The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2871

They were still speaking arrogantly, in a high and mighty manner.

Seeing who had spoken, Pigsy ducked back nervously and turned to Alex. "Boss, this was the guy who tricked us and poisoned the Mystic Maiden. She wouldn't have been injured by their sh*tty young master, otherwise."

It paused and whispered secretively, "These guys are pretty good. They've learned skills from ancient times. Can you handle them? D*mn it! I don't know how these sects overcame the laws of the Wastelands. How are they so powerful?"

The one leading Returning Sword Sect had clearly heard Pigsy and Alex's conversation.

He laughed and said, "Yeah, I poisoned your master. What are you going to do about it? Is she not dead yet, huh?"

The moment he finished, Alex slapped him across the face. It was way too quick. The man hadn't even understood what had happened.

The man's body then glowed with an earthen yellow and ocean blue light, two defensive treasures of rather high quality. Besides being shocked, the man was furious.

'How dare you ambush me under such circumstances? Do you think it would work?'

"I have defensive treasures... I..." he shouted.

Before he could finish, however, he heard aloud bang as the earthen yellow defense treasure exploded. The ocean blue defense shield didn't fare any better, managing to only hang on for another half-second.

Alex's palm landed right on the man's face.

"Hmm?" Alex was unsatisfied. He'd used his full force in that slap, especially since he was furious and wanted to kill the man.

Never did he expect the man to have two high-quality defense treasures that could block out most of the attack. The last part of the slap still landed on the man's face, but it was only enough to knock out a few teeth. One slap wasn't enough, so a second one followed.

Just as the man took a breath, Alex's second slap hit like lightning.

Boom!

A land explosion ensued as the man was destroyed by Alex's slap. He crumbled into ice and landed on the floor like a mere crystal ornament.

Piggy gasped and oinked, a chill running up its spine as it witnessed the scene.

The remaining disciples of the sect started panicking.

"He actually... killed Elder Sandoval with two slaps?"

"Quick! Go notify the young master."

Alex grunted and conjured up a stream of chilling ice and sent it across the bodies of the remaining disciples. Within a second, they all became ice statues. At the same time, the fastest running disciple had successfully sent out an SOS signal.

Whoosh!

The signal flew up and burst brightly, dyeing the skies red with a loud bang. Everyone within ten miles was alerted.

The most unlucky person had to be Nightingale, though. Having been hiding midair, she had recorded the entire incident. Now shot down by the signal, she landed onto the ground, hard, face flat like a toad.

Alex glanced at Nightingale.

He'd actually known of her presence earlier but decided to ignore her. A woman who'd awakened the remaining abilities of her ancestors wasn't worthy of his attention.

"Where's my mom, Ynes, the Mystic Maiden?" Alex asked Pigsy.

"They're at Mount Dragon-Tiger, with the Flying Eagles."

Alex nodded. "Lead the way."

"Sure thing, boss. Who would've known you'd become so powerful after being away for six months. Who cares how ancient those six sects are? We'll attack them one by one and turn their world upside down. Let's kill every single one of them."

Pigsy's words were filled with hatred. This period had been too depressing for him, especially when he had almost died three months ago.

Alex looked at Rockefeller Manor, his eyes glinting.

Whoosh!

Pigsy enlarged itself until it was ten meters tall and allowed Alex and Luna to climb onto its back. At that moment, the formation that Alex had set in front of Rockefeller Manor burst with bright light. Someone had triggered the formation and blocked the exits.

Alex's eyes lit up as the corners of his mouth turned upwards. It was then that a man spoke from inside of the manor.

"You kill members of our sect, yet you plan to just leave like that? Aren't you underestimating us a little too much?"

"You must really look down on me."

A man in white floated out from the house. Actually levitating, his legs were completely still as he advanced forward. He had a heavenly aura around him as if he was really an angel from heaven... If he'd appeared in the city, many women would've definitely been charmed by him. He was the young master of the Returning Sword Sect, Jaiden Todd.

As he floated in the air, he deliberately gave Luna a glance. Instantly, a rare glint appeared in his eyes, like her beauty had enchanted him. He put on a confident smile and attempted to be charming. “Missy, you have a great physique and rare talents. Are you interested in becoming mine?”

