

You Owe Me, My Love Chapter 1 - 5

Your husband and I are in room 1108 of Shangri-La, doing what we love to do. Bai Rong, why won't you just get a divorce? Are you that cheap? You couldn't keep his body nor his heart.

Bai Rong stood in front of room 1108 with an indifferent expression as she looked at the text message on her phone.

Her long eyelashes covered the darkness in her eyes as she showed no emotion.

The sound of the door opening could be heard.

Su Xuyan came out with his arms wrapped around his charming assistant.

He paused as he saw Bai Rong, and then smiled at her, "Did you come to catch me cheating again? Why don't you come in? It's so hot outside. Aren't you tired from standing?"

Bai Rong looked at him indifferently, "I didn't want to spoil your fun. It would be awful if you couldn't erect after seeing me. But is your disease cured already?"

Su Xuyan had a dull expression when he heard her curse, "Bai Rong, you were the one who was unclean. Why are you being so sarcastic now?"

Bai Rong laughed, feeling her tears would flow out anytime.

Three years ago, his ex-girlfriend kidnapped her.

While she tried to escape, her virginity was taken by a masked man.

At the same time, she watched as Su Xuyan's car stopped nearby. He was having sex with a woman in the car, and that woman was the kidnapper.

She felt her heart being stabbed with a knife as she watched the car shake wildly.

She could even tell the timing of each thrust from it.

She didn't know how she had come over that day, and could still feel the pain whenever she thought about it.

"I'm sorry if it makes you feel uncomfortable. I'm used to being sarcastic like this." Bai Rong raised her chin lazily.

Su Xuyan had a cold look in his eyes, "What are you doing here? Don't tell me you're just here to spoil my fun?"

"I'm afraid you're right. Your intuition has always been spot on." Bai Rong smiled calmly.

"Piss off!" Su Xuyan said angrily.

Bai Rong retrieved a document from her bag and handed it to Su Xuyan.

Su Xuyan did not take it and asked her cautiously, "What is this?"

"About her." Bai Rong glanced at Su Xuyan's assistant.

"What about me?" The assistant wrapped her arms around Su Xuyan's.

She had heard that Bai Rong was his wife, who was never favored by the man at all.

In fact, Su Xuyan seemed to be disgusted by her today.

So she had nothing to fear.

Bai Rong waved the document in her hand, "You're the infamous filthy secretary of Su City. Eighty percent of the wealthy businessmen in Su City have slept with you, and one of them was diagnosed with AIDS last month."

The secretary's face went deathly pale.

Bai Rong then turned to look at Su Xuyan, "You did use condom, right? If not, I know a doctor. Would you like me to introduce him to you?"

Su Xuyan took the document from Bai Rong, narrowed his eyes and shot her a fierce look as he threw it at her face, "You always have a way of making people unhappy."

Bai Rong stood straight.

When the paper hit her on the face, it hurt more than she expected.

She sneered, "You know me. I'm counting on you to spend the rest of your life unhappy."

"Then for me to be happy, I must do something that makes you even more unhappy. I won't go home today, so you don't have to wait for me." Su Xuyan said angrily.

He turned around and walked towards the elevator.

Bai Rong just stood there with an indifferent look on her face.

She knew what he meant when he said not to wait for him.

He would be spending the night at another woman's place, getting their scent on him.

Ever since she lost her virginity, he had never touched her again.

In his eyes, she was no better than a filthy secretary.

A mist gradually formed in her cold eyes.

She didn't cry or complain, but she still felt the pain.

Su Xuyan's assistant slapped her on the face.

Bai Rong was caught off guard. She took a few steps back and leaned against the wall.

"You b*! You think you can win his heart over by ruining me?" The assistant clenched her fists angrily.

"I don't even want that scumbag's heart." Bai Rong slapped the assistant back on the face, "I'm not someone you can mess with!"

"Then why won't you get a divorce?" The assistant shouted.

"You don't have the right to know that yet. This information will be exposed on the internet tomorrow. Take care." Bai Rong said coldly, and walked out of the hotel.

It was late at night.

She pulled her clothes tighter, and walked on the empty road while the moonlight stretched her shadow.

She felt lonely.

Going home would only make her feel even more uncomfortable.

