The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3401

A bright ray of light started concentrating in one place. Everyone from England and the Iron Demon clan was appalled to see this.

Alex, however, was the ultimate leader of the Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation project. He placed that endless amount of holy energy in his hands, leaping straight up into the air.

"Ah!"

"What is he doing?"

"Is he trying to break through our boundary using this energy?"

All the people within Iron City widened their eyes, fixated on Alex as they watched him coming closer and closer to their boundary. Unexpectedly, the man brought out an ax and slammed it towards the boundary.

That ax was naturally the Phanes Ax, which wielded unimaginable power.

This boundary was tough and could quickly recover in short amounts of time. Despite this, a large crack that was thousands of meters big was slashed through. Moreover, the crack continued to expand, unable to recover. It was as if the ax had broken down the core support of the boundary, causing it to lose its life force.

"Sh*t!"

"Oh my god. How did he do that? Is that the Lord's golden ax?"

"He's here. He's come up here with that large amount of energy!"

On the screen, they could see that Alex was guiding those people, sending out the waves of power from the incantation together. As they did so, this energy formed into a large ball with a five hundred meter radius, while the man sent it up into the air. That ball of energy then got closer to the Iron City.

"Ah!" Someone shrieked.

This time, even the leader of the Iron Demons froze from shock. They continued watching as the screen played out what was happening while the ball of energy enlarged in an instant...

“Duck!”

Boom!

Just then, everyone on Earth felt a strong earthquake, along with the blinding light of the explosion, engulfing the entire city. The energy was very destructive, as it managed to create a thousand-meter pit through the bottom of the city.

That place was actually the Iron Demon’s search battlefield, yet it ended up this way. Hence, it couldn’t continue floating and balancing in the air. Leaning to the side, it even started falling downwards. If that big thing crashed into America’s borders, it would definitely wreak havoc.

Suddenly, Alex’s body kept enlarging, radiating the Chi of an Ancient Witch Spirit. It was as if the nine Ancient Witch Spirit’s powers were instantly activated within his body. He grew till he was nearly ten thousand meters tall. Since his clothes clearly wouldn’t be able to handle such sudden growth, they ripped into shreds. His muscular body was seeping with pure Ancient Witch Chi for everyone to see.

He grabbed the falling Iron City as he ran towards England instead. There were still quite a few Iron Demons up there at that time. Hence there was a visible flood of them spilling out from the side of the city as well, like locusts. However, several strong warriors rushed out from Yukon, as Alex had used the ax to break their seals on their cultivations.

Since they had been restricted for twenty whole years, they needed to find a release, and the Iron Demons were the perfect targets.

This moment was witnessed by the entire globe, watching as Alex threw the large city right towards England.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3402

Boom!

The entire world shook as if the skies had crashed down to the ground. Nature ruptured as spiritual beings wailed, all while a gush of energy and flames shot up into the air. The hard impact immediately affected the entire country.

Everything fell silent.

A week passed by incredibly quickly. The Iron Demon clan disappeared off the face of Earth, and England was no longer reigning over the world in the blink of an eye. Peace from ten years ago had been restored, yet people have noticed that the atmosphere seemed calmer than before. There'd always be a powerful country who tried starting various wars as if they wanted chaos back then.

This made the entire world suffer greatly, involving several other innocent countries to become their puppets. Yet now, that country had vanished, and America was once again rising back to its feet.

In reality, Agatha told everyone that the Earth's core had already centered itself within America ten thousand years ago. When Rowan and The Phoenix Empress founded the Phoenix Sect, not only were they the strongest sect on Earth, they became the core of the entire universe. That was because the cosmic monument was placed in the void of the sect.

Many attended the ceremony that year, and strong figures within the universe came to congratulate the Phoenix Sect. It was the wedding day of their sect leader, Rowan, so all kings of gods were present too. The wedding was held in the Stoermer sect. Tens of brides were present, all becoming the spotlight within the universe...

When speaking of: the past, Agatha's eyes glistened with delight. That was because she was one of those brides during the time.

Alex then kept himself busy for the whole week. He tried his best to guide his close family and friends towards the Witch's path so that they'd be able to feel the Witch's law power. The Diffracted universe wasn't quite safe after all. Extraterrestrial Demon Gods had laid their eyes on this place; several even arrived.

