The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3031

Having no time to continue healing his injuries, Alex made up his mind. However, his injuries were so severe that he found setting up a spell formation difficult.

'Oh right. I saw refined dragon ginseng in Yukon's treasure vault, a divine medicine for healing injuries! It's a bit of a waste to consume it directly, but it's better than getting overwhelmed!'

Furthermore, that dragon ginseng was inside the storage ring. Alex took it out immediately.

As soon as the dragon ginseng was taken out, a woman promptly exclaimed, "This... Isn't this the Divine grade dragon ginseng stored in our treasure vault?!"

"Are you sure?" Nadia asked.

"I'm 100% sure!" the woman replied. "Seventh Sis, Eighth Sis, and I caught it arduously after chasing after it for three days and three nights! I personally tied the knot, and I used that thread to tie my hair!"

She then sternly questioned Alex, "Tell me. Where did you get this dragon ginseng?"

Now that Alex's legs had recovered, he sat up. "Haven't you said it? I took it from the treasure vault!"

"You hast*rd! How dare you sneak into our treasure vault and steal?!"

"You shouldn't say I sneaked in. You sound as if I was a thief. I went in and took it openly! The resources in Yukon Sanctuary are prepared for the seed's sake, and I'm the new seed handpicked by your goddess. Of course, the resources here will belong to me, so I have emptied the treasure vault. It's surprising, no?"

The crowd froze instantly.

"You... Emptied it?"

“That is over three millennia of accumulation!”

Alex shrugged and grabbed the dragon ginseng and chewed it like he would chew a radish. Combined with divine power and The Ultimate Book of Medicine, the dragon ginseng’s power and nourishing effects turned into healing factors, and his body recovered rapidly.

Roar!

Eustace could not take it anymore. He took out the Umbrella of Destiny and attacked the force field desperately.

Unfortunately, the force field’s spell formation, constructed using cuneiforms, was unique on its own. It contained a certain mysterious Dao-filled law, so it would be extremely difficult to break it with brute force.

Alex was quite worried at first, but he was quickly relieved. A few minutes later, he burped after swallowing the entire dragon ginseng. After that, he discovered that the digestion of the Great Star Pill he had consumed accelerated, and many tiny lotuses inside the three thousand Nascent Souls showed signs of germination... Three thousand lotus pods were really going to be born for him!

Alex looked at it for a while via internal vision. He then stopped caring about it.

Instead, he grabbed a handful of formation flags and continued setting up the spell formation on the valley, turning the place into a firm cage.

“All the fairies and the former Mr. Seed, thank you for your efforts in staying here for a while! I’ll let you leave after I pass the female statue’s test!” Alex said with a smile. “In fact, this is excellent. How comfortable is this place? The environment here is also elegant. If you have nothing to do, you can have a few children here to add a little joy to your family.”

“Just leave the great task of saving the universe to a laborer like me! I’ll take my leave! So long!”

Alex waved his hand and blew a flying kiss before leaving the valley quickly. He entered the Cleansing Vase in a deserted place.

The Kalonex Divine Tree was there. It couldn't be helped, though. It seemed that the tree could not enter the mind palace, but it could enter the Cleansing Vase.

The Kalonex Divine Tree seemed to really like the environment in the Cleansing Vase. Right after the transplant, it took root at the bottom of the vase. Alex did not notice it previously, but it turned out that the Cleansing Vase's base was made of sufficiently nutritious soil. When the Kalonex Divine Tree was planted there, its golden luster began to dazzle, and the scarlet fruits swayed vigorously.

"I never expected those people from the League of Cultivators to do such a thing three millennia ago. They were really capricious and brash!"

The petite and pretty Shelly walked out of the mind palace. She looked just like Alex's daughter while standing next to him, but her tone of voice was surprisingly bold.

"Is there anything you want to say?" Alex asked.

Shell snorted coldly. "The Kalonex Divine Tree, my *ss! This is simply the Magnificent Tree of Great Dao that absorbs the Dao energy of the world. The great Dao law wandering in the universe will be absorbed to some extent."

When Shelly said that, she looked resentful.

"I don't know who came up with this method. This is simply plundering the resources crazily. No wonder the territory of the Siddhartha realm is decreasing by the day. I'm afraid most of the great Dao law contained within this Magnificent Tree of Colossal Cultivation is from the Siddhartha realm!"