She decided to sleep in the hospital's duty room. As she entered the office, she switched on the light.

A soldier in a green uniform ran over with a solemn expression and asked anxiously, "Are you the gynecologist on duty?"

His anxiousness made Bai Rong uneasy as well, "What's wrong? How could I help you?"

"A pregnant woman is held hostage nearby, and her water just broke. The situation is very critical and requires immediate medical attention. Please come with me." The soldier said urgently.

It was indeed very dangerous for a pregnant woman if her water broke.

Bai Rong didn't have time to think, "I'll go with you after I get my first aid kit. Give me five minutes."

Soon after, she followed the soldier to a garden complex near the hospital.

There were about a dozen soldiers standing there with a solemn look on their faces.

They were well trained as they stood still while waiting for instructions from their superiors.

Bai Rong was led into room 802, which was opposite to room 801 where the event was taking place.

At a glance, she could see a man giving out commands.

He had a tough looking face and a sharp look in his eyes. His facial features were like a perfect artwork in the hands of a sculptor, shockingly handsome.

She was curious about the men who were listening to him attentively. Among them was a colonel with three epaulets on his shoulders.

Wouldn't that make him the General then?

The man's sharp gaze shifted towards her.

Bai Rong was taken aback and lowered her head.

He walked straight towards her, and the tall shadow formed by his huge figure enveloped her oppressively.

This reminded her of the masked man from that night, as he had a similarly strong build as well.

So it was pointless for her to struggle.

"Raise your head." Gu Mingchen ordered.

His eagle-like eyes stared at her delicate face, and his tight lips gave him an angry look.

Under his pressure, Bai Rong lifted her head to look at him.

His face looked cold and his sharp eyes instilled fear in people.

This was the first time she had seen a man able to strike fear into others without even having to speak.

"I'm a doctor, not a criminal." Bai Rong said.

A light flashed in Gu Mingchen's eyes as he ordered his subordinates sternly, "Let her go, and bring in someone else."

Bai Rong didn't understand, "What's wrong with me?"

"We're up against three drug cartel bosses in there who would kill without any hesitation. Do you have the guts to go in there?" Gu Mingchen asked.

"Why wouldn't I?" Bai Rong shot back.

Gu Mingchen frowned and grabbed her chin as he leaned closer, "Think carefully before you answer me. This isn't a drill, and the chances of you making it out alive is extremely slim."

His presence was overwhelming as he breathed down on her lips.

Bai Rong was as stubborn as an ox.

The more someone looked down on her, the more she wanted to prove herself.

"I wouldn't have come here if I was afraid of dying." She answered directly as she looked at him straight in the eyes fearlessly.

Gu Mingchen frowned as he stared at her.

His pupils were so dark that she could see her own reflection in them.

You Owe Me, My Love Chapter 2

"I'll escort her inside." Gu Mingchen changed his mind three seconds later.

He let go of her and pushed her back by a step.

"No, you can't!" Everyone said.

Lieutenant Shang reminded him, "Chief, it's too dangerous for you to go in. If the deputy commander finds out, we won't be able to explain it to him!"

“Stop talking nonsense. It’s equally dangerous for anyone who enters. Remain on standby!” Gu Mingchen decisively ordered.

“But Chief.....” Just when Lieutenant Shang was about to say something, Gu Mingchen shot him a cold stare.

Lieutenant Shang shut up immediately and nodded helplessly, “Yes, sir.”

Gu Mingchen grabbed Bai Rong’s arm and pulled her towards room 801.

Bai Rong knocked on the door, while he held her hand.

It felt as if there was an electric current flowing through the back of her hand.

Bai Rong pulled her hand back in shock.

She was not used to being touched by men.

Gu Mingchen gave her a cold stare in response to her act of rejection.

He turned on the voice recorder on his phone and said without emotion, “Before you go in, say your last words. If you die, we will send it to your family.”

“Send it to my husband.” Bai Rong said coldly as she took the phone from Gu Mingchen.

“Su Xuyan, I hope we never meet again in the next life. Donate my entire body. I don’t care if it’s used for dissections or organ transplants. I hope to not see you again.” Bai Rong finished her sentences and returned the phone to Gu Mingchen.

He gave her a strange look. “Is there anything else you want to say?”

