Catherine was speechless. " Suzie, as I said, it was very dangerous. Have you forgotten that you nearly lost your life when you were kidnapped previously?"

Suzie went silent, but she still thought that it was a missed opportunity.

Catherine was at a loss for words. "Lucas, it's fine that you ate the food but why did you have to tell her about it?"

Lucas responded honestly, " I just wanted to let her know that all the things she ate previously are trash compared to the yummy food tonight."

His words came as a real blow to Suzie. She was so indignant that she broke into tears.

Feeling speechless, Shaun promptly carried her and said, "Don't cry. The chef who prepared the food tonight was hired from overseas. He should still be around. I can ask him to cook for you tomorrow. "

"Really?" Suzie was extremely touched.

"Yes." Shaun nodded. "But you can't eat too much."

"Mm." Suzie sniffed. "I'll just try the food. You're wonderful! "

Catherine was completely at a loss for words.

In truth, she had a lot of questions for Shaun and Lucas who just attended the banquet that was supposed to be a trap. How did Suzie end up in tears because of food?

"Lucas, please take Suzie into the room to rest. I'd like to have a few words with your daddy, " Catherine ordered.

Little did she realize that the phrase 'your daddy' would make Shaun smile so brightly as though his heart was doused in honey.

"Oh, alright. Mommy, quickly come up, okay?" Lucas dragged Suzie away.

Catherine turned around, only to find Shaun's gentle, dark eyes resting on her under the moonlight. His eyes were filled with radiance.

Her scalp immediately became numb. Somehow, she felt that Shaun had changed into a completely different person.

"What on earth happened today?" She was extremely curious. "Wesley, Gavin, and the others "They've been arrested."

Shaun said softly, "From now on, nobody will be able to cause you trouble and harm. Since Wesley has disappeared, your marriage with him is invalid, which means that you're free from him now."

Catherine's pink lips parted a little, and a look of confusion washed over her beautiful face.

At times, she had felt that Wesley was impossible to defeat. Whenever she thought that he was in a hopeless situation, he somehow managed to overcome it using terrifying means. "Really?"

"Mm. Gavin and Wesley attempted to rebel tonight. As they previously won over quite a number of political bigwigs, they thought they would surely succeed today. However, they didn't expect Nathan to have sent the army from Geraldton over..."

"So many people entered the city but Gavin didn't realize it?" Catherine was puzzled.

" It was because I saved Matthew and told Sheryl the truth. Sheryl canceled the transfer of Hill Corporation's shares in time and halted Golden Corporation's overseas development. Gavin was confident only because he had invested in Golden Corporation and got endless funds from Wesley.

After Wesley lost Golden Corporation and Hill Corporation, he was left with nothing. As such, Gavin no longer had as many funds. Those people in Canberra were swayed because of money. Without money, how could they possibly side with the Mead family?"

Catherine finally understood.

She could not help but sigh at how greedy some people in this world were.

At the same time, she was taken aback by Shaun's plans.

After all, he had lost his memory, had he not? Before this, he was just like a fool. What a rapid change it was.

She stared at him with complicated feelings."

Wasn't Wesley aware that Matthew was saved and about the changes that took place in Golden Corporation's overseas development?"

"It was all settled within a day. When we took action, we deliberately ordered our people not to sound the alarm, so they didn't have the faintest idea what was going on. Wesley had been under the impression that he was the wealthiest man in Australia who could do anything as he pleased," Shaun said scornfully.

Catherine instantly figured it out. At the same time, she was filled with mixed feelings. "Did you have this planned from earlier on? You previously approached Hannah..."

" I wasn't the only person who planned this. Prime Minister Snow, Titus, and I planned it together. "

Shaun said, "Nathan's inferiority made Gavin lower his guard. After Sheryl kicked me out of Hill Corporation, I pretended to pursue Hannah with the intention of making Wesley and the Meads think that I was in a desperate situation. The whole of Canberra saw me as a laughing stock, which satisfied Hannah's vanity and Wesley's desire to trample on me at the same time. The more Wesley felt that I was miserable, the more conceited he became. Once a person becomes conceited, they'll easily show their cloven hoof and become careless. In fact, if it weren't for his carelessness, I wouldn't have been able to save Matthew."

After pausing for a moment, Shaun could not resist holding Catherine's hands. "I'm sorry, Cathy.

Despite knowing that Wesley was forcing you and even hurt your dad before this, I gave you the cold shoulder. I didn't mean it. I..."