Alex had to make all the preparations that he could. He put the most effort into guiding his children. Since Alex himself had three thousand lotus flowers inside his body and received the ownership of the Phanes ax. Evidently, his path was entirely different from the nine Ancient Witches' journey.

Angel had her own divinity, so she didn't need Alex's help. Being the Goddess of Nature wasn't weaker than being an Ancient Witch.

As for the other kids, Alex just distributed the Ancient Witch Spirits' will to them.

That day, the man went back to California to a shabby old house. He had been here a few times in the past since there was a blood pool hidden underneath. Moreover, a coffin had been buried in the middle of the pool. Inside was his high school classmate, first crush, and his childhood friend... Hayley Hanson.

"I didn't expect so many years to have passed!"

"I wonder if anything happened to her body during those twenty years?"

Hayley initially encountered a severe problem, as she had been cursed by a warlock. Her body was supposed to die and rot long ago, but her father forcibly retained her life. Alex had no way of helping her back then, but now he has possession of the Witch Spirits' Will. He could perhaps wake her up for now.

Crack!

Opening the basement door, he noticed that everything was silent. There used to be meowing coming from below, but there was none now.

'It's been twenty whole years. They probably died!'

Whoosh!

Just then, a white shadow flashed by as a familiar being appeared next to him.

It was Whitey!

Alex was very sure that Whitey didn't follow him here, nor did it come from the outside. It would seem that it had been in here for quite some time.

“Why are you here?” Alex was shocked.

“Meow! I was just about to ask you the same question!”

Alex frowned, looking towards the blood pool. Using one hand, he lifted a sealed coffin from below.

Whitey felt all its fur standing. “What is this? There’s a coffin sealed underneath all along! Alex, who’s in there?”

“She’s... Someone pitiful.”

Alex hurried to check up on Hayley, breaking the seals off and opening the coffin. The situation was better than what he thought of as a worst-case scenario. At the very least, her body wasn’t rotting, and her soul was still intact.

“Is she your secret lover?” Whitey scoffed.

“Whitey, you’re a cat, so don’t imitate humans and speak like us. Your kind never really established any relationships, right? You cats usually just find a random partner to mate with whenever it’s mating season. Am I wrong?”

“Meow...” Whitey hissed. “Who told you that? I’m not that easy to get with.”

Alex waved dismissively. “You should go out first!”

“This is my home.”

“What?!”

“I found it, so it’s mine! This place was initially a worship area for the cat tribe too.”

“What do you mean by that?”

Whitey replied. "There's a temple beneath this place, and it has been there for hundreds of thousands of years. And my senior was the god who was worshiped."

"A cat?"

"It's the cat ancestor."

"Huh???"

Whitey said, "Since the cat ancestor had been worshipped by humans, he was able to keep the peace around the area. With time, it received a large number of worshippers, hence becoming a god... I come here frequently now to accompany him. Maybe he'd give me his title as a god later on."

Alex felt as if he was listening to a legendary myth.

"Where's the temple?"

"I'm not telling you. You're not a cat!"

"Then head in yourself. Don't disturb me while I'm trying to save someone."

Whitey huffed slightly and decided not to enter that cat temple it mentioned but left instead. It was very petty, keeping the temple's location a secret from Alex.

Alex smiled, as he didn't mind one bit, immediately putting all his focus on Hayley again. Thinking back to his youthful days, he couldn't help but sigh.

"If you stayed by my side back then, I wonder what I would've become?"

"Maybe it's fate, maybe it's destiny!"

"No matter what it is, I can't bear to watch you sealed off in this bloody place like you're some kind of demon. If your body refuses to wake up, I'll get a new one for you."

Shiing!!!

The power of the Witch continuously flowed into Hayley's body, as her drained-out body was wavering gently. Alex then brought out the Spring Water of Life, pouring it into her mouth. After that, he continued using several rare treasures and materials on her too.

Thirty minutes later, the man finally stopped to check on Hayley again. Her face was no longer as pale as a white sheet, slowly returning to a normal state.

Dub!

Dub, dub...

Her heart started beating again too. A while later, she finally opened her eyes.

Yet Alex furrowed his eyebrows deeply since he noticed that Hayley's eyes were completely black, filled with demonic energy... It wasn't just a hallucination either. He really did sense odd energy in her body. However, that Chi faded instantly, along with the black color within her eyes. Her eyes turned normal once again, gorgeous as they had always been.