Alex asked, "You can even tell that?"

Shelly's face was frigid. "Do you think I'm blind?"

Being Starlord of the West, she was well aware of the great Dao law in the Siddhartha realm. Hence, she knew it as soon as she saw the tree.

“Forget it. You didn’t let the outsiders take advantage of it since the Magnificent Tree of Great Dao is in your hands. It happens to be beneficial! You can just contribute to the Siddhartha realm in return in the future.”

After a pause, she continued, “Since it absorbs the great Dao law of the universe, the Siddhartha realm won’t suffer its greatest loss. I have to be fair somehow, so let me lend you a hand!”

She moved slowly. She looked clearly about ten years old, but she strutted like a model on a catwalk.

Alex saw her standing there forming seals with her hands. Seals fell on the Magnificent Tree of Great Dao one after another. Then, a magical scene appeared after she drew them. Surprisingly, the Cleansing Vase underwent rapid changes like vicissitudes of life.

There was only the Magnificent Tree of Great Dao on the barren ground, but it was now surrounded by mountains, water, grass, and vegetation, as though experiencing a seasonal change.

She had turned the interior of the Cleansing Vase into a small of its own space within a few breaths.

After doing that, Shelly placed her hands on her back.

“This is only fair!” she said.

The fruits on the tree twinkled as if they were breathing. Alex was shocked. “Could it be... That they are absorbing the great Dao laws of the universe?”

Shelly replied, “That’s right! The sooner they ripen, the earlier they will come in handy. I have a feeling that your opponent won’t be easy to deal with.”

“My opponent? Who is it?”

“The seed.”

Alex was astonished. “Are you saying that he still can come out?”

Shelly said, “Since he’s the seed, those people from the League of Cultivators must have been prepared. Even the God of Destiny pulled the strings behind the scene. Some things aren’t destined, but too many arrangements have been made. Fate will move toward a certain fixed pattern. Hence, he definitely has a trump card up his sleeve.”

“Holy crap!”

Alex was slightly afraid. In a head-on confrontation, Alex was simply no match for the seed, what more exchange blows with him.

“I have to find my allies!”

The people Alex mentioned were naturally Lorelei and Nebula. Those two women had extremely high cultivation levels and were familiar with Yukon. With their help, his safety factor would increase greatly.

At the same time, the moon gate in the Troop Raising Pond was pushed open. Lila and Resha returned to the place before they walked in determinedly.

Lila’s arm, having been severed by Eustace, had been reconnected. A powerhouse of the deity realm, she could regrow her severed limbs when she wanted to. It was even easier to reconnect her arm, but it would take some time if she wanted to recover fully.

Buzz!

The Yakshas sensed the incoming people and directly rushed over.

“Big Sis, Third Sis, are you there?” Lila yelled.

Lorelei and Nebula rushed over soon after. At first, they were worried at first that those Yakshas would be difficult to deal with Alex’s absence, but they unexpectedly stopped moving after the Yaksha King roared. Instead of attacking or biting them, they blocked the moon gate firmly to prevent the women from leaving.

“Seventh Sis, Ninth Sis, why are you here?”

“Ah, Seventh Sis! What happened to your arm?”

Although Lila’s arm was reconnected, Lorelei could tell that it had just been severed and looked stiff.

“Sis!”

The seventh sister, the woman in red, rushed over and hugged Lorelei. Next to them, Resha said, “Eustace Underwood severed her arm.”

“What?!”

“He even killed Fifth Sis,” Lila went on.

“Cordelia is dead?!” both Lorelei and Nebula exclaimed.

“Preposterous! How preposterous!”

“I always knew he was indifferent, but I didn’t expect he would be that cold-blood. Cordelia did many things for him and even saved him several times. He bit the hand that fed him. What an ungrateful man.”

“As expected, he is not the candidate for the seed. If I were Her Highness, I wouldn’t choose him either!”

Lila said, “Sis, I heard you become a maid for that janitor? Is that true? You even personally captured him a few days ago. You’ve signed a master-servant contract with him, and you’ll be serving him in just a few days. Why can’t I understand it? Is he really the new seed?”

“Seed my as*!” said Lorelei angrily.

As soon as she mentioned the word “a,” she felt a slight pain in her butt. When she recalled how it was beaten and touched, she couldn’t help but shiver.