“I promise that within three years, you’ll become my queen. You’ll join me in roaming the skies and ruling the world. ”

“Hahaha!” Luna sniggered loudly.

Jaiden, however, looked super confident. “Does that mean you’ve agreed?”

“Screw you! ” Luna pointed at Jaiden. “You’re the one that looks like a missy... In fact, your whole family are missies! I even feel you have a great physique.”

“Hmm, you look exactly like this guy I’m sitting on right now. Why don’t you come over and become my ride...”

Piggy mumbled. “Hey, I disagree. How do we look alike? That lowly animal isn’t worthy of being compared to me.”

As young master of a sect, Jaiden lived in a closed environment for his whole life. He was used to being at the top of the food chain, and no one dared to reproach him in any way. He couldn’t understand Luna’s use of ‘missy’, but he heard the remaining words very clearly, making him extremely infuriated.

“You refused the easy way out, lady. Don’t regret it!”

Just then, Nightingale suddenly shouted, “Careful sir! This Rockefeller guy hits with an extremely powerful ice attack. I’ve seen it with my own eyes. Your subordinates were all frozen instantly. Look at the few over here... I wonder if they’re still alive.”

Nightingale pointed to the frozen men as she talked. She had decided to do so, wanting to pick a side.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2873

Nightingale had chosen to side with Jaiden.

This was totally expected. To commoners, this was the best choice. In the past six months, the power of the six ancient American sects had become unbreakable, and Jaiden's influence and grip over California were absolute.

If Jaiden were to be attracted by Nightingale, it would be nearly equivalent to reaching heaven. Even if she were to only become his maid, it would still be a once-in-a-lifetime chance for her.

"Who are you?" Jaiden glanced at Nightingale, his face expressionless. She was dressed sexily in an excessively low-cut top, putting her seductive neckline and cleavage on display.

Jaiden could still see what kind of person she was. She was a woman filthier than a prostitute, her lower parts reeking.

Jaiden's had excellent eyesight. He discovered Beatrice's rare body type with ease, so it was a piece of cake for him to find out that Nightingale's sex life was messed up.

'This b*tch has no right to talk to me.'

Unfortunately, Nightingale hadn't understood her circumstances.

Ecstatic that Jaiden was talking to her, she immediately said, "Hello, my name is Nightingale. I admire you very much. I just happened to stumble upon these arrogant people who dared charge into your territory and kill your men."

"Nonetheless, this Rockefeller guy is quite skillful. I can tell that something's not right with him, so I decided to warn you... If you have any requests, I'll definitely give my all and fully cooperate. "

Nightingale's words were relatively straightforward. She was even one step away from taking off her clothes. "Master, be gentle..."

Furthermore, she struck a provocative pose that made Luna gag. Goosebumps sprouted all over her body.

"Are you done? F*ck off. A woman like you doesn't deserve to appear before me. I don't want to dirty my hands by killing you," Jaiden said with a disgusted face.

'What?!' Nightingale's face went pale. 'How is he so dense? What an unromantic dummy.'

"Sir, I'm from SwitchTV. We're currently the world's largest news and live streaming platform. Our boss has wanted to work with you. I'm here today because our boss knew Rockefeller would find his way here. We came to warn you!"

Her words weren't complete lies, though. SwitchTV's boss had thought of that, and he took action himself. Unfortunately, the number he dialed wasn't in use anymore, considering how Alex had crushed Elder Sandoval along with his phone.

Alex wasn't here to listen to this nonsense. Since the young master had appeared, he decided to kill him.

"Die!" Alex moved instantly to the front of Jaiden.

While Jaiden was taken aback and hadn't understood what was happening, the palm of a hand landed upon his chest.

Boom...!

Boom, boom, boom...

Although merely one hit, seven continuous explosions rang. The attack was blocked by a defense treasure again.

Moreover, Jaiden's treasure was obviously much stronger than Elder Sandoval's. The seven explosions all came from one treasure. It was a golden semi-transparent cover that looked like a large golden bell, shielding Jaiden within.

The treasure could completely block out Alex's attack.

Jaiden was shocked at first, quickly retreating backward. Then, his expressions turned bitter.

"You actually have the power to make my Fire Barrier of the Nine Dragons explode seven times. You can die in peace now." Jaiden pulled out his weapon.