The look in Bai Rong’s eyes softened a little, “Give all of my remaining money to my mother. If possible, I hope you guys can take care of her.”

“Sure.” Gu Mingchen promised.

Bai Rong felt relieved and nodded at the door, “We can go in now.”

"The woman being held hostage inside is the girlfriend of a high-ranking official, so we must ensure the safety of her and her baby. You will not be in danger until I am. You have my word on that." Gu Mingchen said in a deep voice.

Bai Rong paused and stared deeply into his eyes.

It felt as though she had peered into a deep and endless abyss.

She also felt a bit melancholic.

An extremely handsome guy had just said to her 'You will not be in danger until I am'.

Even though he was a stranger, such a promise was bound to bring some warmth to anyone's heart.

Especially when her heart felt barren and cold right now.

"I'm not afraid." Bai Rong smiled slightly, "But still, thanks."

"Don't mention it." Gu Mingchen said.

He pulled Bai Rong behind him and knocked on the door.

The door was opened slightly.

"Let the woman come in alone." The person inside said.

"She needs an assistant in order to perform the surgery. It will just be the two of us." Gu Mingchen negotiated.

"No. Who knows what tricks you guys might pull?"

"And let your only hostage die?" Gu Mingchen said coldly.

His tone was so commanding and powerful that it would make anyone shudder.

The person hesitated for a few seconds.

“Okay, you’ve got some guts. Come in!”

Gu Mingchen pushed the door open and went in.

A pistol was pointed at his head.

Bai Rong looked at him worryingly, but his expression remained unchanged.

The guy with the crew cut searched Gu Mingchen, and did not find any weapon on him.

“You’d better not try anything funny.” He put his gun away.

“It hurts. Help me! Help me!” The pregnant woman’s cry came from the master bedroom.

Bai Rong rushed into the master bedroom.

The curtains were drawn inside.

The lights in the room were not switched on, and it was very dim.

Two men had their guns pointed at her.

Bai Rong walked towards the pregnant lady, whose face was pale as she clutched her stomach. The bed was wet, “Help me, I don’t want to die!”

“Let me see the latest ultrasound image.” Bai Rong said urgently.

“It’s... In the drawer...” The pregnant lady was sweating profusely.

Bai Rong opened the drawer, and a picture frame was on top of the ultrasound image.

In the picture frame, was a photo of a pregnant woman and Su Xuyan.

Bai Rong was slightly startled.

So the high-ranking official was Su Xuyan.

And that pregnant woman was another one of her husband’s women.

"Doctor, please help me! It hurts so much!" The pregnant woman held Bai Rong's hand.

Bai Rong regained her composure as she took a look at the ultrasound image, and her expression changed.

"The fetal position is not ideal. The umbilical cord is wrapped around the baby's neck, so you cannot give birth the normal way and must have a caesarean section. Also, your condition is critical so we can only administer general anesthesia instead of local anesthesia." Bai Rong said as she opened the first aid kit.

The thugs snatched the first aid kit from her and checked it for weapons before they returned it.

The pregnant lady shook her head, her eyes reddened as she begged, "Can I not have a caesarean section? He likes women without scars on their bodies."

He likes women without scars on their bodies?

That was Su Xuyan indeed.

"The baby will suffocate that way." Bai Rong said coldly.

The pregnant lady gritted her teeth and said with a vicious look in her eyes, "Then let it suffocate."

Bai Rong frowned as she felt disgusted, "That's your child that you have carried in you for nine months, and is alive."

"What good would the child do if I don't get his love? It will only hold me back! I don't want to have scars!" The pregnant woman shouted with certainty.

Her stomach hurt even more from the agitation.

Bai Rong gritted her teeth as she retrieved the anesthetic from the first aid kit and drew some of it into the syringe.

"Then I can only say I am sorry. As a doctor, I can't do that. To me, he is already a living human being!" Bai Rong said coldly.

She emptied the air in the syringe and prepared to inject the woman with it.

Gu Mingchen grabbed her wrist, and looked at her with concern in his eyes.

He knew the importance of satisfying the very important person.

Her stubbornness would earn her a lifetime of lawsuits.

“Do what she says. She’s our priority.” Gu Mingchen reminded her.

