

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0351

Norman was really livid as he was about to explode with rage. He wasn't just anybody. After all, he was the young heir of Star Entertainment. The security car in the back was for mere servants, how could someone like him sit in such a car? If this news were to be spread to the public, wouldn't he become a laughing stock?

In the end, Bunty offered her seat and let Norman sit in the back seat. Then, she ran to the security car in the back.

Although Zendaya didn't want to let Norman in the minivan, she could only bear with it. On the surface, she knew she had to be nice and polite toward Norman, but deep down, she was quite satisfied with Alex's domineering actions toward him.

At 4:10 p.m., Zendaya and her team, in three cars, had arrived at the entrance of California State Stadium. There were still three hours till the concert started, yet many of Zendaya's super fan groups and all kinds of paparazzi had almost crowded the entrance.

A variety of welcome banners were raised as they were accompanied by the cheers of the fans from all walks of life.

As soon as they saw Zendaya's car fleet, everyone rushed over like waves.

“Zendaya! Zendaya! I love you!”

“You’re the best, Zendaya! You can do this, Zendaya!”

The atmosphere had livened up and risen to its peak immediately, it was even more shocking than any movie scene.

Alex could see Beatrice within the crowd with his sharp eyes. She was really worthy of the title of hardcore fan, she wore an outfit that was probably designed by a fan club, she had even painted Zendaya’s portrait onto her face. While holding a flower banner in her hands, she screamed hysterically like a maniac.

Alex then took a glance at Zendaya through the rearview mirror.

He thought, ‘If this woman were to find out that that shrieking idiot outside is my sister-in-law, she might burst into laughter!’

The on-site security guards and the officials, who were sent over to maintain order, hurriedly raised the alert by forming a wall of human barriers to block the fans from getting in the way. This had opened up a lane for the cars to be slowly driven in, with the minivan sandwiched between the two other security cars.

Just then, many fans started throwing the fresh flowers that were prepared in their hands. Party poppers were blasted one after another, as if this were some grand outdoor party.

Just then, many fans started throwing the fresh flowers that were prepared in their hands. Party poppers were blasted one after another, as if this were some grand outdoor party.

Alex, who was in the passenger seat, could clearly see Beatrice not only threw the fresh flowers at them, but she even went as far as to take off her jacket and danced around like a complete idiot... As the car fleet slowly approached Beatrice, Alex was worried that she might recognize him, hence he immediately put on his shades. With this, not even Dorothy could recognize him.

"F*ck, I hate these hardcore fans the most. They're like hordes of zombies. I wish I could just step on the pedal and run them over," Norman, who was sitting in the backseat, said with an obviously annoyed expression.

Autumn smiled. “You’re right, Mr. Hansen. These people really are despicable. However, if you were to treat them like stacks of cash, you’d feel much better, right?”

In that instant, Norman smiled smugly. “You’re so right, Autumn. These hardcore fans would actually do anything for our Zendaya. They wouldn’t mind going bankrupt. Heck, they wouldn’t even mind selling their organs just to come see her! We could only make this much money because of them. Looks like they aren’t all that annoying after all. We should welcome them warmly!”

With that, he even turned to the window and shouted, “Hey! Hello everybody!”

Zendaya frowned but she did not say a word. She obviously disagreed with what Norman said about her fans.

Alex, on the other hand, deeply sympathized with hardcore fans like Beatrice.

Squeal!

As the minivan was driven forward, they were only half a meter away from Beatrice, who was being blocked aside.

Through the car window, Beatrice and Alex met eyes for a brief moment, despite the shades.

“Holy sh*t! Who is this guy? He looks ridiculous!”

“Yeah, I saw him too! When did a masked man join Zendaya’s private team?”

“Let’s not care about him, he might just be some ugly bodyguard!”

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0352

Beatrice was talking to several California fan club fans beside her. Then, the crowd followed the car fleet as they slowly walked into the stadium. Many fans even jumped excitedly to look at the car fleet, but all they could see was the lifeless car boot.