Alex's eyes glinted. He knew his opponent had many tricks up his sleeve, and it would be difficult to kill him quickly. Hence, he immediately changed his plan.

He grabbed Luna and Pigsy and rushed to the formation at the entrance. At the same time, he sent numerous ancient talismans flying.

Humm...

A dazzling light shone upon Rockefeller Manor. A glazed rainbow shield covered the whole manor tightly, not leaving even one gap.

Jaiden's expression changed as Alex's voice reached his ears. "I'll spare your life today and give you three days to gather all Returning Sword Sect elders and leaders and everyone else who invaded my manor."

"All of you will have to come forth and kneel before the gates of Thousand Miles Conglomerate. Repent for your sins, or I'll exterminate your whole sect!"

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2874

Alex's voice boomed. Everyone near Rockefeller Manor could hear him. The people gathered outside the manor heard it especially clearly. They'd heard about the news, mustering up their courage to investigate.

No one thought they'd be the first recipients of such breaking news. Everyone who heard Alex was shocked.

"He wants the elders and leaders of the Returning Sword Sect to beg for forgiveness before the Thousand Miles Conglomerate?"

"Is... Is there something wrong with my ears?"

"Alex... What powers he must have to give him the confidence to say such things?"

Everyone was stunned and horrified as if they'd just witnessed the most unbelievable thing in the world. However, the truth was right in front of their eyes.

They'd even seen Alex walking out from the rainbow shield covering the Rockefeller Manor, now known as the Returning Zeal Headquarters.

The two humans and one pig were completely unscathed.

"It's true! This is all true."

"Alex has really returned!"

Countless posts swarmed social media platforms like Facebook and Instagram. They popped up like a bomb thrown into a peaceful lake, making everyone uneasy. Some were excited, while others were terrified.

Many were excited that someone had finally stood out, then challenged the authority of the six ancient sects. That person even successfully beat the strongest sect, the Returning Sword Sect.

People were terrified because they were afraid that the Returning Sword Sect would become like the murderers at Rakshasa Temple. They might end up killing everyone, even the commoners of this city...

The Returning Sword Sect had, in fact, done something similar before, killing dozens of Thousand Miles Conglomerate while taking over Rockefeller Manor. In the end, the conglomerate ran out of employees and was forced to shut down.

On the other hand, Jaiden was insanely furious. No one had dared say such arrogant words to the members of the Returning Sword Sect

"How dare you insult the Returning Sword Sect, you b*stard! Die!" Jaiden stomped his feet and rushed towards the gates.

However, just as his body entered the rainbow shield, horrifyingly intense power arose and slammed into his body.

Boom!

The Fire Barrier of the Nine Dragons vibrated once again, followed quickly by another explosion.

That was a total of nine explosions, the two explosions along with the previous seven. The Fire Barrier of the Nine Dragons was a rare treasure, but it should've been all used up now as it could only bear nine attacks.

The golden translucent shield shattered. Unfortunately, although the attack from Seventy-two Heavenly Immortal-slaying Formation wasn't even complete, it continued to land upon Jaiden.

Pfft!

Jaiden spewed a mouthful of fresh blood and stumbled back ten steps. He only managed to regain his balance as his back hit a tall tree.

He looked at the rainbow barrier in shock.

He'd once led his subordinates and forced his way through this barrier, but its power wasn't nearly as strong as it was at the moment. More importantly, he'd discussed the formation with the elders of his sect.

It should've once been the remains of a former formation. Alex then found it and repurposed it. He should've only been able to build a fundamental barrier. Nonetheless, their current circumstances proved that his guess was wrong.

"Master, master, are you alright?"

The disciples of Returning Sword Sect rushed over, somewhat nervous to see Jaiden hurt.

Jaiden's expression was twisted. He took a glance at the rainbow barrier. It was truly ironic... He'd tried so hard to enter and take over this place, yet now it became a trap.

"Quick, go check if you guys can still leave!" Jaiden ordered. He had a bad feeling about it all.

Soon, a few disciples ran towards the gates. Many cries of anguish followed. Having been bumped back by the formation, some had minor injuries, while others were hurt badly and lost their limbs.

All of them returned in tears.

"Master, we can't get out. We tried the previous ways, but they don't work anymore."