Bai Rong tried to shake his hand off but failed to.

She got angry and looked firmly into his eyes, “I am an obstetrician-gynecologist! It is my responsibility to deliver the baby! If anything goes wrong later, I will take responsibility for it. Are you that afraid of being held accountable?”

Gu Mingchen was slightly taken aback.

He was not afraid to take responsibility, but he was worried something might happen to her.

He let go of her hand and said coldly, “Perform the surgery. Just say I ordered you to. I’ll pay a visit to the director of your hospital later.”

Bai Rong bent over as she put on the latex gloves and said to the thugs, “I need you all to get out, please. I will perform the operation now.”

“No, the hostage must be in our hands at all times. You’ll operate in front of us!”

“Do you think she can even run in this state?” Bai Rong was worried that the pregnant woman’s body would be completely exposed.

Hearing that, the thugs pointed their guns at Bai Rong, “One more word out of you, and I’ll shoot.”

Gu Mingchen stood in front of Bai Rong, “If you shoot her, none of you will get away either.”

The thugs hesitated.

“Doctor, the baby is coming out! Aaaaaah.....”

There was a sharp gaze in Gu Mingchen’s eyes.

It was pointless to argue.

He opened the cabinet and retrieved a green bed sheet.

He spread the sheet out and shielded Bai Rong and the pregnant woman.

“I’ll keep you covered. Perform the surgery.” Gu Mingchen said decisively.

You Owe Me, My Love Chapter 3

Bai Rong wasted no time and cut open the pregnant woman’s pants with a pair of scissors.

The baby’s legs were already coming out.

There was no time to perform a caesarean section.

The baby would suffocate if they waited any longer.

“Please bear with me for a bit.” Bai Rong injected her with the anesthetic and made a cut.

The anesthetic had not yet taken effect fully.

The pregnant woman felt the pain and shouted, “You b*, I’m going to sue you! You’ll lose your job as a doctor!”

“You can sue me after the baby is born safely. I’ll be waiting.” Bai Rong said indifferently.

She finally delivered the baby smoothly, and cut off the umbilical cord neatly.

“Wah..... Wah!” The baby cried loudly.

Bai Rong let out a smile of relief as she looked at the pregnant woman.

The woman had already fainted.

Bai Rong frowned. She quickly put the baby down and checked on the woman.

"Officer!" She cried out worriedly.

Gu Mingchen looked at Bai Rong.

There were beads of sweat on her forehead.

He had a bad feeling in his gut.

"What's wrong?" Gu Mingchen asked.

"Her blood pressure is low. We need to administer drip and hospitalize her to monitor her condition." Bai Rong reported.

Gu Mingchen looked at the thugs and said without hesitation, "Let them go. I'll be your hostage."

The three thugs looked at each other. The guy with the crew cut looked at the time on his watch.

"There's forty minutes left before the plane arrives. If we let them go and have you stay, wouldn't we end up with a time bomb on our hands?"

"I'll stay." Bai Rong said.

Gu Mingchen gave Bai Rong a confused look, but she just smiled a little and told the man, "Hurry up and rush them to the hospital, or they will both die."

"None of you are leaving!" The guy with the crew cut yelled.

Bai Rong looked at the guy, "Keeping an unconscious pregnant woman, a baby waiting to be fed, and a well-trained soldier here with you would also be a burden, wouldn't it?"

"Let them go." The older and taller guy said.

The guy with the crew cut nodded and stood aside.

Gu Mingchen stared at Bai Rong without saying anything.

He carried the woman on his back and the baby in his arms as he left quickly.

The men outside immediately responded.

They let out a sigh of relief as they saw the mother and child make it out safely.

“Get them to the hospital.” Gu Mingchen handed them over to the soldiers.

He shifted his gaze to room 801 and ordered, “Lieutenant Shang, prepare the snipers.”

“Chief, now that they have been rescued, our job is done here. You can take a break and just leave this to the anti-narcotics team.” Lieutenant Shang said respectfully.

“How can I rest when the hostage is still inside?!” Gu Mingchen shouted coldly at Lieutenant Shang.

The latter couldn’t understand why the chief was so angry.

Just like how he didn’t understand why the chief wanted to personally take part in such a mission.