She then said, “I don’t know if he is the new seed, but that lustful devil forced me and planted a restriction in my sea of consciousness. Otherwise, why would he dare to sign the soul contract with that little cultivation of his?”

“Lustful? A devil?”

Lila seemed to have caught on to some exciting information. “Sis... Did he violate you? Why do I feel some dissatisfaction with your tone? Have you done it already? Was it comfortable?”

Lorelei lifted her hand and smacked Lila’s head. “Comfortable, my a*s!”

“Huh? So, it’s real?”

“I... I wasn’t violated.”

“I can tell that you did it of your own accord.”

Lorelei felt like she was about to be driven mad. She really couldn’t reason with someone so unreasonable. Since when did she say that she had been violated?

Immediately afterward, she patiently explained that she really hadn’t been violated, but a restriction was planted in her. It was because he had threatened her with Yakshas. Of course, she wouldn’t have done it willingly unless she was crazy.

Just then, something flashed, Alex had returned.

“Lorelei, come here and massage my feet! It really hurts! It hurts just thinking of it!”

As soon as Lorelei heard that, she ran over eagerly under the few women’s gazes around her. “Master, are you alright? Which part of your feet hurts? I will massage it... You’ll be very comfortable. You may place your feet on my thighs.”

The crowd of women was speechless. If she hadn’t done it out of her own accord, what was that then?

Judging by her performance, she was a complete bootlicker!

Lorelei was dying to cry and bite someone. She clearly did not want to, but she had ended up doing things she despised. Not only did she have to massage his feet, but she even took the initiative to offer her thighs.

As the dignified goddess, how could she endure such embarrassment?

When she saw her sisters gazing over strangely, it felt just like twisting a knife in her heart. It wasn't too far to say that she was currently ashamed to show her face. However, her expressions displayed passion and enjoyment, as if massaging a man's feet was the most glorious deed in her life.

Lila couldn't bear watching her anymore. Lorelei was her sister, the person she valued the most but how could she do such a lowly deed?

Even when working under Eustace, she had never been subjected to such a degree of servitude. These were tasks done by servants!

"Stop it! Sis, stop it! What are you doing? Brat, I'm warning you. I'll kill you if you dare make my sister do such a lowly task again!" Lila roared in a fury.

Touched, Lorelai's eyes simply brimmed with warm tears. However, the words that came out of her lips were as follows...

"Lila, don't be rude to my master! It's my honor and glory to massage my master's feet! I feel happier than ever! It's my favorite task!"

Right after saying that, she gagged a few times. She felt like throwing up.

Lila said, "Uh... Sis, could this be... True love?"

Next to her, Resha curiously looked at Alex as she said, "There was a huge commotion with the Kalonex Divine Tree just now. Light pillars soared into the sky, and magnificent Dao-filled sounds reverberated through the land, causing Eustace Underwood to rush over. Were you the one who touched the Kalonex Divine Tree?"

As soon as Lorelei heard that, she exclaimed, "You went to touch the Kalonex Divine Tree? Do you know what the Kalonex Divine Tree is? Is that something you can touch? You really bite off more than you can chew!"

Alex's eyes flickered. "Do you want to strip?"

Lorelei was instantly terrified. "Sorry, master. I shouldn't have raised my voice. You are completely right. Even the wrong is right."

The women were speechless.

'Big Sis couldn't have had a split personality, right?' Lila covered her face. She really couldn't bear watching it any longer. She felt as though her moral compass had suffered a severe blow. "Sis, your cultivation level is much higher than his. Even if you are under the restriction, you don't have to bow and scrape like that!"

After a pause, she grabbed Alex by the collar. "You will lift the restriction on my sister right now, or I..."

Wham!

Nebula abruptly lifted her long leg, sending Lila flying with a kick. After the kick, Nebula was regretful... She immediately rushed over and hugged Lila before asking anxiously, "Seventh Sis, are you alright?"

Lila's chest hurt.

Nebula said, "I didn't mean it."

Lila nodded. "I know. I won't blame you."

"That's great then. We will be sisters forever."

Nebula suddenly grabbed Lila and threw her heavily on the ground. Lila exclaimed and subconsciously supported herself with her right hand. The wound that had yet to heal was opened again with a sickening crack.