Jaiden looked around. "Go try some other place."

There were quite a huge group of people within the manor.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2875

At this point, almost all of them had come out. They instantly noticed something was wrong and immediately dispersed, attempting to leave in different directions.

Nonetheless, they all failed and returned disappointed. They tried every corner, even above and below the ground. The formation blocked the entire place, leaving no way out. The ones who attempted using force triggered the formation, only to realize that it could also kill now.

Some guy didn't believe in the formation's power and tried using force again, after three attempts, he ended up dead.

Everyone was now in a panic.

It had felt good when they took over someone's home and formation, but now, they had trapped themselves inside. Like a prison of sorts, they couldn't leave, and it upset them a lot.

Finally, Jaiden's sight landed on Nightingale.

"You... You said that you're from SwitchTV? Can you try to contact someone outside?"

Nightingale had never thought she'd be shut in as well. She immediately gave it a try and found she could still make phone calls in this secluded area.

Jaiden nodded. "Great, contact your boss right now. I have a deal for him."

Alex grabbed Luna and Pigsy and immediately teleported in the direction of Mount Dragon-Tiger.

He'd never been there before, but he knew roughly where it was. Once they got to West California, Pigsy would lead the way.

"Boss, you gave a cool proclamation just now."

“You just ordered the elders of the Returning Sword Sect, including the sect master, to beg for forgiveness at the Thousand Miles Conglomerate.”

“Even though I know you were just gloating, it was still super satisfying to listen to. Why hadn’t I thought about that?”

Alex’s glare deepened as he said, “I was gloating.”

Piggy didn’t believe him. “Sure you are! The Returning Sword Sect’s powers are very strong. Besides, in the past six months, the six ancient sects acted however they wanted in America. They visited all the dojos too. Even though they didn’t go inside, they received great riches. I even heard that their sect master had reached half of the Immortal Emperor stage!”

“What’s up with all these ancient sects?” Alex asked. “The laws of the Wastelands have been set since ancient times, even the Stoermers had to obey. I’ve never heard of these six sects before, so how could they have experts who have achieved Immortal Emperor?”

Piggy said, “According to the Mystic Maiden, these sects very likely own Supreme Chi weapons. Nature’s Grand Opportunity is a gift of the heavens and can overcome certain laws. Maybe it’s because of these weapons that they were able to keep their cultivation and improve.”

‘Supreme Chi weapon, huh?’

Alex’s eyes brightened. He had one on himself.

Before they entered Mount Dragon-Tiger, Alex met some people from the Flying Eagles. He saw many familiar faces, including Butcher and Bunty, and even Martiny and Freya.

Butcher immediately embraced Alex tightly. “Alex, it’s good to see you revived. It has made my dead heart come alive again.”

Bunty dragged Butcher away. “Don’t speak if you won’t be nice. Alex was never dead. He’s been alive all along... Welcome home, Alex.”

She hugged Alex.

She stood in front of Butcher and embraced Alex tightly with her plump body.

She smelled rather good, though, like sweet milk.

“Alex!” Freya wailed as her eyes turned red.

Martiny looked at Alex affectionately like she was his mother-in-law. She liked him much better now.

“Where’s my mom? Bring me to her!” Alex demanded.

“Sure, she’s in front!”

At the same time, leaders of the Returning Sword Sect at Yukon Sanctuary had received Jaiden’s message.

The Supreme Elder, Ash Sandoval, was immediately furious. Elder Sandoval, who died at the Returning Zeal Headquarters, was his son.

“That b*stard! That d*mn brat... How dare he!”

“I’ll head over immediately and kill Rockefeller, then destroy Mount Dragon-Tiger and desecrate all of California!”

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2876

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2876

Ash had just finished scolding when he noticed the master next to him coughing gently. It reminded him about the young sect master’s message, saying that he and a group of disciples were trapped in the formation at the other courtyard’s entrance.

His words seemed to imply that a man named Rockefeller could command the formation.

Jeremy, the current head of the Returning Sword Sect, remained expressionless as he said calmly, “Ash, Yukon sect’s ban is breaking the critical moment. We can’t afford to lose. A bunch of Wasteland natives happened to get a set of formations to create this commotion, so do you need to act personally? Let Protector Yaakov take care of it.”