She blinked a few times and looked straight at Alex while he was staring back at her.

"Hayley?!"

Suddenly, Hayley flashed him a beautiful smile. "It's been so long, Alex!"

Looking at Hayley's distinct and dynamic eyes that were filled with innocence and playfulness, Alex seemed to have returned to that innocent, youthful era.

She walked up to him while wearing a skirt and flinging her ponytail. And he liked to follow behind her and watch her fluttering hair. He would occasionally glance at her budding waist and butt but was already displaying a woman's charm. Sometimes, he would fantasize about going to the same university together, becoming close to her to the point of being inseparable. He liked watching her irritated and pouting look. He liked hearing her gentle reprimand.

"Hey... Did you stay up all night playing games again last night?"

“Your eyes look like a panda’s. They are so ugly. This eye cream doesn’t suit me. Help me use it up!”

“Alex, I don’t know who dropped this bouquet here. Help me throw it away. Doesn’t that person know I’m allergic to flowers?”

Thinking about it, his eyes were red-rimmed.

“Hey! Alex, you jerk If you don’t pay attention to the lesson, you can only attend a diploma mill and get a job that doesn’t pay much after graduation.”

“Alex, you jerk. Help me up...”

“Hey. I’m calling out to you, yet you pretend to be deaf...”

“Alex Rockefeller, you blockhead...”

‘Huh? Weren’t they memories? Oh, it’s real. Hayley Hanson is really calling out to me...’

“Oh, oh. Hayley, I’ll pull you up right away!” Alex, who had come to realize, saw Hayley stretching out her fair, beautiful hands in the coffin. He carefully grabbed her and gently pulled her up.

She still looked like that maiden in the dusk. She was still bright-eyed.

“Long time no see!”

“Heh. You’ve grown so tall! You still look so ugly with your crying face!” Hayley compared their heights. Alex was now a head taller than her.

“Give me a hand!”

She stepped out of the coffin while holding Alex’s hand. After looking around, she said, “Let’s leave this place first. I don’t like this place.”

“Alright!”

Looking at her, Alex asked, “Don’t you find it strange? Do you have no questions to ask me?”

Hayley lowered her head and lightly kicked her as she put her hands behind her. “I knew... I knew everything...”

Alex was shocked. “You... knew?”

She gently nodded. “Yeah! Although I was lying in the coffin, I could hear it.”

She kicked and discovered that her shoes were broken and decayed. Her body was the same as it was decades ago. She was still youthful. However, her shoes and clothes could not be preserved for long after decades. Even her clothes were torn after a light tug. She seemed to be a little surprised.

Alex hurriedly took out a brand new skirt, undergarments, and even leather shoes from the ring.

She lifted her head. “Do they belong to your wife?”

Alex shook his head. “They belong to my daughter. She has never worn them before.”

Hayley had a frozen expression on her face, but she quickly smiled. “Good. They are lovely. Do you have black pantyhose? Didn’t you like it best when I wore black pantyhose?”

“W-when did I..?”

“You’re still in denial? As soon as I wore black pantyhose, you went behind me and took pictures secretly. Did you think I didn’t know? Did you do that?”

“Yes... Yes!”

Hayley took the black pantyhose with a smile. “Turn your back and don’t peek.”

Alex turned around, then said, “I’ll wait for you outside!”

“No!” She suddenly screamed, “Don’t go! I’m scared! I’m afraid that I won’t see you!”

Alex suddenly stopped in his tracks. He nodded vigorously. "Alright. I won't leave."

The voice trembled lightly. Then, the rustling sound of changing clothes was heard behind him.

Alex just stood there without the intention to peek in the slightest. He just felt sore in his nose and was overwhelmed.

"It's done! You can turn around!"

Wearing a beige skirt, she was young and pretty. Her hair was tied into a high ponytail with a bow. Her skirt only reached the middle of her thighs, and her slender, beautiful legs were covered with black pantyhose. She was slim with a bit of youthfulness and sexiness. She then playfully spun around in place with her white leather shoes.

Just like decades ago, after they walked out of the high school gate, she got on Alex's bicycle and jabbered in his ear.

"Do I look good?"

You look good! But in fact, this outfit looks better without the black pantyhose.”

Hayley looked down. “I think so too.”

She put her hands in again and took the black pantyhose off. Then, she walked around the house like a butterfly and rummaged through the drawers as if she was looking for something.