“I will arrange for the snipers right away then.” Lieutenant Shang nodded as he said that.

“If you have to choose between sacrificing the safety of the hostage and letting the thugs escape, choose the latter.”

Lieutenant Shang found it even stranger now.

The chief had always been firm and would never give in to the terrorists.

Why was he acting so strangely this time?

Time went by.

Gu Mingchen stood at the window, staring out into the darkness of the night.

He had a minor accident when he went on a special mission three years ago.

He was injected with some strange, powerful drug and left out in the wilderness.

As he was losing his mind on the verge of death, she had appeared, and he took her without holding back.

When he woke up later, he was already in the military hospital.

He found her in two days' time after pulling a few strings.

She was dressed in a white wedding gown and looked as pure as an angel. Standing in the church, she exchanged rings with Su Xuyan and became his bride.

He thought she was the woman being held hostage and had come over.

But he didn't expect the woman to be the husband's mistress.

And she had chosen the safety of the husband's mistress and illegitimate child over her own.

He couldn't understand what she was thinking.

A loud bang was heard from room 801.

Gu Mingchen was shocked and quickly turned to Lieutenant Shang, "What happened in 801?"

"We're not sure yet." Lieutenant Shang said cautiously.

Gu Mingchen looked at room 802. It was facing room 801 and the rooms were about 2 meters apart.

He walked towards the kitchen and asked, "What's the status of the helicopter? How long before it arrives?"

Lieutenant Shang reported as he followed Gu Mingchen, "In thirty minutes."

Gu Mingchen kept quiet.

He placed a ladder between the two kitchens and climbed up.

"Chief, it's too dangerous for you to go in alone." Lieutenant Shang said worriedly.

Gu Mingchen glared at him, "You talk a lot of nonsense."

Lieutenant Shang said no further and ordered the soldiers, "008, 101, follow him! Protect the chief at all costs!"

"Yes, sir!" The soldiers climbed up the stairs upon command.

Lieutenant Shang was almost crying from the anxiety.

The chief had a bright future ahead of him, and could possibly even become the commander-in-chief in the future.

If something were to happen to him, the deputy commander would kill him!

Gu Mingchen jumped down the ladder, moving as fast as lightning.

In the blink of an eye, he was already leaning on the wall.

His cold gaze swept across the living room.

The guy with the crew cut was in the living room, while the other two were in the bedroom.

He crouched down, drew his knife, and dashed towards the guy with his eyes locked onto him.

The guy saw Gu Mingchen. But before he could make a sound, he was already lying on the ground.

008 and 101 immediately moved in to take care of the body.

Gu Mingchen made some hand signals at 008 and 101, and they nodded their heads.

They silently removed the curtains.

The living room was filled with light! Snipers were already on standby.

Gu Mingchen pressed his back against the wall as he moved towards the bedroom and looked inside.

Bai Rong was sitting on the bed, staring into space.

A faint and strange air of melancholy surrounded her.

Anyone would take pity on her if they saw her like that.

“Boss, why is it so quiet outside?” The yellow-haired thug took a few puffs of his cigarette and scratched his head aggressively.

The older thug stared at Bai Rong’s beautiful face.

His gaze shifted to her chest and he had a sinister look on his face, “The helicopter will arrive in half an hour. Do you want to have some fun while waiting?”

The yellow-haired thug realized what his boss meant and looked at Bai Rong, “This woman does have an amazing figure and a beautiful face. Let’s help her enjoy her final moments!”

He tossed his cigarette aside and threw himself at Bai Rong.

Gu Mingchen narrowed his eyes and was about to rush inside. But the woman calmly held a syringe to her neck and said coldly, “Come any closer and you won’t even have a hostage.”

“Go ahead, I dare you.” The yellow-haired thug was bent on having his way.

Bai Rong shoved the needle into her neck.

Seeing that, Gu Mingchen felt as if he was stabbed in his heart as a murderous intent surged through his eyes.

You Owe Me, My Love Chapter 4

The thugs were shocked by her as well and they froze where they stood.

Bai Rong gave them a sarcastic smile with a blank look in her eyes, "Come on, then. If I die, you're all dying along with me anyway."

Her indifferent attitude towards death felt as cold as the winter in December.