“My son was killed, and I...” Ash said.

“Where is Protector Yaakov?” Jeremy asked.

Immediately, a man, about thirty, with long hair and frigid eyes, approached Jeremy.

“Sect master!”

Jeremy said, “Go to California and deal with the Returning Zeal Headquarters. Safely return the young sect master, capture that murderer named Rockefeller, and hand him over to the Grand Elder, Elder Sandoval, for disposal... Bring it back, then, fight using the majesty of my Returning Sword Sect. Anyone who dares to offend my Returning Sword Sect should be aware that they will be executed by nine clans...”

Jeremy said those words as if they were unimportant, even speaking about the execution with a hint of enthusiasm.

“Yes!”

“Mom!”

Alex finally saw his mother, Brittany, in a large hall on Mount Dragon-Tiger. Her face ghostly pale and skin as white as frost, she lay on a bed as white as snow.

Several other beds had also been laid out beside it. However, what made Alex’s heart tremble, was that those lying or sitting in these beds were people closest to him.

Maya, the Mystic Maiden, Michelle, Waltz.

Each woman was severely injured.

“What exactly is going on?”

“How did they all get so badly hurt? All of them are... Could it be that they had all been injured by Rakshasa Temple’s people?” Alex was taken aback and looked to the side.

Daya, also present, was tending to Ynes’ injuries. Among these people, Ynes was the one who suffered the worst.

Daya would have died long ago if she hadn't used her own Chi. With the help of the Sacred Crown Tree of the Moon, it extended her lifespan and kept her breathing.

Alex's own mother, Brittany, on the other hand...

It might be hard to notice but Alex instantly recognized it, the Soul Substitute Lotus Seed in her body was broken, reverting her to a vegetative state.

That would be simple to deal with. Her body's Soul Substitute Lotus Seed was still alive and well.

Ynes' meridians had been fractured, her energy core had been damaged, and her spiritual roots devastated. Such injuries left their victims practically hopeless. It was a very tricky situation for Alex.

Even if Alex could save Ynes' life, she would be completely paralyzed and would have to spend the rest of her life in bed. Based on her character, she would most likely rather die.

The only normal person was Beatrice, who was relieved to see Alex's return. She was naturally happy, but she could not smile because of the surrounding situation.

"Brother, Ynes received a major blow on aunt's behalf. That person is extremely powerful, and our people are truly defeated. Now, only Daya can temporarily delay her death. The Fairy Doctor said that there are no other ways left and that Ynes can last three days at most. She no longer has the will to live and has asked us to kill her several times. She claims death is better than living and that she no longer has ties with anyone," Beatrice whispered to Alex.

"I got it!"

Alex approached Ynes and took her from the exhausted Daya. "Daya, rest... I'm here..."

Daya's face was drenched in sweat. She was giving it her all. However, treating the symptoms certainly didn't address the underlying issue.

"I'm sorry, husband. I failed to protect everyone," Daya cried, tears streaming down her fragrant cheeks. The once natural goddess had actually apologized and shed tears for this, revealing how guilty she actually felt.

She had taken on a massive burden and was now carrying it on her back.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2877

"It wasn't your fault," Alex consoled Daya, his large hand caressing the energy core on her petite abdomen. He channeled a surge of divine power into her body to aid her recovery.

Then, another divine power was channeled into Ynes. However, the meridians in her body were broken, and she wouldn't accept his Chi, even though it was restorative mystical energy. Instead, because there was nowhere to unlock his Chi, Ynes' already weak body was injured further. She vomited a mouthful of blood.

Alex jerked his hand away.

After some thought, he decided to use the Zharvakko spell formation he learned from the Ultimate Book of Medicine. Guided by his own blood, it would protect her vital points.

"It's Alex!"

"You didn't die and returned safely so I can go in peace," Ynes whispered as she opened her eyes and looked at Alex.

"You're giving up, just like that?" Alex furrowed his brows. "Is your life so meaningless that you aren't worth anything?"

"I was originally unattached, but ever since my master expelled me from the sect and I became the tea-time laughing stock, I've had no home!" Ynes explained.

I was the only one who had the audacity to follow you around and make you responsible for me... But this time, in your home... I was very happy. I experienced what it's like to be in a family... Please let me know... If I am being cared for... Thank you. Let me enjoy myself now..."