After entering California State Stadium, Zendaya’s team busily began making preparations for the concert. Alex found a stool and sat three meters away from Zendaya. He maintained a cold expression throughout the preparation, as if he were a stranger that must not be approached.

Zendaya’s team members dared not approach him after Bunty showed her aura of disgust and hatred toward Alex. They were worried that they might not be able to stay in the team if Bunty were to hold a grudge against them.

Zendaya, on the other hand, was curious about Alex's relationship with Anna.

More importantly, she wanted to know if there was something going on between Alex and Anna because she wanted to help her brother to check on Anna.

"Hey, so how did you and Anna meet?" Zendaya asked Alex as the makeup artist did her makeup.

Alex took a glance at her, yet he didn't bother to even speak a word.

The makeup artist pouted and murmured, "Who is this guy? Who does he think he is to be so smug and arrogant than Zendaya?"

Zendaya was frustrated as well. She was an international idol who was adored by millions. Many local ministers even treated her with utmost respect too. When was she being treated so coldly like this?

She didn't show it on her face, but she was about to explode in anger.

"Then, can you tell me who Anna is to you?" She asked again.

“None of your business!” Alex replied with merely four words this time.

Norman, who was aside, couldn't no longer sit back and chided, “You f*cker! Do you really think you're some kind of hotshot? Having Zendaya to ask you questions is an honor! You really have a stroke of good fortune to be able to talk to such a famous idol, it must be a blessing of your previous eight lifetimes! Yet, here you are acting high and mighty! Who do you think you are? I get even more upset as I watch this any further. If you dare, fight me one on one!”

Alex replied calmly, “You don't have what it takes.”

“F*ck! ”Overwhelmed with anger, Norman felt as if he had suffered from internal injury due to Alex's harsh words.

If weren't for the concert was about to start and Norman realized that he might make Zendaya unhappy, he would have ordered Bruce to cripple this bastard and throw him into a dumpster overnight.

“Bruce, listen up. When you get the chance later, beat up this bastard for me!”

“I want him to be paralyzed in bed for at least three months!” Norman leaned closer and whispered into Bruce’s ear.

The concert started as per scheduled at 7:30 pm.

After a full makeover, Zendaya looked absolutely stunning. Alex had seen her on television multiple times and even watched an ancient fantasy series starring her, yet none could compete with her stunning look in real person.

He had to admit that Zendaya was an ethereal beauty after putting on makeup. The makeup artist was truly skilled!

“Hello my California pals! How are all of you?”

With Zendaya’s casual greeting, the whole California State Stadium roared with excitement, with countless cheers and screams from the fans. While standing backstage, Alex, who was wearing a mask, was shocked to see the massive crowd attending this concert as he stared down the audience.

After a brief moment, Zendaya started singing the song that granted her fame, “Galaxies For You”.

This song had been trending all over the whole country for quite a while, even Alex knew how to sing it. However, as soon as Zendaya opened her mouth, Alex was shocked to his core, with his mouth agape... Her voice was completely different to when he heard this song on the radio. The song had already sounded amazing on the radio, yet her live vocals were mesmerising, as if one’s soul would shudder and resonate as they danced with her melodious singing.

Just then, a whim struck Alex, his expression changed. “This is mental power! Zendaya’s singing contains mental powers! What’s more terrifying is that her mental powers have enveloped the whole stadium!”

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0353

Alex was in extreme shock.

With a mixed expression, his eyes were fixated on Zendaya, who was passionately singing on the stage. He initially thought that she was just a popular female star at best, only then did he realize that it was wrong for him to underestimate her abilities. This woman’s power was simply insane.

Alex could only sense her immense powers because he had been cultivating his mental powers lately. Or else, he wouldn’t be able to figure out the extent of her mental powers.

Well, the mental power that Alex had used on Bunty earlier could only travel two meters at most. It could be just known as a simple release of mental powers. However, the strength of the mental power would depreciate drastically if it had travelled over two meters. The said power could be almost negligible if it were to travel further than ten meters.