“What are you looking for?” asked Alex.

“A bracelet. The one you threw away.” Her voice sounded anxious.

Alex remembered that at the twilight of parting, Hayley intended to give him a bracelet, but he threw it and smashed it on her back, scattering it all over the ground. After that, Alex went back to look for it. However, it could no longer be found.

“Over here!” she exclaimed. She had found it in a dusty dox.

“Did you... Go back and pick it up?”

“Yeah! ” Hayley nodded. “Help me put it on.”

Alex was startled. “Didn’t you want to give it to me?”

Hayley snorted. “You didn’t want it, and you broke it! You pissed me off! I’d better wear it myself!”

“Sorry! I... I’ll put it on for you!”

He carefully put the bracelet on Hayley’s slender wrist. It seemed unsuitable because it was initially designed for Alex.

Looking at the bracelet with wooden beads, Hayley suddenly burst into tears.

“Hayley...”

“You blockhead!” She pressed her forehead against Alex’s chest and sobbed uncontrollably.

After a while, she wiped her tears with Alex’s clothes. She then quickly wiped the corner of her eyes with the back of her hand and revealed a smile.

“Alright! It’s comfortable after crying! Come with me. I wish to go to... California High School. Is it still there?”

“Yes!”

California High School was not far away from this place. They both did not drive and just walked over there. In fact, there had been a lot of changes in California High School over the decades, but the academy building where they both attended back then still existed. Most of the schools all over America were not yet opened after they had just experienced the scourge of the Iron Demons.

They did not encounter many people at school.

“I want to eat candy canes so badly!” Hayley whispered as she sat on a stone step and pointed to a kiosk. However, the kiosk was closed. No candy canes were for sale at all now.

“Close your eyes, and wait for a moment,” said Alex.

Hayley looked at him and gently took his hand before closing her eyes at ease. The next second, countless mirror images emerged from Alex's body and burst in all directions. In less than a minute, a mirror mirage teleported over with two candy canes in his hand.

"Take it!"

Hayley opened her eyes and took the candy cane in surprise. She licked it before smiling sweetly.

Before they knew it, it was almost dusk. They both involuntarily came to the place where they had parted decades ago.

Hayley took off the bracelet on her wrist. "Give me your hand."

She put it on him and said softly, "Don't lose it again this time!"

Alex nodded.

Looking at him affectionately, she gently cupped his face and slowly kissed him on the lips. The setting sun shone on the two people, stretching their shadows.

As soon as Hayley closed her beautiful eyes, tears gushed out of her eyes like broken lines of bright pearls. Alex hugged her hard as if he also wanted to remember this moment deeply. However, Hayley's tears grew more and more. Touching the back of Alex's head, her finger suddenly glowed with a black light before she pointed at Alex's head.

Shortly afterward, Alex collapsed slowly.

Hayley stroked his face and murmured through tears. "We both love each other, but we have no luck getting together. I'll sever this tie so that we will be separated."

She clutched her chest and cried her heart out. She knelt on the ground and was so broken-hearted that she trembled. At that moment, demonic Chi emanated from her body.

"Ahhh!" Hayley raised her head and wailed as tears streamed down her face.

Storm clouds rolled in over a million miles in the sky. The next moment, she suddenly disappeared, leaving only drops of tears still flowing on Alex's face.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3407

After a while, Whitey rushed out with a scream. "It's really gone. How did you guys know that?!"

Alex looked at Shelly. "Could it be that the one in Hayley's body is really the cat ancestor?"

Shortly afterward, Alex and Shelly entered the Cat Temple under Whitey's lead.

This place was very hidden. Furthermore, there was a force field. If Whitey hadn't discovered it, the others wouldn't have been able to find it.

The Cat Temple was enormous. It was far beyond what Alex and Shelly had expected. Hence, the Cat Temple could not possibly be hidden underground. Otherwise, the underground of the entire California would have been hollowed out.

"Where is the statue of your cat ancestor? There should be a statue since it's the Cat Temple, right? Even if the existence inside has run away, could it be that the statue also..."

When Alex said that, he suddenly remembered Phoenix. The statue also fled along with Phoenix at that time. Whitey nodded. "It was still here previously, but now, it's gone."

Eventually, they ended up empty-handed.

However, Alex touched the bead string on his wrist. He felt that this bracelet was a bit unusual as if it could resonate with this place in some way. Nonetheless, he could not figure out the specifics.