The intense pain caused Lila to break out in a cold sweat. "Nebula Finley, you've gone overboard! How could you lay a hand on your sister?!" she shouted.

As a result, she was knocked to the ground by Nebula. She could not get up no matter what.

Alex snapped his fingers, removing Nebula's state under his control.

"Eustace Underwood is a fake seed," Alex said. "Now that the female statue in the shrine has handpicked me, I bear a great responsibility. I need like-minded people to step up and assist me. You are welcome to join my team if you are willing. I won't force you, but you only have one chance. You will have no chance to join me in the future even if you want to."

"You really won't force us if we are unwilling? Then, lift the restriction on Big Sis and Third Sis!" said Lila.

"Well... It's not like I can't do that, but it will take a while."

"Why..?"

"It's because of the time effect. It can't be lifted until the time is up."

"Bullsh*t!"

The short-tempered Lila was about to make a move again.

However, Nebula's long leg moved first. She eventually shook off that thought and asked snappily, "How long will it take?"

"Ten years!"

Alex believed that he shouldn't be inferior to them in ten years. By then, he wouldn't need female bodyguards.

Lila's eyes widened. "We have to wait for ten years? I think you're just spewing nonsense. You don't intend to do it at all."

Alex shook his head gently. "You can ask your big sis if she is willing! I can cure her innate heart disease and further improve her cultivation if she follows me for ten years. Do you think it is worth it?"

Lila naturally knew about Lila's health issue. She was stunned as soon as she heard that.

"Can you really cure her?"

Alex looked at her. "I can cure your arm right now! It will be healed in five minutes! Otherwise, don't even think about complete healing in less than a year... Not even with your deity-tier cultivation base."

Lila stretched out her hand. "Fine. Show me by curing me."

Alex stretched out three fingers. "Three years!"

"What do you mean?"

"Follow me for three years!"

"Keep dreaming!"

"You may leave then."

Alex issued an order to drive the guests away. Yakshas immediately rushed over and surrounded Lila. Looking at that stance, those Yakshas would probably attack her right away as soon as Alex gave the order.

"Wait! Wait a minute... Three years, so be it!"

She did not really want to cure her arm, but she did not want to be separated from Lorelei either.

Alex said with a smile, "Since you made the promise on your own, I won't cast a restriction on you. Well, it's not like I will cast a restriction on anyone, but I have particularly high requirements for the people around me."

Lila was unconvinced. "What do you mean? Do I still not meet your requirements? Judging by your words, I still can't be with my sister even if I promise to follow you for three years, right?"

Alex waved his hand. "It's because I don't trust you. Only those with restrictions are considered my allies."

Lila was conflicted!

"Forget it! Forget it! You should just leave!" Alex waved his hand. "In fact, I don't lack manpower. You are expandable and I even have to take care of your meals and accommodation. It's too troublesome, so you better leave. Or, go and become Eustace Underwood's companion and bear his children."

“What bullsh*t are you talking about? Eustace Underwood is my enemy now! Cast the restriction on me! I’ll kill you if you don’t!”

“You are the only one who forces someone else to cast the restriction on you.”

Alex began to sweet-talk after taking advantage of her. Anyway, she was a deity-tier fairy and was no fool. Thus, only Resha remained. She was reluctant. She left Eustace previously because she refused to sign the contract.

Resha asked, “Eustace Underwood previously chased the Kalonex Divine Tree. How is he now? You’ve touched the tree. He probably won’t let you off the hook so easily.”

Alex smiled. “If only he had that capability. Unfortunately, I carry Heaven’s will... Fairy, do you want the restriction? There is no problem with your body, but you don’t have enough opportunities. I can give them to you, though.”

She smiled. “I prefer freedom. Sisters, take care!” And she chose to leave.

Alex did not stop her either. He ordered the Yakshas to give way.

Right after she left, Alex said to Lila, “Still, you’re smarter by following me. That makes you an ally of mine! Let’s go. I’ll take you people to see my Kalonex Divine Tree. The fruits are going to ripen soon. I’m never stingy with my allies.”

“Your... Kalonex Divine Tree?”

“That’s right. Oh, I forgot to tell you that I’ve moved the Kalonex Divine Tree away.”

The group of women was instantly astonished!