Gu Mingchen's eyes narrowed as he looked at her.

"Boss, I want to kill her!" The yellow-haired thug said as he clenched his fists.

The older thug stood up.

Bai Rong stood up too and walked towards the yellow-haired thug.

The atmosphere was tense.

It was like a bomb that could go off at any moment.

The older thug was shocked by her courage and pointed a gun at her, "Don't come closer!"

Bai Rong scoffed at him, then paused slightly as she noticed Gu Mingchen outside the door.

"Can I at least use the bathroom?" Bai Rong asked.

"You can do it here." The older thug said cautiously.

"You know there is actually no escape for you, right? There are dozens of snipers aiming at you from outside." Bai Rong casted a glance towards the window.

The thug was shocked and ran over to the window. He lifted the curtain slightly and looked outside.

Bai Rong seized the opportunity and ran towards the door.

The older thug realized he had been tricked and fired a shot at her leg.

But Gu Mingchen was faster and pulled her arm towards him.

She crashed right into his arms, and immediately he pulled her behind him.

The thugs saw that Gu Mingchen had returned and knew they were in danger, so they fired shots at him.

He grabbed her head and pushed her to the ground quickly.

It was a dangerous move.

But his arms cushioned her head from the fall, so it didn't hurt her at all.

His legs pressed against her side, and she felt his warm breath on her face.

Bai Rong looked into his eyes.

It felt like she was gazing into an endless abyss.

As she looked at him, she felt like she could forget about all her suffering and troubles... As well as the pain deep inside her heart.

"Why did you come back?" Bai Rong asked.

She immediately realized how stupid her question sounded.

He was a soldier. Protecting the hostages was their duty.

"Lie here near the sofa and stay still. I'll do my best to ensure your safety." Gu Mingchen promised her.

He sprinted behind a pillar, his movement as fast as a cheetah.

The desperate thugs raised their guns and fired away.

Bai Rong could only hear the loud gunfire whizzing past her ears.

Debris was falling off the pillar as it came under fire.

Gu Mingchen had no chance to return fire at all.

The older thug approached the pillar with his gun ready.

Bai Rong looked at him.

At this rate, they would both end up dead.

She took off her shoe and tossed it from behind the sofa.

The yellow-haired thug quickly shot at the sofa in response.

'Bang!'

The yellow-haired thug was shot and stumbled a bit before falling to the ground.

The older thug jumped towards the sofa.

Gu Mingchen pulled Bai Rong behind the TV cabinet.

The two huddled together in the small space.

He fired at the thug to keep them away.

Bai Rong looked up at Gu Mingchen.

She had not expected this stranger to risk everything for her safety.

Meanwhile, the husband who should have been protecting her, was enjoying himself with another woman.

Gu Mingchen noticed her gaze and lowered his head to look at her.

Their lips accidentally came into contact with each other, and it felt like an electric shock.

He straightened his back and turned his face away from her.

Bai Rong leaned against the wall as well.

Even Su Xuyan had never been this close to her.

She was able to kiss a handsome chief before dying, so it wasn't a loss for her at all.

The thug fired wildly at the TV, and it was shattered from the assault.

They were now exposed to the enemy's field of view.

Without any hesitation, Gu Mingchen quickly turned sideways and stood in front of Bai Rong. He rested her head on his chest and shielded her with his body. She was completely protected in his embrace.

Badump! Badump! Badump!

She could hear his heart beating loudly like a drum.

His unique musky scent entered her nose. It smelled very nice and brought a sense of warmth to her.

She had never felt this warm and secure ever since she grew mature.

Deep in her memories, the pain that was hidden away had returned, combined with Su Xuyan's betrayal and deceit.

She didn't mind if her life were to end here like this. At least she was able to feel the warmth that she had longed for!

Bai Rong closed her eyes and tears flowed from the corners of her eyes. This was the first time she had cried silently.

At the critical moment, two gunshots were heard.

Bang! Bang!

008 and 101 who had remained hidden under Gu Mingchen's command successfully eliminated the enemy.

They rushed over to check the body and reported back to Gu Mingchen, "Chief, the thugs had been executed."

Gu Mingchen let go of Bai Rong.

She opened her eyes and smiled slightly, "I can't believe I'm still alive."