"I understand." Catherine broke free from his hold. "I was also a pawn in your plan. The more frightened I seemed, the more complacent and delighted Wesley would become. He felt as if he was a cat trying to catch a mouse. No doubt, he thought of himself as the winning party, whereas I was the mouse that got fooled."

Her clever words made Shaun feel guilty.

"Cathy, I'm sorry. Considering the seriousness of the issue, I promised Prime Minister Nathan not to breathe a word of it. None of the Snows knew about it either. Ryan and Rodney just discovered the truth today, and even the prime minister's wife didn't learn about it until the last minute."

Shaun continued with a deep voice, " It's because Nathan wanted to make all his betrayers in Canberra surface. He needed to get rid of them completely. In order to prevent the news from spreading, those involved in this matter had to keep it a secret."

Catherine remained quiet for a long time.

She used to think of Nathan as a gentle person, yet it did not hit her how a gentle person could possibly become the prime minister.

It just showed that he was a manipulative and vicious person.

He left his family in a state of panic and fear. Even Freya was totally unaware of it. When others were helpless and frustrated, he took advantage of it to deal with his opponents.

"Cathy, I promise you that such an issue won't happen again."

Shaun's eyes were filled with tenderness and guilt." I know it was unfair to you, but I was left with no choice. If Gavin had taken control of Australia, Wesley would become more powerful. I wanted to keep you out of trouble, so I had to completely destroy those who mean to harm you. I want you and the kids to be able to go out freely so you guys don't have to keep hiding and think about fleeing Australia. This is your home, after all."

His eyes appeared calm under the moonlight.

“Additionally, I want you to know that I’m no longer the previously useless Shaun who couldn’t even look after his wife and kids. I was so stupid that I was deceived and even lost my memory. Now, I’ve become more brilliant than before.”

Catherine gazed at Shaun with a complex look as her eyelashes fluttered.

The man in front of her was as handsome as ever, but he had become more hostile compared to before.

Her mind was in a messy state right now.

“Shaun, I remember that you previously told me—”

“You told me that I hadn’t interacted with any women nor did I know about love because I lost my memory. You felt that I was reliant on you.”

Shaun interrupted her, “You’re right, and I did give it a shot. But when Hannah approached me, I just found her disgusting...”

“It was because you approached her with an ulterior motive. Plus, you already knew from the start that she’s evil...”

“But when she touched me, I had no feelings for her at all.” Shaun’s eyes were intent and burning. “ Yet I have feelings for you even when I touch you a little.”

He was too straightforward.

Catherine’s face instantly turned crimson.

Shaun fixed his gaze on her charming face under the moonlight. Earlier, he had been feigning indifference and ignoring her on purpose. At this moment, he finally did not have to pretend anymore.

As his eyes rested on her lips, his Adam’s apple bobbed while his eyes blazed.

Just as Catherine was about to speak, Joel’s voice suddenly rang out from the door behind. “Cathy, it’s already late. Come back and put the kids to sleep.”

Seated in a wheelchair, Joel stared at Shaun vigilantly from a distance.

“Uncle Joel... ” Shaun smiled vaguely. He nodded and greeted Joel politely. “You may return to the office tomorrow. Wesley has gotten into deep waters and no one is going to target your company anymore.”

Joel seemed a little surprised. He had heard his daughter mention Shaun’s plan but did not expect it to have worked out.

Anyway, it was good to know that they did not need to leave this place.

"Thanks." Joel's tone was polite yet distant. "From now on, you and Cathy can finally go your separate ways and lead your own lives."

In other words, Joel would not allow Shaun to get back together with Catherine even without Wesley's presence.

Pretending that he did not grasp Joel's message, Shaun gave an innocent smile. "Yeah. Now that Titus has taken Wesley away, Wesley has lost his status. He's like a dead person now and can no longer be considered Cathy's husband. It's true that she can start her life all over again. No one will criticize her even if she gets into a relationship."

At the mention of Titus, Joel zoned out for a while.

He had long since found out that his first love had remarried. She had married a man who was more outstanding than himself.

In the end, he still missed the chance.

At the sight of Joel's expression, Shaun said, "By the way, Sheryl has already found out the truth. I'm guessing she'll come and acknowledge Cathy."

"I have nothing to do with her." Catherine finished her sentence with strong resistance. After that, she walked to the back of Joel and pushed his wheelchair. "Dad, it's chilly here. Let's go in."

Joel nodded with complicated feelings. He then turned to say to Shaun, "Young Master Hill, you're not young anymore. I hope you get a new girlfriend soon. From now on, you're just the father to Catherine's kids. I hope you won't be involved with us in other ways."