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3036

Having an intention to gloat, Alex brought the three women to look at the Kalonex Divine Tree in the Cleansing Vase. The three superb female fighters were existences he needed desperately right now.

He managed to make them voluntarily stand behind him, support him, and even tie themselves to his destiny, that was the firm team. Of course, the restriction was the absolute prerequisite, or how could he, a low-level cultivator with three thousand Nascent Souls, convince them?

He really wanted to show off his capability of snatching the Kalonex Divine Tree right under Eustace's nose.

While Alex guided and brainwashed the three women, the massive female statue in the Yukon shrine came to life again.

Whoosh!

A beam of light shot out of the female statue onto the ground, forming a woman who looked exactly like the statue. She lifted her head and looked at the statue, and her face darkened instantly.

The talisman clothes that Alex had folded and the illusion he put on the female statue looked no different from their previous state. It would be true for someone ordinary, but it now faced the real body of the female statue. Hence, she could see instantly through the mysteries within it.

“Hmph!”

The woman flipped her hand and landed a smack, turning the talisman clothes on the statue into a flight of butterflies.

When the woman saw the real appearance of her statue, she felt her cheeks burning. Her rage toward Alex surged again. “I’ve given you a chance. If you fail, you will become a pig for three lifetimes!” she muttered to herself.

Then, she let out a few handprints at the statue. Laws began to appear around the female statue's body. Those laws condensed and formed a set of lifelike clothes on the statue. The outfit looked exactly the same as the one Alex had stripped off not long ago.

Whoosh!

The woman disappeared in the shrine. When she reappeared, she arrived at the Kalonex Divine Tree's location.

Standing on the force field, she looked at the spell formation modified intricately by Alex. She knitted her brows for a moment.

‘Where did that brat learn those strange texts?’

It had so many modifications that she felt a headache upon seeing it. Such a spell formation was completely illogical. It had been set up to his liking.

At that moment, Eustace and several women trapped in the valley’s force field noticed the woman’s presence. Unable to see her clearly at first, they were stunned the moment they got closer.

“That’s Her Highness!”

“What? Is Her Highness really alive? She even appeared?”

The group had previously tried various methods but failed to dispel the firmly sealed force field, leaving them exasperated, especially the short-tempered Eustace. He would blow his top at the drop of a hat and vent all his resentments on the women.

Whoosh!

The group came over as fast as they could. Separated by the force field, they shouted, “Your Highness! Your Highness, are you back?”

On the contrary, Eustace said nothing for a while. Remembering Alex saying that Her Highness was dissatisfied with him, he dared not approach her. However, since everyone was close and he was the only one standing far away, he would become the most conspicuous target

“Eustace Underwood!” the woman called. “You’ve really failed as the seed.”

Eustace couldn’t help but approach the woman. He looked up at her.

Eventually, he lowered his head and shouted, “All hail Her Highness! Your Highness, please don’t hesitate to give us your orders.”

“Is that so? I don’t dare to issue an order to you!” the woman replied.

Nadia stepped in and spoke to the woman, instantly accusing the despicable and shameless Alex of confining them here using spell formations. Moreover, he had snatched the Kalonex Divine Tree away.

Finally, Nadia said, “Back then, Your Highness, the young lord was the seed that was unanimously chosen by marry powerful League of Cultivators members. He bears the destiny and responsibility, so how could he be stripped of his qualification? Your Highness, did that man called Alex Rockefeller fake the sacred decree and fabricate the topic of replacing the seed with someone else?”

The woman snorted coldly. “Who says it’s fake? It’s all real.”

Eustace’s expression changed drastically. “Your Highness, how can you do this? I’m the destined one! I have the Umbrella of Destiny in my hand and a wisp of ultimate luck. All these have been written in the stars. How could I be fake? That one over there is the true trash.”

“You were defeated by trash and locked here. Doesn’t that mean you are worse than trash?” the woman replied indifferently.

Eustace was speechless.

“I’ll cut the crap. Since you were the seed selected by many seniors in the first place, I’ll have to show you respect somehow. In that case, I’ll give you another chance,” the woman replied.

“I will unlock this force field in a while. You will leave Yukon and find your own opportunities.”

“You are also not allowed to find Alex Rockefeller and give him a hard time for three months! And more so, you cannot go to the mundane world and threaten Alex Rockefeller! I’ll give you an open chance to compete with him for the status of the seed. When the time comes, the victor will be determined by Heaven’s will.”