“Ynes, you will be fine. He’ll be able to save you,” Beatrice sobbed.

“I know my situation. Even if I survive, it is just a soulless body. Let me face death with a little dignity... Alex, this is my last request... You have to promise me,” Ynes whimpered, her head shaking.

Several people were standing next to her, and they were all moved.

“Alex, perhaps she is correct. If she is paralyzed for the rest of her life, it’ll be torture instead,” Stella reasoned.

She reflected on herself and knew that she’d rather die if she were in this situation.

“No!” Alex refused. “Ynes, your reputation in America has yet to be restored, and many people in your division continue to misinterpret you, are you willing to let it go like this? Also, you haven’t even discovered who your true parents are yet. Are you willing to die like this?”

“So, what should I do? Tell them that I, Ynes, have gone from being a holy maiden to a paralyzed cripple and let them mock me for a few more years?”

So the key question was still how to allow her to reclaim her cultivation.

However, whether it was the Ultimate Book of Medicine or Divine Power, it was impossible to heal her because such severe injuries were beyond the scope of medical treatment.

At that time, Shelly’s voice rang out unexpectedly in the mind palace.

“Have you thought of a solution? What’s the answer?” Alex blurted out in excitement, causing the people beside him to freeze.

“You once absorbed a large amount of Water of River Styx and Yin-Yang Chi. Now, you even have the Chaos Tree and the Ancestral Bodhi Tree in your mind palace,” Shelly said.

“What do you mean? Huh...?”

“You nourished her with your vital energy, enough to regrow her meridians and reunite her energy core. The spiritual roots all will evolve too,” Shelly hummed.

Alex froze for a moment. Indeed, it was such an unusual method. However, there was a problem...

“I’ve been out of vital energy for a long time, and I have had several children.”

“Of course, I know about the initial vital energy... If a philandering man like you still has it, it would be hell, but sub-vital energy is also possible. It just takes a little more,” Shelly said.

“How much is required?”

“A hundred pounds? You want me to perish!”

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 2878

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2878

Shelly’s faint voice could be heard saying, “It’s not like you can do it all at once, but once you reach that amount, her condition will be completely cured. She’ll even be blessed by the disaster, and her cultivation level will skyrocket! So, don’t be surprised, the current you and your flesh are very valuable. Don’t let them be ruined.”

An air of faint melancholy surrounded Alex as he asked, “How many times until I get to a hundred pounds?”

“That will be determined by your ability... Shouldn’t you be grateful that I’ve given you a reason to sleep with a woman openly?”

“But I’m afraid I’ll become paralyzed!”

“Don’t worry, you still have True Martial Marrow in your body. Your recovery is amazing, so getting two or three pounds a day wouldn’t be a problem. She’ll be alive and kicking in a month.”

“Huh..?”

Alex felt compelled to curse.

“If you don’t want to, forget I said it. Anyway, nobody will know if you just let her die. She’s a burden, and there’s not much use to her,” Shelly said.

Alex had grown used to Shelly’s tone.

Could they, however, truly allow Ynes to die?

Certainly not!

He looked around him. If he said it out bluntly, it wouldn’t be strange that he would be considered a pervert.

Thus, he squatted and spoke directly into Ynes’ ear about the method Shelly told him and asked if she would accept it.

Ynes was taken aback. “You’re really taking advantage of me, aren’t you? How could such a method of saving people exist?”

The people nearby heard it and spoke.

“Can you really save her?”

“But how?”

“Come on! I’m curious. Such a serious injury... But can you really save her?”

Alex replied, “The specific steps, something you might remain unaware about even after listening, fall under the medical category. Let’s not talk about anything else. Ynes is in a perilous situation, and I must take her to the hospital right away.”

Ynes was extremely shy, knowing that his underlying meaning could actually mean, “I need to get her to the bridal chamber as soon as I can!”

“Wait a minute. I need to think about it.”

“What else should you think about? Help is important, and he should be the one thinking about it. All you have to do is listen to what he says,” Daya said with a smile. After their adventure in the netherworld, Daya and Ynes were definitely friendly to each other, and they were delighted to learn that Ynes could be saved.

“But...” said Ynes.