Meanwhile, at the scene, the distance between Zendaya and the end of the stadium was at least a hundred meters. Her powers could travel such a long distance despite the disruptions, just how powerful was her mental powers?

It was really immeasurable.

No wonder Zendaya could become such a famous female singer. All her concerts were fully occupied, the said concert tickets were extremely hard to be obtained.

This reason actually lay within here.

Alex then turned to look at the audience under the stage. None of them moved, they just focused on Zendaya's performance, indulging in her beautiful singing... This scene looked extremely odd and creepy, as if tens of thousands of people at the scene could not move their bodies at all as their minds were tranced by Zendaya's singing.

Alex was affected as well. It was as if he could feel the artistic conception, Zendaya's thoughts, and emotions that she wanted to express in her singing.

The song ended, only then did everyone snap back into reality as if they had just woken up from a dream.

During the performance, everyone felt like they had experienced a journey of love beyond time and space. They could feel the unswerving vow between the male protagonist and the female protagonist, till it faded into endless yearning... That's right, Zendaya's "Galaxies For You" was about a sad and hopeless romantic tragedy where the male protagonist was exiled to the ruins of the universe and the female protagonist, on the other hand, waited loyally for him to come back to her some day. In the end, the man had travelled through galaxies just to see her again, yet the woman had fallen sick due to lovesickness, and ended up passing away before he could see her.

Everyone at the scene, except a few, had tears streaming down their faces. In the next moment, they gave thunderous claps.

"Zendaya! Zendaya! I love you!"

"I would devote my life just to you!"

Countless Zendaya's fans started shouting and the endless waves of glow sticks lit up the whole stadium.

After that, everything had gone fairly well during the concert, nothing unexpected happened at all. Even Alex himself thought that Anna had gotten her hand on the wrong information, there didn't seem to be any so-called foreign hitmen who were after Zendaya.

At this moment, the concert had gone through multiple highs throughout the night, the invited guest stars had appeared on stage one by one as well. The last session of the concert was a meet-and-greet with fans, three lucky fans were invited to go up the stage.

To Alex's surprise, his sister-in-law, Beatrice, was one of the three lucky fans. He could see that she was extremely excited, with her eyes glistening and even her lips were trembling.

'This little brat, does she want to get into the entertainment industry after graduation?' Alex couldn't help but secretly think.

At this moment, a sudden change occurred. Sudden loud cries could be heard from the south area of the stadium. As he turned to the cries, he could see a few sparks were initiated from afar, causing a large fire in an instant.

"Fire! Fire!"

Some screamed, the crowd started to panic as well.

Some of their clothes caught fire, so they hurriedly rolled on the ground to put it out.

This wasn't much of a big deal in the first place, the security team was large enough to deal with just a mere fire. There were many fire extinguishers at the side to instantly extinguish the fire. However, it was almost at the same time, more than seven other areas in the stadium caught fire as well.

It was obvious that someone had started a fire on purpose.

The alarm rang through the stadium, countless audience scrambled to rush out of the entrance in a panic, causing injuries as they pushed and stepped on others.

Beatrice and the other two lucky fans were stunned.

Alex, on the other hand, rushed to Zendaya as soon as he noticed the sparks.

Autumn and the other female bodyguards only reacted after the fire. They rushed out from backstage and shouted, "Protect our lady! Retreat! Retreat!"

Suddenly, a large metal rack crashed down from the ceiling above.

Boom!

With a loud crash, it happened to fall onto the heads of the three female bodyguards who rushed over.

With a fierce dash, Autumn was able to narrowly escape the grave danger, yet the other two weren't that lucky. One of them had her head smashed into a pile of bloody goop and died there and then, with blood splattering everywhere. The other had her legs crushed by the rack, she fell on the ground and kept crying for help.

Everyone on the stage froze.

Zendaya was still quite calm. Being born into the Stoermer family, she had seen quite a few scenarios as such. However, to a fangirl like Beatrice, it was absolutely terrifying to watch a living person be smashed to death, with blood splattering all over her. No one could imagine the terror she was feeling now, unless they were to experience it themselves.