Eustace was stunned by what he heard.

“However, Your Highness, he had moved the Kalonex Divine Tree to somewhere unknown. Can you help me retrieve it?”

A laugh escaped the woman. “Help you retrieve it? Are you kidding me? You lost the Kalonex Divine Tree right under your nose. Alex Rockefeller managed to take it away all because of his capability. What reason do I have to help you retrieve it? Heavenly treasures should be possessed by the capable. If you lose it, so be it! It would mean you’ve lost Yukon Sanctuary too!”

“Alright!” Eustace nodded.

What could he do even if he disagreed?

He simply couldn’t unlock the force field, and he would be trapped here forever if he didn’t do it.

So finally, after ten minutes, the woman unlocked the force field.

Before sending Eustace away, she gave him a piece of advice. “Those who are virtuous and capable will possess the world’s luck. Virtue, however, comes before capability! You, Eustace Underwood, are a seeded player that represents the League of Cultivators and the Stoermer Sect! If you ever misbehave or brutalize living beings, God won’t spare you, and neither will I!”

She opened up a void rift with her bare hands and sent Eustace and the eight women directly out of Yukon. After that, the woman’s lips curled as she looked in a certain direction.

“Hmph! Think you can sit back and relax after trapping Eustace Underwood in the force field?”

“You wish to become the seed, but it won’t be as easy as you think! Just treat Eustace Underwood as my first test for you... You better not die.”

She muttered to herself, and a smile flashed across her stunningly beautiful face. The next moment, she looked up to the sky, and her expressions turned grim.

“I’m running out of time!” After saying those words, she disappeared on the spot the next second.

Alex still didn't know if Eustace and the eight deity-tier fairies had left the force field or Yukon. He had never imagined that the female statue could deliberately create a problem, thinking he was too relaxed.

At that moment, he was standing under the Kalonex Divine Tree along with the three fairy maids. Shocked, the fairies were unable to close their mouths, as they sensed the dense Dao energy.

"The fruits on Kalonex Divine Tree are ripening!" said Lorelei.

"The first batch will be ripe in three days!" Alex said. "In fact, this is called the Magnificent Tree of Great Dao. Its fruit is called the Great Dao Fruit, which can be used to concoct Enlightenment Pills. Everyone will get a share when the time comes."

Three days passed in the blink of an eye. The Great Dao Fruits were ripe.

Oregon.

Pompeii Fairyland.

The weather was fine, and the sea shimmered from the right amount of sunshine. Many attractive men and women were basking in the sun on the beach of a huge island. They were not tourists who came over for a tour, but Lightning Pavilion disciples. Pompeii Fairyland had become their territory.

"D*mn it! Alex Rockefeller is really lucky. He actually acquired Yukon Sanctuary."

"What is he capable of? An incapable aborigine who's managed to acquire the top-ranked sanctuary by riding on women's coattails? It's simply preposterous!"

"You'd better not say that. Riding on women's coattails is a skill in itself, and not everyone can do that. Why don't you try riding on Jade Benmore's coattails if you can?"

In fact, the group of youths from the Lightning Pavilion had never met Alex before. Someone else had passed on all the information to them, and it didn't hinder them from making various speculations from the back. It would seem those people only looked up to Jade...

"That woman, Jade Benmore, is definitely an extraordinary person."

"She clearly looks like a twenty year old girl, but I didn't expect her to be that powerful and domineering."

"I know, right? Back when she barged into the island that day, she really scared me. She sent the third elder flying and smashed the Stardew Island with a hammer. Even the sect master could only bow and scrape. I'd like to kneel and bootlick such a woman too."

Just as the group indulged in fantasy, a large ship suddenly appeared on the sea. It was coming at an extremely high speed. It was still on the horizon earlier but was within a mile of the island in the blink of an eye.

It stopped right there.

Whoosh!

The group of young men and women from the Lightning Pavilion leaped up.

"Where... Did this ship come from?"

"Beats me. It seems to have appeared out of thin air."

"No. I saw it. It came from the opposite side and was moving at breakneck speed."

Furthermore, that ship's appearance was unique, with a long row of black wings. In fact, the entire ship was floating on the water surface.

No wonder it was so fast. It was simply a flying ship.

