the information, Sheila stopped him. She told him it was better to do it face-to-face with Evan at Imperial Garden, as it was hard to convey the message clearly over the phone.

"You're right. I'll visit him now."

"Fine. Remember to remind Evan and Nicole to keep an eye on Nina from now on."

"Certainly."

With that, Davin sped his way to Imperial Garden in his sports car.

He was told that Evan was in his bedroom when he arrived at his destination. Without hesitation, he headed straight upstairs for Evan's bedroom.

Watching his back, the maid couldn't help but comment deep down inside, Mr. Davin is still as impatient and quick-tempered as ever. Mrs. Seet is inside the bedroom together with Mr. Seet. Will Mr. Davin have the gumption to knock on the door first before barging in?

Looking at the locked door of the master bedroom, Davin couldn't help but be curious. My goodness, what could they be doing inside that requires the door to be locked in broad daylight?

Knock! Knock! Knock!

He rapped on the door several times, but no one answered him. That put a deep frown on his forehead. Is Evan trying to make another baby with Nicole?

Mistaking the CEO for a Gigolo Chapter 1115

Hmm...

As important as having another baby is, Nina's matter is equally urgent too!

If they are really making a baby inside, when will they stop? If it's going to take them the entire night, there's no way I can wait for them here.

After weighing his options, Davin decided to send a text to Evan: Evan, I have something super huge to tell you! I'm waiting for you in the living room now. After that, he took the stairs and made his way to the living room.

In the living room, his phone rang all of a sudden. He picked it up immediately and prattled on right away, "Evan, did my text interrupt your steamy session with Nicole? I'm terribly sorry about that, but I really have some important stuff to share with you!"

"What's that?" Evan asked him in a grim voice.

"It's related to Nina."

"Come to my room now."

Davin strode off upstairs at a quick pace after hanging up.

Once he walked into their bedroom, he saw Nicole trying on clothes of different seasons while Evan was sitting on the bed, giving her his opinion.

So, they aren't making another baby at all! I should have just banged on the door as hard as I could just now.

"Why didn't you guys answer the door just now when I was knocking? I really thought you guys were making a baby!"

Nicole glanced at him and answered, "There's no hurry for that plan. In fact, your wedding ceremony with Sheila is a matter that needs more attention. Why haven't you fixed the date yet?"

"Sheila insisted on holding our wedding ceremony after yours, and I agreed with her. So, we will only start planning it after yours."

Nicole felt guilty immediately upon hearing that. "Seems like the two of us are holding you guys up, huh. I'm truly sorry about that. Evan and I have got the certificate, but we'd prefer to wait for Juan and Kyle to be back first before we have the wedding ceremony. So, you guys can go ahead and hold it before us. Why don't you and Sheila pick a date? Evan and I will help you with the arrangement."

"It's fine. In fact, Sheila doesn't attach much importance to the wedding ceremony, as she said that what matters the most is my love for her. We'll be getting a marriage certificate too. As for the wedding ceremony, we plan to have it when we're in the mood for it. Evan, Nicole, what do you say we hold it together?"

"That's quite a brilliant idea! I'm sure it will be very lively and fun!"

After some small talk, only then did Davin remember the purpose of his visit. "Look, I have something huge to tell you guys. Levant has found out the reason why Chris wanted to be Nina's tutor. We really have to keep an eye on Nina to make sure she has no chance to contact Chris."

Curiously, Nicole asked, "What kind of stuff has Levant found out?"

"Let me to do a recap for you guys..."

Davin recounted everything Levant told him over the phone just now. After listening to him, both Evan and Nicole looked stunned.

"So, that's the ulterior motive Chris has been harboring so far. But then again, why did he agree to put on that show to make Nina forget about him?" Nicole asked, looking puzzled.

"About that... I don't have a clue either. Yet, I'm sure he must have a reason doing so, judging from how scheming and cunning he is," Davin replied.

Evan's eyes turned pensive as he replayed everything in his mind in search of clues. It was Chris' idea to put on that show to make Nina give up on him, but it was Sheila who found that fake girlfriend for him...

As the successor to the owner of K Enterprise, he could have easily gotten any girl he liked to pretend as his girlfriend. Why didn't he do it? Was it because he was being careful not to reveal his true identity?

There's another possibility – Chris is going to pin the blame on Sheila and Nicole. He will tell Nina that he was threatened by them to put on the show. As Sheila was responsible to hire the girl to pretend to be his girlfriend, he's going to say that he had no choice but to play along with their plan...

What will Nina think if she hears that from him?

For sure she will jump to the conclusion that Nicole and Sheila colluded with each other to force a separation between Chris and her!

Chris Sanders, you're really a formidable force!

"We have to prohibit her from leaving Imperial Garden, no matter how hard she pleads to go out!" Evan announced sternly.

Davin nodded in agreement. "I'm of the same view. There's a chance Chris might regret his decision to leave Nina when he remembers how important Nina is to his battle to the throne. When that happens, he might come up with other means to lure Nina into doing things for him again."