Gu Mingchen couldn't understand why her tone sounded somewhat disappointed.

He felt a chill on his chest and noticed the damp spot on his shirt. He gave Bai Rong a surprised look.

Bai Rong stood up and looked at him. Her gaze was cold and calm, like the still surface of a pond.

Gu Mingchen got up and asked worriedly, "Are you alright?"

Bai Rong smiled, "You did a great job protecting me, Chief. I'm safe, and the mission was a success. I'll be heading back now."

She turned around.

"Give me your name and phone number. I'll have an award issued to you when I get back." Gu Mingchen said with a straight face, as if it was just a normal procedure for him.

Actually, there was no need for a chief like him to do any of that himself.

"There's no need for that. It's our duty as civilians to cooperate with the military." Bai Rong looked at the clock on the wall. It was already past 2 p.m.!

"I still have to work tomorrow, bye." Without waiting for his response, she went into the bedroom and picked up her first aid kit.

Gu Mingchen just stared at her as he stood at the door.

She walked past him without saying a word and left the room.

The room fell into silence once again, as if she had never been there.

Gu Mingchen looked at the damp spot on his shirt again. He felt a strange emotion in his heart.

"008, 101, follow her and make sure she gets home safely before you return to camp." He ordered sternly.

"Yes, sir!" 008 and 101 left quickly.

Lieutenant Shang let out a sigh of relief as he entered and stood respectfully before Gu Mingchen.

"Chief, this mission is successfully completed under your wise leadership. All 28 team members are already on standby outside. Please give us your instructions!"

"Head back." Gu Mingchen said and walked out the door.

Downstairs, a military Land Rover had been prepared.

Gu Mingchen leaned over slightly and climbed into the back seat.

When the car drove past Bai Rong, he looked out the window subconsciously.

Bai Rong was walking back to the hospital with the first aid kit in hand. She was thin and frail, but she had a carefree look when she walked.

"Lieutenant Shang." Gu Mingchen called out.

"Yes, sir!" Lieutenant Shang turned around immediately and awaited Gu Mingchen's orders.

"Do a background check on her. I want everything about her." Gu Mingchen ordered coldly.

You Owe Me, My Love Chapter 5

In a villa on the hillside of Ning District.

In the dimly lit room filled with an apple-scented fragrance.

On the pink bed with wrinkled sheets.

Su Xuyan sat with his eyes half opened. As his thick and black eyelashes covered his eyes, he didn't see Xiao Sha who had suddenly appeared before him.

She opened her rosy lips slightly.

He was like an angel made by a sculptor, with an exquisite physical appearance, a charming character, and a forever alluring smile on his face.

The woman squatting before him pleased his most sensitive nerves with her tongue as she invited him with a charming voice.

"I want it." The woman begged.

He lowered his head and let out a mischievous smile as he lifted her chin. "You want it?"

"Mhmm."

"I'm a bit tired today, maybe some other day." Su Xuyan said coldly as he stood up and walked into the bathroom.

He didn't find it interesting tonight.

Su Xuyan left the villa soon after.

Once he reached outside, he called Bai Rong on his phone.

The phone rang once, twice, thrice... And Bai Rong did not answer it.

He curled his lips sinisterly as he muttered, "Playing games with me, are you? Very well."

He then dialed the phone number of her apartment in the city center.

Again, the phone rang once, twice, thrice...

His patience was gradually fading.

"Hello?" The maid in the house answered the phone sleepily.

"Where is Madam?" Su Xuyan asked coldly.

"Ah, it's you, sir! Madam hasn't returned yet."

"She's not on duty today, right?" Su Xuyan's expression grew colder.

"No, she isn't."

Su Xuyan hung up as soon as the maid said that.

"Bai Rong, you're even spending the night outside now?!" He drove faster towards the hospital.

Bai Rong returned to the hospital and took her phone out of the drawer.

There was a missed call from Su Xuyan at 2:31 AM.

She let out a sad smile and did not put her phone back in the drawer.

She retrieved some adhesive bandages and iodine from the drawer, and walked towards the mirror before tilting her neck.

There was a scar on the spot where the needle had pricked her.

It was not noticeable unless someone looked closely at it.

Just to be safe, she applied a bandage on the wound anyway.