After returning to Yukon, Alex discovered that everyone was talking about the great tremor in the sky earlier. That abnormal tremor struck everyone as unusual. They were afraid that some formidable enemy had shown up with that huge amount of energy.

Alex wanted to say something but then hesitated. Finally, he said nothing.

After a day, a message was posted on the Divine Dreamcatcher. Someone single-handedly barged into the lair where the Witch Cult was located, massacred all the powerhouses of the Witch Cult, and eventually annihilated that planet.

As soon as the news came out, countless people were stunned.

Alex looked at the Divine Dreamcatcher that Esmeralda had handed over and clicked on the message before checking the information word by word. After all, he also planned to go to the Witch Cult's lair to find the true origin of the Witch Curse.

Never did he expect that it would be destroyed like that.

"Huh? Another message was posted! Look quickly!"

Sitting next to Alex, she cracked the melon seeds in her hand and fed Alex from time to time. Esmeralda said that after taking a look at the Divine Dreamcatcher. Alex saw the title, but it was a video about the extermination of the Witch Cult.

He clicked open it. The footage he saw was not very clear, but it was a little far away. However, Alex's eyes gradually widened as he watched it.

Esmeralda was eating melon seeds next to him while commenting...

"It turned out to be a woman! She's kind of powerful. She single-handedly kills her way into the Witch Cult. Is the Witch Cult good at poisoning but useless in other aspects?"

When Esmeralda saw the final scene, she opened her mouth wide, and the melon seeds inside fell out.

It was because that woman, who was floating in the air, stomped down and destroyed the entire planet in the final scene.

That strength was too tremendous. However, Alex recognized that woman. She was wearing a skirt and leather shoes with a ponytail. Those were exactly what he gave to Hayley.

The woman who massacred the Witch Cult and destroyed a planet with a stomp turned out to be Hayley Hanson!

Former tranquility seemed to have returned to the days. Society evolved rapidly again with each passing day. Godly cultivation schools rose one after another. Tourism in other worlds became a popular project. The entire Earth civilization seemed to be the same as before, yet it was different.

On this day, a huge peacock flew down to Yukon. The Peacock Heavenly King was here.

“Alex Rockefeller, I’ve found the entrance to Dairaionji Temple. I also discovered the secret of Siddhartha realm. Do you wish to come with me and check it out?”

Read Novel The Pinnacle Of Life Chapter 3408

“The secret of Siddhartha realm? What is it?”

Shelly immediately jumped out. Siddhartha’s realm was her territory. She had long sensed the severe situation in the Siddhartha realm. The territory was shrinking day by day, and that place was devoured constantly, but she hadn’t been able to find out the exact reason.

The Peacock Heavenly King looked at the petite yet arrogant Shelly. “Little thing, who are you? Alex Rockefeller’s daughter? Or his newly found mistress? You’re so small with a lolita’s body. Alex Rockefeller, you brat! You are probably the reincarnation of a dragon tribe, aren’t you?”

She had never met Shelly, so she had a misunderstanding at once.

“You’re saying I’m small? When I was running amok in the world, you were probably still an egg! Also, don’t confuse me with this fake dragon tribe member. You should be careful instead. This fellow is a notorious ladies’ man. The closer you are to him, the greater the chance you get deceived into sleeping with him. Next time, you may be on maternity leave when we meet again!”

Only then did the Peacock Heavenly King take a closer look at Shelly. The next second, she seemed to have remembered something. "I understand. So, you are the famous old virgin who mixed with the monks."

Alex was puzzled.

These two people were bigshots who originated from an unknown number of millennia. At that moment, they had a row as soon as they met. They engaged in mutual attacks and even directly attacked each other's personalities.

Furious, Shelly instantly summoned Persephone's Folly Bridge and was about to fight the Peacock Heavenly King.

Alex hurriedly hugged Shelly. "Quit it!"

"Stop pulling me, or else I'll fall out with you!"

"Alright. Alright. If you guys want to fight, go somewhere else. I'll open a portal for you guys. You guys should go to the Undead Territory or the Abyss. Don't make trouble here, or else I'll cane both of you fifty times."

Shelly snorted. "You're fully-fledged, aren't you? Don't forget that I'm your protector. It's uncertain who will get beaten."

Alex shook his head. He really opened a portal right away.