Catherine gazed at Shaun with a complex look as her eyelashes fluttered.

The man in front of her was as handsome as ever, but he had become more hostile compared to before.

Catherine froze for an instant. Then, she brought Joel into the house.

Shaun stood there nonchalantly for a while before he turned around and left.

When Catherine glanced out of the villa's window, Shaun's figure was already out of sight.

She spaced out momentarily until Joel's voice sounded in her ears. "To be frank, Shaun is really brilliant. I didn't expect him to be able to turn things around by getting rid of Wesley and Hannah when things were already so dire. Among the youths, he's probably the only one whom I truly admire.

"Although I admire him, it doesn't mean that I hope the two of you will get back together, Cathy. You went through so much and faced a lot of suffering before this. As your father, I just hope that you can live a peaceful life with the kids. Ever since you got together with Shaun, I noticed that you've experienced more hardships than joy. I hope that your partner will protect and support you instead of assisting you for a short while and leaving you alone after that.”

“I understand. Dad, you should go and take an early rest.”

Catherine nodded. She grasped the meaning of Joel’s words more than anyone else.

After sending Joel back to his room, Catherine returned to her bedroom.

At this time, the sitter had almost finished bathing the kids.

When Catherine was drying Suzie and Lucas’ hair, Freya suddenly called her. She sounded agitated on the phone. “Sh*t! I can’t believe that Wesley and Hannah have been arrested. That damned man, Nathan, has been hiding it from us. I was so frightened all this while that I thought my life would be over... Now, I feel like an idiot.”

Catherine found it amusing. “ I realized that you’re beginning to sound like Rodney now after spending quite some time with him.”

“Is it the right time to discuss this? Most importantly, we survived this ordeal! ” Freya was close to tears. “During this period, I was so terrified that I wasn’t sleeping well. When I heard the gunshot outside the villa today, I nearly pissed myself.”

“Is your baby okay?” Catherine asked nervously at once.

"The baby's okay. When Rodney came back just now, I gave him a piece of my mind, so I feel much better now," Freya said.

Catherine was at a loss for words. "According to what Shaun said, Rodney seemed to only find out about the plan today. Don't blame him."

"Do you blame Shaun? Rodney said that he knew it long ago." Freya suddenly asked, "But he didn't inform you, right?"

Catherine went silent for a moment before she replied, "I don't blame him. After all, it was the prime minister's plan. If he had informed me, I would've also told you if I saw your worried face. A big mouth like you might've spread the news to the Snows. Those around us might seem reliable, but once they learn more about the plan, it could leak out. If the plan hadn't worked out, we would've suffered terrible consequences."

".. Enough. You actually called me a big mouth." Freya flew into a fury. She gritted her teeth for a while before she said weakly, "Having said that, if I had learned the truth, I surely would've told you about it. Forget it. What you said makes sense too."

Catherine laughed. "Don't worry. After this incident, your identity as the prime minister's goddaughter will be consolidated. No one will dare to offend you in the future since they won't be bold enough to act against the Snow family."

"That's true." Freya chuckled and said, "Well, people of high ranks like us have to put up with so much fear to gain great honor. By the way, we can finally relax now. Let's go shopping tomorrow.

Also, I need to hand Hudson Corporation over to you."
"Mm."

Catherine nodded. Indeed, it was about time she relaxed.

However, after she lay on the bed, she still felt that everything was surreal.

Was Wesley's life really over? What a wonderful feeling it was.

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 1775 By eBooksCat

The feeling was so wonderful that Catherine had trouble falling asleep.

She only fell asleep when it was 3:00 a.m.

However, she was awoken by the kids the next day.

She opened her eyes in a daze, only to find a tall, attractive figure in her room. Dressed in a white T-shirt and a pair of blue jeans, the man seemed to be at the peak of his youth, looking like he was still 20 years old. One would find it hard to resist his charm and elegance.

After staring at him in confusion for a while, she rubbed her eyes, thinking that she might not be awake.

Somehow, she still saw the scene of Shaun combing Suzie's hair in her bedroom.

It was very rare to see Suzie seated on the chair so obediently. While holding a comb, Shaun bent over and braided her hair carefully.

"Not bad. You can braid better than Mommy." Suzie looked into the mirror and was satisfied with the braid. "Please put on a pink hairband for me. "

"Alright, princess."

Shaun felt as though he had turned into a barber. Suddenly, a shriek sounded from behind. He turned around, only to find Catherine staring at him with wide eyes.