“No buts. This is a cure. One that can save a life,” Daya insisted. “Even if my husband wants to strip you naked, you must accept it!”

“Daya, you’re going to regret it,” Ynes warned with a shake of her head.

“What... What should I be sorry for again?”

“You’ll have to ask him. ”

Daya paused for a moment before looking at Alex. “Husband, what do you mean?”

Alex did not know what to say.

At this time, a red shadow flashed by. Shelly had appeared.

The crowd only saw a blur in front of their eyes before an exceedingly gorgeous girl in a red dress, with hair like clouds and skin like jade, appeared in front of their eyes. She looked only twelve or thirteen, but she was so beautiful that no man could take his eyes away from her. She was obviously a young girl, but her figure was exquisite, with a particularly prominent chest.

“Oh, she’s...”

It turned out several people in the room recognized her.

While standing on Persephone’s Folly Bridge, Shelly had dueled with the god of the underworld when she was there.

That was arguably sublime.

Seeing that Shelly had taken the initiative to show up, Alex called out to her frantically. “Shelly? Shelly! What are you doing out here? Go back! Go back!”

Shelly seemed to enjoy watching his embarrassment. “Since you’re too embarrassed to describe the method to save a life, I’ll help you say it!”

“No, no, no... I... I will say it myself.”

“Or I’ll just do it. I taught you the method, after all. Hiding is always bad. Always better being honest to your wife.”

Daya was taken aback. “Senior, what exactly is this method you’re talking about?”

When Shelly announced the answer...

“Hahaha!”

Pigsy laughed uncontrollably.

“One hundred and one pounds?”

“Isn’t that the rhythm to dying from exhaustion?”

The others fainted for a moment, especially a few women who had affairs with Alex. They secretly glanced at him, unable to speak. Instead, Beatrice asked with concern, “He won’t burst his liver and kidneys, right? Will... this accept his future, somehow?”

“Don’t worry. His physical qualities will allow you to bear a hundred children,” Shelly said.

Beatrice instantly blushed and took a step back.

“Go ahead, hurry up,” Daya said. “I have no problem with it.”

Alex picked up Ynes and found a place to give her a treat.

Jade, on the other hand, led an elderly man in. At first glance, he appeared to be Esmeralda’s grandfather, Cedric, a top American official.

Jade, on the other hand, was still ecstatic to see Alex. It was just that Alex was now holding Ynes, and it made it difficult for Jade to express herself...

In addition, there was also Cedric.

“Senior Cedric...”

“Alex, I am here to see you in place of the emperor,” Cedric said directly.

America has been bullied so severely by the ancient sects, and now that it has hurt his family deeply, Alex remained unhappy. "What are your instructions?" he asked.

"The emperor has asked you to deal with the six ancient sects. Are you confident in yourself?" Cedric asked.

Alex frowned and stated a decisive 'No'.

Cedric smiled and turned to face Jade. Jade wiped it with her finger, from which an ancient bronze artifact was extracted, placed on the ground, and surprisingly, caused it to crack. This was a large bronze tripod in the shape of an ancient urn.

"What is this, exactly?"

Alex could tell that this large tripod was anything but simple.

It was ancient, thick, and even exuded a royal aura.

"Alex, have you ever heard of the Cauldron of Nine States?" Cedric asked.

Alex was taken aback, well aware of the object in question. It was when the Summer Dynasty had cast nine large tripods that represented the king's supremacy, national unity, and prosperity.

The world at that time was divided into nine states. All nine tripods were then cast into one, symbolizing the nine states. On them were engraved their famous mountains and rivers and other strange things.

This tripod was clearly a magical treasure.

Could the nine tripods cast at the start also be supreme magical treasures of such quality?

"You may have heard of the Xia Dynasty's Cauldron of Nine States, and the one in front of you is the real one. The cauldron cast in the Xia Dynasty was just an imitation of this one! This Cauldron of Nine States existed in ancient times when the imperial dynasty was in full bloom. It is America's most important weapon," said Cedric.

"How did you bring it?" Alex inquired further, surprised.