She sat back in the chair and applied some iodine onto the scratch wounds on her arm with a cotton swab. After bandaging the wound, she rested on the bed.

Crack! The door was pushed open.

Bai Rong sat up defensively.

A charming smile spread across Su Xuyan's tense face as he saw her.

He reached his hands into his pockets and walked lazily towards her, "You're not on duty today, so why didn't you go home to sleep?"

Bai Rong looked at the hickey on his neck.

He had just finished his business!

"Why are you here?" She ignored his question and put on her shoes as she got up.

"I just happened to pass by." Su Xuyan said casually. He then noticed the bandage on her neck.

He let out a sarcastic smile on his face, "Bai Rong, since when did you learn to gain sympathy from others by hurting yourself?"

She looked at how carefree he seemed.

There was not a single trace of shame nor guilt on his face.

He acted as if he wasn't the one who cheated and got other women pregnant.

Her gaze became sharp as she felt anger surging through her mind.

"Yeah! But this pain is nothing compared to you cheating..."

Hiss!

Before she could finish, Su Xuyan had reached over and ripped the bandage off her neck.

Bai Rong felt pain from her skin being pulled, so chilling that it stopped her from talking.

She stood there with a dazed look in her eyes.

Su Xuyan stared at her smooth neck and gave her a disgusted look.

"Your neck is not injured at all, Bai Rong. You are putting up too much of an act. No matter how skilled a clown is at acting, they are still just a clown in the end." Su Xuyan said sarcastically.

She felt a chill in her heart. There was no need to talk to him anymore.

"You may piss off now." Bai Rong said rudely.

Su Xuyan gave her a vicious look.

He grabbed her chin and pushed her onto the bed. He said scornfully as he glared at her, "Do you know why I don't like to touch you?"

She pursed her lips and just stared at him in silence, feeling as if her heart was being gripped tightly by pain.

It was exactly like that.

She wanted to imprint that his cruel, bloodthirsty look in her mind until her heart would no longer feel any pain.

Su Xuyan got even angrier when he saw her keep quiet, and made no effort to hide his disgust towards her, "Because your arrogance is disgusting, and your pretentious act has made me lose all my appetite."

Her eyelids twitched as moisture began to form around her eyes. She just stared at him silently without crying nor arguing.

Blood was dripping off her heart.

"Do you know why I married you anyway despite knowing how much you hate me?" Bai Rong asked.

Su Xuyan paused for a moment, and raised his eyebrows as he looked her in the eyes.

Bai Rong let out a smile.

Her smile was as beautiful as a flower.

Su Xuyan found himself a little lost within her smile.

“Because I wanted to watch you suffer. I didn’t have any proof of you and your mistress kidnapping me, so I could only hope to bring you down along with me.” Bai Rong said decisively.

Su Xuyan brushed her face away.

“You’ll be hearing from my lawyer. I’m getting a divorce. Don’t even dream about bringing me down with you!” Su Xuyan said irrationally.

He turned around and began to wipe his hand with a paper towel he got from her desk.

It was as if he had touched something dirty.

He crumpled the paper towel into a ball and hurled it into the dustbin, then left, slamming the door shut behind him.

As Bai Rong sat on the bed and looked at the tightly shut door, her eyes began to water.

She lay down on the bed again and closed her eyes, but the pain in her heart started to spread again.

She did love him with all her heart once.

But what did her love mean to him?

He was the one who suggested for them to get married, cheated on her, and got a divorce.

She felt like a clown, being ridiculed for the amusement of others.

The pain in her chest was suffocating her.

She curled up into a ball and hugged herself tightly, as if she could warm herself up that way and wouldn’t die from the cold.

She couldn’t fall asleep until sunrise.

The base.

Gu Mingchen was going through the documents that Lieutenant Shang had given him, and frowned as guilt filled his eyes.

He didn't know that her life had been so miserable after getting married.

She and her husband lived separately; She had a bad relationship with her in-laws; And her mother was admitted to a psychiatric hospital.

Based on their findings, her husband had sixteen lovers.

He was practically getting a new woman every two and a half months.

Gu Mingchen closed the folder in his hand and ordered Lieutenant Shang, "Pay a visit to the director of the hospital, and get her promoted to deputy head"