Although she had just gotten up, her ruffled hair did not affect her pretty face. She was wearing cotton pajamas. Her shirt slid to one side, revealing a large part of her shoulder. The picture of her completely naked flashed through Shaun's mind.

After glancing at Catherine, Shaun began to feel his body burning.

He quickly took a deep breath and contained his feelings as much as he could.

“Why are you here?” Catherine glared at him with disbelief without realizing how amusing she appeared. “Shaun, this is my room. Who allowed you to enter? Where’s my dad?”

“When I came in, Uncle Joel had already gone to work. It was the housekeeper at the gate who let me in.” Shaun blinked with an innocent and natural expression. “I want to send the kids to preschool. When I entered the room, I noticed that you were snoring loudly in your sleep while the kids were already awake. Suzie didn’t seem to know how to brush her teeth, so I helped her wash up and braided her hair. Right, Suzie?”

He lowered his head to look at his daughter.

Suzie nodded, completely unaware that something was not right with the atmosphere in the bedroom. She looked into the mirror and was caught up with her pretty appearance. “Mommy, do I look beautiful today?”

Catherine’s mouth twitched.

If only her daughter could pay attention to what was happening. At this point, all Suzie cared about was her beauty.

Shaun’s description of her snoring loudly in her sleep made her embarrassed.

As a mother, she was sleeping like a log when her kids were already awake.

"Sure you do. " After replying to Suzie's question perfunctorily, Catherine said to Shaun furiously, " Even so, you shouldn't have barged into my room. A distinction should be made between a man and a woman, alright? We've gotten a divorce, so I'm currently a single, unmarried woman.

Did he know how hard it was for her to be a single, unmarried woman?

Shaun raised his brows. "I thought that... we're already very close to each other, so we don't have to mind that. After all, we already have children."

Catherine responded in a huff, "Just because we have children, it doesn't mean we shouldn't keep a distance. Otherwise, people might assume that I'm still in a relationship with you. It'll be unfavorable for me to get a new partner then."

"You're planning to get a new partner, huh?" Shaun curled his lips and smiled pensively.

For some reason, Catherine found his smile a little creepy. She immediately glowered at him. "It's none of your business."

Chapter 1776 By eBooksCat

“I’m not meddling in your business. I’m just asking.”

Shaun turned his head and continued braiding Suzie’s hair.

Suzie was not stupid. She simply pretended as if she did not hear or see anything. Anyway, no matter who Mom decided to be with, the fact that Shaun was her dad could not be erased.

It was better to take the opportunity to enslave this dad of hers.

“It looks nice, right? Our Suzie will definitely be the prettiest little princess when you go to preschool today. ” Shaun flattered Suzie while smiling. That put Suzie in a pleasant mood.

After that, Shaun helped Suzie to change her clothes as well.

He brought the two children downstairs to have breakfast.

It was a rare morning when Catherine did not have to take care of the two children. After staring into space for a moment, she simply lay on the bed and continued sleeping.

After all, Shaun was taking care of the kids. Why did she have to work tirelessly every day when she could make use of the children’s biological father? She was not a fool.

She still had to rest when it was time to rest. There was no need to carry all the responsibilities herself.

After Catherine came to that conclusion, she fell asleep again.

When she woke up, the sun was already high up in the sky.

She looked at the time. It was 11:00 a.m. She sat up and looked at her phone.

As expected, today's news was all related to Wesley and Hannah. There were even seven or eight trending topics about them. [Golden Corporation's Medicine is Substandard. 123 Countries Overseas are Boycotting the Medicine.]

[Wesley Lyons Suspected of Bribery, Arrested for Investigation], [Wesley Lyons Suspected of Kidnapping A Foreigner], [Wesley, Jeffery, Sally, and Rebecca Involved in goo Billion US Dollars Fraud], [Wesley Lyons Allegedly Killed His Biological Nephew, His Sister Sonya Lyons Already Handed In Related Evidence of the Crime], [Wesley and Hannah Suspected of Endangering the Country], [Minister Gavin Mead and Family Arrested for Allegedly Jeopardizing the Country's Safety]...

As the news was too sudden, the whole of Australia and even other countries were shocked.

The buzz on the internet made history since the last big news tens of years ago.

[Oh my gosh, how many crimes did Wesley commit? Kidnap, murder, jeopardizing the country's safety, and fraud. Is he trying to go against the heavens?]

[This person is finally arrested. I'm so happy. I was disgusted ever since I saw the scandalous video of him and his secretary. He even became the wealthiest man in Australia afterward. I could only laugh in sarcasm. Even such trash could become the richest man. I understand now. He relied on fraud to achieve that. If our country's economy were to be led by this kind of person, I reckon our economy will be done for in a few years.]