“This is the Emperor’s prerogative, and he will temporarily lend this Cauldron of Nine States to you. The so-called six ancient sects were only speculators at that time. They were evil. But in this chaotic world, they blew a demonic wind. What you said today to the Returning Sword Sect impressed the emperor. He has granted you his permission to eliminate the devil, defend Dao, and support justice with this cauldron. If you have any other requirements, the emperor will be glad to fulfill them.”

Alex examined the Cauldron of Nine States in front of him and began to wonder about the point of the entire thing.

“I didn’t expect that it was this tripod that had reappeared on earth. Worst, I didn’t expect that the heavy weapon that caused the elders of the six realms to go mad and kill each other had been in the hands of the imperial family,” Shelly, who was next to him, said.

Do you know what this Cauldron of Nine States is for?” Alex asked Shelly.

“Rumor has it that this cauldron is the world’s strongest Supreme Chi weapon. When you have it on you, your defense and strength will be so powerful, even the path of God cannot split it,” Shelly explained.

It wasn’t just Alex, but everyone around him inhaled sharply after hearing that. It was simply too unbelievable that such a cauldron existed.

Furthermore, nobody would expect the emperor to send such an object. Having this weapon would offer much better protection.

Later, Shelly added, “However, no one can use this Nine Tripod Cauldron... I’m afraid the Cauldron of Nine States will be useless, especially in your current cultivation realm.”

“The royal family has the Nine Tripod Cauldron, I believe someone tried it long ago, and no one can use it, right?” she asked Cedric after a brief pause.

Alex paused for a moment. He knew she was right.

The American officials were bullied by the six ancient sects to such an extent that if someone could control the Nine Tripod Cauldron, he would have killed to get it. So why was there a need to hold back until now?

“That’s right,” Jade nodded. “Many of us have tried this Nine Tripod Cauldron, but no one can use it.”

Alex cried and laughed at the same time. “You’ve tried a few people, which shouldn’t be a few, and each one can’t use it. And with that, you conclude that I can? You might as well give me command of a few nuclear bombs!”

“There is one person who can use it,” Jade said.

“Who?” Alex asked.

“The emperor!”

“Uhm..?”

Even Shelly appeared surprised this time.

Alex looked at Jade in a stupor.

“The emperor is not a cultivator, nor does he have cultivation, but we guess this Cauldron of the Nine States requires the king’s Chi, and the emperor has it in him. That means he can use it.”

Alex enquired, “Since only the emperor can use it, lending it to me serves no purpose. I can’t use it because I’m not an emperor.”

Cedric took out a bottle. “This is the emperor’s fresh blood.”

Shelly smiled gently. “An earthly emperor’s kingly energy can only cause the Nine Tripod Cauldron to display a tenth of its power, and if he uses his blood, its effects are even more limited... However, it should be sufficient if the opponent is from the demigod realm. The time limit shouldn’t be too long, right?”

Jade confirmed Shelly’s words, ten milliliters of blood could power The Cauldron of Nine States for one second.

Cedric, on the other hand, had brought five hundred milliliters of the emperor's blood, a volume proportional to the user's cultivation level.

Alex inhaled into the jar deeply.

Although he was unconcerned about this line of defense, the emperor's gift was considered extremely significant.

He took out a bottle and handed it to Cedric after some thought. "Elder Campbell, here are ten longevity pills. The emperor has offered so much blood, and he should be able to make up for it with this pill."

Cedric, a discerning person, knew that one longevity pill could make up for ten years of life. This wasn't simply making up for it, they could prolong one's life up to a hundred years. Ten longevity pills were more than enough to make up for it.

The key point was, such an elixir could only be found in the ancient Dao Field. No one in the modern world could refine it.

He knew that because one of the six ancient sects used to sell it.

"Good! Furthermore, I must remind you that the head of the Returning Sword Sect, Jeremy, treats all beings as grass and is based on the Rakshasa Temple. This time, you've asked for the elders of the Returning Sword Sect to kneel at the doors of Thousand Miles Conglomerate. He will undoubtedly do something even crazier than you. Mount Dragon-Tiger is no longer safe!"

Cedric's tone was genuine when he spoke to Alex. The others were unaware that Cedric had witnessed his granddaughter and Alex kissing.

For Esmeralda, it could be said that Cedric pampered her a lot. Her greatest fear, however, was that she didn't like men. Now that she found it easy meeting a man she liked, this man had to be kept for her.
