

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1089 - 1090

Janet was woken up by Mason's kiss slightly after 7:00AM.

As she slowly opened her eyes, she gazed at the man in front of her before greeting him. "Good morning."

He casually raised his brows before he stared at her. "Good morning, my dear fiancée."

Janet's tiny face immediately flushed as she tried to hide from him.

The man coaxed, "Janet, it's time for you to change the way you address me."

Then, she slowly lifted her eyes and whispered, "Good morning, my dear fiancé."

The moment Mason heard her words, his mood improved a lot. As he revealed a smile, he forcefully held his excitement while caressing her face. "Get up and wash yourself. We'll be going to the White Clouds Castle soon."

Janet nodded her head as she got up from bed and went into the washroom.

Janet slowly walked out of the dressing room not long after that.

Behind her, the maids couldn't stop praising her.

"Miss Jackson, you look beautiful today."

"You are simply the most gorgeous bride in the world."

"Of course she is. Miss Jackson is the prettiest bride I've ever seen."

"If Young Master Mason sees how beautiful you look in the dress, he'll be elated."

As Janet slowly walked out of the dressing room, Mason suddenly squinted his narrow peach-like eyes as they were filled with shock and astonishment.

She wore a white veil dress with thin feathers in front of her chest as decoration, which perfectly left her shoulder bare for all to see.

The dress had completely emphasized her waist; it made her look like an elegant goddess.

There were also pearls and diamonds embedded on the veil dress as they flickered brightly and caught people's attention.

Her black and wavy hair was curled; there were strands of hair on each side of her cheek, which made her face look even more delicate.

At that moment, she stood in front of him like a living, breathing fairy in everyone's imagination.

"Jan." Mason's voice trembled a little.

With a smile on her thin lips, Janet gently lifted her dashing eyes.

"Oh my God! Janet looks beautiful." Old Madam Lowry couldn't help but feel astonished.

After spending many years in the circle of elites, she had attended countless weddings of noble families, but it was the first time that she was stunned by the beauty of the bride, who was also her granddaughter-in-law.

Old Madam Lowry couldn't find a word to describe her. All she knew was that Janet looked absolutely perfect.

Mason is exceptionally lucky. However, he doesn't look too bad himself in that dark suit. His charming features look restrained in that attire, but because of that, he looks more handsome and serious. Charming and handsome are the best words to describe him.

Mason reached out to her. "Jan, let's go."

With a smile on her face, Janet grabbed his arm with one hand while Old Madam Lowry followed the two of them from behind.

At that moment, there were numerous luxurious cars parked outside the Lowry Residence.

Not only were they all luxurious cars, they were also of the limited editions.

Every one of them was the only kind in the world, which symbolized his unique love for her.

While looking at the cars, Janet couldn't help but giggle. "This is ridiculous."

This street can't accommodate these many cars.

As Mason stared at her, he said lovingly, "I've said it before—the moment you have agreed to marry me would be when everyone knows my love for you. I'll make sure of that."

"I remember." The girl smiled as her eyes swam with happiness.

"Get in the car." The man held her waist and sent her to the car.

A silent Janet enjoyed the love of her man.

Inside the car, Mason held her hand and murmured, "Are you ready to become Mrs. Lowry?"

As she looked at him, she smiled. "Compared to that, I feel that I'm more like your wife."

I love him not because of his identity or status. I love him because he is Mason Lowry and I only want to be his wife.

The moment her words came out, the man pressed his lips and he spoke in a husky voice, "Thank you."

"What are you thanking me for?"

He answered, "Thank you for marrying me."

At the White Clouds Castle, most of the guests were already present.

Everyone who attended the ceremony were those from noble families with extraordinary backgrounds.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1090

Everyone was here, including popular celebrities, the elites of Sandfort City, the governors of all states, the leaders of other organizations, the presidents and prime ministers of Yobril, Barnsford, Chestshire, and all the officers, female soldiers and special forces of the MX.

Every one of them was exceptional.

Among the many high-ranking officials, the presidents and heirs of some corporations looked incompetent.

Next to a strong lineup, the Jackson Family seemed unremarkable, even looking out of place with the others.

Megan and Brian, who both had a wealth of experience, couldn't help but panic.

While standing in a corner, Megan trembled as she muttered, "Honey, what should we do? My legs can't stop shaking."

Brian had been to many occasions like this but now, his pale lips were shivering as well. "Don't worry, Darling. Let's find Janet first."

"Alright. Be careful—we don't want to bump into these leaders." Megan walked carefully as they began to find Janet among the crowd.

Before arriving here, Megan gave Janet a call, but she did not answer.

Logically, she should be at the party right now. I hope that she will be careful; otherwise, if she ends up offending any one of these people, it will be the doom of the Jackson Family.

Other than the two of them, Sharon, Summer and Abby were also in the same situation.

The three of them had never been to such a huge occasion before.

To Sharon and Summer, it was already brilliant enough for them to get in touch with a celebrity like Gordon but now, they were coming into contact with officers, presidents and leaders from powerful countries.

At the moment, Abby's legs were also shaking as her tiny hands were soaked in sweat.

Gordon squinted at her and smiled lovingly. "What is it? Are you nervous?"

Abby didn't bother to hide the fact that she was actually nervous, so she nodded. "Yes."

Her petite face was scrunched up and it was obvious how aggrieved she was feeling at that moment.

If this weren't Janet's engagement ceremony, I would never have come here. This is too scary for me.

Gordon smiled as he lifted his dashing face slightly. Then, he took the initiative to grab Abby's hand while touching her face. "Don't worry; I'll take you to find a seat."

It was no surprise that an experienced celebrity like him was able to be composed under such conditions.

On the other hand, Abby couldn't wait to bury herself in his arms and she held his hand tightly. "Alright."

After Abby and Gordon left, Sharon and Summer panicked even more.

"Sharon, we need to find a place to sit quickly." Summer was so intimidated by the scene that she was about to cry.

Why would the Lowry Family invite us to such a party? If I knew it was such a big scene, I wouldn't have come!

Sharon wasn't in a much better state than Summer. Even though she could guess who J'Adore was, she didn't know how powerful the title of Mrs. Lowry and the leader of the MX was until today.

She always assumed that the engagement ceremony would be the same as Mason's 26th birthday party, but this was on a whole new level—this engagement ceremony was actually the union of the Lowry Family and the MX.

One of them was a God in Sandfort City while the other was a God in Markovia, so it was no surprise how huge the party was.

At the moment, Mason and Janet arrived at the scene.

This time, she still did not show her true self to the public.

Even though Mason wanted her to show her real face, he needed to consider that the whole world would know who she was once she revealed her identity as Janet, given how big the scene was.

I don't know if it'll affect her life. Besides, it doesn't matter who she is on the outside. All that matters is her.

For example, no matter if she was wearing Rose's or Shadow 1's mask, the man and woman would recognize each other instinctively in the end.

After slowly opening the car door, Sean bowed and said respectfully, "Welcome, Young Master Mason and Miss Jackson!"

Mason gradually stood up and alighted from the car, the girl following him closely.

She held his hand and the two of them slowly walked into the hall of White Clouds Castle.

Behind Mason were all the important military officers of the Lowry Family, including Black Python, White Python and Red Python.

Meanwhile, the main female warriors of the MX, including Lara and Desire, followed Janet from behind.