[Wait, he even murdered his biological nephew? Is he still human?]

[Gavin and his family were arrested too. I've seen pictures of Gavin and Wesley at a few public events. They looked pretty close. It's obvious that they were trying to start a revolt and got caught in the end. Thank God they've been arrested.]

[You're right. Canberra has completely changed. Many people were caught during Gavin's birthday banquet yesterday. They cornered the prime minister openly. Luckily, the prime minister had his guard up beforehand. Not only that, the identity of the person whom Wesley kidnapped isn't ordinary. I heard that person is the heir of the world's wealthiest and most mysterious family.

Wesley is past saving indeed. His arrest this time will surely end up in a death sentence. It's an unchangeable fact.]

[Ha, do you know why he refused to divorce Catherine? Because Catherine's mother is an oil tycoon and she's rich. Wesley married and wooed Catherine before just because of this. Everything about him is fake, including his love.]

[Please don't scare me. When did Catherine have a mother who's an oil tycoon?]

[It's true. It's just that Catherine didn't know about it. Wesley took Catherine's hair and had Rebecca pretend to be that family's daughter. That's why Wesley is being suspected of fraud. Everything has been exposed now. The police at the station didn't sleep for the whole night last night to review Wesley's case. He committed too many crimes.]

Chapter 1777 By eBooksCat

Catherine was amazed. She had to acknowledge the netizens' strength in obtaining information.

Not many people knew that she was Sheryl's daughter. It was unknown how that information was leaked.

She was even on the trending searches, and there were rumors that she would be one of the top five wealthiest people among those born with a silver spoon in their mouths.

It was totally ridiculous.

Catherine had no intention of acknowledging Sheryl as her mother, not to mention inheriting her assets. Those people must be bored out of their minds.

She was starting to feel hungry. She got up, changed into casual clothes, and went downstairs. The housekeeper, Aunty Cally, was watering the flowers on the balcony.

"Aunty Cally, is there still breakfast? I'm a little hungry."

Catherine asked while rubbing her eyes.

"Breakfast? There is, but it's all cold and it's almost time for lunch..." Aunty Cally's gaze was slightly strange.

"It's okay. I'll just have something simple to eat."

Catherine did not notice Aunty Cally's gaze. She was just puzzled. Usually, Aunty Cally would already be preparing lunch at this hour. Why was she still watering flowers?

Catherine walked into the kitchen. She was stunned when she saw the towering figure inside that had its back toward her.

Were her eyes seeing things?

Why was she seeing Shaun in the kitchen of her house, wearing an apron?

When Shaun turned around, revealing the blue-checkered apron on his waist, Catherine's pretty eyes widened instantly. The look on her face was utterly adorable.

Shaun smiled when he saw that. "You must be hungry. I made you a honey sponge cake and blended some fruit juice. You can have these first, but don't eat until you're too full. It'll be lunchtime soon."

His tone was very natural as if this was his house and she was his wife. Everything just felt very natural.

Catherine felt uncomfortable. "Shaun, why are you in my kitchen? Aren't you supposed to be sending Suzie and Lucas to preschool? Why haven't you left yet?"

"I left and came back again." Shaun was holding a plate, and there was a slice of honey sponge cake on it. In his other hand was a glass of fruit juice. "Do you want me to feed you?"

Catherine looked at the slice of cake in shock. "You made this? Impossible."

She remembered that Shaun's cooking was not very good. It was just edible.

However, the cake in front of her looked just like those sold in bakeries.

"I made it. Your housekeeper can prove it," Shaun said with a serious tone.

Catherine eyed him from head to toe with complicated feelings. "Did you get reincarnated that even your cooking skills have improved?"

"Were my cooking skills terrible in the past?" Shaun was puzzled.

"It was so-so. Anyway, you couldn't bake a cake back then. I never wanted a second slice after finishing the first slice, " Catherine said honestly.

Shaun frowned. He felt like blaming the previous Shaun. "Maybe it's because... the previous me wasn't attentive enough. Actually, these things aren't hard. There are a lot of tutorials online. It's easy to learn by following those tutorials."

Catherine went silent upon hearing that.

Maybe that really was the reason. Besides, Shaun had to manage a huge company in the past. There were also people like Wesley and Mason preying on him. It was difficult for Shaun and Catherine to have peaceful days back then.

"Eat first. I'm going to prepare lunch." Shaun nudged her to go outside before he headed back into the kitchen.

Catherine stumbled out of the kitchen. She was forced to sit at the dining table.