However, both the Peacock Heavenly King and Shelly did not want to go there, especially Shelly. The Peacock Heavenly King scolded her for being an old virgin, so she was about to go crazy and directly made a move.

The Peacock Heavenly King also manifested her real body. It was the real peacock body that blotted out the sky and covered the earth.

It was too shocking. It almost covered the entire Yukon.

Boom!

A blow shook Yukon. A mountain exploded and almost hit the onlookers below.

Meanwhile, the two fellows had engaged in a real fight. They actually wanted to fight to the death.

“Stop it!”

Alex could no longer bear it. If it continued like that, the innocent would be harmed. Particularly, a peacock plume swished across the sky and almost slashed Cheryl.

Alex immediately went forward and grabbed the peacock plume. He then rushed up to the Peacock Heavenly King and beat her up. After manifesting his towering body, he grasped the Peacock Heavenly King’s body, pressed her down on the ground with a boom, and raised his huge hand.

Smack! Smack! Smack!

He slapped that peacock’s buttocks.

After the beating, the Peacock Heavenly King was astonished. Her body returned to human form uncontrollably. The pain in her buttocks was unbearable. Her mind was in a state of shock.

The strength that Alex had displayed made her doubt her life.

He was too powerful, wasn’t he?

Shelly felt the same way.

He was obviously the guy she had crushed before, but now he could easily beat his opponent. Not only that, after Alex was done beating the Peacock Heavenly King, he came after her!

Even the chains that flew out of Persephone’s Folly Bridge could not bind him. As the finger flicks made a series of clanking sounds, the chains were bounced back by his fingers. After that, Shelly was miserable too. Alex caught her and slapped her buttocks!

Slap! Slap! Slap!

“Ah! You bastard! How dare you beat me? You’re dead meat!”

Alex responded coldly, "I'll spank you with your pants off if you keep disobeying me! Are you trying to bring Yukon down to ruins?"

The Peacock Heavenly King got back on her feet, limping slightly after having her behind slapped that hard. However, she was even more shocked about another thing.

"What is your actual cultivation level? A king of god? Wait, no, not even a king of god could be this strong!"

Alex replied, "I'm just a Nascent Soul."

In reality, his Nascent Soul wasn't the ordinary Nascent Soul. That was because his current cultivation journey would no longer have anything like Spirit Severing, Tribulation Crossing, Immortalization, or other basic cultivation levels. He was on the path of the Kojin.

"What exactly is the secret of the Siddhartha realm?" Alex asked.

"It's the Dairaionji Temple!" The Peacock Heavenly King glared at him, then spoke up again. "The temple has been engulfing the Siddhartha realm. And with time, more and more of the realm was being engulfed, at a quicker and quicker pace!"

"The Dairaionji Temple must be doing something big. The entire Siddhartha realm will end up within the temple's radius very soon."

Hearing this, Alex frowned slightly.

After defeating the evil Bodhi, Alex didn't really take problems within the temple into consideration. That was because he became the temple owner after killing that evil Bodhi. As long as he could find the entrance, he would be able to search control the entire temple with just his mind. He couldn't understand why the Dairaionji Temple would engulf the Siddhartha realm. There was no record of this within the evil Bodhi's memories.

"How did you find out?" Shelly asked.

The king chuckled coldly. "I have my own ways! More importantly, the Siddhartha realm isn't the only target. The Brightya Mountain, the Ancient Sea, and the South Divine Sky are being targeted too."

Shelly gasped. “That many? But those are Starnest Nodes. What is the Dairaionji Temple trying to do?”

Alex asked, “What are Starnest Nodes?”

This was not the first time he had heard about the Starnest since the Peacock Heavenly King had mentioned this on their first encounter.

Shelly said, “The Divine Starnest is where planets are born, the beginning of every world... And Starnest Nodes are considered the pillars of this place, ensuring the Starnest to function properly.”

“Once these pillars are gone, the Starnest would crumble, affecting all the different worlds. Drastic changes would occur, and it would turn into a big disaster.”

Alex was appalled. They continued asking the Peacock King. “You mentioned you found out where the temple entrance was?”

The king replied. “In the nether realm.”

Shelly exclaimed. “Alex, we can’t drag this on any longer. Once all the nodes are engulfed, the entire universe would be doomed. This is a million times worse than the Undead invasion.”

Alex asked, “How do we get to the nether realm?”