“This way!” Alex grabbed Zendaya with one hand and Beatrice with the other as they ran toward the left side of the stage.

Beatrice was puzzled for a while, she didn’t understand why this masked man had to drag her along.

However, it was a matter of life and death, she didn’t have the leisure to react at all, she could only get dragged away like a mummy.

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0354

Zendaya didn’t put much thought into it either, she figured that Alex just did it on a whim.

Just then, a black figure swooped down on top of their heads, trying to assault them.

“Assassin!” Alex let go of Zendaya as his Chi went rampant.

“Dragon-Tusk Punch, full power!”

Wham!

The assassin came in a flash, yet was defeated in the bat of an eye.

With just one punch from Alex, many of his bones were fractured. He spat blood in the mid-air as he was sent flying back. After falling to the ground, he took his last breath.

Autumn’s angry yell could be heard from behind. “Hey bastard! What is wrong with you? Why aren’t you protecting our lady? Why are you even dragging this hardcore fan around?”

Alex turned to her with a sharp glare, his aura was terrifying. “What does it have to do with you? You better mind your own business first. Your companion is gravely injured over there, are you just going to leave her?”

“This rack is too big, how am I supposed to save her? Protecting our lady is our utmost priority, let’s just go!”

Alex turned to the yelping female bodyguard, he just couldn’t bear leaving her like that.

Taking one step forward, he grabbed the heavy, twenty meters long rack with his hands and stomped hard to the ground.

“Lift!” The metal rack that weighed at least a thousand pounds was lifted by him with brute force.

The other few people, who were standing aside, were appalled.

Beatrice’s eyes widened, her face was plastered with disbelief. “How could any human have such tremendous strength?”

The female bodyguard immediately crawled out by using every bit of strength she had left. With this, Alex had done everything he could.

“Let’s go!”

At this moment, the stadium was already in a complete mess. The audience and the fans couldn't care less about Zendaya, they wished dearly they could grow more limbs so that they could escape from this hellhole as soon as possible.

The security team and officials were pushed aside and knocked over by the panicked crowd, they were of no use in control of the crowd.

Boom!

With another crash, an even larger metal rack fell from above and blocked the left passage to the back stage. Even the stage had been cratered by the impact of the rack.

Zendaya, Beatrice and the other two fans had chills down their spines, with their feet trembling in fear.

"To the right! To the right!" Autumn yelled.

Just then, about seven to eight men rushed over from the stage below. All of them had different skin tones and hairstyles. However, they were all wearing masks like Alex. At first glance, it looked as if Alex was one of them.

“Miss Zendaya, just take initiative and come with us so that no other innocent people would get hurt!” A blonde man with blue eyes spoke in fluent English.

Boom!

At the same time, Norman’s bodyguard, Bruce, finally rushed out from the back stage. Norman, on the other hand, shouted Zendaya’s name at the right passage.

“Let’s go!” Autumn grabbed Zendaya’s arm and hurriedly rushed over.”

Beatrice and the others caught up with them too.

Bruce smiled smugly toward Alex. “Hey kiddo, do you dare to stay here and fight off these punks together?”

Alex initially wanted to stay back to kill all of them, he did not mind if they had to cooperate to do so.

“Kill them, make it quick!” The leader of the assassins ordered.

However, just as the assassins were about to attack, Bruce suddenly used the thick bat, which was as thick as a calf, in his hands and swung it at Alex next to him.

Wham!

Alex's waist area got hit, his body flung forward hard due to an incomparable, immense brute force.

"This is the price of talking back to Mr. Hansen, kiddo!" Bruce laughed hysterically and retreated with his bat in his hands.

Just as everyone else was stunned, Bruce rushed to the passage. Norman, who had been preparing well for a while just for this moment, immediately closed the door shut after Bruce had entered.

Zendaya turned around and realized that Alex wasn't with them. So, she asked, "Where did that guy go?"