"Look at the flag with the word 'Fourcade' on the ship. Are there powerful Fourcade's on the American side?"

"Perhaps you guys haven't noticed that the ship came from the direction of the Endless Sea. There is a demarcation line over there. The place infested with undead demon beasts is beyond that line. This ship seems to have come from the Endless Sea, or...”

“The great world of America across the Endless Sea?!” a female disciple from the Lightning Pavilion chimed in. Her words were filled with extreme shock.

The people around her were also stunned.

Now, everyone knew that the Endless Sea was over the side of the ancient force field, where it was infested with undead demon beasts. These were very powerful beasts, inextricably linked to the Undying Clan. Hence, the Endless Sea was equivalent to a moat, separating the Wasteland and the great world of America.

The Wastelanders lacked understanding of the great American world. They were completely oblivious of the situation over there.

However, if they thought on their feet, they would know that the conditions of cultivation over there were far better than the Wasteland’s, and the cultivators over there definitely had higher levels.

“Hurry up! Hurry and inform the sect master!” said someone anxiously.

The crowd had already seen a group of people appearing on the ship’s deck.

Everyone was dressed in standard black armor and looked majestic, save for a man in the middle who was wearing red armor. As soon as he waved his hand, the group in black armor made their move.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Loud explosions could be heard from the deck of the enormous flying ship.

A dozen men in black soared into the sky like a dozen cannonballs and flew toward the island with a terrifying aura.

“Ah! They’re coming!”

“What are they trying to do?”

“Run to the shrine now! The group of elders is there! Go and seek their help!”

The young men and women from the Lightning Pavilion had a drastic change in their expressions and began to flee in all directions. Someone even sent a signal to request reinforcement from the sect.

Boom!

What seemed like a thunderclap could be heard echoing in the air. A powerhouse in black chased after the people with lightning speed.

He raised his hand and swept it at a group of people. Then, he grabbed two people, one in each hand respectively, before returning to the flying ship.

The man in red asked, “Where is this? Is it within the Wasteland?”

The questioned man was slow on the draw, so the man in red snapped his neck easily. He even complained softly, “Garbage. What a waste of time.”

He then looked at the other man. That man’s legs gave out from the horror.

Before him, the group of people was not simple, nor were they good people.

They would kill at the drop of a hat with complete disregard for human lives.

“Ah! I’ll say it! I’ll say it! Please don’t kill me!” that man yelled anxiously in a terrified voice. If he faced Jade, he would not be so terrified because she was reasonable. However, those people before him had killed someone without batting an eyelid.

“This place is indeed the Wasteland. Pompeii of the Wastelands.”

“Pompeii... Fairyland?” The man in red, who was slightly shocked, glanced at the island. “Look! The spiritual energy’s resurrection has begun! Great! I’ll ask you again. Where is California located? Do you know someone named William Rockefeller?”

Those people were, in fact, from the Fourcade family of the great world of America, the same Fourcade’s that almost annihilated the Rockefeller’s.

That man was Wilnas Fourcade, Julian's most satisfied grandson.

"I know about California. It is located on the west coast of America and is near Michigan. But I really don't know this William Rockefeller you mentioned. I have never heard of that person."

Wilnas frowned. "You actually don't know William Rockefeller? Does he have so little presence here?"

"Then... Do you know a woman named Brittany Rockefeller?"

The man shook his head yet again.

Wilnas was a little annoyed. Despite all that, he refused to give up as he asked, "How about Alex Rockefeller? Have you ever heard of this name? Think carefully before you answer."

The disciple from the Lightning Pavilion almost peed in horror. Fortunately, he knew Alex.

He immediately replied, "I know this guy! I really do! He is from California!"

"Fine. Take us to California to find him," Wilnas promptly said.

The Lightning Pavilion disciple looked conflicted. "Senior, I'm not unwilling, but Alex Rockefeller has been away from California for a long time. If you want to find him, you'll have to head to Yukon because he's its current master. He should be cultivating in Yukon at this time."

Wilnas was startled. Never did he expect that William's son had become the master of Yukon!

Just then, Lightning Pavilion's sect master flew over with a few experts.

Although they came quickly, they were knocked down even faster.

The black-clothed guards of the Fourcade family instantly went into action, knocking down the group of Lightning Pavilion experts to the ground in less than five minutes.