Shelly said, “We can use Persephone’s Folly Bridge to get there! But the average person wouldn’t be able to handle the overwhelming Yin energy in the nether realm.”

Alex replied, “No worries, I can just go down there myself.”

A day later, Alex bid his goodbyes to his family and went on yet another trip. This time, only he, Shelly, and the Peacock Heavenly King were going.

The king remained unaffected by the energy in the nether realm because she had been blessed by the Buddha. She had three balls of holy light within her body that could help prevent corrosion within the realm.

“Persephone’s Folly Bridge, activate!” Shelly led the way as Alex followed behind. Instead, the Peacock Heavenly King turned into a chubby peacock, with three rays of light on her head, strutting elegantly.

“Revealer Maha is still on the road to the nether realm, right?”

After getting to the end of the bridge, they were finally on their way toward the nether realm. However, just as they entered the area, Alex and the group were surrounded by some nether troops.

Whoosh!

Several weapons were aimed toward the three with pairs of furious eyes. These troops were obviously filled with malicious intent.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 3410

“Uhm, what’s happening?”

The three were simply confused by their current situation. Despite this, the nether troops were already attacking them with hundreds of ghostly swords.

“Oh sh*t!”

“Persephone’s Folly Bridge, Water of River Styx, come to me!”

Shelly immediately brought out both of her treasures to form a River Styx boundary, holding those countless troops off. She then yelled towards them. “We are Ksitigarbha’s older troops, please stop right now!”

The leader of the soldiers shouted back. “Bullsh*t, are you trying to trick us again? Last time you used a sh*tty excuse to earn Old Lady Meng’s trust too, then stole her stove from her! How dare you try and trick us again? Capture them!”

The ghostly swords were filled with a deadly Chi, as the soldiers swung it towards Alex’s head.

The peacock asked, “What do they mean by that? Someone already came by and tricked them?”

Alex was speechless. “Why would that person trick her into giving them a stove? Do they want to cook something, right here of all places?”

Shelly couldn't bear the impact any longer, especially since the law power in the nether realm was different. She might be a Starlord, but she was no Nether King. She shouted to him. "Then prove it to them!"

Alex immediately understood what she meant and activated the holy energy and divine power in his body. With this, a gold phantom of a Buddha appeared behind him, as loud holy chants echoed through the air. The Buddha phantom looked stern and pure, as it cleansed the minds and souls of everyone present.

"Divine Melody!"

"Ksitigarbha's Ten Wheels Earth Incantation?!"

Seeing this, the leader of the troops finally believed that Alex was Ksitigarbha's disciple. Ksitigarbha did, in fact, only have one disciple after all, and none could ever fake the power of divinity.

"Halt!" The leader raised his arm, gesturing for the troops to stop. He then bowed to Alex and said, "I didn't expect the true Ksitigarbha's disciple to be here. Sorry if we offended you just now..."

Finally, Shelly let out a sigh of relief and put down the River Styx water barrier.

The peacock strutted forward and spoke in human tongue. "Hey boy... You just said someone was posing as Ksitigarbha to scam others, right? And that they even stole Old Lady Meng's stove? What exactly happened then?"

Alex and Shelly rolled their eyes at the same time. 'You're a Peacock Heavenly King, for god's sake. Why are you flirting with this random soldier? Have you no shame?'

The nether leader was furious. "It was so infuriating. Some guy who called himself Alex Rockefeller came to our city recently. He messed around and caused a disturbance in our realm. Not only did he trick Old Lady Meng, he even kidnapped King Sandro's concubine!"

"That b*stard... A few days ago, someone even saw him coming to the nether road. God knows what he's up to. If we don't bring King Sandro's concubine back soon, our salaries will be demoted three levels below our current ranks! We wouldn't even be able to afford anything at that point!"

Alex froze. “Did you just say... Alex Rockefeller?”

Shelly and the Peacock Heavenly King found this odd too.

The leader replied, “Yeah, he claimed to be from California and that he was the Ksitigarbha’s disciple. F*ck, he made it sound so real. Who would’ve known he was a fraud?”

‘Sh*t!’ Alex was annoyed. ‘Who could that be? How dare they come to the nether realm and pose as me?’

Suddenly, he thought of someone, Jade’s godson and Phoenix’s brother, Blaze Rowan.

‘That guy came to the nether realm to look for his mother, Lucretia Ephemera.’

“That brat!”