The Pinnacle of Life – Chapter 0355

Bruce might be a big fellow who looked like an idiot, yet he was quite cunning and had many bad ideas running through his head.

Upon hearing Zendaya's question, he replied, "That arrogant kiddo thought that I would get in his way, so he chased me out. He wanted to handle those guys alone."

Autumn nodded and said, "That's right, this is indeed his arrogant trait. Zendaya, there's no time to lose, we have to hurry."

Bruce led the whole group to the exit whereas Autumn dragged Zendaya with her. On the hand, Norman took a glance at the stage and spat onto the ground before quickly following the others.

'Dumbass, this is what you get for going against me!'

That was Norman's thought at the moment.

Beatrice and the other two lucky fans could only look at each other as they did not know what to do. They weren't sure if they should follow the group, or stay there.

"What do we do? I'm so scared. "

"Those people are after Zendaya. We might walk right into danger if we were to follow them. Why don't we just hide for now?"

“Hey, you there. Do you know the masked guy who dragged you earlier? You... You should just go. Don't come near us, or you'll put us in danger!”

Beatrice had been targeted.

Of course, anyone would prioritise their lives more than anything, especially when one was facing a matter of life and death.

Beatrice was about to cry. Listening to the screams and loud crashes like house demolition coming from the stage, her heart jumped in fear and shock. She suddenly remembered that Alex had warned her to not come to the concert yesterday.

‘Jerk, he must have jinxed it!’ Beatrice thought.

“But I don't know who that masked guy is! ” Beatrice said panickily.

MicroRF Anti-Aging Device

However, the two didn't believe her one bit. One of them even picked up a stick on the ground and pointed at her as she shouted, "Are you going to get lost or not? If you don't, I'll beat you to death!"

Beatrice was horrified, all she could do was run toward the exit.

The other two fans then looked for a place to hide after chasing Beatrice out.

Just as Beatrice rushed out of the passage, Alex kicked the shut door open and sent it flying. Alex, who was completely drenched in blood, walked into the passage. Of course, none of the blood on his body belonged to him. However, his clothes were quite torn.

At this moment, he was in a towering rage with an angry expression on his face.

Since the moment Alex met Bruce, he did not trust Bruce and had been defensive around him. Because of this, he was able to activate the Mystic Armor as soon as Bruce hit him with a bat.

If he hadn't activated it in time, the blow would have broken his spine.

This man actually tried to ambush Alex at such a situation, it was obvious as to how evil and cunning he was... Alex knew he had to take revenge.

At this moment, the stage was filled with corpses of those hitmen, there were six in total. All of their corpses looked horrifying, all their limbs were broken and even lost parts of their bodies.

The female bodyguard, who had her legs crushed by the thousand pound metal rack earlier, was now drenched in blood as she laid on the ground, suffering fractures in multiple areas.

Facing the nine assassins, Alex used the metal rack as a weapon and swung it violently at them.

The sight of his attacks at the time were insanely shocking.

All the assassins couldn't help but feel that their minds were being trampled on by a stampede of llamas. Were they certain that they did not go into a wrong superhero movie set where The Hulk went on a rampage? Why else could there be such a maniac whose body did not look sturdy, yet he had immense strength of a brute?

Six of the assassins had died from the impact caused by Alex's metal rack.

The other three dared not stay any longer to await their demise, so they hurriedly rushed and blended with the crowd.

Did no one in the audience see any of this?

Of course they did, furthermore it was not a minority! It was just that everyone was busy escaping, most only caught a glimpse of the scene and rushed outside with the others... This was all due to the fire in the stadium having already gone out of control.

Just as Beatrice walked out of the passage, she noticed Zendaya and the others were standing in certain positions inside the inner stadium, with a few men blocking their way.

At first glance, these men were foreigners, all of them were carrying weapons as well. One of them was even holding a bow... Zendaya's female bodyguard, who was next to her, had an arrow in her stomach and was currently holding onto her wound as she arched forward with a painful expression.