"Are you the leader of this place?"

Wilnas kicked Lightning Pavilion's sect master. "Fine then. You will lead the way and find Alex Rockefeller in Yukon!"

Three hours later, the group arrived at the foot of Yukon.

Nonetheless, Alex had set up a spell formation at the entrance to the Yukon mountain range, so they temporarily couldn't enter. Just as the extremely infuriated Wilnas was about to blow his top, eight women and one man slowly walked down Mount Yukon.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3040

Sure enough, the man and eight women, the seed, Eustace Underwood, and the eight beautiful maids, including Nadia Shelvey and Dawa Hadley had been released by Her Highness the female statue and were leaving Yukon under restraint.

Eustace was in a bad mood. He had been the seed for three millennia. He was the only seed, but thanks to the statue's words, the seed had become a seeded player. Now, two players had to compete through the competition.

Eventually, the victor would be the real seed.

'D*mn it. I'm obviously the seed. Why do I have to compete with trash?'

He couldn't change Her Highness's decision, but anguish welled in his heart.

Although Nadia and the others couldn't help but persuade him along the way, he would simply turn a deaf ear. They would anger him even more when they talked too much, causing him to fly into a rage... Hence, no one dared to speak again later. The eight women could only follow behind Eustace silently and went down Yukon in an awkward atmosphere.

After that, they encountered Wilnas and the others.

Whoosh!

The black-clothed guards of the Fourcade family instantly surrounded Eustace and the others.

Eustace was extremely dejected at first, but he didn't expect that someone would give him a hard time right after he came down the mountain.

"What are you guys trying to do? Get lost!" Nadia stated delicately, but her tone was hostile.

"Did you guys come down from Yukon?" Wilnas asked.

"Nonsense. Are you blind? Or, are you mentally ill? I repeat myself: Get lost!" Nadia was in a foul mood herself, mainly because of the extremely depressing atmosphere all the way. Feeling awful, she happened to be looking for a punching bag.

Wilnas, a genius of the Fourcade's, was a leading figure of the new generation. Having never suffered such a grievance before, he was instantly furious. "Woman, you better watch your mouth!" he growled coldly. "Would you believe I will pull out your tongue if you dare speak so rudely again?"

Unfortunately, Eustace and the other women's cultivation levels were at the pinnacle of current America.

On the other hand, Wilnas' cultivation level had not reached Incarnate Deity, so he naturally could not tell how powerful the cultivation of the nine was. Instead, he seemed to be looking down on the world and regarded everyone as petty.

Then... A tragedy occurred.

At that moment, Eustace recalled Her Highness's words. She had warned him not to brutalize living beings... However, those people before him were going to take their lives. Under such circumstances, it shouldn't be considered an indiscriminate murder of the innocent, but rather, them bringing it upon themselves.

He smiled smugly. "You know what? I found it difficult to find a punching bag. It appears you are of great help at the moment."

Wilnas was startled. "What do you mean?"

"It means you're about to go to hell!"

Eustace wanted to vent all his emotions, including his rage, grievance, and displeasure. Hence, he lashed out with all his might and unleashed his deity-tier cultivation base. Overwhelming mental coercion formed a cage and enveloped Wilnas right there and then.

Buzz!

In an instant, Wilnas knew that he had hit a brick wall. He was terrified to the core. To his surprise, after crossing the Endless Sea with such great difficulty, he had come to the Wasteland containing the resurrected spiritual energy, hoping to make a splash when he encountered a superb bigwig.

He dared not imagine such a robust mental cage. Although he endured excruciating pain as he desperately struggled to get out, his efforts were all but futile. He couldn't even make a sound.

In addition, Eustace's cultivation in mental control had reached a terrifying degree. The mental cage he had unleashed had only targeted Wilnas, and the people around were completely unaware of it.

"No, no..!"

Wilnas wanted to scream, but his throat seemingly did not belong to him.

Just then, Eustace sent a punch out, hitting Wilnas right in the head. In that instant, Wilnas's head exploded like a burst watermelon. The powerful Chi that had invaded his body also emitted a series of explosions, causing all the bones in his body to shatter.

He was killed instantly.

"Ah!"

"Young Master?!"

The black-clothed guards of the Fourcade family were stunned. Simply unable to accept what they were seeing, they thought that they must be hallucinating.
